When the curtain rose in Music hall last evening on the Mikado group it was with great expectations, because the press had predicted that the entertainment would prove a success. But when the stage settings and adornments, the costumes, the Japanese young men, filled the eye, and the by-no-means unfamiliar air of the Mikado pleased the ear, there was a subdued buzz of satisfaction throughout the auditorium. To give our readers this morning a technical criticism upon the production of last evening is not our purpose any more than it would be to our taste. If there are professional faults to be discovered in amateur representations ours is not the vision to observe such, any more than is ours the pen to chronicle them. In fine, the town is so much beholden to the musical director and the very efficient, nay, artistic corps of singers who have so patiently studied to give us an evening's enjoyment, that we have for them none but words of commendatory encouragement, and grateful expression of our indebtedness for the result of their efforts.

While there was to be observed pre-eminence in song and dramatic action, we are constantly inclined to revert to our enjoyment of the production as an entirety rather than to detached portions of the performance. But there would be a manifest omission did we fail to notice and make honorable mention of the proficiency of Miss Hayes in the part of Katisha. Her voice filled the hall with true operatic sound, her action was alike dramatic and graceful, and she was much admired for her ease of manner and adaptability to her part.

We lack power of expression in doing justice to Yum Yum. It is a part which requires in addition to its musical efforts no little of judicious dramatic action. A young lady who is expected to off with the old love and on with the new at short notice, and who anticipates a honeymoon to be succeeded by interment alive, necessarily should be able to display a variety of emotions. Mrs. Berry made the most of her part, and was enjoyed throughout her varied situations with keen relish.

The part of Pitti Sing, assumed by Miss Montgomery, was admirably rendered. Her vivacious action, her ready adaptability to every requirement of the role, and her pleasing voice, contributed exceedingly to the success of the evening.

The ladies of the chorus looked well, and their singing showed that the director had taken pains with this important feature of a successfully rendered opera. Indeed, the chorus was an acknowledged grand success. There was the true operatic ring and correct musical chord which dwells in the ear long after the sound has died away.

The Mikado, represented by Mr. Cassidy, was well up to our estimate of what a mikado should be. We never saw the genuine mikado on his native heath, but Mr. Cassidy in voice and dramatic action was at least the equal of any one who has taken the part in professional companies on Music hall stage.

Koko was immense. One does not care to critically listen to the melody of a man who in look, facial expression and comic action is as versatile as Mr. Elwell. He early captured the audience, and as the lady who sat behind us remarked quite audibly to her lover, between the caramels, "He is just too funny for anything."

Pooh-Bah was cold, corrupt, and with a voice in accord with his principles, inclined to be base. He was of fine presence, although it were more appropriate perhaps to say "presents."

The part of Nanki-Poo was well sustained by Mr. George Hutchinson. Mr. Hutchinson has a good voice, well cultivated and of extensive compass, but was unfortunately suffering from a severe cold, which detracted greatly from the effect of his usually excellent singing. He is graceful and self-possessed. The conventional stage lover has frequently a severe ordeal. In fact, the lover when the audience consists of but two persons and those tete-a-tete, oftentimes despairs of success and is slow of speech; in fact, perhaps he is not in voice. On the stage, the lover must be in accord with the heroine who for the time being is assigned the part of the loved one; she sometimes reminds us of the grammarian's definition of the verb which denotes "to be, to do or to suffer," while the audience are too frequently impatient at the lover's style of wooing, his perhaps want of abandon to the one object in life. The dramatist in Mikado makes his lover less of the devoted school than the hero in Pinafore. In fact, his enthusiasm is toned by the impending crisis which like a note of hand is likely to fall due before he is ready for the payment. Consequently there is less opportunity for display of lover-like qualities in this opera than is commonly found in stage representations. But we will not stop to consider what is true wooing, either on the boards or elsewhere. It is as difficult, we hazard the conjecture, to properly "represent" it on the stage as it is delightful,—so the books tell us,—in its realization in actual life. But let us return to the stage.

Pish Tush possessed an excellent voice, and his make-up and facial expression were to our mind among the most successful and satisfactory of any in the entire company.

We of course cannot omit a proper mention of the silent but satisfactory part of Nee Bun, whose role was enacted with commendable correctness. There was a generous staff of efficient workers from the household of Nee Bun; the "minor" was by no means the only member of note engaged in the good work.

It is gratifying in the extreme to be able to produce in our city, with our own local talent, an evening's entertainment such as we have so feebly described. To the indefatigable efforts of Director La Brie be largely the credit of this happy result. His care and judicious energy has accomplished this great work. While the community with one mind returns grateful thanks for this happy episode, let us hold in grateful remembrance each and every of the performers, who with one accord and with unselfish devotion to the result to be attained have striven in and out of season to make this novel and attractive source of combined enjoyment and aid, in its production and in effect, an event of which our dear city may well be proud.

We hope that the taste incited and the culture developed by this musical recreation will be seen in future productions of a like character, and with similar results.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening, to another large audience; the advance sale of seats has been very large, but good chairs are still open to engagement at Goodrich's bookstore.

BURGLARY.

The residence of Mr. Chandler M. Hayford, No. 1 Meeting-house hill, was entered by way of a window (within a few feet of an electric light) some time between twelve and four o'clock on the night of Monday, the 13th inst., and about $12 carried away. The thief pushed the window fastenings aside and raised the sash, and ransacked the drawers of a writing desk standing in the sitting room. In one of these drawers was a box containing about $20. The box and $7 in money were found on the floor Tuesday morning, and it was very evident that the robbery was done in a hurried manner by some one of little experience in the business. No further damage was done.

DEATH OF REV. MR. HAINER.

Rev. Charles D. Hainer, minister of the Court street Christian society, died on Tuesday morning, June 14th, at Tuftonboro', to which place he was taken a few days previous in the vain hope that the change of air might benefit his health, which had long been failing. His relatives, and the church of which he was the faithful and beloved pastor, will have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow. Funeral services will be held in the Court street church on Thursday afternoon, June 16th; interment will probably take place in Canada.

Canton Senter, No. 11, I. O. O. F., of this city, will leave for Concord on Thursday morning at seven o'clock in a special train, to attend the dedication of the Odd Fellow's Home at Concord on that day, returning in the evening. The Daughters of Rebekah have also voted to attend.

Tickets for the barbers' picnic, which is to come off at Rye beach July 14th, are now on sale, and can be obtained at any of the tonsorial establishments in the city. There will be a grand time, and the number of tickets is limited.

Dr. John W. Parsons returned from the session of the Medical Society's convention at Chicago on Tuesday.

Ripe cherries, sweet and very palatable, were placed on our desk—didn't stop there long, though—on Tuesday, June 14th, by Mr. Fred G. Slater, son of Ex-Alderman Slater, from the trees in his garden on Cabot street. And these were not the first yield, a quantity having been gathered on the 11th.

At a meeting of the Portsmouth Athletic club, held Monday evening, Mr. Charles E. Lear was elected a director of the club in place of Mr. T. F. Cronin, resigned. A considerable number of honorary members were voted in.

Nothing seems to give the mugwump editor more satisfaction than to couple the names of Grover Cleveland and George Washington. Cleveland had hard luck as a fisherman in the Adirondacks; George Washington caught but two insignificant cod when he went fishing at Portsmouth. The coincidence is very striking!—Portland Express.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 13th.

An examination for teachers will be held at the office of the superintendent of schools, city building, Monday morning, June 20th, at eleven o'clock. Those wishing to apply will present themselves at that time and place.

C. H. MORSS, Supt. of Schools.

Standing with reluctant feet at the corner of Congress and Market streets, many signs confuse their eyes. Doubts beset them, and they sigh. But there is no occasion to feel badly, ladies; if it is skirts or corsets you want, just step in and get those advertised by Foye. Best in town, and prices can't be beaten.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

The parasols shown by Lewis E. Staples this season cannot be beaten for styles and low prices. Ladies, call and look at them, and be convinced.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Oceanic, which is to run this season between this city and the Isles of Shoals under command of Capt. Wm. Robinson, left Wilmington, Del., on Tuesday afternoon for this port.

The schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell, Capt. Downe, took a party of Great Falls gentlemen out on a fishing trip Tuesday forenoon.

Capt. B. F. Jacobs left this city on Tuesday afternoon for New York, where he is to join his ship, the Grandee, now loading for Yokohama.

The Corinthian yacht club of New York had its first annual regatta on the 13th inst., there being starters in seven classes of yachts, with three prizes for each class. In the "special class" the Atlantic beat the Galatea over eight minutes, the English yawl Cytherea not finishing, owing to the loss of her topmast. The Stranger won in her class, having no competitor. The Cinderella beat the cutter Huron half an hour. The wind was fickle, part of the time there being none, and at other times more than was needed.

Moses H. Goodrich steam fire engine, No. 4, which has been at Manchester for some weeks undergoing repairs, arrived back on Monday afternoon.

National League games, June 13th: Boston 5, Washington 4; Philadelphia 5, New York 4; Pittsburg 5, Detroit 3; Chicago 9, Indianapolis 4.

The game at Dover on Monday afternoon, between the barbers of that city and those of Portsmouth, was more amusing than scientific, and created lots of sport. The Dovers won, thirty to eighteen, in five innings, the victors making sixteen runs in their first inning, to one made by the Portsmouths. But the Portsmouth boys beat the Dovers on errors, scoring forty-two of them, while their antagonists were only able to roll up thirty-one.

The Farragut house, Rye beach, will open July 1st. The orchestra, of which Mr. F. Benning Jenness of Rye is to be leader, and Messrs. A. N. La Brie and George Ayers of this city members, will report on the opening day.

The steamer James Sampson has been chartered to make a trip from this city to Kittery Point every morning at 2:30 o'clock for the next two weeks, to carry men working on the new railroad, construction gangs being now working day and night in shifts.

Lieut. Edward E. Capehart, U. S. N., and wife, arrived in this city Monday night from Annapolis, Md., and will spend some weeks with Mrs. Capehart's parents.

Ministers, lawyers, teachers, and others, whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them.

In response to numerous petitions for additional facilities for Sunday travel, President Clark and the directors of the New York & New Haven road went before the railroad commissioners at Hartford, Conn., June 13th, and asked that the order prohibiting Sunday trains be further modified, so as to permit the running of trains as per old schedule. The running of the newspaper trains was authorized by the commissioners last week.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

George Parks, a well known actor, aged thirty years, formerly of the Boston theatre and Boston museum, disappeared June 1st, and it was feared he had committed suicide, though no reason could be adduced for such an act. His body was found in Boston harbor on the 12th.

A reward for the man that presents a better thing than the Hop Plasters for all pains, aches and weaknesses. Soothes, strengthens and vitalizes the parts. 25 cents. Hop Plaster Co., signature on back of plaster. Observe it.

Brig. Gen. Charles F. Walcott of Cambridge, Mass., died suddenly on Gooseberry island, Salem harbor, last Saturday night. With his son and two others on Saturday afternoon he rowed to the island, and it is thought he may have ruptured a blood vessel. General Walcott went into the army as lieutenant-colonel of the Sixty-first Massachusetts regiment, and was promoted to be a brigadier-general before the close of the war. He was fifty years of age, and leaves a family. Since the war he has practised law in Boston.

Seek Fortune's Embrace Ere It Is Too Late.

The 204 Grand Monthly Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery took place at New Orleans, Tuesday, June 12th (always Tuesday), May 31st, 1887. 500 was sent to many worthy people. We will tell some: No. 15,765 drew the first prize; it was sold in fractional tenths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. One was sent to T. J. Lynch, a well known liquor dealer S. E. cor. 11th and Locust Sts., Phila.; it was sold in part, the Third National Bank of Phila.; six tenths were sold to Californians, and were collected through Wells, Fargo & Co., of San Francisco, Cal.; one sold to A. Fruny, Deer Lick, Mason Co., W. Va., was collected through Metropolitan National Bank, Cincinnati, Ohio. No. 75,866 drew the Second Prize of $500,000; it also was sold in tenths for $1; two were paid through the Nat'l Commercial Bank of Mobile, Ala.; one through the Commercial Nat'l Bank of Nashville, Tenn.; one paid through Bank of Commerce, Louisville, Ky.; two to Frank Corcoran, Cairo, Ill., through the City Nat'l Bank of Cairo, Ill. No. 15,872 drew the Third Prize of $250,000—it was also sold in tenths; one to Edwin Le Bars of New York city, collected through Adams Express Co.; one to N. Crenshaw of Everest, Kan.; one to C. J. Harman, paid through Corry National Bank of Corry, Pa.; one paid through Bank of California at San Francisco, Cal.; one paid to Nevada Bank of San Francisco, and the rest elsewhere. Nos. 45,649 and 53,955 drew the two Fourth Prizes of $100,000 each; sold to parties in Chicago, Ill.; San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, Cal.; Keokuk, Iowa; Camille, Mo.; New Orleans, Boston, Washington, Pittsburg, Mt. Pleasant, Fla.; Gurdon, Ark.; Union Star, Mo.; and elsewhere. So the wheel turns on forever, and on July 12th it will all be repeated. Any one can learn full particulars by addressing M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. Seek Fortune's embrace ere it is too late.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. Distinguished Names.

People who are amused by the coincidence of names, found the provocation to a smile in the advertisement in a daily paper:

"WANTED—Young man in the grocery business. Apply only in person to H. W. Longfellow."

They may also be interested to know that R. W. Emerson sells shoes in Boston, Walter Scot is both baker and tailor, Francis Bacon sells white shirts, Charles Lamb is a salesman, while Matthew Arnold works humbly in brass, with no more fitness of place than may be found in the fact that he dwell on Athens street.—Providence Journal.

I have sold during the past year about two gross of your preparation, Athlophoros, and it gives great satisfaction for rheumatism. Many of my customers say that they will always keep it against time of need. H. A. Powers, druggist, Wilton, New Hampshire.

Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging. Try them.

—"Young man," said the solemn stranger solemnly, "are you prepared to die?" "Well, to tell you the truth, I'm not," was the reply. "A life insurance agent was in to see me yesterday, but he hasn't delivered the policy yet."

No Woman

is beautiful with a bad skin, covered with pimples, freckles, moth or tan. I have been asked many times what will remove these unsightly blemishes. No face paint or powders will remove them, as they are caused by impure blood. The only sure remedy I have ever seen is Sulphur Bitters, and in hundreds of cases I have never known them to fail.—Editress Fashion Gazette.

—Lawyer—"Are your relations with the prisoner at the bar friendly?" Witness—"My relations are all friendly with him, but my wife has got some relations that hate the very ground he walks on."

Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Small price. Small dose. Small pill.

—"What makes Mr. Pottleton so unpopular, I wonder. He's a good looking young man and quite intelligent." "Yes; but he writes poetry." "Well, that isn't a crime against society, is it?" "No. But he insists on reading it to you, too."

The best testimony in favor of Pyle's Pearline washing compound is the millions of packages sold every year, and sales steadily increasing in spite of the numerous poor imitations.

—"I don't care anything about the rise in the price of coffee. What I want to know," said the restaurant proprietor anxiously, as he stepped at the wholesale store to make inquiries, "is whether chickory and dried beans have gone up."

Are you weak and weary, overworked and tired? Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine to purify your blood and give you strength.

—Georgiana—"John Henry, wake up! Ther's some one in the house! Oh, what shall we do?" John Henry—"Hush-sh-h! I hear him; he's rummaging in the pantry now. Keep perfectly quiet, and he may eat some of that pie you made yesterday. Then we'll have him!"

Can't do it without St. Jacobs Oil says Capt. Paul Boyton. Swimmers all use it.

—Jenkins (examines a pedigree hung in Snobson's parlor)—"So this is your family tree, is it? And what is that big gap in the middle?" Snobson—"That, er—well, er—oh, that is the flood?"

An Indolent Organ.

When the liver is indolent, as it must necessarily be when it fails to secrete the bile in sufficient quantities to meet the requirements of digestion and evacuation, it should be set at work with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The healthful stimulus to activity imparted by this incomparable alterative, speedily evinces itself in a departure of the uncomfortable sensations in the right side; the nausea; fur upon the tongue; indigestion, and sick headace consequent upon inactivity of the liver and the diversion of the bile from its proper channel. Irregularity of the bowels is always and painlessly reformed by the corrective indicated, which is infinitely to be preferred, both because it is safe and more efficacious, to blue pill, calomel and drenching purgatives of every class. It cures and prevents fever and ague, and rheumatism.

—Said a sharp attorney to a rambling witness: "Now you must give explicit and exact answers. You said you drove a milk wagon, did you not?" "No, sir, I didn't." "Don't you drive a milk wagon?" "No, sir." "Ahs! What do you do, sir?" "I drive a horse, sir."

Dr. R. F. Chambers says: "I used 'Digestylin' for Indigestion and was pleased with its effect. Shall prescribe it when occasion requires."

Champion oarsman of America, John Teemer, endorses St. Jacobs Oil for muscular pains.

—An old Alabamian, who discovered the Birmingham ore away back before the war, took some specimens of it to New York and displayed them to Peter Cooper. "We can take that ore right off the ground," said the Alabamian proudly. "I don't believe it," replied Mr. Hewitt, the present mayor, who was standing by in the capacity of Mr. Cooper's son-in-law. "Why not?" asked the discoverer of ore. "Because if you can," said Mr. Hewitt, who was younger and plainer of speech then than now, "why the blazes don't you do it? There's money in every ounce of it."

GRETA.

"Yes," said Mrs. Parkhurst, plucking diligently away at the pair of ducks which Greta, the "help"—nobody talked about servants at Cassell's Creek—had just decapitated and brought in. "We've all been kept busy since the wreck. Eh? Haven't heard of the wreck? La me! Why, everybody at Cassell's Creek is talking about it. It was a Western train, don't you see, with two emigrant cars, and when the trestle-work at Big Brook gave way, there was a general smash-up! Nobody killed, but lots o' people hurt. We kept two German women here for a week. One of 'em had a sprained wrist, and the other had a confused head—oh, confused, of course; you're right, Greta, but who is to pick and choose when words are so much alike? It was lucky Greta was here, or I couldn't have understood the poor things, nor they me. Here, Greta, you'd better fix the stuffing. It has a nicer flavor, somehow, when you mix in the onions and sage. And the ground was strewn for a hundred feet around, with the splintered bits of cars, and broken trunks and boxes, and the greatest lots of feather-beds and blankets, that the poor wretches were carrying West. Parson Post took up a collection in church to help 'em out with their fare, and to buy the necessaries that they had lost. I was glad o' that."

So Mrs. Parkhurst chatted on with a steady, even ripple of voice, like the current of some mountain stream, while Mr. Stanley listened, sometimes hearing what she said, and sometimes not.

The truth was, he was watching Greta, the tall slight hand-maiden, with the coil of blonde hair, twisted like a glittering rope about her head, and the big blue eyes, so full of limpid light.

How strange were the inequalities of this world!

Mrs. Parkhurst, his aunt, shapeless, and rubicund, looked like a dairy-woman.

Greta, the hired maid-servant, had the mien and bearing of a princess. Her voice was low and exquisitely modulated, her pronunciation was perfect.

Herbert Stanley had come down to Cassell's Creek to see about the title-deeds of a neighboring farm, in which one of his clients was interested.

He had anticipated a dull time while the papers were being made out, for he knew of old how Aunt Parkhurst would prose and Uncle Parkhurst preach; and now that his pretty Cousin Nell was married and gone to California, the sojourn would be simply unbearable.

But here was Greta Harmon, a perfect symphony in blue and gold! Was he artist enough to paint her, with his kit of water-colors? Could he find fitting words to describe her, in the novelette he was writing for the Weekly Biceps?

One wanted a model, now and then, and Greta was different from any woman he had ever seen before. Housework became an idyll when performed with such slow stately grace; domestic service was elevated when a girl like Greta Harmon stepped into its ranks.

His first night at the farm was restless and disturbed.

"What was that roaring sound I heard soon after midnight?" he asked his aunt the next morning. "It disturbed me so I could not sleep."

"Roarin' sound? Ain't it the falls?" said Mrs. Parkhurst, measuring out the thick rich cream for the coffee with no stingy hand.

"No; I heard the falls, too; but that is a soothing sound rather than otherwise."

"Guess likely they've put the mill-hands on night work," suggested Uncle Parkhurst. "Them new steam-engines is the dickens and all to make a clatter."

"Night work—at this time o' year! Are you crazy, Parkhurst?" demanded his wife.

But Greta looked up suddenly, with such a quick, intelligent light in her eyes, that Stanley spoke at once.

"Ah," said he, "I see that you can unravel the mystery, Miss Greta."

Greta colored to the very roots of the golden hair.

"If" she said. "It must have been the trees."

And she jumped up from her seat—at Cassell's Creek the "help" always sat down to the table with the rest of the family—and went to the door to drive the flock of young turkeys out of the high wet grass into the sunny pasture-field beyond.

"What a very handsome girl that is!" said Stanley.

"Ain't she, though?" said Mrs. Parkhurst, with as much pride as if Greta belonged to her. "And you ain't the only one that thinks so, neither. She might have married well twice since she came to me. Squire Servoss's son was fairly bewitched about her, and Mr. Larrabee, the foreman in the new mill, courted her steady for six weeks. But she wouldn't have nothing to say to either of them."

"John Servoss is a stupid lout!" sharply spoke up Stanley. "And as for your mill-workman——"

"John Larrabee's a forehanded sort of man," nodded Mrs. Parkhurst; "and he owns ninety acres of good land, with a house that's only just new painted."

Pretty Greta did not return to the breakfast-table, and Stanley strolled out to the woods, when he had finished his last cup of coffee, with his portfolio under his arm.

"I may as well be doing a chapter or two for the Biceps, while that old idiot of a town-clerk is making out the title deeds," mused he. "And there's no getting a chance to write or to think within ten feet of Aunt Parkhurst's blessed old tongue. Here's this deserted old barn by the river. I'll go in here, and see if the flames of fancy won't burn up a little. Hallo! How's this? Locked up! Uncle Parkhurst never kept this place locked up in my time."

He gave the padlock a pull; the rusted iron parted from the crumbling wood, and the door burst open.

In the same moment some large body plunged towards him, with a ferocious growl. It was a good-sized brown bear!

"Confusion!" roared our hero, backing involuntarily into a corner, while he protected himself, as well as he could, by holding up the portfolio before his face.

In an instant, however, a light figure glided past him—a hand was laid upon the brute's leather collar.

"Down, Shag—down!" said Greta Harmon's soft sweet voice in accents of the utmost composure. "I am sorry Mr. Stanley, that my pet should have frightened you; but I never expected that anyone would break into his house like this."

"Your pet!" gasped Stanley.

"It was his restlessness, I suppose, that annoyed you in the night," explained Greta. "He was fastened to a tree in the woods. He likes cool fresh air, poor thing, but this morning I changed him to this lonely place. Mr. Parkhurst is deaf, you know, and don't hear things; and I wouldn't have Mrs. Parkhurst know this for the world."

"But," cried Stanley, "the brute is dangerous!"

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

This Scheme Won't Work, Either.

"My dear," exclaimed the wife of the head of the navy to her spouse, "I see by the paper that your illustrious predecessor has been chosen to a seat in the senate. I thought your New Hampshire friends were to fix that arrangement differently." "The scheme wouldn't work, and I fear we shall have trouble from that quarter," returned the secretary. "Suppose we invite him to dinner then, as soon as he comes to Washington?" was the tentative suggestion of the charming hostess. "Nay," said the thoughtful Whitney, "He is not one of that kind of ship-chandlers who can be towed through the alimentary canal!"

New Hampshire Legislature.

The senate and house met in joint convention at noon on the 15th, for the purpose of electing a United States senator for the unexpired term ending March 4th, 1889. The journals of both branches were read, showing that at the election on the 14th Hon. William E. Chandler had received a majority of the votes in each, and that gentleman was accordingly declared duly elected.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 14th.

Remick's bridge in Rice's hollow is approaching completion; the foundation stone, which is being taken from Mr. E. C. Spinney's field, is first class for the purpose; the corner and cap stones will be of granite brought from Conway, N. H.

Mr. Geo. E. Damon, head clerk with Ward & Gay, Boston, passed Sunday at his parental home here.

A drunken row, riot, or some kind of a melee occurred at the village one night a short time ago, at the wigwam of the itinerant medicine man and his squaw. How long will respectable citizens countenance such rackets in their midst? is the question asked. It was hoped that when this property changed hands recently a better class of tenants would occupy it, but in this case it is like swapping a witch to get a devil.

The Penny Post in its issue of the 9th inst. called for the name of the member of Storer Post, G. A. R., who assumed charge of the firing squad at the Memorial day exercises in Kittery, in order that they might "Slay him." Don't do that; Comrade Abel Jackson was the culprit, and he was probably acting under orders, but whose orders many would like to know.

Mr. Geo. A. Lambert arrived home from a business trip to Boston and vicinity last week, and will next week start for the Tip Top house, White mountains, where he will be employed during the summer.

Kittery Depot (which will soon be the junction of the Y. H. & B. R. R.,) is being thoroughly overhauled, and refitted preparatory to the opening of the new road. The old-fashioned board seats around the sides of the waiting room have been removed, and the room wainscotted to the chair rail, which will be painted to represent walnut and ash. The interior and exterior of the building will be painted in an artistic manner by Mr. Henry W. Trefethen, who does all the company's work in this vicinity.

Dr. Junkins and D. Ed. Hill purchased their handsome little Patchen colt "Lady Patchen" of L. D. Duntley of Greenland, N. H., and not of L. Duntley of Rochester, N. H., as previously stated. Mr. L. Duntley is the owner of Forest Patchen, a brother of Lady Patchen.

Morrill Lodge of Good Templars will give a strawberry and ice cream festival on Thursday evening, the 16th inst., in the vestry of the First Methodist church, North Kittery, for the benefit of the Methodist society. A general good time is expected.

We do not wonder at the spirit of patriotism of Rev. E. E. Colburn, when we learn of the family history. His father and two brothers were among the first volunteers of the war. The father rose from the ranks to command Co. H, 11th Mass. Vols., after having been for two years in actual command as 1st lieutenant during the battles of the army of the Potomac, and after receiving several wounds, died of disease contracted in the service, nine months after the war. The elder son of the family, Charles H. Colburn, was in the 6th Mass. Regt. during the memorable passage through Baltimore; and on being discharged on the disbanding of that regiment, enlisted in the navy, served for a while on the U. S. S. Minnesota, and then was transferred at his own request to the regiment in which his father was, and served therein in active field service until the regiment returned home at the close of the war. The next brother, Clarence S. Colburn, enlisted at the same time as the father, and in the same regiment; was taken prisoner at Evansport, Va., and spent seven months of terrible suffering in rebel prisons, then returning home as a paroled prisoner; spent seven weeks at home, and then being exchanged went to Providence, R. I., and enlisted in the 7th R. I. Cavalry, and a short time afterward was mortally wounded in the battle of Opelousas, La., and died in the hospital at New Iberia, La., finding a grave in the Louisiana swamps. Young Eugene, the present pastor of the Second Christian society, was but ten years old when the war broke out, but being filled with patriotic ardor would have enlisted as a drummer. In the spring of '63, fearing that the lad would go anyway, Capt. Colburn being on a furlough for a week at home took the boy back with him, dressed in military costume, allowing the boy to believe himself enlisted, that he might not run away to enlist. Young Colburn marched with the regiment to the battle ground of Chancellorsville, and was present at the front for the most part of two days; was about the hospital, and endeavored to be as useful as possible thereabouts. He accompanied the army in the retreat across the Rappahannock, remaining with the regiment a short time after, and then returned home. A few years later Mr. Colburn entered the regular army and served two enlistments. He is an uncompromising republican, but is courteous and helpful to all.

We are pleased to note the marriage of our old friend E. A. Peterson, Esq., of South Boston, to Miss Martha A. Martin of Pigeon Cove, Mass. "Alex" was formerly proprietor of the cigar and tobacco store in Tralp's block at the Foreside, where he won hosts of friends, and we add our congratulations with theirs to the happy couple.

Mr. Will W. Deane, paymaster's yeoman of the U. S. S. Galena, is at his home here. He is fat and hearty, and looks as though he enjoyed himself on the briny deep.

The trustees of the Rice public library have lately made quite an addition to the already large number of books on their shelves; included in the number are the poems of Browning, as there is a growing demand for the works of that author.

Mr. O. E. Littlefield of Berwick, formerly of North Kittery, is having a fine new four-horse barge fitted up for his use this summer, to run between Berwick and York and Wells beaches. Mr. Littlefield has a good team of strong horses to go with his barge, and we trust he will meet with success. SUB ROSA.

There were ten summer guests at the Pepperell house, Kittery Point, at the opening of the hotel for the season on Wednesday, the 15th inst.

Mr. S. N. Watson, of the firm of Watson, Smith & Co., produce dealers of Boston, who have done business with the prominent grocers of this city for thirty years past, was striken with paralysis on the 14th inst., and his condition was on the 15th reported to be very precarious.

The Ocean View house at Kittery Point, Daniel W. Frisbee landlord, has been open for some weeks, and several employes of the new railroad have been entertained there during that time. Some improvements are to be made during the season.

The York County Patrons' Mutual Fire Ins. Co. of Biddeford, has collapsed.

While the Pepperell mills fire department were exercising with the corporation apparatus on the 14th inst. a nozzle got away from the four men who were holding it, and flourished around promiscuously, breaking John Flynn's nose and cutting his face badly, and breaking Alphonso E. Libby's legs. Both men live in Biddeford.

The new and picturesque highway along the northerly bank of Chauncy's creek, Kittery Point, is called Oakland avenue.

Two drilled wells are being put down by Mr. Coates of Boston on the farms of Mr. John Thaxter and Mrs. Titcomb, on Cutts' island, Kittery.

There are several coffee-crushed merchants in New York city, while there are strong grounds for the belief that others were badly strained in the late speculation which carried the price of coffee up from six to twenty-two cents a pound. The trap has fallen and a few of the tardy ones were caught.

"NEARLY CRAZED with pain" is the sad cry of many a victim of rheumatism or neuralgia, and frequently other diseases, such as kidney and liver complaints, are directly traceable to rheumatism or neuralgia. These diseases, for some unexplainable reason, are rapidly increasing, and in many instances are the direct cause of much sickness which so hides its real origin as to be mistaken for other diseases. In curing rheumatism, neuralgia, sick headache, and in many cases of kidney and liver troubles, Athlophoros has wrought wonders. Those who have used it are best qualified to speak of its merit.

Great Falls, N. H., March 12, 1886.

With me Athlophoros outsells all rheumatism medicines and herewith I give you one sample of its work in this place. Mr. Cyrus Curtis has been so afflicted with rheumatism that for the past three years he has been unable to walk, except to put one foot out and drag the other up to it and thus get along. Three weeks ago I recommended Athlophoros to him. Two bottles has so (as he states) unloosened him that he can walk natural again. He is now an earnest advocate of Athlophoros.

F. H. WINGATE, Druggist.

Greenfield, Mass., May 19, 1886.

I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athlophoros has entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so bad the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him. I heartily recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatism.

GEO. W. SPURR,
Manager Diamond Soap Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros is unsurpassed.

A GRAND CELEBRATION.

The anniversary of Bunker hill will be properly observed in our patriotic city, Friday. At ten o'clock A. M. a procession will be formed at the west end, and pass through the principal streets, accompanied by bands of music, under the marshalship of Frank A. Robbins, with a staff of mounted aids. In the procession will be distinguished "lions" who visit Portsmouth on this occasion for the first time, and an opportunity will be offered for those who wish to "see the elephant." An unique feature of the procession will be a cavalcade of fair equestriennes, with a large corps of skilled horsemen. The procession will be marked with many stupendous and novel features, and will be reviewed by a large sidewalk concourse of spectators. Three bands of music will play patriotic airs.

At a field on Middle street a large pavilion will be erected, where at one o'clock will be an exhibition of wild animals. At two P. M. will commence sports and games of the ring, of the most fascinating and enjoyable character. A small admission fee will be exacted at the entrance to the pavilion, to aid in defraying the great expenses incident to the celebration. In the evening the entertainment in the pavilion will be repeated. Good music will be performed by skilled bands, and everything, including the performance on a raised stage, will be of high order.

Thus will be celebrated the anniversary of the battle of Bunker hill in a manner exceeding that of many years. Citizens of the adjoining towns are cordially invited to partake of the festivities. Lemonade of the purest quality will be served in the pavilion, so other kind of fluid being required to obtain a clear view of the snakes.

TO BATHERS--AND OTHERS.

The mayor gives notice through the columns of this paper and by posters placed in various localities about the city, that persons who go in bathing without proper clothing within the city limits, or in such places and at such times as to be obnoxious to the public, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. He also asks citizens to assist the police in bringing offenders to justice by giving information of offences to the proper authorities. There have been many complaints of outrages against decency by bathers; now let the persons offended cooperate with the authorities.

SUICIDE AT KITTERY.

Henry W. Getchell, about twenty years old, son of Calvin W. Getchell of Kittery, shot himself through the heart about half-past ten o'clock Wednesday forenoon, June 15th, in the back room of J. H. Sweet's confectionery store in that town, and died in a few moments.

The deceased has for some months past been employed in a furniture store in Portland, and returned from there on the 14th by the afternoon train; and it is said that in the evening, in presence of his mother and Mr. C. W. Peckham, his half-brother, he drew a revolver from his pocket and intimated an intention to shoot himself, but the pistol was taken from him, though he regained possession of it Wednesday morning.

Wednesday forenoon about ten o'clock he was seen on Market street in this city by our reporter, to whom he remarked that he had not been at home before for eight months, and the next time he went away he should stay still longer; he also spoke about buying a lottery ticket, and said he recently drew a thousand dollars in a lottery, but had only about $20 left, having "been going it" in Portland. Our informant knows nothing as to the truth of young Getchell's statements. His friends think he had got into some trouble in Portland which he did not tell of, but which worried him into suicidal despondency.

ONE OF THE ANSWERS.

The Boston Globe recently sent out a large number of circulars asking the receivers to state, for use over their own signatures, "what, in your opinion, is the secret of the Boston Globe's success?" The answers received it has been publishing, and in a late issue, under the heading "Evidently never reads it," occurred the following:

I don't read the Globe, but from criticisms that come to me I judge that its success is from pandering to a frivolous, not to say depraved taste, large self-concert, and, principally, extensive and judicious advertising.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, June 15th.

John O'Brien, a laborer on the York railroad, was fined $3, costs $6.90, for drunkenness; county farm in default of payment.

Jane Leary, who was before Special Justice Hodgdon on Monday for drunkenness, was let off with some good advice and a caution, evidently profited by neither, for she was to-day brought forward again for a similar offence, and was assessed $9.90, which she will work out at Brentwood.

National League games, June 14th: Boston 8, Washington 2; Chicago 19, Indianapolis 1; Detroit 8, Pittsburg 4; New York 5, Philadelphia 2.

National League games, June 15th: Washington 13, Boston 4; Detroit 11, Pittsburg 3; New York 29, Philadelphia 1; Chicago 3, Indianapolis 2.

The city solicitor with an ingenuous disinterestedness encourages the boom of Alderman Hodgdon for mayor. That takes him out of the race as a candidate for solicitor, don't yer know.

The sergeant in charge of Fort McClary and the adjoining grounds has received instructions to permit the grading of the York Beach railroad through the reservation at Kittery Point.

The herd of broncho horses to be sold at auction in this city next Tuesday arrived yesterday morning, and may now be seen in Mr. Yeaton's pasture on Richards avenue. There are over forty of them, and they are well worth looking at.

It cannot be that our vigilant police force permit liquors to be sold in the grog shops on Sundays. The men who are so frequently seen in our streets on that day with an appearance of having imbibed tangle-foot, are simply showing the effects of having become tired out in going from place to place in the vain endeavor to obtain a drink of the intoxicant.

An occasion of unique interest was the picnic excursion by Miss Isa Frisbee of this city with her Boston pupils to Fort Warren, Boston harbor, on Saturday, June 11th, having received a pass through the kindness of Capt. Storey, commanding officer at the fort. Their tempting lunch was served in a commodious room, with hot coffee, the generous offering of an officer's wife whose daughter is one of Miss Frisbee's pupils. The company remained at the fort until 6:30 P. M., having spent a day of pleasure long to be remembered by all who participated therein.

Elvin Newton went to the Shoals on Wednesday, June 15th, with a gang of ten men, carrying out provisions and the necessary gear for the prosecution of the fishing industry from Lunging island during the summer. The party went out in the schooner Wm. H. Russell, Capt. Drowne. Herring are reported as very plentiful at the islands.

Mr. A. M. Lane, for some time past clerk in the Boston & Maine freight house at Dover, has been appointed station agent at Amesbury, Mass.

The Eastern railroad in New Hampshire paid its customary dividend of $2.25 per share on the 15th inst. The Portsmouth Trust & Guaranty Co. paid a dividend of three dollars a share on the same day.

The Portland Press announces the appointment of Deputy Collectors Cromwell and Murphy at Portland and Augusta, by Collector of Internal Revenue Page, of the New Hampshire district. We have no doubt that these gentlemen are perfectly solid with the collector, at least they appeared to be when they left the railroad station; but the announcement is a little too previous. The collector executed his new bond on Wednesday, the 15th, as collector of the new district, and until that instrument is accepted and the collector is fairly in his new office, no official appointments can be made. Nevertheless we are for Cromwell, and have no doubt as to his appointment when the time comes.

Miss Arabella C. Morgan of this city sailed in the White Star steamer Brittannic from New York for Liverpool on Wednesday, the 15th inst., upon her customary summer tour abroad.

NO PERSON shall, within the view of any dwelling house, or of any public road, street, or wharf, in the day-time, without necessity, bathe, or swim, or expose his person indecently in dressing or undressing for the purpose of swimming, or bathing, or otherwise.—Gen. Laws of N. H., Chap. 269, Sec. 6.

Any person convicted of any offense in this chapter mentioned, shall be fined not exceeding twenty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding six months.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH, N. H.,
Mayor's Office, June 14th, 1887.

Frequent complaints of violations of the above law at Sagamore Creek, near Lafayette Road and elsewhere, having been made to the undersigned, the marshal, assistant marshals, and police officers have been ordered to arrest and prosecute to the extent of the law all persons violating it. And all citizens are respectfully requested to aid in enforcing the law by giving notice to the mayor of all violations coming to their notice.

ELIOT ITEMS.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., June 14th.

The past week has been one of pleasure. The bountiful rain and the warm sunshine have given a cheering advance to the crops, especially the hay crop; fruit also promises well.

The Congregational society held a very successful strawberry festival last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Edgar S. Nowell of York has been visiting her brother, J. W. Nowell, the past week.

Our college boys of Kent's Hill, Messrs. E. H. Adams, Arthur C. Paul and A. B. Cole, returned home on Saturday, June 11th, for the summer vacation.

The entertainment given by the Golden Cross Commandery on Friday evening, the 10th, consisted of vocal and instrumental music, and a farce entitled "A Mysterious Disappearance." There was a large attendance, and ice-cream and cake were furnished.

Mrs. Clara Keen of Boston, and her son, W. C. Keen, spent Sunday with her uncle, Ira S. Paul. Also George W. Paul and wife of South Newmarket were home on Sunday, to see Mr. Paul's brother, Everett J. Paul, who is still on the mending hand.

Mrs. Ellen Hobbs is visiting her father, William Hill; and Mrs. Hill's sister, Mrs. Conklin, is passing a few weeks with her.

William E. Dixon and mother are spending a few weeks in Lynn, Mass.

On Tuesday, 7th inst., to Mr. Arthur L. Hanscom a son was born. HARRY.

Ministers, lawyers, teachers, and others, whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them.

—A French physician has discovered a new disease, the most pronounced symptom of which is a great aversion to getting up in the morning. The disease is not confined to France.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

—A notice in a French provincial paper: "In order to put an end to certain injurious rumors, M. Untel desires to inform the public that he is not the M. Untel of this city who was recently sentenced to death and executed."

Lost And Found.

A reward for the man that presents a better thing than the Hop Plasters for all pains, aches and weaknesses. Soothes, strengthens and vitalizes the parts. 25 cents. Hop Plaster Co., signature on back of plaster. Observe it.

—"It is no longer fashionable to eat grapes with the fingers," observes a fashion journal. Hereafter grapes will be eaten with the mouth like turnips or any other plebian food. Truly the world moves.

Be Your Own Doctor.

It won't cost you one half as much. Do not delay. Send three 2 cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates, from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

—Recently a teacher in a Maine Sunday school had been telling her class about Moses, dwelling at length upon his character, and desiring to test their attention and memory, asked "What kind of a child was Moses?" All was silent for a moment, when one little fellow answered up, "I think he was a boy, ma'am."

—In the west one theatrical company has changed its route so that it will travel all summer on the Mississippi river, ignoring the railroads, and thus dodging the inter-state law.

The Maine Central railroad company have fixed upon Monday, July 4th, as the date upon which to commence running the "special limited Bar Harbor express." This train will leave Boston on the western division of the Boston & Maine road at 9:15 A. M., and, stopping only at Portland and Bangor, will arrive at Bar Harbor at 5:55 P. M. It will be one of the fastest, and without exception, the finest train run in New England, being made up of vestibuled Pullman buffet cars of the most elegant finish, and furnished, too, in the most luxurious manner. The running of this train will allow passengers from New York to make the trip to Bar Harbor comfortably and in a most pleasurable manner within twenty-four hours. By leaving New York on any of the Sound line steamers they secure an excellent night's rest and will arrive in Boston early in the morning, and are given ample time to get a good breakfast before departing for Bar Harbor. The other train arrangements of the Maine Central and Boston & Maine roads will be changed on June 27th, and it is said the through travel and local patrons will be better provided for than ever before.

"I have used your Athlophoros for rheumatism and will say that less than a bottle entirely cured me, taken as soon as I began to feel the pain," is the testimony of John S. Sampson, of Taunton, Mass., to Athlophoros' many virtues.

Dr. Cyrus Edson, of the New York health department, lately seized two carloads of tainted meat which it was intended to manufacture into bologna sausages.

—Wife (in a tone of sarcastic reproach)—"What do you think, John, of paying $1.50 for an orchestra chair, Saturday night, and only putting twenty-five cents in the contribution box Sunday morning?" John (the guilty one)—"I think, my dear, that it makes a $2 bill look sick."

—"Let us elect to our halls of legislature," shouted an eloquent candidate, "men who are endowed with common sense." A momentary pause here for the sentiment to be applauded, when a voice came from the gallery: "But you can't get such men to run!"

—It was supposed that all the cannibals in Boston had been converted long ago, but the following from a Boston paper indicates that there are a few left among the upper circles: "Wanted—An active servant, who must be a plain cook and able to dress a little boy five years old."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.6

An Indolent Organ.

When the liver is indolent, as it must necessarily be when it fails to secrete the bile in sufficient quantities to meet the requirements of digestion and evacuation, it should be set at work with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The healthful stimulus to activity imparted by this incomparable alterative, speedily evinces itself in a departure of the uncomfortable sensations in the right side; the nausea; fur upon the tongue; indigestion, and sick headace consequent upon inactivity of the liver and the diversion of the bile from its proper channel. Irregularity of the bowels is always and painlessly reformed by the corrective indicated, which is infinitely to be preferred, both because it is safe and more efficacious, to blue pill, calomel and drenching purgatives of every class. It cures and prevents fever and ague, and rheumatism.

At Laconia, June 15th, Manuel Hall, a French Canadian, ate over a pound of raw beef, and died in less than half an hour.

GRETA.

"Not a bit, poor fellow!" said calm Greta. "He is thoroughly tamed. He is a performing bear, and I found him wandering through the woods on the day of the railway wreck. My uncle, in Germany, used to tame bears for showmen, and I understand all their ways; so I brought him here, and I've fed him and cared for him ever since, expecting that his owner would come to claim him some time. No one has come, though; and it is more than likely, I am beginning to fear, that his owner was drowned in some of those deep pools in the creek, under the trestle-work."

"And you are going to keep him?" asked Herbert Stanley.

"What else can I do?" asked Greta, raising the composed blue eyes to Stanley's face. "One can't turn bears loose in the woods in a place like this. And the poor thing reminds me of my youth. Oh I'll get along in some fashion, only please don't speak of this to my good friends, the Parkhursts!"

"Aha!" thought Stanley; "all will be well if we can once establish a link of secrecy between us—this exquisite blonde and me."

And at the end of the week, so far infatuated was he that he asked Margareta Harmon to be his wife.

"She is so beautiful!" he said to himself. "I can make anything I please out of her. No duchess could grace my home more royally, whatever may be her present rank."

But to his surprise, Greta dropped him one of her slow, queenly curtsies, and declined his offer.

Herbert Stanley for a moment could hardly believe his ears.

"You—you don't like me?" he gasped.

"Oh, very much!" said artless Greta. "But I don't love you; there's where it is. I could never marry a man unless I loved him very, very much."

And the blue eyes went dreamily out into space.

"Confound it all!" said Stanley to himself; "there's some fellow over in Germany that she is pining after."

And he had made his sacrifice in vain.

The next day—thus strangely does fate weave her web—a tall, broad-shouldered young man alighted from the train at Cassell's Creek station.

"I'm the manager of a Western show," said he to the station-agent, "and my best performing bear was lost here in the accident last spring. I've only just tracked him to this place. The attendant was so frightened at the accident that he slunk away, and we have just convinced him that he can neither be hung nor imprisoned for a thing which was none of his fault. Perhaps the creature may be dead; but if he's above ground, I mean to find him. Come on, Claus, and help me to identify King Bruin!"

Claus, a fair-haired shuffling German, followed close behind his master with a guilty air.

"Does anyone know anything of a docile bear loose in this neighborhood?" said the manager, looking cheerily around.

"Parkhurst's hired gal's got one," said a barefooted boy, who chewed tobacco, and was not in the least like Whittier's ideal. "Old man Parkhurst found it chained in the barn last week, and made a jolly row about it. But they let her keep it."

"And where does this gentleman live?" asked the manager.

"I'll show you," said the barefooted boy.

King Bruin had not forgotten his old friends. The meeting between him and Claus was mutually joyful. The poor German shed tears of joy, and Bruin gave voice to a hoarse roaring which meant unutterable things as he put both paws on Claus's shoulders, and rubbed his wet muzzle against his keeper's sandy beard. And in the midst of this, while the manager stood smiling by, Greta Harmon came running down the hill from the house.

"Who dares to touch my bear?" she breathlessly demanded.

"It is my bear, Greta Harmon," quietly responded the manager. "Dost thou not know me, Gretchen?"

She stood amazed.

"Karl!"—she cried out—"Karl Klunder! Why, whenever did you come from? Am I back in Bavaria again—at my uncle's door."

"I have been in the country for five years, Greta," said the young man. "All these years I have looked for thee. Sweetheart, I have found thee at last."

Here was the sequel to the first volume of blue-eyed Greta's life. Here was the "young fellow from Germany," whom Stanley had so prophetically descried. A respectable young German, in the receipt of a snug income, and only too anxious to carry Greta away.

"That darling performing bear," whispered Greta, showering kisses on the brute's head. "If it had not been for my taking care of him, I never should have met my Karl again."

"That hateful shaggy brute," said Mrs. Parkhurst. "If it hadn't been for him, I should have kept Greta with me yet."

"I say, boss," remarked the tramp, with that fresh familiarity which always makes the conversation of his species so engaging; "I say, boss, can't you give a fellow a dime? I am awfully hard up, and don't know where I'm going to get my next meal."

"Indeed!" replied Boss. "A hard case, surely. But I've an idea. Why don't you advertise?"

Boss says the fellow was evidently struck with the suggestion, for he started off immediately, with the apparent purpose of putting it into operation at once.—Boston Transcript.

Chaplain Hall, of the Albany Penitentiary, writes as follows of the cure of his wife of Nervous Dyspepsia and Prostration, and Malaria:

"Under the Kaskine treatment all the dyspeptic symptoms showed instant improvement, and the daily fever grew less and soon ceased altogether. Side by side these diseases vanished, as side by side they had tortured their victim for ten years—the Dyspepsia alone having, as I have said, existed for twenty years. Her appetite improved from week to week until she could eat and digest the average food that any well person takes, without any suffering or inconvenience. With renewed assimilation of food came, of course, a steady increase in flesh, until she now looks like her original self. She still takes Kaskine occasionally, but with no real need of it, for she is well. I consider this result a scientific miracle, and the "New Quinine" is entitled to the credit of it, for from the time she began with Kaskine she used no other medicine whatever."

Under date of December, 1886, Mr. David J. Norton, of Albany, N. Y., writes of his cure of chronic Intermittent Malarial Fever:

"Now I come to the real cure and to the end of my story. In the summer of 1886 I first heard of Kaskine. I was struck with his being called "the new quinine" and the high claims made for it. I didn't believe a syllable of them. Neither would you—in my place. "It can't hurt me," I said; "I'll try it." I did try it. To my astonishment and gratification I soon began to improve. Clearly I was getting better. As I continued with Kaskine I seemed to feel the malaria going out of me and health coming back. It was a genuine, scientific healing—not one poison temporarily disguising another. The uric acid with which my system was charged was presently expelled, and my stiffened joints became pliant as before I was ever in the Michigan fogs and miasmas. The indigestion also disappeared, my bowels grew regular, my head clear, my nerves steady, and restful sleep returned. I am now permanently cured; having never had any return of malaria—nor any sign of it. Results so real cannot be disputed, and I may fairly attribute them to Kaskine, because, after beginning with it, I took no other medicine."

We quote from Mr. C. I. Titus' account of the recovery of his wife from General Debility and Malaria:

"In the summer of 1886 a friend who had experienced great and happy relief from Kaskine—the New Quinine—said to me, "Why don't you try it for Mrs. Titus?" "I will," I replied. I can hardly convey to you in words the pleasure and surprise we felt at the change for the better wrought by that efficient and potent medicine. It came as the summer dawn comes, stealing noiselessly upon our sight. The disease was rebuked as from a power that speaks by authority; the system gave clear signs of the approach of health; the appetite improved; food was more rapidly assimilated, and Nature proceeded to rebuild the wasted tissues, and to heal the hurt vitality. A delicate, nervous organization righted itself; the fires of fever went out as Kaskine destroyed the germs which fed them; the digestive processes became more active and natural, and all this was accomplished so rapidly that the waste of over six years was virtually repaired in six months!"

As a people we live fast. We are overworked and overworried, so that old age comes upon us while we are yet young in years. We pass sleepless nights, or with a sleep that gives no rest. This is nervous exhaustion. We need a tonic that will restore the brain and nervous system to its natural condition, bringing back youth and vigor. The new quinine, called Kaskine, is the most powerful tonic known, and yet it can be borne by the most delicate stomach, and is admirably adapted to feeble and debilitated females. It removes that tired and depressed feeling, gives a good appetite, makes us feel strong and healthy, and imparts refreshing sleep to the languid and weary.

The full text of the letters from which the above extracts are taken can be obtained by calling upon or addressing The Kaskine Company, 54 Warren street New York, and 35 Farringdon Road, London.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

At Nashua, on the evening of June 15th, two carriages, one containing Hon. O. D. Murray and wife and the other Rev. Mr. Haines, came into collision. Mr. Murray's carriage was wrecked and the occupants thrown out, Mrs. Murray having a shoulder dislocated and receiving severe if not fatal internal injuries. Mr. Murray and Mr. Haines escaped with slight hurts.

That Two Cents Must Be There.

The organs of the party now taking a vacation are invited to note the fact that the cash in the United States treasury is being counted again, as a preliminary to the transfer of the office of treasurer from Jordan to Hyatt. It will be remembered that when the republicans made way for Jordan there was a shortage of two cents. Jordan now expects to turn over every cent the books call for, without any demands on his bondsmen. It will go hard with him and his party if there is a copper missing.—Chicago Herald.

The Chicago democratic paper has a memory that is too good—it remembers what never happened. When the republicans, after controlling the treasury twenty-five years, turned the control and the assets over to the democratic treasurer, the cash was found to tally exactly with what the books called for. It was thought for a few hours that one cent was missing, but the coin was found in a corner of the vault. "It will be remembered," to use the words of our wild western contemporary, that the democratic papers and stump speakers had for years been proclaiming that the millions returned by the republican officials as "cash in the treasury" were not in the treasury at all, having been stolen by the corrupt republicans; and that the aforesaid democratic editors endeavored to crawl into a very small hole, when their own party's count showed the cash and records to balance, by saying "of course no one ever supposed the gold and silver had actually been stolen"—which however was exactly what they had all along charged had been done and was being done.

The gas companies of are Boston to be absorbed by the Bay State Gas Co., a new corporation of New York which is to consolidate the Boston companies; and the street railroads are to be run by the West End company. We shall soon hear that Jordan, Marsh & Co. have consolidated all the dry goods stores under one firm. Matters are becoming simplified by passing into a few managing men's control at the hub.

The principal source of anguish to the democratic papers of the state over the election of William E. Chandler to the senate, seems to be that, as they allege, it "is the triumph of machine politics over the will of the people,"—which, coming from the organs of a party not a member of which dare sneeze till Frank Jones has taken snuff, is touching indeed. They also lament that Mr. Chandler's success ensures the total overthrow of the republican party at the next state election, which it would seem should not be a source of unmitigated affliction to the democracy.

The democratic officials in New York city recently determined to have the law against selling liquor even to guests in hotels on Sundays more vigorously enforced, in the hope of its repeal. The hotel men sent to Albany to have the law amended or modified in their favor, but without success. The legislature has adjourned, and the law remains. Now the supreme court is asked to review the decision of Justice Lawrence, who holds that a violation of the law against Sunday selling occurs when a hotel man sends a bottle of wine to his guest's table. Col. Bob. Ingersoll is general counsel for the hotel men, who think with the colonel that there is no necessity for future punishment, as they are receiving it now.

A BRUTAL PARENT.

Sylvester Carr of Epsom was recently complained of to the selectmen of the town, on account of his treatment of his boy Willie, thirteen years old. The selectmen notified President T. E. G. Marvin, of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and Carr was arrested on the 15th inst. and had an examination before Police Justice Badger of Concord, at which several witnesses testified as to the extreme cruelty of Carr toward the boy, both in whipping him brutally and making him work unreasonably and beyond his strength.

Carr owned to having whipped the boy severely, to make him confess that he had lied. The last whipping not being sufficient to gratify the unnatural parent's lust for cruelty, he threatened to drown the bruised and terrified child, and obliged him to crawl into a bag that he might be tied therein and thrown into the river to die like a blind kitten. Notwithstanding the brutal father declared that the punishment was inflicted for the boy's good, Judge Badger held him for trial before the supreme court, and gave the child into the custody of the society for the prevention of cruelty, who will apply to the probate court for the appointment of proper legal guardianship for him.

REWARD OFFERED.

The following notice has been issued from the office of the United States light-house inspector of the first district:

PORTLAND, Me., June 15, 1887.

The Light-house Board has experienced considerable difficulty in maintaining whistling buoys on the coast of Maine because dishonest persons steal the whistles which are worth a few dollars as old metal.

Such action endangers the safety of every vessel passing the buoy in thick weather.

To put a stop to such practices the board has authorized a reward of fifty dollars for the recovery of a whistle stolen from a buoy and a further reward of two hundred dollars for the arrest of the person having possession of a stolen whistle, knowing it to have been stolen. It is hoped that in the interest of safe navigation newspapers published in towns along the coast will make these facts widely known.

Benjamin Rhoades of Kennebunk, Me., employed in the Portsmouth shoe factory, had the left hand jammed and the forefinger split open on Thursday while at work. Dr. Folsom dressed the hurts, and the man went to his home.

At Oak Hill farm (Mr. James R. Yeaton's) on Richards avenue, at ten o'clock next Tuesday, the cowboys in charge of the drove of broncho horses will give an exhibition of riding, and capturing horses with the lasso while at full speed, in genuine frontier fashion. The exhibition will be free to all who choose to attend. The sale will be positive and unreserved, every animal going to the highest bidder.

Mr. Watson, of the firm of Watson, Smith & Co., flour and produce dealers on John street, Boston, who had a stroke of paralysis on Tuesday, the 14th inst., died the next day, at the age of sixty-seven years. Mr. Watson had been intimately known by the leading produce dealers and grocers of this city for over thirty years, and was universally esteemed for his unvarying courtesy and honorable dealing.

Miss Elizabeth J. Gardner, an American artist who has resided in Paris several years, has received at the Salon exhibition this year the much coveted medal. Miss Gardner is a native of Exeter, this state, a graduate of the Lasell seminary at Auburndale, N. Y., and is said to be the first American female artist ever honored in Paris as above mentioned. Her many friends in this section of the country will be delighted to learn of this tribute to her talent.

The reporters say that Mr. Blaine "went quietly aboad" at seven o'clock. Those who went expecting to see a free fight between Mr. Blaine and the captain of the steamship were disappointed.

"NEARLY CRAZED

with pain" is the sad cry of many a victim of rheumatism or neuralgia, and frequently other diseases, such as kidney and liver complaints, are directly traceable to rheumatism or neuralgia. These diseases, for some unexplainable reason, are rapidly increasing, and in many instances are the direct cause of much sickness which so hides its real origin as to be mistaken for other diseases. In curing rheumatism, neuralgia, sick headache, and in many cases of kidney and liver troubles, Athlophoros has wrought wonders. Those who have used it are best qualified to speak of its merit.

Great Falls, N. H., March 12, 1886.

With me Athlophoros outsells all rheumatism medicines and herewith I give you one sample of its work in this place. Mr. Cyrus Curtis has been so afflicted with rheumatism that for the past three years he has been unable to walk, except to put one foot out and drag the other up to it and thus get along. Three weeks ago I recommended Athlophoros to him. Two bottles has so (as he states) unloosened him that he can walk natural again. He is now an earnest advocate of Athlophoros.

F. H. WINGATE, Druggist.

Greenfield, Mass., May 19, 1886.

I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athlophoros has entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so bad the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him. I heartily recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatism.

GEO. W. SPURR,
Manager Diamond Soap Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, sleeplessness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, costiveness, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 3

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming 'smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

A meeting of the common council was held on Thursday evening, June 16th. Present, a quorum; Councilman Littlefield in the chair.

The usual resolution for a meeting of the councils in convention on the Thursday following the first Tuesday in August, to canvass the vote for mayor, was passed.

The bill in relation to building a new schoolhouse was laid over until the next meeting.

The mayor appeared before the board, and asked that the amendment to the bill relating to Goodwin park, providing that the superintendent of the park be appointed by the committee on city lands and buildings, be stricken out. Under suspension of the rules the vote of the council on the amendment was reconsidered, and the amendment was stricken from the bill.

Adjourned for two weeks.

No meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen was held, a quorum not being present.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, June 16th.

William Hurley, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90. This he will probably work out as engineer of the stationary engine at the county farm, that being his usual billet when he is there, which is most of the time.

THE CIRCUS

Comes to-day, and gives a parade this forenoon, and tent shows afternoon and evening. The attractions advertised are many, including Charles W. Fish, champion bareback rider, Ira Paine, the master shot, the Jeal sisters, the best lady bareback riders in the world, the elephant band and baby clown elephant, etc.

THE MIKADO.

The presentation of the Mikado was a great success financially, as well as artistically, musically and dramatically, the receipts amounting to about $730. The audience on the second evening was very nearly if not quite equal in number to that in attendance the first evening, and the performance ran even more smoothly, though the first evening's presentation was marked by fewer hitches, and those few less noticeable, than are commonly seen at professional entertainments. Mr. Hutchinson, whose Nanki-Poo the first evening was somewhat marred by a severe cold which prevented his doing anything like justice to his vocal abilities, was in much better voice the second evening, and deserved the several encores he received. The taste and skill displayed in setting the stage deserves especial commendation, for Musis hall stage never presented a handsomer picture than on this occasion; and all the painting was done by home talent, too.

BASE BALL.

The Riverside club of this city will play the Great Falls club on the grounds of the latter, to-morrow if fair weather.

National League games, June 16th: Boston 12, New York 5; Philadelphia 18, Washington 4; Chicago 8, Detroit 1; Indianapolis 4, Pittsburg 2.

MARITIME NOTES.

The new tug being built for Charles H. Trickey of Dover at Bath, Me., is now planked, and will be ready to launch in a few days. It is to be named "Cocheco," as it is on the Cocheco river it is to do most of its work, and is expected to arrive at this port in about six weeks. Mr. G. W. Tibbetts, engineer of the tug Ann, of Dover, is in Bath overseeing the work on the new tug.

Bellamy, the celebrated carver, writer and poet of Kittery Point, has decorated his boat in unique style. She was built of campher wood in Japan, and brought to this port by a United States naval vessel. He has painted on her sides the names of celebrated heroes of Norse mythology.

A steam launch for the United States coast survey is now in course of construction at this navy yard, from plans and specifications furnished by Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn. She is thirty-six feet long, eight feet beam, will draw three feet of water, and her displacement will be about nine tons; the experts say she will be the best steam launch ever put afloat.

George Henry Curtis, master of the Gloucester fishing schooner Jamestown, recently lost on the banks with all hands, was a Kennebunkport man, and had sailed thirty years as master of vessels fishing out of Gloucester, without ever losing a vessel or a man. He leaves a wife and one son.

Prof. Brown, the optician, will finish his canvass of the city this week. All who desire to avail themselves of his skill at remedying defects of vision will do well to bear this in mind.

A special train left this city at seven o'clock Thursday morning, the 16th inst., to convey to Concord the Patriarchs Militant, Daughters of Rebekah and other Odd Fellows and citizens who wished to attend the opening ceremonies of the Odd Fellows' Home that day. The train consisted of four passenger coaches and the locomotive Massabesic, which came to this city the previous evening. Canton Senter made a fine appearance on the march from their armory to the train, their uniform being very bright and showy.

The gas-light posts in several streets have been taken down. This may be all right, but should for any cause the electric light fail to shine, our streets would be very much in the condition of Moses, when the light went out. But we infer the authorities need no light upon this subject.

The barbers of Dover have invited Mr. John E. Roberts, the banjoist and veteran barber of Portsmouth, to play at their coming concert in the Dover opera house.

Mr. Charles R. Green, baggage master on the Concord railroad, was on Thursday, the 16th inst., reported as being dangerously sick at his residence on Hanover street. On the same day it was stated that Mr. Joseph H. Berry, a well known master ship-smith in the days when shipbuilding was prosperous on the Piscataqua, was extremely ill at his home on Islington street.

It is reported that the legislature of New Hampshire will cause to be placed in the capital at Washington a statue of John Stark, the hero of the battle of Bennington. But John Langdon, the man after Washington's own heart, who gave his fortune to the cause of liberty, should not be forgotten. Without his efforts and personal sacrifices Stark's army could with difficulty have been organized, and if it had been, Mollie Stark would have been a widow the night it met the British forces.

Mr. John T. French and wife arrived home on Wednesday evening of this week from New York, where they had been on a visit to Dr. Willis French, their son.

Miss Mary Neil, of Middle street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Arnold Knowlton of Providence, R. I.

Miss Kate P. Johnson of Rye road is visiting Mrs. J. H. Sweet in Maplewood, Mass.

Mr. Charles B. Colson on Thursday repainted the name on the stern of the steamer Appledore, at steamboat wharf.

Fred A. Ellis of Union Bluff, York beach, says that passenger cars on the York Harbor & Beach railroad will be running by July 15th.

The board which was appointed by Secretary Whitney to select suitable designs for a 6000-ton armored cruiser and an armored battleship of the same size from the competitive designs received in answer to the department's offer of $10,000 each for two acceptable plans, has approved the designs submitted by the Barrow Shipbuilding company of England for the armored battleship, this design being English, you know, and of course all right; but as no design suitable for a cruiser was offered, this vessel will be built according to plans prepared by the construction bureau of the department.

—And what do you expect to be when you grow up, Bobby, asked the minister; "a lawyer like your father?" "No," Bobby replied. "Ma says I'm too much like pa to make a successful lawyer. I did think I'd be a drum major, but I guess I'll be a lion tamer."

Sawing a Bridge in Two.

James B. Leighton of Perry, Maine, has been arrested for obstructing the highway, and cutting away the bridge across Little river. It seems that Leighton owns a mill at the head of the river, and contends that the bridge interferes with his business in the passing up and down the river of bargos or lighters. Leighton, aided by two other men, went down one night and sawed the bridge in two, allowing the centre to fall down into the water, the span which he sawed being thirty-seven feet. He also barricaded the road at each end of the bridge, thus obstructing travel and the mail. It is said he is acting under legal advice.

A REAL KING.

James Larrabee, long known to the woodsmen of eastern Maine as the "king of the forest," died at North Conway on the 4th inst., from the effects of a severe cold contracted a few days previous while getting out spars and masts for a shipbuilding company at Bath. He was eighty-two years old, and had spent most of his life in the woods; his judgement in selecting trees for masts and spars was wonderful, and he could tell almost at a glance just how valuable and how long a spar a standing tree would yield. He was married in 1842, and leaves six children, three boys and three girls, the wife having preceded him several years. He was on the outside a rough old fellow, but it was a roughness that covered a being of the finest fibre; his kindness to man and beast was remarkable, and having once seen a face he never forgot it. In him the ship builders of Bath have lost a man they cannot easily replace. In accordance with his often-expressed wish his body was taken to North Berwick, where the funeral was held at the residence of Brackett Hall, Rev. Mr. Hamlin officiating. The remains were interred beneath a big oak tree on Mr. Hall's farm, where the king had often expressed a desire to be buried, and were followed to their last resting place by a large number of people, by whom many a tear was shed for the kindly old man.

The many remarkable cures Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes are sufficient proof that it does possess peculiar curative powers.

R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, from Richmond, Va., arrived in Boston on the 16th inst., as the guests of John A. Andrew Post 15, G. A. R. The visitors had a grand reception.

Ministers, lawyers, teachers, and others, whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them.

The customs authorities in Montreal have seized 14,000 tons of imported coal, for alleged frauds on the revenue.

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Walter S. Conlon of Kansas City, grand secretary and treasurer of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association, has run off with the entire treasury, estimated at from $5000 to $16,000.

Though Shaken Like a Leaf.

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquillity, and which reacts most injuriously upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspepsia and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should, also, use the Bitters.

—Says a writer in a medical advertisement: "A year ago my daughter suffered on a bed of misery." The writer does not give the name of the summer resort, but readers will find no difficulty in locating it.

Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging. Try them.

—"Ma, why does God make it rain?" "So that the corn will grow, my little girl." "But why does he make it rain on the streets where there is no corn?" Painful and protracted silence.

Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Small price. Small dose. Small pill.

—He (at dinner)—"May I assist you to the cheese, Miss Vassar?" Miss Vassar—"Thanks, no! I am very comfortable where I am. But you may assist the cheese to me, if you will."

Lost And Found.

A reward for the man that presents a better thing than the Hop Plasters for all pains, aches and weaknesses. Soothes, strengthens and vitalizes the parts. 25 cents. Hop Plaster Co., signature on back of plaster. Observe it.

—Wife (in a tone of sarcastic reproach)—"What do you think, John, of paying $1.50 for an orchestra chair, Saturday night, and only putting twenty-five cents in the contribution box Sunday morning?" John (the guilty one)—"I think, my dear, that it makes a $2 bill look sick."

—"Let us elect to our halls of legislature," shouted an eloquent candidate, "men who are endowed with common sense." A momentary pause here for the sentiment to be applauded, when a voice came from the gallery: "But you can't get such men to run!"

—It was supposed that all the cannibals in Boston had been converted long ago, but the following from a Boston paper indicates that there are a few left among the upper circles: "Wanted—An active servant, who must be a plain cook and able to dress a little boy five years old."

DIGESTYLIN
FOR
INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and its convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to me the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferment in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

On the evening of June 15th the windows of the Presbyterian church at Parsontown, Ireland, were smashed, and the furniture in the vestry destroyed, by Catholic inhabitants. At a meeting of the Catholic population the next day, the parish priest presiding, the Catholics pledged themselves to do their utmost to bring the miscreants to justice.

Penalties of Imprudence.

Summer is at hand—the time of year when old heads and young become imprudent, get over-heated, cool off suddenly, catch cold, headache, nervous disorders, and a thousand and one other troubles. Preaching prudence is played out. The only thing to do is—after you have contracted one or more of these pains—to cure yourself as quickly as possible. Small pains are not neglected except at the risk of serious consequences. Remove them at once. It can be done by an application of one or more of Allcock's Porous Plasters, recognized the world over as the best external remedy ever made. Mind you, don't neglect your little ills. They outgrow everything else and if let alone cost you more than you can ever know. Remember Allcock's Plasters.

The steamer Vidette, of the Mobile & New York Steamship Line, foundered June 13th, a hundred miles off Pensacola, Fla., at which port officers and crew arrived June 16th. The vessel was valued at $60,000, and had a large assorted cargo for Mobile, Mongomery, St. Louis and other points, which was mostly insured on an open policy in the Insurance Company of North America.

THIS PAPER is on file at the Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.) where contracts may be made for it in New York. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

An Author's Early Readings.

We sat up late before the big fire, at night, our faces burning in the glow, and our backs and feet freezing in the draft that swept in from the imperfectly closing door, and then we boys climbed to our bed in the loft. We reached it by a ladder, which we should have been glad to pull up after us, as a protection against Indians in the pioneer fashion; but with the advancement of modern luxury, the ladder had been nailed to the floor.

Once aloft, however, we were in a domain sacred to the past. The rude floor rattled and wavered loosely under our tread, and the window in the gable stood open or shut at its own will. There were cracks in the shingles, through which we could see the stars, and which, when the first snow came, let the flakes sift in upon the floor. I should not like to step out of bed into a snow-wreath in the morning now, but then I was glad to do it, and, so far from thinking that or anything in our life a hardship, I counted it all joy.

Our barrels of paper-covered books were stored away in that loft, and, overhauling them one day, I found a paper copy of the poems of a certain Henry W. Longfellow, then wholly unknown to me; and while the old grist-mill, whistling and wheezing to itself, made a vague music in my ears, my soul was filled with this new strange sweetness. I read the "Spanish Student" there, and the "Coplas de Manrique," and the solemn and evocative "Hymn of the Night."

There were other books in those barrels which I must have read also, but I remember only these, that spirited me again to Spain, where I had already been with Irving, and led me to attack seriously the old Spanish grammar which had been knocking about our house ever since our father bought it from a soldier of the Mexican war.

But neither these nor any other books made me discontented with the small boy's world about me. They made it a little more populous with visionary shapes, but that was well, and there was room for them all. It was not darkened with cares, and the duties in it were not many.

We had a book in those days called "Western Adventure," which was made up of tales of pioneer and frontier life, and we were constantly reading ourselves back into that life. I have wondered often since who wrote or compiled that book. We had printed it ourselves in D., from the stereotype plates of some contemporary publisher whose name is quite lost to me. This book, and "Howe's Collections for the History of Ohio," were full of stories of the backwoodsmen and warriors who had made our state the battle-ground for nearly fifty years, and our own life in the log-cabin gave new zest to the tales of "Simon Kenton, the Pioneer," and "Simon Gerty, the Renegade;" of the captivity of Crawford and his death at the stake; of the massacre of the Moravian Indians at Gnadenhutten; of the defeat of St. Clair and the victory of Wayne; of a hundred other wild and bloody incidents of our annals. We read of them at night till we were afraid to go up the ladder to the ambuscade of savages in our loft, but we fought them over by day with undaunted spirits. With our native romance I sometimes mingled with my own reading a strain of old-world poetry, and "Hamet el Zegri" and the "Unknown Spanish Knight," encountered in the Vega before Granada on our island, while Adam Poe and Bigfoot were taking breath from their deadly struggle in the waters of the Ohio.—W. D. Howells, in Youth's Companion.

"Sweet Twenty-seven."

The present age will be curiously marked in history as a period when dress and beauty came prominently to the front. The literature of dress during the last ten years, if collected, would form an imposing collection. The beauty craze has revolutionized society. Among its consequences may be noted the fact that girls have gone out of fashion. Twenty-seven is the correct age just now. "Sweet seventeen" is hopelessly demoded. The result is a vast increase in the amount of hypocrisy practiced in society. No girl ever wanted to stop at 17, even when it was most in favor. But every woman now remains 27 until even her own familiar looking-glass begins to speak in the odious language of perfect candor. Mrs. Hawels, in her book on dress, recommends women always carefully to choose their background. This would be good advice, were it practicable. But one cannot carry about one's background with one. It would be costly to one's self and inconvenient to one's friends. A better plan for keeping on good terms with one's self so long as one remains at 27, is to fit up a looking-glass in a seductively flattering manner. A pink silk blind should always subdue still further the mellowness of the daylight. Wax candles with pink shades should be the only means of illumination when daylight dies; and if there are only enough of these a satisfactory toilet may be made and one's pet delusion remain undisturbed. Other mirrors, less pleasantly placed, should be carefully avoided.

As Thackeray's women characters have been difficult to understand among a vast number of readers and critics, the following opinion of women from the author may be read with interest: "I am afraid I don't respect your sex enough, though," he writes to a friend. "Yes I do, when they are occupied with loving and sentiment rather than with other business of life."

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1876 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1881 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with painful and strange notions? How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

A Most Colossal Blunder

Has been committed by the president in his order to return to Jeff Davis, or whoever represents the dead and ought-to-be-lost-to-memory Southern Confederacy, the rebel battle flags. Beside this political mistake, the vetoes seem insignificant. Of course the mugwump papers will be ready with their apologetic explanations. The democrats in the party who want to see the end of Cleveland will wear a grim smile at this ill-advised act of the returned fisherman.

[Since the above was in type we learn that a prominent New York mugwump telegraphed on Thursday to the president that he feared the order would lose him the state of New York, either in the convention or at the polls. Its consequences were also set forth by Col. Lamont, and the president has receded, and put the responsibility of the charge upon Congress. Hereafter when Mr. Garland advises the president as to his powers, the latter will read the revised statutes to see if he can find the authority under which his minister of law tells him he can act.]

A Satisfactory Indication.

The most satisfactory token which the republican members of the legislature have in the fact that they promptly disposed of the senator question with perfect harmony and without friction, is seen in the laments of the democratic journals at the election of Mr. Chandler to the office of senator. It is clear that if the democrats could have controlled the caucus Mr. Chandler would not have been put in nomination, and if their wishes had been consulted he would not have been chosen. The action of the members in disposing promptly of this question is certainly very commendable. When a political party has a majority in both branches of the general court it is far safer to carry out their own plans than it is to take advice from their opponents. The issues in the next canvass in this state will place the democracy in a position which will require all their strength, financial and personal, to hold their own at the polls. It looks now as if the repeated blunders of the party would alone be all-sufficient to keep New Hampshire firm on the side of good government, sound legislation and progressive ideas.

More "Boodle" Business.

Even in Boston there is suspicion of boodle business in the democratic reform city government. On the 16th inst. an investigation was begun of charges made by Alderman Carroll that Councilman Lauten made a bargain with a woman by which he was to get her the right to sell fruit at the entrance to the Marine park, on condition of her sharing the profits equally with himself and one Bibber. The woman testified in corroboration of the charge, saying that she paid Bibber about $300 and Lauten $375 between June and September of last year, when the deal ended. She also testified that she had been offered $50 by Thomas J. Collerton not to testify against Lauten. Lauten claimed that the bargain was made before he entered the council and was an ordinary business transaction, his share of the profits arising from the fact of his furnishing capital to run the fruit stand.

Character and Circulation.

C. S. Gosse of Boston, one of the most successful advertising agents of that city, will publish the following in his forthcoming "Directory of the American Press," on the subject, "Character, Circulation and Influence of Newspapers:"

The number of copies a paper prints, though an important point, is not the sole one by which to judge of its worth as an advertising medium. The character, influence and standing of a paper in a community, are all equally important facts in determining its value as a medium by which to communicate with the people of the section in which the paper circulates. Experience teaches that careful editorial guidance and superlative care given to statements in the news columns of a paper as a rule, render its advertising columns much more valuable than a paper reckless in its assertions, and lavish in its endorsements of anything and everything under the sun.

The "influence" of a newspaper, commercially considered, is as the influence of an individual. A man careless of his statements is not considered good authority, or a reliable source of information; so a newspaper, with its editorial opinions at the beck and call of any one with a bank account of sufficiently extensive dimensions, soon loses its weight with readers, who quickly discover its unreliability, and are careless even of statements printed in the advertising columns—the advertising is then about equally as valuable as so many hand-bills. The same rule applies to papers depending upon sales effected through making a specialty of low sensations; such papers are bought to gratify curiosity, are culled for their particular attraction, then thrown away, and a reliable newspaper is consulted for the news of the day, and the opinions of the latter are respected.

Al Sulloway of Franklin says the democrats did not want to run the legislature upon the senatorial question at this session. It is on the railway problem that they come in. In fact, just now, they are out of politics!

The Boston Herald endeavors to be jocose upon the subject of New Hampshire's senator and senator-elect in Congress. These senators will be heard from, and even in the presence of the distinguished men which the Bay State sends to Congress will not be likely to occupy back seats.

The Odd Fellow's Home in Concord was dedicated Thursday with appropriate ceremonies. The parade of the order was the finest ever held in the state. The city was full of people from all parts of the state and from abroad.

A terrific gale struck the town of Grand Forks, Dakota, June 16th, leveling seventy-two buildings, damaging hundreds of others, killing several persons, and doing a great deal of damage to other property.

The Massachusetts legislature made a final adjournment on the 16th inst.

"NEARLY CRAZED
with pain" is the sad cry of many a victim of rheumatism or neuralgia, and frequently other diseases, such as kidney and liver complaints, are directly traceable to rheumatism or neuralgia. These diseases, for some unexplainable reason, are rapidly increasing, and in many instances are the direct cause of much sickness which so hides its real origin as to be mistaken for other diseases. In curing rheumatism, neuralgia, sick headache, and in many cases of kidney and liver troubles, Athlophoros has wrought wonders. Those who have used it are best qualified to speak of its merit.

Great Falls, N. H., March 12, 1886.

With me Athlophoros outsells all rheumatism medicines and herewith I give you one sample of its work in this place. Mr. Cyrus Curtis has been so afflicted with rheumatism that for the past three years he has been unable to walk, except to put one foot out and drag the other up to it and thus get along. Three weeks ago I recommended Athlophoros to him. Two bottles has so (as he states) unloosened him that he can walk natural again. He is now an earnest advocate of Athlophoros.
F. H. WINGATE, Druggist.

Greenfield, Mass., May 19, 1886.

I have been troubled with rheumatism in one of my knees for years, being at times laid up for several days. Athlophoros has entirely cured me. It has also cured two friends of mine who were the worst cases I ever saw, one of them a young man only 16 years old, who was so bad the doctors gave him up. Two bottles of your remedy entirely cured him. I heartily recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatism.
GEO. W. SPURR,
Manager Diamond Soap Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc. Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, June 11th.

Samuel E. Jenness, John Casey and Frank Lord, for drunkenness, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs; the first-named two go to Brentwood, and the others will probably keep them company.

James Murphy and Edward Spinney, charged with trespassing and stealing flowers, were put on probation.

LEGISLATORS VISIT THE COUNTY FARM.

The Rockingham county members of the house, and senators from two or three districts, with representatives of several scientific and benevolent institutions, visited Brentwood on Friday to inspect the farm and observe the practical workings of the county system of caring for the poor, unfortunate and criminal inmates of the house, bridewell and asylum.

The county commissioners, whose terms of office have nearly expired, were assiduous in polite attentions to the visiting legislators, the county officers-elect and their distinguished guests from other and distant counties in the state. The forenoon was devoted to a thorough amination of the farm, farm buildings, ses, cattle, swine, and the facilities housing and preserving the various products, and to a critical inspec- f the methods of treating the insane earing for the other wards of the ty.

en the visitors were invited into the n building, where a hearty and tempt. dinner had been provided by the su- intendent and his efficient wife. Al- man Hodgdon, of this city, chairman the delegation, County Commissioner- ct Magraw, Treasurer-elect Call, Sher- elect Coffin, Representatives Sheehan d Morrisey, Alderman Russell, Calvin ge, Esq., Councilman Cronin, and esident Marvin of the New Hampshire ciety for the Prevention of Cruelty, present from Portsmouth, and in after dinner speeches expressed commendation of the manner in h the farm was carried on and with general management of the institu- n.

Mr. Marvin, however, qualified his expressions of satisfaction by suggesting to the new administration that the old system of drainage of the house and the ventilation of the bridewell should be entirely revolutionized and established on scientific principles.

Col. John Scott, editor of the Peterborough Transcript, and a representative of that town, made a very eulogistic speech, as did Representative Coleman of Newington, and others.

STORER RELIEF CORPS.

The ladies of Storer Relief Corps, No. 1, met in G. A. R. hall last Thursday evening and perfected their organization. Mrs. Moulton, department president of Maine, was present for the purpose of installing the officers and exemplifying the secret work. The following is a list of the officers of the corps:

President, Mary C. Taylor; vice president, Julia A. Shannon; secretary, Lizzie Moran; treasurer, Lydia A. Besselievre; chaplain, Elvira Entwistle; conductor, Lillie Shannon; guard, Caroline Randall; past president, Martha A. Young; delegates to the state convention of the Relief Corps of Maine, Mrs. Osgood, Mrs. Besselievre, Mrs. Young and Miss Moran.

HOW CAN THE MORTALITY FROM CONSUMPTION BE REDUCED?

A paper read before a sanitary convention in Manchester, in January last, by Dr. John J. Berry of this city, has been printed in pamphlet form at the office of John B. Clarke. In the pamphlet, which contains fifteen pages, Dr. Berry discusses the causes, results, and remedial agents which pertain to the treatment of consumption and its kindred diseases. The paper shows that the doctor is not only a well read physician, but that he has ideas of a practical turn which commend themselves, from the sensible mode he gives them in, to the consideration of every one. The paper is well written. It is not so crammed with technical or Latin words that the ordinary lay reader will have to read it flanked by dictionaries and encyclopædias, but the writer plunges into his subject and proceeds as if he were addressing the ordinary unprofessional listener instead of a society of savants. The doctor, like every one who has written on this subject, finds it far easier to furnish suggestions for the prevention of consumption, at least to state certain rules in sanitary conduct which should be observed, than to prescribe a general cure for a disease which he maintains is responsible for fifteen per cent of all recorded deaths. It is the old statement of the "ounce of prevention" being of so much more efficacy than a pound of cure.

There is considerable talk among the horsemen of this vicinity in regard to the auction sale of broncho horses on Richards avenue next Tuesday by McCafferty brothers, as they are convinced that the stock will be sold to the highest bidder regardless of price.

Hon. Thomas J. Whidden, a son of Portsmouth, now a distinguished citizen of Boston, celebrated his 70th birthday Friday evening at his elegant home on Upton street by a reception to which many of his old-time friends in this city were invited.

Atwell & Co., No. 28 Market street, are now in receipt of strawberries raised in Greenland, and fresh picked every day. They are the perfection of this delicious berry, large, firm and sweet—though how in the world they can pick up sweetness with such weather as we have had lately we cannot tell.

The premises known as the "Broken Bank" on Market street were evacuated on Thursday night, the furniture being removed through the back windows and transported to parts unknown. In consequence, the front entrance was closed on Friday.

It is stated on what may be regarded as good authority that a gentleman in this city would have made something between fifty and a hundred thousand dollars had he but seasonably gone into the recent operations in wheat, and escaped at the proper time. As he did not go in he neither made nor lost by the speculation. Moral: Never speculate.

Mr. John Kelly's barn was broken into a few nights ago, the same on which the house of Mr. Hayford was entered, but nothing was taken. Mr. Kelly was aroused from sleep by the barking of his dog, and opened several windows in his house and frightened the thieves away. Some things about the barn were scattered about the floor, and Mr. Kelly is of opinion that the intruders were thinking of taking his horse away.

John Norwood of York harbor on Friday launched a new sloop yacht which he built during the winter for Boston parties; she is twenty feet eight inches long and eight feet two inches beam, and is a very handsome boat.

The new city landing which the city government voted some weeks ago to place at Spring market, is now in position at that point. It was constructed by Mr. B. Stowe Laskey, and is a substantial affair. It will doubtless be much appreciated by people who come to our city by water.

Storm in a Teapot.

A San Francisco despatch of June 16th says: "A revolution seems imminent in Honolulu, according to news brought by the steamer Australia to-day. King Kalakaua has fortified his palace, and never goes out, it is said, without a bodyguard. The 20,000 to 30,000 Chinese on the island are particularly discontented on account of the king's misappropriation of large sums of money paid him by two Chinese companies for the opium monopoly. They have armed themselves with rifles and revolvers. They whites have also organized rifle companies, and have asked their home governments to protect them. Everything is unsettled, and trade is at a standstill. The king is extravagant and arrogant, and is thought that he may be deposed and a republic established."

I have sold during the past year about two gross of your preparation, Athlophoros, and it gives great satisfaction for rheumatism. Many of my customers say that they will always keep it against time of need. H. A. Powers, druggist, Wilton, New Hampshire.

—A little boy of three years was out doors the other day, and saw a cow standing near chewing her cud. He fearlessly went up to the animal and stuck out his hand. "Dive me a piece of dum, tow," he said.

Can't do it without St. Jacobs Oil says Capt. Paul Boyton. Swimmers all use it.

—Things one would rather have left unsaid. She—"No; I can't give you another dance. But I'll introduce you to the prettiest girl in the room." He—"But I don't want to dance with the prettiest girl in the room. I want to dance with you."

Get rid of that tired feeling as quick as possible. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives strength, a good appetite, and health.

—It was a little Boston girl who said to her brother, "You mustn't say 'victuals,' Johnny. You must say 'food;' victuals is rum." She had seen the words "licensed victualler" over the doors of some of Boston's elegant bar-rooms.

Ministers, lawyers, teachers, and others, whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and billiousness. One is a dose. Try them.

—Lady (ready for church): "My dear, are the book stores open to-day? I want a Book of Common Prayer." Husband (whose Sunday morning headache makes him absent-minded): "Try the side door."

We think we can cure a bad case of backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache plasters, than by any other application, and after the backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of smart weed and belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

—Blobson, indignantly—"I declare, that band is trying to play! I would like to kick myself for subscribing to the thing." Mrs. Blobson (pushing to the window)—"No, 'taint the band! It's Sprigg's tin-peddler's cart. The horse is running away."

"My Country," an ode of more than eight pages, by Mr. Geo. E. Woodbury, opens the Atlantic for July. It is the longest poem which has appeared in the magazine for years, and it speaks well for its quality that the Atlantic's poet editor thought fit to give it the place of honor. Miss Louise Imogen Guiney, who will be remembered for her amusing sketch of Mather Byles, the Tory Parson, contributes a paper called "The Water Ways of Portsmouth," which is full of amusing anecdotes and interesting reminiscences of Portsmouth and its creeks and river. Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson furnishes a story called "Dona Quixote," which has to do with actors and playwrights of the last century. "An Old Kentucky Home," and its inhabitants, are carefully and pleasantly described by Patty B. Semple, and the sketch forms one of those valuable papers describing the life of the locality, as well as the locality itself, for which the Atlantic is noted. A thoughtful essay on "The Decay of Sentiment," by Agnes Repplier, who has written some admirable articles for the Atlantic lately, also finds a place in this number, and it is not only true, but full of bright and amusing passages which illuminate her subject. W. A. Crafts contributes a paper called "Is the Railroad Problem Solved?" and Isabel F. Hapgood, the well known translator of Russian novels, has an essay on "Count Tolstoi and the Public Censor," which will be widely read and quoted as a deeply interesting account of this great Russian writer. Mr. Horace E. Scudder considers "The Use of American Classics in Schools," which to educators will be the most important article of all. Mr. H. C. Bunner has a little poem on Schumann's "Kinder-Scenen," and Julie K. Wetherill some verses entitled "When All Is Said." Mrs. Oliphant's and Mr. Aldrich's serial is at a deeply interesting point and leaves the reader in tantalizing suspense. Mr. Crawford's excellent "Paul Patoff" is also continued. Besides these and other articles there are, as usual, reviews of recent literature, as well as the Contributors' Club and Books of the Month. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.6

Though Shaken Like a Leaf.

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquillity, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should, also, use the Bitters.

A CAPTAIN'S EXPERIENCE.

A New Explanation of the Oregon Disaster, and some other Information of Great Importance.

The mystery surrounding the stamship Oregon has never been solved. That a vessel crashed into her is certain—that is all. The best evidence we have yet encountered is that of Captain S Greenwood, master of the steamer Kanawha, which runs between Newport News, Va., and Providence, R. I. In conversation with the writer, Capt. Greenwood said:

CAPT. GREENWOOD.

"On the night in which the Oregon was sunk, I was steaming along on a course South and East of the collision. It was about 11 o'clock when the lookout reported a sail on the port bow. I was on the bridge at the time and immediately sighted the boat. It seemed to be moving in an unsteady manner, although most of its sails were set. As we came nearer I saw it was bearing directly over our course without any regard for the rules of navigation. I accordingly slowed down, and finding she still kept her course sheered off in order to avoid the possibility of a collision. As she passed us I hailed her, but received no reply, although she was within easy hailing distance. I could not detect any life upon her, but her lights were burning. She seemed to be plowing along almost in any direction and without any regard for other vessels. I am quite sure it was the same craft that a few hours afterwards ran into the Oregon.

"But Captain, how do you account for her strange actions?"

"There are several theories. One is that the entire crew were intoxicated. Another that they were taken suddenly sick."

"That would hardly be probable, would it?"

"Why not? I noticed in the papers a few days ago, that over 200 unfortunate men, women and children at a picnic party in New Jersey were taken deathly sick and remained so for hours. Is it not reasonable that the poor fellows aboard the ship might meet the same fate?"

THE DISASTER.

"But is sickness common on shipboard?"

"As common as on land. I always go provided for emergencies, and what is to prevent I protect my men against the coming on of disease."

"How?"

"Whenever I notice men complaining of pains in the back or sides; a tired feeling; lack of appetite; despondency; want of energy; and many other things I know what it means and that I must stop such feelings at once, or I shall have a sick or possibly dead man on shipboard. Fortunately I have found something that removes all these troubles quickly and surely."

"And do you only use it on shipboard?"

"No, indeed, I use it in my own family. My wife had those troubles which nearly every woman has—weakness, bearing down pains and irregularities, which finally ended in a very large and painful swelling in the side. The best physicians of New York treated her. Some called it a tumor, others a rupture, but none cured her. I began to use the wonderful remedy I used on the steamer. In a very short time the swelling disappeared, she regained her health and strength, and is perfect well to-day."

"A WELL MAN"

"And what medicine is it, pray?"

"Hunt's Remedy. I myself have been cured of a terrible case of catarrh of the bladder by its use, and I would not be with out it for anything. I have had several men on my steamer that had the first stages of Bright's disease of the kidneys beyond a question, but they are well men to-day."

Captain Greenwood is a man of standing, and his statements can be relied upon. There is so much corroborative testimony about this same remedy, however, that the public are well informed as to its great merits, and are unquestionably decreasing disease and death by its use.

The Massachusetts board of health recently analyzed a number of temperance drinks and discovered that not one of them was free from alcohol. One contained 44.3 of the intoxicant, several 40 per cent., and the others more than 20 per cent.

Ten per cent of the counties in Dakota now have ladies as County Superintendents of Schools, and they average better than the men in point of ability and application to their duties. It is believed that this position will soon be generally conceded to ladies in Dakota.

Vitrified stove-piping is now universally used for drainage purposes both north and south. In the south in small villages and towns they take the place of pump logs, whose remains are yet exhumed occasionally from the debris of the underground past in the city of Richmond.

An Indian woman in the town of Patzcuro, Mexico, recently gave birth to a child with two heads, four arms, and four legs, but which was otherwise perfectly normal. The monstrosity died a few hours after birth, and has been placed on exhibition, preserved in the leading drug store of the place.

A priest in Salt Lake City came upon a girl of his congregation just as her sweetheart was kissing her good-night in front of her mistress' gate. He boxed the girl's ears, rang the bell, and, when the mistress appeared gave a short and instructive lecture on the duties of women in her station in life.

Aunt Mary Francis, a little colored woman of New Harmony, Ind., is said to be the oldest person in Posey County. She was born in Virginia 104 years ago. Though shriveled up until she looks like a dwarf, she is bright and active. She has lost but one tooth, and that by an accident fifty-five years ago.

A Good Appetite

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. William O'Brien, the editor of the United Ireland, arrived at Queenstown on the 17th inst., on the steamer Adriatic from New York, receiving an ovation upon leaving the vessel. Scores of deputations from various places in Ireland, together with large contingents from Cork and Queenstown, were at the dock to greet him to Queen's hotel.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

MONDAY, JUNE 20, 1887.

Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N. H. as second-class matter.]

☞ Copies of the GAZETTE and of the DAILY CHRONICLE can be had of Moses Brothers, at their Newspaper Store in Congress Block.

"A Way They Have in the Army."

Assistant Adjutant-General Green is reported as saying that he "did not see why the president revoked the order about the rebel flags. There is nothing in the statutes prohibiting their return!" These army officers talk too much. There is nothing in the statutes prohibiting the president from giving the Washington monument to Mexico, because no such contingency was ever contemplated. The fact is the president deemed it better to get in under cover of Congress out of the storm which has raised above his head like a western cyclone, and by this time Mr. Endicott will have doubtless sent down an order to the adjutant-general's office of "silence in the ranks."

The Andover Heresy Cases.

The decision of the board of visitors of Andover Theological seminary, in the cases of the five professors charged with heretical utterances in the "Andover Review" and the book called "Progressive Orthodoxy" was announced on Friday, June 17th. Two of the board of visitors voted for the removal of Prof. Egbert E. Smith, and one against his removal. The other four cases were dismissed on a puerile technicality. The twelve trustees of the school strongly sustain Prof. Smith.

Underpaid Officials.

General Marston has introduced a bill to give the judges of the supreme court salaries of $3500, and the chief justice a salary of $3700. It is not stated, but it is presumed, that this is to be in addition to railway travel. The People and Patriot, in view of the recent decision of a celebrated railway case, does not object to the increase.

In case Frank Jones should be the next governor of New Hampshire, the Pearson organ would like to have the salary of that officer increased. Small as it may appear, there never seems to be any difficulty in finding a candidate who does not depend upon his salary for his daily bread to run for the office.

AN OLD NEW ENGLAND TOWN.

Since the attitude of one thinking mind often expresses that of an organization, a whimsical critic might be forgiven for detecting in such a town as Portsmouth, in New Hampshire, poised among the seething forces of our young materialistic republic, a touch of resemblance to such a one as Ruskin; who, to them that share not his beliefs, is merely the most illustrious laggard of his day. Portsmouth, too, shall take that name with a smile. She holds to the unprogressive doctrine that brawn is a good thing, but not the best. Her stilled and centred life, without ignoble idleness, is a consistent choice and a long, long protest. We are not certain that much heed is taken of her. She is venerable, if aught in New England may so be considered, and a living exhortation to money-hunters. But we are like a household who really have no time for morning prayers.

The town, settled by royalists and Churchmen, a "sumptuous little aristocracy," had her pomps once, never quite rivaled by any of her sisters, but now vanished like her shattered commerce, or her civic glory, which is a tale of Revolutionary and historic days. Her decay, such as it is, is thorough and unbroken. She puts forth no spasmodic strivings; rarely do the fresh marbles of enterprise jut against her threadbare buildings. Her citizens, agreeing in harmony, care for their own with a thoughtful public spirit natural to those whose forefathers loved Arcadia before them; but it is no aggravation to their ears that New York is ablaze with electric lights, nor that Chicago is threaded with horse-cars. Portsmouth knows her quaint dignity to be a solecism, and with a disdainful tear she withdraws out of the hubbub into solitude, where, it seems, no summoning voice is soon to win her. From the ever-open doors of her picturesque Athenæum, the very "island-valley of Avilion" in its quiet, she looks on this world with her remote scholar's eye, speculating on what is named expediency or reform, to her wholly irrelevant. Every fibre of her being, nevertheless, is individual, correlative; instinct with character and purpose. The formulating of theories strikes her as vain; for she has her traditions. Her fixed ideas cannot change with each moon. She will keep her chaste identity, with plaintive conservatism, down to the ashen ending of all things. Or, in a mood of smiling homage, we passers-by liken her boldly to one of the stout old Norse ships, running triumphantly before its last impetuous wind, sails fullspread, the fatal fagots piled on deck, dying in flame in the same guise which delighted the eye of seakings long in their graves.—Imogen Louise Guiney in July Atlantic.

There is a young man about this city, well known to the police, who is continually stopping respectable people, and asking for a loan of ten cents, presumably to get a drink. He has done this so much that he has got to be a public nuisance, and should be looked after by somebody.

Mr. Henry Wiggin, formerly of this city, now in the employ of Golding & Co., printers' manufacturers, Boston, and a companion, made a trip on their bicycles from Boston to this city on the 17th inst., returning by way of Exeter on Saturday. "Jimmie," as Mr. Wiggin is known by his friends here, reports the travelling as very bad for bicyclists between Newburyport and this city.

The broncho horses now at James R. Yeaton's farm have been shipped over two thousand miles on the cars, with only a drink of water and a feed of hay every other day. They have never seen the inside of a barn, never had a curry-comb on them, never tasted grain, and come from a drought stricken district, where feed and water are scarce and where they have had to winter themselves on the prairie. Although they are not in fine condition they are evidently a well-bred lot of stock. The sale takes place to-morrow, without limit or reserve.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for 3 Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

THE KEARSARGE REUNION.

The annual reunion of the survivors of the original crew of the U. S. S. Kearsarge was held in Boston on Saturday, June 18th. The battle with the C. S. S. Alabama was fought on Sunday, June 19th, but the anniversary this year falling on Sunday, the 18th was selected for the reunion. The muster was held at the Quincy house, shipmates reporting as follows:

William B. Poole, James O. Stone, Lynn; George W. Remick, Newburyport; William W. Wainwright, Lawrence; Charles A. Poole, Waltham; Joel L. Sanborn, South Boston; Austin Quimby, Wenham; John W. Sanborn, John T. Stackpole, Hyde Park; John F. Bickford, Gloucester; John E. Brady, Fall River; John C. Woodbury, Beverly; Charles Redding, Peter Ludy, Boston; Lawrence T. Crowley, Charlestown; Adoniram Littlefield, Dover; Jere. Young, Newmarket; Lyman P. Spinney, Kittery; True W. Priest, John W. Young, Martin Hoyt, Portsmouth.

After a hearty interchange of greetings the veterans proceeded to Rowe's wharf, the starting point of the boats of the Boston & Hingham Steamboat Co., where they were taken in charge by Col. E. G. Peirce, superintendent of the company, and embarked on one of the fine boats of the line for Nantasket, the delightful trip down being made all the more pleasant by the quiet attentions and intelligent information of the superintendent. Arrived at Nantasket there was a half hour's ramble on the magnificent beach, a hurried look at a few of the attractions of the place, an excellent supper in an eating house at the head of the steamboat company's vast pier, and then another charming steamboat trip back to the city, the sloop Puritan and other noted yachts arousing great interest among the ancient mariners as the steamer passed them at their anchors.

Before separating, an earnest vote of thanks to Supt. Peirce was passed in recognition of his generous courtesy, and it was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Gloucester, Mass., on Tuesday, June 19th, 1888, shipmates to report as early in the day as the train connection will allow.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, June 18th.

James Nelson and Charles Smitth, two drunks, were fined $9.90 each. They'll go to Brentwood.

HAD A PISCATORY VACATION.

Dr. A. B. Sherburne returned the latter part of last week from a fishing expedition in the remote regions of eastern Maine. He says it was early for mosquitoes, and the only bites to which he owns up are those of the shining trout, of which he caught about the same number that President Cleveland secured in the Andirondack region.

The doctor after this little recreation resumes this week the care of his convalescing patients, and listens to the tales of woe from the applicants for invalid pension when the board of medical examiners convenes.

"CHRIST AND THE UNPARDONABLE SIN."

The passage used in the Universalist church on Sunday was from Matthew, 12th chapter, 31st and 32d verses:

"Therefore I say unto you, every sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men, but the blasphemy against the Holy Spirit shall not be forgiven. Whoso shall speak a word against the Son of Man it shall be forgiven him. But whosoever shall speak against the Holy Spirit it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in that which is to come."

These are Christ's words, therefore they mean something. It is something, however, that is in accord with the essential Christ, and with God. Our knowledge of these must be the solvent of the four gospels. The character of Christ is a unity. Some have accused him of duplicity, for example, that in saying in the parable of the rich man entering the kingdom of heaven being as hard as it is for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, he referred to a small gate in the wall of Jerusalem, through which a camel could squeeze. Such aspersions upon our divine Master are groundless. He did not establish miserliness in Heaven. Avarice cannot be Heavenliness in any world. Cupidity and love can never be one. Christ meant what he said.

So in the text. No one will deny that all sins are forgiven men when they become really different. But it is impossible for a man to enjoy harmony with God unless he wants to. We very well know that when our friend refuses our offers of forgiveness he cannot reap the benefits arising from the same. We proffer to our friend the holy spirit of friendship. He refuses. God himself will not give to him the benefits of that friendship. Your friend rejects your holy spirit. Now as he is a free moral agent he cannot receive the benefits arising from acceptance.

The unpardonable sin is the refusal to be pardoned. God himself will not violate free agency in this matter in this age, or this world, or any other. The text if taken in an intelligent connexion with the preceding verses will plainly show this. The human soul must gauge its own receptivity, in this world or any world. God's forgiveness is gauged, not by what we give, but by what we accept. Christ is alive to-day. In the church universal he is embodied. That church is to be the enfranchised world; but not until the world accepts a rational Christian unity,—that is, is willing to be forgiven. The church universal is the visible expression of the Holy Spirit.

MARITIME NOTES.

Two New York gentlemen were in this city on Saturday looking over the steamer Appledore, with a view of purchasing her.

Capt. Horace Burns, late master of the schooner Estella, is to go in the schooner Chilion as master when that vessel comes off the railway at Kittery, which will be about the middle of this week

Mr. Stephen Decatur, with a party of friends, sailed on his yacht for a cruise along the coast, on the 19th inst. They intend to witness the great race off Marblehead on Tuesday, between the crack yachts of the country.

The steamer Oceanic, Capt. Wm. Robinson, arrived at this port on Friday evening of last week from Wilmington, Del., to run between Appledore wharf, this city, and the Isles of Shoals, during the season of the summer travel. She commences her trips to-day.

Steamer Appledore, which has been laid up for a long time at Appledore wharf, made a trip out to sea on Sunday.

The number of broncho horses in this city is increasing, one of McCafferty's mares having added a fine bay colt to the herd on Saturday night.

The barbers of this city have "rented" the grove at Wallis' sands for their picnic on the 16th of July. This would be a good plan for all parties desiring the use of the grove, as Mr. Wendell will not allow persons on his property this season without his permission.

A large corps of gardeners and workmen were engaged last week in returfing the grounds in the vicinity of the hotel Wentworth. The turf is from Hon. F. Jones' farm in Portsmouth.

A number of spectators witnessed the process of corralling the horses in the Elwyn pasture on Richards avenue Saturday afternoon, while several horse men looked over the points of the animals, guessed at their ages, and gave opinions as to which of the gray mares was the better horse.

Messrs. Ernest Johnson, Charles E. Larrabee, William H. Phinney and Warrington Moulton have been appointed letter carriers by postmaster Gerrish, to go on duty July 1st. The young men were measured for their uniforms last week. The postmaster has not yet announced the list of substitutes.

A number of men are engaged in boxing the thrifty young elm trees set out on either side of the highway between Sagamore road and the Wentworth bridge.

Mrs. Ann Downing of this city, widow of Havilah F. Downing, has been granted a Mexican war pension on account of her husband's services. She is entitled to one on account of her own, having been regularly enlisted, and served with her company (the late Capt. Theodore Rowe's) all through the war, entering the city of Mexico with the command.

At the annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans held at Nashua on the 15th inst., Lieut.-Col. Crowley, of this city, was elected member of the grand council from New Hampshire; and Charles A. Stevens, a member of the division council. The next encampment will be held at Laconia at a date to be announced by the colonel.

The municipal authorities are to be commended for the erection of a substantial guard rail at the exposed borders of the gravel pit on Lafayette road.

Mr. H. Fisher Eldredge has raised a portion of his land in the rear of his residence on Miller Avenue. He has had hauled from the farm of Inspector Caswell, during the past week, fifteen hundred loads of earth, a large number of teams being continually kept at work on the job of transportation.

Charles Putnam, Ed. Coffin, and Burt Tuttle, were arrested at Epping on the 15th inst., charged with selling liquor "from their pockets" without a license, and held to appear before the United States court, Putnam in the sum of $1,700, Coffin $300, and Tuttle, $200. Putnam failed to get bail and was sent to jail.

John W. F. Hobbs of North Hampton, accompanied by Dr. William T. Merrill of Hampton, will leave Boston on the 7th of July in the steamer Bothnia for a short visit in Europe.

The Granite State Fire Insurance Co. of this city, was among the companies which insured $240,000 on one of the refineries of the Havemeyer Sugar Refinery Co., burned on Saturday, the 11th inst. The policy in the Granite State was $1250.

The king of Greece and the king of Denmark arrived in London on the 17th inst., to participate in the Queen's jubilee.

Those persons who do not need iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally effect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages.

—Nothing succeeds like success, except the Deleware peach crop. That is only successful when a failure.

No Woman

is beautiful with a bad skin, covered with pimples, freckles, moth or tan. I have been asked many times what will remove these unsightly blemishes. No face paint or powders will remove them, as they are caused by impure blood. The only sure remedy I have ever seen is Sulphur Bitters, and in hundreds of cases I have never known them to fail.—Editress Fashion Gazette.

In a late issue of our paper we published a rumor from the Manchester Union concerning the purchase of the Boston Globe by the Herald. Here's what Col. Taylor says about the report: "You haven't heard the other report, perhaps. There are two reports about the street. One is that the Herald has bought the Globe; the other is that the Globe has bought the Herald. Both are equally true."

To Sufferers from Weak Spine.

Persons suffering from weak back will take comfort in reading the following letter from Mr. A. W. Barrett, of Oswego, New York:

Ten years ago I was afflicted with a lame back. The pain was so severe that I could hardly walk or get about. Hearing much said about Allcock's Porous Plasters, I applied two to the lower part of my spine. In a week I was very much better. I put on fresh plasters at the end of ten days, and two weeks afterwards found myself entirely well. If I get a very severe cold, I sometimes have a return of this weakness of the spine, but Allcock's Plasters cure me in three or four days.

The treasurer of the state of Maine wishes to exchange two million, eight hundred thousand of state bonds for new issue, at the rate of three per cent a year.

Hop Plasters cure pain and soreness, strengthen weak parts and do it quickly, too. 25 cents.

The Boston Globe recently criticised with just severity the law of Rhode Island which denies the ballot to a little over 3,000 men, because they do not own one hundred and thirty-four dollars worth of land. Now let the Globe, and other papers that feel the hurt of the disfranchised Rhode Island men, give a word for the more than 500,000 women of Massachusetts who are disfranchised because they are women. The Rhode Island men can acquire land, but women can never cease to be women. The women of Massachusetts outnumber the men of the state by 62,000. Men who love justice for its own sake, and who believe in Home Rule, should take up the defence of disfranchised women.—Woman's Journal.

Though Shaken Like a Leaf.

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquillity, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the disharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should, also, use the Bitters.

The lock-out of the New York silversmiths is practically over, and nearly all the men back at work. It is understood they yielded to the demand of the employers, and promised to sever their connection with the Knights of Labor. The silver-chasers, however, still refuse to yield.

SAVED BY HIS PLUCKY WIFE.

Exciting Incident in the Career of a New York Artisan—Fire that Burned for Two Years—He Sees no more Ghosts.

I am a wood carver by trade and it is out of my line to write letters; but my wife thought it was no more than right that I should let you know what your remedy has done for me, and I think so too. And even when I have said all I can say, I fear I shall fall short of giving you an impression of the facts as they really are.

I live in East 157th street, west of Third avenue, and have lived there for about twenty-five years, where I own my house and lot. Up to the time I am about to mention I had been a strong, well man. There was always more or less malaria in the neighborhood, but I had not personally suffered from it. It was in 1880 I had my first attack. It came on as such attacks commonly do, with headaches, loss of appetite and ambition, chilly sensations, with slight fever afterwards, a disposition to yawn and stretch, and so forth. I was employed at that time at Killians & Brothers, furniture manufacturers, in West 32d street. I hoped the attack would wear off, but as it didn't I consulted a well known and able physician in Morrisania, who gave me quinine and told me what to do. I can sum up the first four and a half or five years of my experience in few words. Occasionally I was laid up for a day or two, but on the whole I stuck to my work. I kept taking quinine, in larger doses from year to year, and kept on getting weaker and worse, slowly but surely, all the time. My trouble was now well defined and its symptoms were steady and regular. I had dumb ague in its worst form, and it was grinding me down in spite of all that I could do or the doctors could do. It held me in a grip like fire in a burning coal mine. The poison had gone all through and over me and nothing was able to touch it. I was fast losing flesh and strength, and about March, 1884, I knocked off work entirely and went home to be down sick, and to die for all I could tell.

At this point begins a part of my experience that I had rather die than go through again. It lasted less than two years, but they seemed like a hundred. At the best I can give you only a rough picture of it. I ran down so rapidly that I soon became unable to walk any distance. Later I went from room to room in my own house only by friends coming to me up by each arm. The doses of quinine were increased until I often took thirty grains at a dose. The effects of this tremendous stimulation was to make me nearly wild. It broke my sleep all up, and I often walked the floor, or staggered about it, all night long, scarcely able to bear any noises or even human speech. My temper was extremely irritable. As to food, one of my little children would eat more in a meal than I could in a day. I would order food and then turn from it in disgust. I lived on quinine and other stimulants and on myself, like a bear in winter. The quinine set my head in a whirl, and the liquor—given as a medicine—made my stomach so sick I could not tolerate it.

One pleasant summer day, being a little better, I went on a visit to my mother in Astoria, Long Island, intending to return at night. There I was so overcome by the exertion in my weak state that my relatives thought I would die. It was several days before I got strength to return. I had my sick week and comparatively well week, yet it was half past eleven o'clock every morning before my hands would have any feeling of warmth in them, and regularly at five in the afternoon they became cold as stones again.

From 175 pounds (my proper weight) I ran down to 97 pounds—the weight of a little girl—and was scarcely better than a skeleton.

My wife myself taken a hatchet and hacked me down and killed me I should have been better off.

During the latter part of this period, early in 1885, my physician said: "Miller, there's no use in my taking any more money of you, I can't do you any good. I might pour pounds of quinine down your throat and it wouldn't help you."

On the strength of this I gave up the use of quinine altogether, and made up my mind to do nothing more and take my chances.

Three weeks afterwards—about the last of May—my wife saw an advertisement of Kaskine in a New York paper. She told me of it. I said: "Stuff and nonsense! I won't use any good." But she went to a druggist's, nevertheless, to get it. The druggist advised her against Kaskine; he said it was mostly but sugar; that she ought not to throw away her money on it, &c. He said he didn't keep it but could get it if she insisted on having it. Turning away in disgust my wife spoke to our neighbor, Mr. A. G. Hegewald, who got her a bottle at a drug store in Sixth avenue.

Almost against my will, and without the least faith, I began taking it. In one week I was better. I began to sleep. I stopped "seeing ghosts." I began to have an appetite and to gain strength. This was now the first of June, 1886, and by the end of that month I was back at my bench at C. P. Smith's scroll saw, ing factory on 126th street, where I work now.

Since then I have never lost a day from sickness. Taking Kaskine only, about forty pellets in four months, I went to work and kept to gain. The malaria appeared to be killed in my system, and now I've got back my old weight—175 pounds—and my old strength to labor. I am an astonishment to myself and to my friends, and if Kaskine did not do this I don't know what did. The only wonder to me is it could do would be to bring a dead man to life.

FREDERICK A. MILLER,
630 East 157th Street, New York.

P. S.—For the absolute truth of the above statement I refer to the following named gentlemen, who are personally acquainted with the facts: Mr. Alexander Weir, 629 156th St; Mr. George Seaman, 158th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. A. Moebus, 154th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. P. F. Vaupel, 154th street and Courtlandt avenue; Mr. John Lunny, 156th East 158th street; Mr. John Renshaw, 124 125th street, and many others. I will also reply to letters of inquiry. F. A. M.

We submit that the above astonishing cure, vouched for as it is by reputable parties, is a reserving of a thorough and candid investigation by thinking people. And we further submit that when druggists turn away customers by falsifying the character of a remedy because they do not happen to have it on hand, they do a great wrong. If this afflicted man had not disregarded the druggist's advice and sent elsewhere for the remedy he would without doubt have been in his grave. Touching the slanderous declaration of the druggist that Kaskine was nothing but sugar, we append a letter written by the celebrated chemist, Dr. Mott, which requires no comment:

The Kaskine Company:

Gentlemen.—By chemical analysis I have detected the presence of four distinct substances, all of which possess antisymotic and antiseptic properties.

The percentage of these constituents is small, yet quite sufficient, when Kaskine is taken regularly according to the directions, to so influence the blood and the system as to render the same unfavorable to the growth, development or presence of the lower organisms which are the cause of numerous diseases the system is subject to. The proper treatment for any disease is one directed towards removing the cause, and this should be done gradually. Knowing the nature of the medicinal constituents of Kaskine, I do not hesitate to recommend it to public attention.

I am gentlemen, yours respectfully,
HENRY A. MOTT, Ph. D., L L. D.,
Analytical and Consulting Chemist.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

And Then.

Shall we fold our hands when the fight is ended,
And the broken fetters reluctant fall?
When freedom comes after long endeavor,
Shall our fate be buried in love forever,
And the bitter past be forgotten all?

Shall we think no more on the blood expended,
On the days of want and nights of woe,
On the galling chains and taunts more galling,
And the famine-murdered for vengeance calling,
Where the graves, like waves, lie row on row?

Could we bury our hate in some desert lonely,
That its eye might never accuse us more!
But there's not a rood of our land unwatered
With the blood of myriad martyrs slaughtered
In the grievous years that have gone before.

Hadst thou left us a poor God's-acre only
We had buried our bitter burden there;
We had clasped in love the hand extended,
Forgiving all when the fight was ended.
But that hallowed spot, we shall find it—where?

—James Jeffrey Roche, in Boston Pilot.

The Useful Travelers' Tree.

A European traveler, on his way from the coast of Madagascar to the capital, Tananarivo, in the interior, had emptied his water flask and was suffering from thirst. He asked one of the natives of his party when he should be able to obtain water, says the Youth's Companion. "Any time you like," said the native, smiling. The European saw no sign of springs or water; but the natives conducted him to a group of tall, palm-like tree standing in a cluster on the edge of the forest, with straight trunks and bright green, broad leaves, growing from the opposite sides of the stalk, and making the tree appear like a great fan. The white man gazed admiringly at the tree. "You think it is a fine tree," said the native, "but I will show you what it is good for."

He pierced the root of one of the leaf-stems, at a point where it joined the tree, with his spear, whereupon a stream of clear water spurted out, which the European caught in his water-can and found cool, fresh, and excellent to drink.

The party having satisfied their thirst and taken a supply the native who had spoken went on:

"This tree, which is good for us in more ways than one, we call the traveler's tree."

"But where does the water come from that the tree contains?" asked the white man. "Is it taken up from the soil?"

"Oh, no," said the native. "The leaves drink in the rain that falls on them, and when it has passed all through them it becomes very pure and sweet."

"And are there many of these trees on the island?"

"There are so many that sometimes one sees no other trees for a mile, and very often we take no provision or water when we travel, because we know that we shall find the traveler's tree."

"And you say there are other things that they are good for?"

The native answered by asking another question.

"Do you remember," he said, "the village that we passed through this morning, with its wooden huts roofed over with leaves? Those huts were made of nothing but the traveler's tree. The wood splits easily, but makes tough planks for floors, and the walls of the houses are made of bark.

"With the branches we make the rafters, and the leaves cover the roof. But this is not all that this good tree does. We are coming soon to a village whose people I know, and I will show you more."

The native was eager in his haste to show to the traveler what the tree had in store for him, and the European, for his part, felt no little curiosity. They arrived soon at the village, and the guide conducted the traveler to the hut of a friend, who received them very hospitably and soon spread a meal for them.

First he placed upon a sort of table a spread made of some vegetable substance, very light and pretty; then he set before his guests two drinking vessels of a material which the white man did not recognize, and then he gave them two utensils, which, although rude in shape, served in the stead of knife and fork.

In the midst of the table he placed a large bowl, filled with cream of very appetizing appearance. In another vessel there was a quantity of oil, with almonds floating upon it.

"Before we begin," said the guide, "I must tell you what I promised. Everything that there is upon this table comes from the traveler's tree. You see this table-cloth? It is made of the fibers of the leaves of the tree.

"These drinking-cups, these plates, these knives are made of the wood or bark of the tree. What you take to be the cream is a dish made of the seeds of the tree, pounded up with meal and mixed with a kind of milk drawn from the trunk of the tree.

"What you think are almonds are little cakes made of these seeds, and the oil is pressed from the skin or shuck of the seed. As for the water you are about to drink, you know that already. And we get not only these things, but some of the people of Madagascar have made a kind of cloth that they wear out of the fiber of the wood."

An Abilene, Texas, correspondent writes: "A wagon was in town a few days ago from which the proprietor was retailing fresh buffalo meat. It is probably the last wagon with such goods that will ever be seen on the streets of Abilene."

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

The Way it is Accomplished in These Days.

Said a veteran member of the lobby recently, "I have witnessed many curious things in legislative halls, but the most touching act was on the Tuesday when Mr. Chandler was chosen senator, to see the gallant veteran Marston skip up and take his medicine like a good boy. But the general has become accustomed to it. He belongs to the old school of politicians who expect the office to seek the man. Politics in this respect are as changed as trade. The old plan wherein the leading men of the party agreed upon a man as the most fitting candidate has long since been succeeded by the modern usage which recognizes the right and privilege of the candidate to announce his intention of securing the office, making his own canvass and giving his personal attention to all the details of the affair. Of course General Marston could never carry on a campaign in this way, and that is why he has never been chosen senator. He does not know how to do things of that kind." The observer was quite right; as the little girl remarked to her parent, "Things have changed since the war."

Do You Know Who I Am?

I like the fellow who is always asking, or seeming to ask: "Do you know who I am?" It is human nature to be ashamed of being insignificant, of being unknown. The occupation does not deprive a man of that sense of being of some importance in the world. At the same time there is nothing a man resents as quickly as being asked: "Do you know who I am?" Nobody in creation can keep back the answer, internally, if he can keep it to himself, of: "No, I don't, and I don't care a ——." There was once a very important state official in California who thought that everybody knew him, or ought to know him. He was one day walking through a field, when a bull addressed him in an undertone and made for him with his head down and his horns in position to raise him. He was a state official, a man of dignity and political power and natural pomposity, but he ran. He ran surprisingly well. He ran even better than he did for office, and he got to the fence first. He clambered over out of breath and dignity, and found the owner of the bull calmly contemplating the situation. "What do you mean, sir?" asked the irate official; "what do you mean by having an infuriated animal like that roaming over the fields?" "Well, I guess the bull has some right in the field ——." "Right! Right! Do you know who I am, sir? Do you know who I am?" The farmer shook his head. "I am General ——." "Why in thunder didn't you tell the bull?"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Years ago, "befo' de wah," there was a tall, slim, gentlemanly looking Captain Redmond, who sailed the seas over, principally on the Atlantic, and from some cause (notwithstanding his debonair appearance on shore) had attained the enviable reputation among seamen as the "Terror of the Western Ocean." With him he has had several Portsmouth boys as officers. At Havre one day he came to a Portsmouth captain to see if he could give him a second mate. The latter had with him a young apprentice—a skillful navigator and strong of limb—son of one of our most respected citizens. Captain R. says: "Well, I'll come aboard this afternoon and see him." Capt. H. on return to his ship informed the boy of his unexpected chance for advancement. True to time the captain came; the boy stood on the quarter deck and answered questions satisfactorily to the terror, until the final one "Do you know who I am?" rather confused him and he blurted out: "Yes, you're 'Bully Redmond,' I suppose!" In high dudgeon Captain Redmond sought the captain of the offender and protested against accepting so disrespectful an officer, but very little later he reversed that decision and both employer and employed were pleased with the fulfillment of the contract.

In the army of the Cumberland (at Corinth, Miss.,) among Beauregard's guard at headquarters (of which, by-the-by Capt. Charles F. Sise of this city was a sergeant) was an Upper Gilmanton boy, and he gave me two instances of "Do you know who I am?" he being a member of my own mess, which also included Mrs. Lincoln's brother, who was killed at Shiloh. On Gen. B.'s staff was the French Prince Polignac, a stickler for form, very high-flown, and generally disliked by the subordinates, who all admired the present frontispiece of the great lottery. Gen. B. personally instructed the guard that it was not necessary to salute officers connected with headquarters more than once a day if the salute was received and acknowledged. In their dislike to the foreigner, the boys had tranformed his name to "Polecat." Mooney was on guard, the prince entered, received and acknowledged his salute. A little later, on a second visit, he found the brash New Hampshire boy merely a gaunt sentinel with no respect for his sensative feelings. "Guard, why don't you salute me; do you know who I am?" came an angry voice. "Yes, you're 'Prince Polecat,' but I'm obeying orders from your superior;" and the sentinel resumed his monotonous beat back and forth before headquarters. The second case of Ex-Vice President Gen. John C. Breckinridge, a man of commanding presence, but who put on so few airs of station, he often would simply wear a slouched hat and flannel blouse. His address to Mooney was simply: "Guard, you are new here 'to me,' do you know who I am?" "No, sir." "I am General Breckinridge, please remember it hereafter. You do right not to salute, as I bear no insignia of rank upon me." M.

Several hotel keepers went from New York city to urge Gov. Hill to veto the bill requiring fire escapes to be placed to every room in hotels. The landlords perhaps feared that in case of a fire, the guests might escape without going to the office and settling their bills!

A despatch from Huntington, Pa., says that armed men who had been searching the woods for robbers who invaded Mr. Hawn's house and fatally shot young George Anker have captured them, and they proved to be Jack McKelvey and John Galbrath. Both men have confessed, and are in danger of being lynched.

A Chicago paper says: "The principals of the late wheat clique are estimated losers to the extent of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. Their followers and tools are losers to fully the same amount. It is roughly calculated that the collapse in Chicago represents about $10,000,000 to all concerned on the losing side."

A Chicago despatch says that Nina Van Zandt, the wife of August Spies by proxy, is rapidly failing in health, and not likely to live long enough to learn the decision of the supreme court with reference to her brevet husband's fate.

Jacob Leggett of Johnston's station, Ga., was hanged last Friday for the murder of his mistress. He was the man who so narrowly escaped execution a few weeks ago. Preparations to hang him had been made and the noose was about his throat when a messenger from Governor Gordon announced a respite. The counsel of Leggett afterward failed to produce any evidence of his insanity.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Atlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, June 20th.

Albert Ham, for vagrancy, was ordered to the county farm for sixty days, and to pay $6.90 costs.

James Gillen, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

Morris Arnold, drunk; promised to leave town in a hurry if allowed, and was permitted to depart.

GIVE THE BOYS A CHANCE.

It is a great pity that, with our extensive water front, we have no suitable place where the boys can bathe without transgressing the law. A large but cheap bath is almost a public necessity, and it is to be hoped that something may soon be done for the boys. The mayor has issued his proclamation to offenders, as is proper for him to do when complaints have been made, and has directed the marshal to be diligent in enforcing the law. This will undoubtedly tend to preserve modesty from being offended by improper exposures, but will not give the boys a chance to learn the important accomplishment of swimming, which every boy—and every girl too—should be taught. Any philanthropist with a few thousand dollars to lay out for the benefit of others, by investing it in a permanent public bathing and swimming establishment, with all needed buildings and accessories, would be putting it where it would do the most good, or at least a great deal.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Oceanic, Capt. Wm. Robinson, looked like old times as she went gaily down the river Monday forenoon, on her first trip to the Shoals for this season. She was greeted by a chorus of whistles from the other steamers on the river, there being about seventy-five of them, judging from the amount of noise and variety of sounds they made.

The steamer Appledore has been sold to New York buyers, and will be run as an excursion boat on the Hudson river. The price paid is said to have been $7500.

The steamer City of Portsmouth, formerly the Portsmouth & York Beach Steamboat Co.'s "line," having been thoroughly overhauled during the winter is now used as an excursion boat out Boston harbor.

Coal freights from Philadelphia to this port are $1.15 free; from Baltimore $1.25. Business reported dull.

The great auction sale of broncho horses commences at ten o'clock this morning.

A new mailing rack has been placed in the post-office, and the cumbersome wooden structure which obscured the light from the western windows has been demolished. The new rack consists of iron rods and bars, to which are hung the mail bags as in a postal car. The new rack will save time in making up the mails.

Mr. Horace P. Kent left this city on Monday last for Montreal, to assume the duties of assistant manager of the general office of the Pullman Car Co. for the eastern division of the United States and British provinces. Mr. W. H. Reed, general superintendent of the eastern division, is at the head of the Montreal office. Mrs. Kent will remain in this city until Mr. Kent has time to make arrangements for her to rejoin him in a permanent home at Montreal.

A special meeting of the Eastern railroad stockholders will be held in Boston on Wednesday for the purpose of voting on the question of approving the leases of the Boston & Lowell and Manchester & Lawrence roads to the Boston & Maine, and of the Boston & Maine subscription to the York Harbor & Beach railroad stock.

Mrs. Pepper of Philadelphia and her married daughter will occupy the Fowler cottage at Little Boar's Head this season.

William H. Goodwin, Esq., president of the Eliot National bank of Boston, spent Sunday at his seaside residence on Gerrish's island.

Major Charles A. Stott of Lowell spent Sunday at his cottage at Little Boar's Head, where his family have arrived for the season.

Don't forget the free exhibition of lasso throwing by the cowboys at the sale of broncbos this morning at ten o'clock.

Miss Ethel Johnson Davis celebrated her 3d birthday on Monday by entertaining some of her young friends in the afternoon from three to five o'clock, at her residence, No. 1 South Mill street. A handsome birthday cake was cut, but not until three red, white and blue tapers with which it was ornamented were lighted by the youthful hostess, and allowed to burn for a time.

Putnam Bros. of York have bought the two-horse party wagon used by Newell Armstrong last year in carrying passengers between that town and this city, and have engaged Mr. Edward Banks, formerly foreman of Mr. Armstrong's livery stable, to drive the team, which is to make two trips a day between Portsmouth and York. The first trip was made on Monday.

Sheriff Kent requests all persons having bills against the county of Rockingham which require his signature, to present them for signing on or before Saturday, the 25th inst.

Some time ago a fellow named William Fenton committed an assault on a boy named Willie Oakes, at "the landing" in Dover, and fearing the attentions of the police, relieved the city of his presence. On the day the circus exhibited in this city last week a man was arrested for assaulting the ticket agent, and being recognized as Fenton, the Dover officers were notified of his arrest, and took him back to that city for trial.

Mr. Al. Hatch's gang of track layers on Sunday put in one of the new needle switches at the junction of the Dover branch rails with the main line of the Boston & Maine road.

A select party greatly enjoyed a musicale given in the old banquet hall at the Rockingham house on Saturday by Miss Kittie Taylor, the exercises including numbers for the violin, piano, mandolin and voice.

We have received a mess of nice new potatoes from Mr. Joseph Berry of Beach road, Rye, taken by him from one hill on his farm last Saturday, the 18th inst. They are the first potatoes of this year's crop brought into town from this vicinity, that we have heard of, and are of good marketable size.

The new electric light at the junction of Lincoln avenue and Broad street was lighted last Saturday evening. It is a serviceable light, and would be still more so if it could be hung a little differently, so that the rays would be less intercepted by the foliage of several trees which are now very much in the way of the diffusion of the light.

Two little children, a boy and girl, were playing in a woodshed at Dover on the 18th inst., when the boy accidentally struck his sister's hand with an axe, cutting off three of her fingers. The father of the children, an industrious man named Patrick Dailey, was killed on board a coal schooner at one of the Dover coal wharves a few days ago, by the falling on his head of a block while he was engaged in putting up discharging gear.

Among the rumors of consolidation and absorption that have been wafted to New Hampshire from Boston, the statement that the proprietors of the Boston Herald had purchased a controlling interest in the Boston Globe is emphatically denied by the alleged high contracting parties. There journals are certainly big enough to go it alone, and are not sufficiently attached to each other to have all things in common.

Mrs. Pearl Lacey of New York, a handsome young woman, twenty-two years old, who had been married less than a month, shot herself and died last Saturday morning. Homesickness, and regret for having married a bar-tender against the wishes of her parents, who are highly respectable, seem to be the motives which caused the suicide.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., June 20th.

The weather has been quite warm for a number of days. Vegetation is thriving, and farmers now are wishing for rain again. Kittery Point is a bower of beauty with its pretty trees and gardens, and the tall old elms standing like sentinels on duty.

Quite a number of seiners were in the harbor this morning. The schooner Golden Gate arrived last night from Boston, with freight for the Oceanic, Pepperell, Pocahontas and Park-Field hotels. She has on deck four row boats for the Park-Field. They are said to be as pretty boats as were ever floated in Pepperell's cove. The Golden Gate left her wharf in Boston at five o'clock Sunday morning, and anchored in Portsmouth harbor at 4:30 that afternoon.

Miss Emma Gerry is teaching in school Dist. No. 6, and Miss Nellie Baker in Dist. No. 5.

Maurice Riley and Albert Tobey have gone to Star island for the season.

The inhabitants of Molly Miles' avenue are frequently treated to an open-air evening concert, by the foreigners who work on the railroad. These concerts can hardly be designated as either elevating or refining.

Children's Day was observed at the Christian church yesterday. The pastor preached from the the text, "Suffer the little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me." The altar was decorated with bouquets of ferns and flowers. In front was a large cross of leaves and flowers, bearing the words of the text. Rev. D. P. Pike of Newburyport, Mass., preached in the evening from the text, "And beginning at the same scriptures, he preached unto him Jesus." Elder Pike has preached the gospel more than fifty years, and still preaches with the vigor of youth. There was quite a full congregation. AUNT MOLLY.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

A bargain that is creating a decided sensation with housekeepers, is that 40-inch openwork curtain scrim, at only 5 1-2 cts. per yard. Lewis E. Staples is the party that is selling it at that price.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

Mary E. Armistead is master workman of Lady Kern Assembly, K. of L.

Dr. Grace Wolcott was sent as a delegate by the very conservative Massachusetts Medical society to the recent medical convention at Chicago.

Dr. Caroline Hastings, who has been seven years demonstrator of anatomy in the Boston University school of medicine, has resigned the position that she may devote hemself to her large private practice.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe emphatically denies the story which is circulating to the effect that she would never have written "Uncle Tom's Cabin" if she had known the colored people as she knows them now, after a residence at the south.

In the exhibition of the Royal Academy of Arts, London, of the paintings and sculptures, over 1,900 in number, 242 are the works of women. It is only fifteen years since women artists were admitted to the Royal Academy.

The Woman's medical college of the New York infirmary has celebrated its nineteenth anniversary. Dr. Emily Blackwell, the successful pioneer, administered the oath to the graduates, and Dr. Mary Bissell told an interesting story of the triumphs of earlier graduates, some of whom are now missionaries in India.

The statement that the legislature of Delaware, at its late session, passed a bill to raise the age of legal protection for young girls to fifteen years is contradicted by the Philanthropist. We wish the statement were true, but are advised, on good authority, that the subject was finally dismissed without definite action by the legislature, and that the "legal age of consent" in Delaware remains still at the sheckingly low period of seven years!

Boston's common council ran up a bill against the city of $18,000 for entertaining her dusky majesty, Queen Kapiolani. One of the items was for 100 gallons of liquors. There was, besides, a little bill to a florist of $4,500, and the Parker house bill for refreshments of $2,000, though the statutes of the state expressly forbid any city paying an official more than a dollar a day for refreshments, and nothing for wines, liquors and cigars. Yet the council are not willing to pay reasonable salaries to police matrons. Ought not Bostou women to have municipal suffrage?

"I think I sold about two gross of your Athlophoros the last. For rheumatism it has no equal," writes O. P. Atwood, a Pittsburg (Mass.) druggist, in commendation of the great rheumatism and neuralgia cure and its healing merits.

Fred Morgan of Augusta, Ga., colored, was hanged at Louisville last Friday for the murder of his mistress.

Be Your Own Doctor.

It won't cost you one half as much. Do not delay. Send three 2 cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates, from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

George Gould is going to Labrador in his new yacht next month, with his wife, formerly Miss Edith Kingdon, and a few friends.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please. Try them.

"Silotwor" is a new explosive ten times the strength of gunpowder, exploding without smoke or noise. So it is said, but we don't believe it.

Those persons who do not need iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind, immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

The American Shows in England.

London advices say the American exhibition and the Wild West show are reaping a harvest of coin since the arrival of hot weather. The princess of Wales, with her two sons and three daughters, took a ride in the Deadwood stage the other morning, afterward patronizing the toboggan slide and switchback railway. The Grand Duke Michael of Russia, incognito, shot glass balls, and joined the buffalo hunt on horseback. The duke and duchess of Edinburgh, and the Duke and Duchess Sergius of Russia, attended the show. Maj. Burke declares that the royal visitors are much more democratic than the London tradesmen.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induce pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

In the probate court at Dover on the 20th inst. Judge Young decided that the will of the late Dr. David McDaniel of Barrington is null and void. The deceased left almost every dollar of his large property to a neighbor, no blood relation to him, cutting off a son and daughter with a few dollars each.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

Hon. Carl Schurz is still suffering a good deal of inconvenience from his broken thigh. He is unable to walk without crutches.

Pimples, boils and other humors are liable to appear when the blood gets heated. To cure them, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally effect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages.

A mob attacked the Salvation Army while they were parading the streets in Quebec on Sunday afternoon, showering stones and other missiles at them. Several of the soldiers were seriously injured, and one, Miss McHarg, was probably fatally so. Three arrests were made.

Though Shaken Like a Leaf.

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquillity, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should, also, use the Bitters.

Alfred Sully, the New York railroad manager, presented a check of $50,000 to his niece, who graduated at the Metzgar institute at Carlisle, Pa., on Thursday of last week.

DIGESTYLIN

— FOR —

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or Fir Pillows.

Now that pillows made of the "spills" or foliage of the balsam fir tree, (abies balsamea) are considered not only fashionable, but highly beneficial in the treatment of many ailments, such as insomnia, nervousness, headache, catarrh, and lung diseases, etc., it may be well to know how best to prepare the green spills. The balsam fir or balm-of-gilead fir, from which is obtained the Canada balsam, should not be confounded with other species of the conifers of like appearance—a mistake that is easily made, as the resinous perfume of the different spruce trees is almost as deliciously fragrant, is not so lasting, or of so much value medicinally, as that of the balm fir. It is also rather difficult to distinguish the difference, as to foliage, between the balm fir and the other spruce trees; the leaves of the former are in two rows on either side of the branchlets; those of the latter are scattered irregularly around the stems. The spills may be collected at any season.

In mid-summer, at ultra-fashionable Bar Harbor, and other Maine resorts, the modern belle, with an armful of fir branches is no unusual sight, while the fastidious beau may be seen, on a rainy, or foggy afternoon, on the hotel, or cottage piazza, smudging his delicate fingers with turpentine, as he helps some fair lady to "pull" fir balsam—"pulling parties" they are called 'way down in Maine. Again, in the autumn or winter, the "native" lad and lassie may be seen "tugging" home an evening's pulling of balm twigs, which, when nicely dried, will be sent to the city shops, or sold next summer to the "rusticator." The spills, and the entire tender green shoots at the ends of the twigs are plucked while fresh and crisp, from the stems; if they are allowed to dry on the branches, much of their delicious fragrance is lost. They are spread to dry in a perfectly dry place. Care must be taken that no moisture collects on the balsam, as it would ruin the delicate perfume. When the spills are thoroughly dried, they are ready for the pillow, which should be made of thin, stout material. The outside slip may be plain, or ornamented, according to individual taste. Pongee, silk, linen, madras cloth, or any of the pretty stuffs now obtainable may be used. A suitable decoration for a fir pillow is an emblematic motto, as: "Thy breath sweet balm hath power to soothe the fevered brow" "I breathe the perfume of the pines." "The fragrance of the woods I bring," etc.

These mottoes may be embroidered in any suitable stitch. A very effective design for a pillow, is a branch of fir with several cones done in a dark green and brown chenille, on a lighter green or brown ground.—S. E. Boggs, in Good Housekeeping.

Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont contemplates spending the summer in the West for the purpose of writing an accurate history of the life of Kit Carson, the famous scout, pathfinder, explorer. Gen. Fremont will accompany her. It was Kit Carson who piloted Gen. Fremont across the Rocky Mountains on his first exploration.

Lord Lansdowne, Governor-General of Canada, receives a salary of $50,000 a year, besides free quarters and numerous perquisites. Yet he is extremely mercenary, demanding every dollar due him, and the entertainments at the government House bear evidence of the strictest economy in every matter of detail.

Lucy Larcom and Whittier have a good deal of liking for each other's society, and it happens now and then that the Quaker poet leaves his retreat at Oak Knoll, Danvers, Mass., where he spends more of his time of late years than at Amesbury, to make one of his rare trips to the village, meeting Miss Larcom at the house of a common friend.

Eight years ago there were five thousand unmarked soldiers' graves in Ohio. There are a great many still, but gradually they are being appropriately marked and decorated, and it will not be long before Ohio will have the satisfaction of claiming that she is one of the few states in the union that have given their soldiers every mark of attention to which a patriot is entitled.

An eminent New York magazine-writer in other remarks on current topics includes the following: "I have no sympathy with a pie and candy eating and tea and coffee drinking man or woman who preaches temperance or abstinence. Let them first take the beam out of their own eye. A small quantity of alcohol administered at the right time may do good; pie and candy and green tea never can."

A solid silver hatchet found recently in Sonora will soon adorn the museum of Princetown college. It weighs one hundred ounces, or a little over eight pounds, and as bullion is valued at $1 an ounce. It is four inches in length, is wedge-shaped, and was evidently hammered by some prehistoric people. It was brought to San Francisco, and was purchased for $150 by Henry G. Marquand, who will present it to his college.

Captain Johnson Sides, an intelligent Piute Indian, says that the idea prevalent among the whites that the Pintes are gradually diminishing in numbers is incorrect. The census returns of 1880 show that there were at that time only 3,700, but he says many of them were not counted, and that there were fully 8,000. He estimates the present number of the tribe at fully 9,000, and probably 9,500.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. My limbs could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medical soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

PIMPLES, Blackheads, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, use CUTICURA SOAP.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin attempting your destruction, choking you for the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and a strange sense of dizziness. How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of the poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How delicate to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Vigor and Vitality

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The blood is purified, enriched, and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

Private Reception of Minister Phelps.

Queen Victoria on Monday afternoon received Mr. Phelps, United States minister to England, at Buckingham palace, for the purpose of allowing him to present President Cleveland's jubilee congratulations. Mr. Phelps was accorded a private audience with her majesty. He was attired in pl in evening dress. The queen's demeanor towards him was most cordial, and she expressed the warmest thanks for the president's congratulations. The private reception of diplomats on such occasions is almost unprecedented, but the American minister had expressed a desire through Lord Salisbury for such an audience, and the queen replied that it would afford her much pleasure to receive him privately for the presentation of the president's message.

A Severe Lesson.

Speaking of the collapse of the strike of the New York and Connecticut silversmiths, the Providence Journal says: "The strike of the New York silver chasers has turned out as futile and unprofitable as any which has taken place, relatively to the number of persons concerned. The strike occurred in March; two weeks ago the silversmiths of the Waiting Manufacturing company cut loose from the Knights of Labor and went to work, and others have followed suit. Two points are noticeable; these men return free from obligation to any secret order, and they have lost in wages seventy-five thousand dollars. They are glad to get the employment which has been open to them all this time, upon condition that they returned to work as men and not as slaves of a despotic, secret association. No argument which could be urged could be half so impressive or conclusive as that of the loss of money, and that of self-respect, which accured because of the serfdom submitted to by these men in finding their conduct not by the plain teachings of prudence and of obligation, but by the decrees of an irresponsible, and in comparison with themselves, ignorant body of men. Experience will teach the most obstinate men. The silversmiths are capable men, and they will not again be made either the dupes or tools of less able workmen."

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 20th.

Captain Samuel H. Pillsbury to-day moved his family to Biddeford, where he will make his residence for a time.

G. Percy Stewart of New York, secretary of the American Allotment Association of that city, passed Sunday, the 19th inst., at the home of his uncle, Darius M. Shapleigh, Esq. His father, William P. Stewart, has recently bought the Sheafe Coffin estate at Sagamore, Portsmouth, and Mrs. Stewart and family are passing the summer at that beautiful resort, while Mr. Stewart is on business down east.

The scholars of the Free High school chartered the ferry steamer Mystic to take them down the river on Wednesday afternoon last. They had a most delightful sail among the islands and up river as far as Traip's point; all were much pleased with the trip, and expressed their thanks to Capt. Trefethen for his courtesy.

Rev. D. P. Pike of Newburyport, Mass., preached at the Second Christian church on Sunday last.

Mrs. Alexander Dennett, Jr., is at her home in West Kittery.

Levi A. Goodrich has been employed by J. H. Sweet to take charge of his fruit and confectionary store at the village.

The senior class of the Free High school have made a careful study of Longfellow's "Evangeline" this term, for the purpose of becoming acquainted with hexameter verse, as they could not have done by the perusal of any other poem yet written in English.

The strawberry festival at the First Methodist vestry last Thursday evening, given by the Good Templars of North Kittery, was quite successful, and a good sum of money was realized for the society.

We were not aware that we were still living in the intolerant atmosphere of the 16th century, when Christians were burned at the stake and ministers made martyrs to their faith, but if the accounts of an affair which is reported to have happened recently in North Kittery be true, it certainly savors strongly of those heathen times, and we still have the spirit of persecution alive in our community, and worse heathens here in the midst of civilization than can be found in the midst of the dark continent, as the following will show. One of our resident ministers having occasion to call on one of his aged parishioners of the 1st parish, before retiring from the house knelt in prayer with her, and while thus engaged was made the target for two young women employed in the house to throw missiles of various kinds at; failing in their attempts to drive him in that way, they resorted to water, and completely deluged the reverend gentleman, but his spirit was unmoved, and he finished his prayer in the midst of the strife.

Children's Day was observed at the Methodist churches on Sunday last. The pastor, Rev. Francis Grovenor, preached an appropriate sermon to the children in the First Church, at North Kittery, in the morning. No effort was made to have exercises by the children, (which in former years was an important and interesting feature of the occasion,) whether from lack of talent or interest—probably the latter—deponent sayeth not.

We well remember, years ago, when no society in town could give a better or more interesting entertainment than this; every one took hold and worked with a will, and no one waited for the other to start first. As it is now we can only recall the pleasant memories of the past, and hope for the future. On Sunday the only noticeable feature other than the sermon was a few flowers, which probably were just as sweet as those of years ago, and several cages of little birds, which seemed enthused with the spirit of praise, and sang as if their tiny throats would burst, filling the house with their silvery music. At the Second church, besides the sermon in the afternoon, a concert was given by the children in the evening; the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, and the exercises were well attended.

The scholars of the Austin school, accompanied by their teachers, Miss Minnie Paul and Miss Ethel C. Weare, went on a picnic to York beach one day last week; the conveyances used were bay carts. We presume all had a fine time.

SUB ROSA.

The supreme court of Missouri has overruled the exceptions in the case of Maxwell, the murderer of Preller, and he will be hung if he lives long enough.

Of a party of pilgrims who, while crossing the Danube at Paks, Austria, were thrown into the water by the capsizing of the boat, 127 were rescued, eighty-seven are still missing, and the bodies of 200 who were drowned have been recovered.

A London despatch says: "It is rumored that Boston's $18,000 guest, Queen Kapiolani, is not satisfied with her reception here, which is certainly much less effusive than in America. She has been dined at a number of houses, but thus far has received little attention from royalty, or, indeed, from the higher nobility. Speaking of this an English diplomat remarked that it was a mistake, for he believed if the game were properly played England could get practical control of the Sandwich islands, and when King Kalakaua left the throne, if not before, the kingdom might be made a part of the British empire."

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, so they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unrivalled.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

MRS. LYONS RECEIVES A PENSION.

Mrs. Mary A. Lyons, mother of John H. Lyons, who went from this port in the U. S. S. Sonoma during the rebellion, in June, 1862, and incurred a disease on board from which he died in February, 1864, has been granted a pension as a dependent mother. Her pension application having been filed in March, 1884, the pension begins at that date.

Mrs. Lyons made a contract with a firm of Washington claim agents, who were to obtain her pension for a fee of twenty-five dollars; but she soon found that all the evidence required to establish her claim must be obtained here. The result was that with a perseverance which would be regarded uncommon in a woman thirty years her junior, Mrs. Lyons procured affidavits in this city, Rochester, Dover and other places from her son's shipmates, and with no little expenditure of time, money and energy, obtained her pension,—to have, when the amount was paid, twenty-five dollars deducted from the amount coming to her, and paid to the Washington firm who had done absolutely nothing but sent a letter filing the application and contract for their fee.

Pensioners think sometimes that a man at Washington who has a brother-in-law in the pension office possesses great advantages as a local attorney in their cases, but the applicant generally has to furnish the evidence from his own region, and the Washington attorneys in most cases simply hold themselves in reserve for the "charge," which always comes after the battle.

Mrs. Lyons' numerous friends on Christian Shore and at the Creek will be glad to know that her perseverance and industry have at last been recognized by the allowance of her claim to a pension.

REPAIRS WERE NECESSARY.

Residents near the reservoir of the Aqueduct Co. in Dover street are glad to notice that the company have at last put a new cover on the basin. The old one was dangerous for the boys who make this place a play ground. The new one gives the boys a safer place on which to play. Besides the danger of going through, the boys at some seasons of the year played with soiled shoes, the mud from which went through the seams in the roofing. In former days, and even in latter times when Ex-Marshal Entwistle was in office, the boys were not allowed to appropriate this covering as a fortress from which to stone windows in the neighborhood. The present managers like to see the boys enjoy themselves.

THE HORSE AUCTION.

The auction sale of Texan broncho horses by McCafferty brothers, at Oak Hill farm, Richards avenue, on the 21st inst., drew a very large crowd of people to the avenue and its vicinity, a circus-day throng being small in comparison. Besides the horse men of the city, a majority of whom were there, and a large number of men from the surrounding towns who looked as though they intended to buy a horse, a good part of the city's population, especially of the younger element, of both sexes, visited the avenue to see the exhibition of cowboy skill at throwing the lasso. The horses did not have the full run of the pasture, but were in an enclosure; the lasso throwing was however so uniformly successful, the cowboy every time catching the animal desired, either by the neck or leg as he chose, that there was no doubt he would have done equally well in an open field. The bidding on the broncbos was quite lively, and the first one put up was bought by Mr. Charles H. Sides for $95; several others in succession brought $90 each, and so on down to $40 or thereabouts, the drove averaging about $60 each up to the time our reporter left. We judge the sale was satisfactory to the McCafferty Bros., and the buyers seemed satisfied also.

BASE BALL.

No National League games were played on the 20th inst.

The Dover Democrat of Monday says: "The Riverside club of Portsmouth went to Great Falls on Saturday afternoon with the expectation of playing a game of ball, but when they arrived there they found that for some reason the Great Falls boys were unwilling to play them. Rather small business."

ROUNDING OUT THE BOSTON & MAINE SYSTEM.

An article in the Boston Advertiser of Tuesday says that "Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, President Sinclair of the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester railroad, and several other railroad men, including a civil engineer from Providence, arrived at West Stewartstown on Saturday evening. It is understood in railway circles that these gentlemen have gone north on business connected with the proposed railroad from the Canada line, between Hereford and Canaan, Vt., through Colebrook to North Stratford or Groveton, both on the Grand Trunk railroad, the latter place being the upper terminus of the White Mountain division of the Boston & Lowell. It is believed in Concord that Mr. Jones and his associates, through large stock subscriptions, will secure control of the proposed road. Mr. Pope, member of parliament and Canadian minister of railroads, has written officers of the new corporation that he will build a branch from Cookshire, on the Megantic system, to meet the new line as soon as it reaches the Dominion boundary."

PERSONAL.

Howe Call, Esq., of New York, was in this city on Monday.

Mr. Andrew P. Wendell of this city, who some weeks ago sailed from Boston in a brig bound to the Canary isles and Morocco, arrived at Teneriffe on the 21st inst., with improved health.

Mr. John S. Weeks and wife of South Newmarket will celebrate the 50th anniversary of their marriage on July 4th.

The ladies of the Congregational society of Rye will give an entertainment and strawberry supper in the Rye town hall on Monday evening, June 27th; admission ten cents.

The New York trade reports of Monday announce that "Coffee is stronger." Glad of it.

The treasurer of the Chase Home for Children gratefully acknowledges the receipt of the sum of fourteen dollars and twenty-six cents from "Certain classes in the South Parish Sunday School."

A clambake at the Piscataqua house, Dover point, Sunday, was quite largely attended by people from this city and Dover.

A six-horse barge from South Berwick, with a large picnic party bound to Rye beach, passed through this city on Tuesday forenoon.

The Cliff house at Bald Head cliff, Wells, owned by Theodore Weare, was burned Monday night, with its contents and outbuildings.

Recent real estate transfers in York, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Methodist Episcopal church of York to Caroline M. Todd, land and buildings for $1200; Ellen N. Ellis of York to Daisy B. Rogers of Boston, real estate at Union Bluff, York, for $1; Charles F. Blaisdell to Susan E. Kendall, real estate for $200; Joseph P. Keen of York to Adaline Wadley of Eliot, land and buildings in York for $825; Ellen N. Ellis of York to Joseph W. Stover of Boston, real estate at Union Bluff for $850; Edward B. Blaisdell to Elijah Blaisdell, the "Bragdon pasture" for $300; Mary A. Sewall to Joseph A. Sewall, real estate for $200; Clara J. Forsaith of Manchester, N. H., to Joseph A. Stover of Newton, Mass., real estate at Union Bluff, York, for $5200; George B. Sewall (by guardian) to Joseph B. Sewall, real estate for $600.

Mr. R. A. McCurdy has been unanimously re-elected president of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, June 20th.

On Wednesday evening last a very large and brilliant meteor was seen shooting into the south, with rainbow colors quite perceptible.

The graduating exercises of the high school took place in the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, 15th inst. There were fourteen in the class, and the essays upon different subjects were handled in a forcible and most pleasing manner. Most excellent music was furnished by Marston's band of this town. There were over seventy dollars expended in class rings. About 500 people attended the exercises.

On Thursday evening, the 16th, a strawberry and ice-cream festival was enjoyed by a large number at the Baptist vestry, the attractions being interspersed with readings by Mrs Norman Marston; she is a fine elocutionist, and in musical ability is not easily excelled.

Extensive preparations have been made at the De Lancey house for summer boarders,—new furnishings, painting and varnishing, etc.

The citizens were startled Saturday evening by the cry of "fire" in different localities; forty Exeter students were enroute for John Cutler's at the beach, and the horse racing, firing of pistols and crackers, and shouting, disturbed the slumbers of many of our residents. Some of the hotels will not have the students around at all, they are so rough, and reckless of the rights and comforts of other people.

Hurrah! Hurrah! How to get the children fire works for nothing. If a person saves eight, ten or twenty-five cents on an article, it is as good a[illegible] that amount earned, and if you will read Foye's advertisement you will see how fire works can be bought and the children have a grand "Fourth of July."

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

A bargain that is creating a decided sensation with housekeepers, is that 40-inch openwork curtain scrim, at only 5 1-2 cts. per yard. Lewis E. Staples is the party that is selling it at that price.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often disuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original [illegible].

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, of this port, Call master, arrived at Augusta on the 20th inst. from New York, having carried away her fore-topmast on the passage. She will load lumber for New Haven.

The broncho horses showed what good pasturage will do for animals used to hard times, in the wonderfully improved appearance presented by them on Tuesday, when the auction took place, over their worn and weary look when they were turned into the pasture at Oak Hill farm a week or so previous.

The Boston & Maine railroad claims that the new Boston and Mount Desert Limited Express train, which is composed of Pullman vestibule cars and dining car, is the first limited train in New England. Some of the roads between Boston and New York ought to wake up to this fact.

No Modesty There.

Last Sunday two men rowed out to the middle of Lake Contrary, at St. Joseph, Mo., and went in swimming. Their boat drifted away, and the swimmers became exhausted. Two men with two women in their boat passed the swimmers, and to them they appealed for aid, but through so-called "modesty" the boatmen rowed off, leaving the men to drown. Later in the evening their bodies were recovered.

Disgusting Skin Diseases.

What spectacle is more disgusting than that of a man or woman with a skin disease which shows itself in pimples and blotches on hands, arms, face and neck? It is simply impure blood. See what Brandreth's Pills did for a chronic case:

For four years I was in the Mounted Infantry in the U. S. Army, residing during that time principally in Texas. Almost all of that time I had a chronic skin disease, characterized by an eruption over the entire surface of my legs and thighs, arms and chest. The doctors termed it eczema. I had given up all hopes of ever being cured, when Brandreth's Pills were recommended to me. I concluded to try them, and did so, and I have thanked God daily since then that I did so. I think I used them altogether for about three months, and by that time, was completely cured and have never had any trouble since. My skin is as clear as any one's. George Chapman.

A Philadelphia Saloon-Keeper Has a Draft.

A saloon-keeper named Terrence J. Lynch, at the S. E. cor. of 11th and Locust Sts., some weeks ago was asked to take a ticket in the May drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery and was knocked aback by the information that ticket No. 15,786, of which he held one-tenth had drawn the Capital Prize of $150,000. His draft for the money was placed in the hands of the Third National Bank of Phila., and was promptly paid. This is the third Capital Prize of $156,000, fractions of which have been paid within the past three months in Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Telegraph, May 23d.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists, $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. 1y7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. won,wed,sat.g

—"Have you ever been in Springfield, Ohio, Mr. Sharpedge?" she asked of a commercial traveler in the hardware line. "Oh, yes." "It's a beautiful town, is it not?" "Beautiful town?" he repeated with some disgust. "I have never succeeded in selling a bill of goods there yet."

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally effect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages.

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquillity, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should, also, use the Bitters.

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

A JAPANESE FAMILY.

In this home an ex-daimio and family dwelled, with whom I exchanged frequent hospitalities during my sojourn in Japan. As I was one of the family in which the daimio's youngest brother and eldest son had found a home while pursuing their education in America I was cordially received by the ex-prince in turn. The family then consisted of his wife, two little girls, two grown daughters, and three sons—one a baby—and the grandmother of these children—a charming old lady—three nurses, and a large retinue of servants.

The father was a noble specimen of devotion to his country, yet, withal, an apostle of progress. He was one of the many who had consented to the destruction of the old government, and had voluntarily yielded his revenues and title without a murmur for the public good. The lady mother and eldest daughter were the peers of the ladies of any land in their love of beauty, ornament, elegant dress, and nearness, and in their skill in household management, as well as in those social amenities and tactics of polite circles that etiquette prescribes.

This mother was as strong in tenderness, patience and long-suffering for and with her children as her European or American sisters; and equally faithful and assiduous in their training and education, according to her knowledge. She taught her daughters, as her mother had taught her, that the three fundamental duties of woman are obedience to her parents when a child, obedience to her husband when married, and obedience to her eldest son if she becomes a widow.

She also instructed them from the Japanese Ladies' library, which is a compendium of the moral and physical duties of woman. It includes the subjects of household and social management, rules for the strictest etiquette, a guide to letter-writing, proverbs, poems from a hundred authors, memoirs of noble women, and ordering for the whole conduct of life. They were likewise taught to read the standard histories of Japan in Chinese characters, and both boys and girls were thoroughly drilled in the traditionary heroic and mythological lore of their own land.

The sons were trained to manly sports and exploits, and their ambition fired by historic tales of heroes. They were urged to overcome obstacles by the symbol over the massive door, where swung the huge paper carp suspended from a bamboo pole, ever reminding the youth of Japan how the carp leaps the waterfall. These kids were also taught natural sciences and military tactics from English and Dutch authors. Often in their half-holidays have I seen them constructing miniature earthworks by the aid of book, diagram, and trowel.

Then came the tutor with lessons in fencing and wrestling and the use of cross-spears and swords, in the handling of which they became marvelously expert. The father instructed the sons in the Chinese classics himself, and stimulated their young souls by tales of classic lore.

One of the interesting customs I thus learned of in the life of this house was that of the many festivals—the Feast of the Dolls for the daughters of the house, when year after year the great nursery was decked with blooming bows and the many toys in which Japan abounds, while a pretty mimic life of motherhood and housekeeping prevailed for one whole day; of the Feast of the Banners, when the boys were marched out in triumph to the streets, with emblazoned banners, to enact a mimic war; of the New Year's day, when prince and retainers, master and servants, pledged anew their devotion to each other, and received gifts of good things; of the religious festivals, when the master's household, like a great heart, beat for the birth and death, the joy and sorrow, of his tenantry.

Here, for two centuries, the daughters of the house had been given in marriage, without spoken vow or priestly rite, but by gift and song, dance and cheer, began their new career. From thence had gone out the father to Yeddo or Fukui on public or private business—the sons for education and culture, the daughters for travel or religious duty. These walls had echoed with songs and laughter, with cries and sobs. Here, in time of bereavement, in the oratory of the house, where the sacred lights and incense burn, one after another black tablet was set, gilt-lettered, to be honored by later generations.

In the path by the old shrine, made sacred by the reverent beliefs of generations, I took my final leave of this interesting family. I asked for a memento from its hallowed contents, and the ex-prince gave me a case of light wood, containing an amulet written in Sanskrit and Chinese, for the protection of this ancient house; and as I passed out of the great gate I stood under a pile of charms a foot in thickness, which had been added year by year, to ward off sickness and harm.—Helen S. H. Thompson, in Overland Monthly.

John M. Dyer, of Northern Vermont, who died recently, was an immense man, over six feet tall and of 300 pounds weight. It was necessary to make a coffin for him, and no hearse was large enough to carry it; so it was taken through the front window of the house and placed in an express wagon, which was barely large enough to receive it.

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to your friends that we use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you it's testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1879 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed, was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your lightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises? How difficult to get it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

—One of the McGarigle - McDonald jury in Chicago is much averse to tobacco. The other eleven are not. The result is that the anti-tobacco man has a separate room, a special bailiff to attend to him, and rides out in a neat single buggy, while the eleven are aired in a big lumbering carryall. Virtue has, as well as is, its own reward.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, Food for Consumptives.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, is a most wonderful food. It not only gives strength and increases the flesh but heals the irritation of the throat and lungs. Palatable as milk and in all wasting diseases, both for adults and children, is a marvellous food and medicine.

These Flags.

Ben. Butler in a recent speech said that President Cleveland was not to be blamed for the unfortunate order concerning the rebel flags. The general said:

"I do not at all blame the president for doing this. Where could he have gotten the knowledge in his former life to know enough not to do this? It was not his fault, but it was his misfortune that he did not know anything upon the subject. He acted according to the light he had, and he apparently had no cabinet to give him any more. I speak in no spirit of bitterness. I have none for him. I speak, I trust, in behalf of the soldiers of the war upon this question."

The general is surprised that a lawyer could have given the opinion credited to Endicott, once a judge of Massachusetts, and is apprehensive that some mutton-chop-whiskered politician will endeavor to win recognition in England by offering to return the trophies of the war of the revolution now in the Massachusetts state house. The neat manner in which the general patronizingly refers to Cleveland is characteristic of the ex-governor, and withal a trifle witty.

Senatorial Reminiscences.

In an article on "the incoming senate," the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says:

The new senator from Florida, Mr. Samuel Pasco, is not a young man. He will be fifty-three on the 28th inst. When he comes to Washington he will meet a few of his boyhood friends whom he has not seen for over thirty years. Among them are Dr. Charles F. McDonald, superintendent of the money order system of the post-office department, and Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn, United States navy, now on duty in Washington. Mr. Pasco and Mr. Hichborn were the only boys in the class who graduated at the Charlestown high school in 1854. When they entered the class it was composed of forty pupils. It dwindled down to eight girls and two boys, and Mr. McDonald was their teacher. Thus, after an interval of over thirty-two years, the two boys who stood up and recited their lessons together will have an opportunity of talking over old times with their former instructor and with each other.

In connection with the election of Mr. Chandler, attention is called to the singular coincidence of names and official titles which have been shared in by two prominent families of Hales and Chandlers, and to intermarriages which have occurred between two Hale families and two Chandler families, those of the same name having no tie of blood. The wife of Ex-Secretary and Senator William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, is the daughter of the late Senator John P. Hale, of that state, while the daughter of the late Senator and Secretary of the Interior Zachariah Chandler, of Michigan, is the wife of Senator Hale, of Maine. As the wives of senators from adjoining states Mrs. Eugene Hale and Mrs. William E. Chandler will meet in Washington society next winter, just as they first met there years ago when each was a senator's daughter from states nearly half the width of our continent apart.

A Great Collapse.

The Fidelity national bank of Cincinnati has failed, with liabilities of $7,000,000 to $10,000,000—a few millions more or less are not worth mentioning. The shortage is two or three millions. A million and a half, or more, went in the great wheat gambling operations.

New Hampshire Patents.

Among the patents issued June 21st were the following:

Edgar C. Covell and E. S. Cram of Laconia, knitting machine.

George F. Stevens and J. G. Smith, Northwood, last.

Valentine Doane, Jr., of Harwich, Mass., was granted a patent for a child's carriage.

Another Great Strike Ended.

The great strike and lockout of bootmakers in Worcester county, Mass., which began Jan. 26th, has ended in the total defeat of the Knights of Labor, whose contest was waged against the "free shop" notice of the manufacturers that they would treat with their employes only as individuals, and would hire whom they desired, regardless of whether the applicants for employment belonged to any trade union or not. After five months of idleness, many of the hands have returned to find their old places filled with new men.

When General Grant was president somebody sent him a box of cigars as a gift, and straightway the press of the democratic party in horrified tones proclaimed their astonishment at such wickedness. There is on the statutes of the United States a law against presents being made by employes to their superior officers. Clerks and others are prohibited from soliciting subscriptions to this end, and yet Mr. C. N. Jordan, late treasurer of the United States, calmly contemplates a silver punch-bowl given to him by his reform associates, the law being evaded by making the gift after Mr. Jordan had gone out of office to run Daniel Manning's bank in New York,—but the little subscription papers went round and the prospective flowing bowl was ordered while he was in office, just the same, law or no law. It was one of those instances perhaps like the proposed return of the rebel flags where the law concerning the action was discovered after the order had been given!

The citizens of Chicago desire to aid in the furnishing some part of the equipment of the new steel cruiser Chicago. It is thought that a fine ship with this name will attract attention abroad, and create a demand for Chicago investments. We have had a sloop-of-war St. Louis and a steamer Kansas. It is time Chicago was recognized. Commodore Walker suggests a service of plate in addition to a suit of colors.

The sound steamer Providence went ashore on Dyer island, near Bristol, in a thick fog on the 22d inst. No serious trouble was anticipated.

The French frigate Minerve sailed from New York on Monday, June 20th, for Montreal. She is to touch at several ports before reaching the St. Lawrence.

The steam barge P. H. Walter capsized in a squall on Lake Erie on the night of June 20th, and four men, two women and a boy and girl, were drowned. The captain, mate and two children were saved.

Latest despatches show that over 300 pilgrims were drowned in the Danube by the overturning of a ferryboat on the 19th inst.

Burdette describes circus lemonade as "made of water, molasses, and dampness in equal parts."

About twenty-five persons, Sons of St. George and their wives and children, came down from Dover on Tuesday of this week in the six-horse barge Grace Darling, and after being joined in this city by a number of people of English birth proceeded to Fort Constitution, Newcastle, where they celebrated the queen's jubilee by a royal picnic, returning early in the afternoon.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

☞ Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are recommended.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

THE RAILROAD ACCIDENTS LAST MONTH.

The board of railroad commissioners, by their clerk, E. B. S. Sanborn, have issued the following as the result of their investigations in regard to the fatal railroad accidents near this city last month, by which three women lost their lives:

As the five o'clock train from Portsmouth for Boston reached Young's crossing in Greenland on the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, May 19th, it struck a carriage in which two ladies, Mrs. Melvin Huntress and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Huntress of Portsmouth, were riding, smashed the carriage into fragments and instantly killed the occupants. A passenger upon the train testified that he saw the team several rods away from the crossing and that the lady who drove appeared to be urging the horse forward as if to get across the track before the engine crossed the road; but the facts which are established beyond question lead to the conclusion that the victims failed to notice where they were, that they did not hear or see the train, and were upon the track before they were aware they were in danger. We do not see that the train men were in any way at fault.

Mrs. Emeline A. Shaw of Portsmouth was fatally injured in Greenland upon the Concord railroad, May 21st. She was quite aged, deaf, and was known among her acquaintances as a "peculiar woman." The section men, who were at work a few rods away, tried to warn her by running toward and shouting to her, but she gave no sign that she heard them, and continued in her course until the engine and baggage car had passed her and she was caught by the step of the passenger car, thrown under the wheels, and run over. She was undoubtedly so bewildered and dazed that she was unconscious of what was going on around her, and her death was due to her being permitted to stroll about in this condition. The railroad men did all that could reasonably be expected of them to prevent the accident.

RAILROAD MEETINGS.

At Manchester, June 22d, the stockholders of the Manchester & Lawrence railroad voted to lease their road to the Boston & Maine for fifty years at an annual rental of ten per cent, payable semi-annually. The lease was ratified by a vote of 5113 for, to 1541 against. By the provisions of the resolution calling for the lease, President Charles A. Sinclair of this city and Treasurer G. Byron Chandler of Manchester were appointed a committee on the part of the stockholders to execute the same.

The stockholders of the Boston & Maine railroad, at a meeting in Lawrence, Mass., on the 22d inst., approved the leasing of the Boston & Lowell and the Manchester & Lawrence railroads by the Boston & Maine, and authorized the directors to subscribe for as many shares of stock in the York Harbor & Beach railroad as they may see fit.

The Boston & Lowell railroad stockholders, at a meeting in Boston on the 22d, approved of the leasing of their road to the Boston & Maine.

The stockholders of the Eastern railroad, at a meeting in the passenger station in Boston on the 22d, unanimously voted to approve the leasing of the Manchester & Lawrence and Boston & Lowell roads by the Boston & Maine; also to approve the Boston & Maine's subscription to the stock of the York Harbor & Beach railroad.

FREE POSTAL DELIVERY.

In view of the fact that the system of free delivery of letters goes into effect in this city on July 1st, it will be well for the public to have their correspondence addressed to their street and number, (if they can find out what their number is.) This will be of advantage to them, and of the utmost importance and aid to the postal officials in facilitating the delivery. Street letter boxes will be placed in various parts of the city shortly, and collections from them will be made by the carriers at stated hours, which will be duly announced.

KITTERY WILL CELEBRATE.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in Trefethen hall, Kittery, on Monday evening, to make arrangements for a Fourth of July celebration in the old town, and committees were appointed as follows:

Hon. Moses A. Safford, chairman.

Committee of arrangements: E. E. Colburn, J. H. Sweet, E. F. Safford, E. C. Nealley, Geo. Heeney, Stephen Patch, Cal. Dunbar, Frank Clarkson, Wm. Bowman, Martin Williams, Solon Frisbee, Chas. Grace.

Committee to solicit subscriptions: Redford Sargent, S. A. Jackson, Roswell Hanscom, Winnifred Bunker, Archie Boardman, Stephen Patch, E. C. Nealley, William Spinney, Fred Nason, Horatio W. Trefethen.

Committee on vocal music: E. C. Nealley, Geo. Manent, Frank Palmer.

Committee on martial music: Cal. Dunbar, Geo. Adams, Leander Grant.

Committee on refreshment tables: S. A. Jackson, with power to appoint assistants.

Marshal of antiquities: Everett Otis, with privilege of appointing aids.

Committee on base ball: Geo. Heeney and Cal. Dunbar.

Hon. Moses A. Safford was elected as treasurer, and the meeting adjourned to Monday evening, June 27th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The programme considered is as follows: Oration, antique procession, boat and tub races, various games, jumping, putting heavy stone, base ball, and other games; brass band and drum corps music.

BASE BALL.

The Manchester and Dover nines will play a game at Dover to-morrow, and it will undoubtedly be an interesting one. The Manchester club stands second—and a good second, too—in the New England league, and the Dover club is one of the strongest outside the league.

National League games, June 21st: Indianapolis 4, Boston 3; Chicago 9, Philadelphia 4; Detroit 16, Washington 4.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Appledore started for New York at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, 22d inst., with Capt. Raymond, formerly of this city and of the schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, as pilot. John Couhig, Charles Broughton and Lewis Lear have gone around in her as firemen and deck hands, and Mr. Wm. H. Carroll as a passenger. The steamer on her arrival in New York will be entirely refitted, and be used for private purposes and not as an excursion boat.

The steamer Allentown, which arrived at this port on the 22d inst. from Philadelphia with a cargo of coal for J. Albert Walker, is reported to have twice touched the rocks off Rye beach in the morning on that date, while attempting to make this harbor in a dense fog.

The great yacht race off Marblehead, Mass., postponed on Tuesday, the 21st inst., to the following day, on account of fog, was again postponed on Wednesday for the same reason.

A cable despatch from Mr. Caldwell H. Colt, owner of the American yacht Dauntless, says she is not the yacht entered in the English jubilee race; the latter is an English yacht.

The loss by the burning of the Cliff house at Baldhead Cliff, Ogunquit, on the night of June 20th, was $10,000, with no insurance. The house was almost in readiness for opening on the 27th.

Albert Weeks, the man from this city who had his legs crushed by a freight train on the Concord & Nashua railroad a few weeks ago, was taken from Nashua to Brentwood on Monday of this week. It matters little where he is carried; he is a bummer from the word "go."

FOR THE SHOALS!

— THE FAST AND COMMODIOUS —

STEAMER "OCEANIC,"

(CAPT. WM. ROBINSON.)

Leaves Appledore Wharf for the Shoals at 8:00 and 11:15 A. M. and 3:20 and 6:30 P. M. Returning, leaves the Shoals at 6:00 and 9:45 A. M. and 1:45 and 5:00 P. M.

FARE 50 CENTS EACH WAY.

Mondays and Thursdays of each week Fifty Cents the Round Trip.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., June 21st.

Rev. Eugene E. Colburn, a member of Whipple Lodge, No. 99, at the Foreside, has been appointed a special District Deputy of the I. O. G. T. for York county by Grand Chief Templar M. J. Dow, of Brooks, Maine.

Mr. Josiah McCobb has been engaged as night watchman at the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals. Mr. Perry C. Moore, who has so acceptably filled the position for several years past, was this year on account of other business obliged to decline a very urgent offer to again take the place.

Mr. Willard E. Paul, son of Warrington Paul, Esq., of West Kittery, was married to Miss Annie Holmes, daughter of Joseph R. Holmes of Portsmouth, on Monday evening at the residence of the bride.

It is thought by many that the cherry crop in this vicinity will be a failure. Many of the cherries are withered, and dropping from the trees before they are half ripe.

The largest class that has ever graduated from the free high school since its organization will graduate on Friday, July 1st; the exercises will take place in Trefethen hall.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in Trefethen hall on Monday evening last to make provisions to celebrate the fourth of July in our old town. Moses A. Safford was chosen chairman of committee on arrangements, and the meeting adjourned to next Monday evening, the 27th inst. SUB ROSA.

Those cool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

A bargain that is creating a decided sensation with housekeepers, is that 40-inch openwork curtain scrim, at only 5 1-2 cts. per yard. Lewis E. Staples is the party that is selling it at that price.

The sympathizers with Ireland, in Boston, were very indignant over allowing the use of Faneuil hall for a meeting in honor of the British queen's jubilee; but when it comes to voting, ninety-nine in every hundred of them will be found recording themselves in favor of bending over the American markets to the British manufacturers.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of considerable trouble to families using it, because it has frequently cracked the leather, to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Glycerole Shoe Dressing has often [illegible] every [illegible] Shoe Dressing ever advised the application of oil [illegible] but we have [illegible] have succeeded in solving the problem of [illegible] which is adaptable to [illegible] and preserving such as will receive leather goods to the highest degree.

Glycerole is [illegible] the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling and dressing shoes, [illegible] composition, does not rub off or soil [illegible] and imparts to worn goods a soft, pliable leather which positively prevents the leather from becoming brittle.

We do not [illegible] that simple application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already oiled and hardened by previous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing qualities, as this oil will penetrate into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and [illegible] as [illegible].

LITERARY QUERIES.

What creature Harriet Beecher Stowe?
And what kind of car was E. P. Roe?
Can John Esten Cooke a savory dish?
How far up stream doth Harriet Shaw Fish?

The summer arrangement of trains on the Boston & Maine railroad goes into effect on Sunday.

Joseph Mercer of Epping and Frank Gilson of Farmington have been granted pensions.

The New York Times says it's "no use disguising the fact,—Jay Gould is a sick man." Suppose he should die, the world would not stop. Frank Jones and Charles A. Sinclair could take his railway stocks, and the market would hardly feel a ripple in consequence.

These are the longest days of the year. Next Monday will lose one minute in length, according to the almanac.

The monotony of the accounts of jubilee preparations, to which the British newspapers have for weeks been almost wholly given up, was relieved on Monday by the report of a prize fight between two women which took place at Abbey, in Sussex, Eng., on Sunday. The contestants were Mrs. Christmas and Ellen Noonan, and the battle appears to have been fought with greater vigor and determination on the part of the former than are exhibited by the latter-day male exponents of the fistic art. That Mrs. Christmas won the fight may be inferred from the fact that Ellen Noonan died in the ring from the injuries inflicted by her adversary, and her body was taken in charge by the coroner, while the victor has gone to prison.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous, that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say, that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induce pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

—"You say you were very lucky the first time you bought a lottery ticket?" "Yes; I drew a blank, and have never invested since."

—"What crime did Joseph's brethers commit in selling him?" All the pupils in chorus: "They sold him too cheap."

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally effect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages.

Constitutional Convention.

There seems to be no doubt entertained in any quarter at present, that a constitutional convention will be called and the necessary amendment perfected and adopted in season to insure the meeting of the next legislature in Janury, 1889, previous to the expiration of the senatorial term whose incumbency is provided for by the present legislature. The constant wrangle over the question as to which legislature should elect the senator, which, although practically settled, is reopened for the diversion of the controversially disposed with every recurring session, is not regarded as beneficial to the republican cause on the whole, and the sooner the matter is put absolutely beyond controversy the better, is the view which the leaders of that party will take, and the democracy will heartily coincide. —People and Patriot.

SO THE CLOUDS PASSED AWAY.

Sammers that Brought No Enjoyment —A Simple Story which will Interest Many Women.

Seven years ago I had an attack of bilious remittent fever, which lasted for three months and which left my system exposed to easy infection from malarial poison. From that time I became fully acquainted with that distressing malady intermittent fever, which put in an appearance each spring, lasting until the next winter.

The fever came on every afternoon with malicious regularity accompanied with a racking headache, pain in the limbs and back, and nausea, at last settling down into chronic malaria.

In the spring of 1879 my physician advised sea ale as a tonic, and so I spent the summer in my old home in New Jersey. The salt air did wonders for me—but the old trouble came back the next spring, and dragged on through the summer, leaving me in the fall in that peculiarly susceptible condition that made the system so sensitive to the slightest changes of the weather—a condition so well known to those who have suffered from malarial diseases, and which made me painfully conscious that the poison still existed in my system. Of course I took quinine, and lots of it, too, my physician ordering it to be taken in five grain doses. Becoming desperate I doubled the quantity, taking ten and twelve grains at a time. I soon paid the penalty of such daring, in terrific headaches, buzzing in the ears, loss of memory, loss of appetite, and great nervous debility and prostration. I would go for days at a time eating scarcely anything, and at last I could not even drink milk.

Of course, as I know now, this was the forerunner of dyspepsia, which had been an old trouble with me, though I had enjoyed several years of exemption from it. Malaria brought dyspepsia back again in full force. Its symptoms were a sense of fullness or weight in the stomach after meals, as though I had been eating cobble stones, and particularly so after I had eaten vegetables or fruits. While before meals I experienced a most distressing gnawing at the pit of the stomach. This was so intense at times that I was compelled to eat something to gain relief. My dyspepsia was accompanied with a fouled breath, nausea, a giddy head and a flushed face as if I had hay fever. I took pepsin, soda, bismuth, &c., together with a great many prescriptions, remarkable chiefly for their expensiveness.

My spirits were greatly depressed, I grew timorous and apprehensive; little things worried me. I was fretful and peevish, until I was changed from a light-hearted woman into a melancholy, restless and discontented being, to whom life was a heavy burden of care and pain. I confess that I did not greatly blame the physicians because their medicines failed to cure me, from the fact that some fifteen years ago I received a serious injury to my liver from a fall I had, striking across a crate back greatly shocking and bruising that organ, rendering it torpid and weak, and from which it was said by physicians I would never entirely recover.

You can readily understand that with the complications of malaria and indigestion added to my local injury while was a very serious condition. Some months ago Kaskine was brought to my attention by a friend who urged upon me its value, and strongly recommended that I try it. "What will be the use," I said. "Not anything will do for me what I need. I have tried almost everything now without result. Nothing short of a new liver will reach my case." I felt indifferent and hopeless, but at length yielding to solicitation I began using Kaskine. In a few days, to my surprise, I felt decidedly better, the old lurking symptoms of malaria disappeared, as if my system was being freed from an incubus that had so long rested upon it. Continuing its use my dyspepsia became less annoying, one after another the afflicting symptoms left me, until I was absolutely clear of dyspepsia. I waited for some of the old trouble to come back—but it did not. A few bottles more of this remarkable medicine were taken and my appetite improved, my spirits grew buoyant, my sleep became refreshing, my stomach and digestive organs generally became strong and performed their functions easily and without discomfort. And as you have seen a June day brightened by the summer storm that swept across the summer sky, so the cloud left my life, and my health became steady and strong.

As I used no other medicine while taking Kaskine, I can't be mistaken in feeling that my recovery is due solely to the use of that remedy. I would strongly urge upon those who may be suffering from malaria or indigestion to use Kaskine, and to use it long enough to establish a healthful habit to the system—as that will be found necessary to a permanent cure.

MRS. J. LAWSON.

P. S.—I will cheerfully reply to any letters of inquiry touching upon my case if addressed to me at my residence, No. 141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, New York.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

FAMOUS ELEPHANTS.

Most of Those on Exhibition are Vicious and Ill-Tempered.

Though comparatively common in these days of menageries, museums, and zoological gardens, the elephant is one of the most attractive and intelligent of beasts, and excites more admiration, wonder, awe, and respect perhaps, than any other of the animal kingdom. In the circus street-parade the elephant is the surest card for drawing a crowd that a manager can get. In the menagerie tent the elephant herd is always surrounded by a numerous company, and in the ring of the entertainment pavilion nothing arouses greater enthusiasm than the almost human performances of these mighty giants of the jungle.

"The elephant, as you say, is a common animal nowadays, but, after all, beyond his size, shape, and great strength, and the fact that he is hunted for ivory, but little is generally known about him."

The speaker was J. Charles Davis, who spent nearly seven years in the east, and in the very heart of the country where the elephant flourishes and is hunted and trapped for transportation to European and American centers.

"In former ages the elephant roamed over this continent from the extreme shores of North America to the Gulf of Mexico and across the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, but to-day this mighty race of beasts is represented by only two species, the African and Asiatic, both of which are gradually becoming extinct. The African elephant, of which the famous Jumbo was a type, grows to a much greater height than those of the Asiatic species. The difference is at least a foot. The maximum height of the African elephants is about eleven feet, but Jumbo exceeded this height by two inches. The extreme height of the Asiatic elephant is ten feet, although there is on record a case where, like Jumbo, an Asiatic elephant grew several inches over the accepted maximum of the species. The growth of the Asiatic elephant is said to be about eleven inches in the first year, eight the second, six the third, five in the fourth and fifth, and so on, decreasing year by year, until its full growth is attained. At what age this period may be is still in dispute. When Jumbo was killed he was 26 years old, but Professor Ward, who mounted the skeleton, says he was still growing. The weight of an elephant at birth ranges from 200 to 245 pounds. Bridgeport, when born, was three feet in height and weighed 245 pounds. America, born in Philadelphia, weighed 215 pounds, and was something under three feet in height.

"While Jumbo was a prince among elephants, still there have been many famous beasts of his race beside him. Among them may be mentioned Emperor, which, while in Troy, dashed into Erastus Corning's iron foundry and walked over a bed of red hot coals and metal. This so enraged him that he rushed from the foundry into the street and tossed men and women about with his trunk like an expert juggler tosses a ball. Three persons were killed and five injured, while property valued at $5,000 was destroyed. Chieftain, belonging to old John Robinson, was noted for his violence, and while in Charlotte, North Carolina, killed his keeper. Barnum's Albert, who killed his keeper at Keene, New Hampshire; Forepaugh's Done and Romeo—who before he died in Chicago, fourteen years ago, killed three men and destroyed property valued at $50,000—also distinguished themselves by deeds of violence. Hebe, Barnum's Asiatic elephant, the mother of Bridgeport, is noted for her even temper. She showed herself to be a kindly old soul and very motherly all the while she was nursing the baby, and has never been known to resent any familiarity that her keeper might take with her. Alice, however, Mr. Barnum's latest purchase—the widow of Jumbo—is just the opposite of all this. Even Jumbo himself—the children's friend—was noted for his bad temper, and it was because of his tendency to dangerous outbursts of temper that the London Zoological society sold the animal to Mr. Barnum for $10,000. The elephants on exhibition in this country are without doubt rogue or solitary animals. As a rule elephants travel in herds and evade capture in consequence. The solitary or rogue elephant, however, is the one usually trapped, and the same viciousness and ill-temper that makes of them rogues, renders them hard to handle, even after they have been years in captivity. As to the age which animals of this class attain there is much dispute, although in India they say elephants live to be from 100 to 120 years old. The average age, however, is placed at 75 years."

Although Mr. Davis has been in the land from whence the white elephants are supposed to come and has inspected King Thebaw's herd of these so-called sacred animals, he refuses to talk on the subject, and would only say that he understands that the white elephant, even of a color a little lighter than the ordinary tint, is very rare, and that in 1,400 years only twenty-two animals deserving of this distinction have been captured. The first white elephant ever seen outside of its native land was exhibited 250 years ago in Holland.—New York Mail and Express.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1887.

Entered at the Post-Office at Portsmouth, N. H. as second-class matter.]

☞ Copies of the GAZETTE and of the DAILY CHRONICLE can be had of Moses Brothers, at their Newspaper Store in Congress Block.

He Speaks Distinctly.

There was some dissatisfaction expressed in New York city on the 22d inst. among sympathizers with the cause of Ireland because the national and municipal flags floated from the city hall flagstaff in honor of Queen Victoria. To a reporter Mayor Hewitt said when asked if any complaints on the subject had reached him:

I have heard none. I ordered the flags to be raised in honor of a queen who has reigned over her people for fifty years, and a queen who was our friend in the trying times of civil war. It is within my personal knowledge that she was asked to join with the French government in the recognition of the southern confederacy, and that she refused to do so. I take the entire responsibility of raising the flags on this occasion, and I have issued orders that while I am mayor no flags but our national and municipal flags shall be raised over the city hall.

Contemptible Meanness.

A pack of scoundrels attempted to tear down the effigies of the "lion and unicorn" which decorate the front of the old state house in Boston, early in the morning on the 22d inst., but were frightened away by the police, leaving their ropes behind. This attempt was undoubtedly due to the antagonistic feeling toward the celebration of the queen's jubilee in Faneuil hall; but it was a very poor way for expressing sympathy with Ireland, to attempt the destruction of symbols highly prized by Americans as relics of the colonial days.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., June 23d.

The Ocean house, owned and conducted by Ellis & Sons, at Short beach, is open for company. It is on a bluff between Union Bluff and Concordville, and from it is one of the finest views along the coast. It was formerly the York beach skating rink, but during the winter was transformed by Varney Bros. into a fine hotel with mansard roof. A fine road leads from it to Union Bluff.

Mr. Ellis and George Varney have gone into partnership in the livery stable business.

Isaac Chick, Esq., well known for his saw-mills at Bell marsh, is reported to be very ill.

Moses Hanson, residing near Chase's pond, was badly injured last Tuesday forenoon while at work on the railroad near York harbor bridge, through being struck by a chain guy of a falling derrick: one of his ribs was broken, and he was knocked to the bottom of the cut, a fall of fifteen feet.

Furniture teams carrying furniture to the private cottages at the harbor and along the beaches are a very frequent sight just now.

There was a drunken frolic at Long beach, near the Donnell house, a few days ago, among the French Canadian laborers on the railroad, which ended in a free fight. One of the combatants being arrested and taken before Justice G. W. S. Putnam for trial, was sentenced to thirty days in jail, but on "disclosing" that he had obtained his liquor at one of the beach houses he was released. The accused landlord being arrested and tried for the offence, recriminated upon the deputy sheriff who arrested him, and threatened legal proceedings on account of the intoxicants having been carried to the hotel in one of the deputy sheriff's teams! It is understood that all hands were let off on probation, on promising not to do so any more.

Mr. Andrew R. Webber has had built during the winter on his farm near the Sea Cottage at Long beach, a fine barn, forty by thirty-six feet on the ground, fifteen-foot posts, and arranged in modern style, into which he moved his cattle a few days ago. The work of construction was done by Charles H. Brewster and Frank Woodworth, who are now building a house for a gentleman of Dover. Their reputation as mechanics is such that they are kept constantly employed, three more jobs awaiting their action.

Elder John H. Mugridge, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Amesbury, Mass., held divine service at the Beech Ridge church last Sunday. The Sunday school there is in a flourishing condition under the superintendence of Mr. Arnold Wilson. The young evergreen trees surrounding the church grounds have grown large enough to present a very beautiful appearance. VIATOR.

The Author of "The Leavenworth Case."

Anna Katharine Green, the author of "The Leavenworth Case," now lives in South Brooklyn in a cosy little brick house something after the Queen Anne style, where, as Mrs. Rohlfs, the name by which she is known outside of her novels, she manages to vibrate between writing-desk and nursery in the same cheery, comfortable fashion in which most literary women who are at the same time mothers of families do.

"How did you, being a woman, come to be so well up in detective cases?" she was asked the other day.

"I don't believe I could tell you," was the reply. "It may seem a strange confession to make, coming from a woman who has written more detective stories than anything else, but I was never inside of a court-room in my life. I never knew a detective, and I never had any personal experiences that would give me knowledge of matters of that sort."

"How can you write intelligently, then, of the tricks of a trade that you have not learned?"

"I do not know. It has seemed to me instinct always. When I first thought of writing it was the unraveling of the clues that would lead to the detection of a crime that seemed the subject that was made for me. I carried the germ of 'The Leavenworth Case' in my mind from the time I was fourteen years old. When the time came to write it, I couldn't help doing so."

"You never made any study of the phases of actual criminal life, then, for the color of your tales?"

"Not especially, no. When I have wished to describe the robbery of a bank, I have gone to look the entry and exits over, so as not to make mistakes which would be absurd to business men. In writing up a long trial, as in one of my books, I have studied the statutes, not to be out of way in my law. But as for studying criminals from the life, I have never done that at all. It was one of the promises my husband made me before we were married that he would take me through the quarters to see something of low life in New York, but somehow we have never found time after all. Human nature is much the same in everybody; a criminal is a man or a woman, and as for the details of detective business, I put my wits at work and let my scouts do it exactly as under the same circumstances I would do myself."—New York Letter to Savannah News.

Mealy Potatoes.

Carefully wash the potatoes in plenty of cold water with a soft cloth or brush; if they are to be boiled, peel off a small ring of the skin from each, and leave them in fresh, cold water. Half an hour before they are wanted for the table, put them over the fire in plenty of salted, boiling water, and boil them until they can be easily pierced with a fork, but not until they begin to break open; fifteen minutes for small potatoes, twenty to twenty-five for larger ones, will be long enough to boil them to this point. When they are tender, drain them; cover them with a clean towel, folded; set the saucepan where the potatoes cannot burn, and keep them hot until they are needed for the table. For baking, carefully wash them, but do not peel them, and allow at least a half hour in a hot oven for medium-sized potatoes. Serve them as soon as they are done, as they deteriorate if they stand after they are soft.—Juliet Corson, in Good Housekeeping.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 25c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

THE STREET NUMBERS.

Now that the postal delivery system is going into effect so soon there is great need of numbering the houses of the city. some plan should be adopted as soon as possible and the work done. The houses of the city are numbered now, but so terribly mixed up are the numbers on some streets that it would be better in many cases if there were no numbers at all. There are those of our citizens who, no doubt, know what trouble the existing system occasions, being obliged quite often to direct some stranger to certain numbers a considerable distance away on the street, which, if the rotation rule had been followed, would have been their own house, or at least one in the immediate vicinity. Some plan should be adopted by which lots of a certain number of feet on each street could be given a number whether there is a building located on it or not. If such a plan were adopted the work once done would never have to be done over again, and any house which might be erected on any of these lots at any future time could be given its proper number without destroying the arrangement for the whole street.

A QUESTIONABLE PROCEEDING.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., June 23d.

Mr. Editor: The following is an extract from what purported to be a communication from this town, printed in a recent number of a Portsmouth paper:

As Wm. Leach was nearing the floating stage at the foot of Russell street, on Friday evening last, he discovered a person, as he claims, in the act of stealing his wherry; as it had been stolen twice this summer, he could not be expected to feel pleasantly towards the supposed thief. On approaching the young man he discovered him to be one of his neighbors, and the very one he had suspected of stealing the boat before. It was with difficulty he controlled his temper long enough to consider whether he had better immerse the delicate lad or introduce him to the city marshal; he finally chose the latter, and Gussie reluctantly obeyed his order to "march to the police station." On arriving there and explaining the situation as best he could, the vender of pies, cakes and doughnuts was allowed the choice of forfeiting $5.00 and taking an oath never to meddle with any one's boat again, or stand trial the next day; he chose the former and forked over the V, and with his right hand extended toward the heavens he expects to reach, he took the desired oath. It should be said in justice to our unfortunate friend that he claims to have had no intention of taking the boat, but was simply pulling it in that he might see if it belonged up the river, and if so wait for a passage until the owner came along.

Assuming the facts in this case to be as stated in the above extract, it appears to me that the terrifying of "Gussie," as he is termed, (and who is a sober and industrious young fellow, who works hard to support his aged and widowed mother, and who is believed by those who know him best to be honest and trustworthy,) into handing over five dollars of his hard earnings under such circumstances, is such an illegal extortion of money as the law does not approve of, rather than the admirably funny piece of business the writer of the account evidently considered it.

It is not even alleged that "Gussie" had committed any misdemeanor, but only that the owner of the boat suspected that he intended to commit one! (which is denied by the victim of this contemptible affair,) and on the strength of this, the unsophisticated young man is bullied into parting with his money. And it is intimated that the city marshal of Portsmouth, or whatever officer was in charge of the station at the time, was a party to this despicable business! This I am not ready to believe; but the charge was publicly made, as can be seen by the extract, and if true it shows that there is on the Portsmouth police force at least one individual whose place should promptly be filled by a better man, for the honor of the good old city. GRAPNEL.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, June 23d.

John McCarthy and James Dailey—York railroad laborers, of course—for drunkenness, were assessed $9.90 each. Two more workmen for the county farm.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Maggie Andrews, Snow master, arrived on the 23d inst. from Baltimore with 946 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker.

The schooner Chilion came off the railway at Kittery on Thursday afternoon.

The brick schooner Estella, Captain Burns, made the run from Boston to this port in seven hours on Thursday.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs of this port, Levi Downs master, was in port at Provincetown on the 22d inst., with sixty barrels of mackerel.

The Eastern yacht club races off Marblehead were sailed on Thursday, the 22d, there being a stiff breeze, with rain and fog at intervals. The Mayflower and Galatea were the only starters in the special class, the Puritan's bottom being too foul for racing. The Mayflower beat her old antagonist.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Medical society in Concord on the 22d inst., Dr. S. C. Whitier of this city was elected vice president for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Whiton-Stone and Miss Sybil Whiton were passengers by the steamship Catalonia, which sailed from Boston for Liverpool on Thursday last.

Mr. Eldred Rand, who died in New York on Saturday, June 18th, at the age of seventy-eight years, was born in Rye, but went to Boston when a young man, and was for many years in the produce business in Quincy market under the firm name of Rand & Scott. He resided at the North End, Boston, until about sixteen years ago, when he removed to Chelsea. Mr. Rand buried his wife about four years ago, and last September he buried his only daughter. Four months ago he went to Rye with his son in New York. He was one of the oldest members of Massachusetts Lodge and Massasoit Encampment, I. O. O. F., of Boston.

The customs department has provided a new flag for the custom house in this city.

The summer arrangement of the Concord railroad goes into effect next Monday, on which day the road will commence running the noonday train to and from this city.

Some of our citizens complain that the discharge of fire-crackers about the city by small boys, is a dangerous nuisance. Horses are frightened, and the risk of conflagration by careless boys is considerable. If we must have these nuisances, let it be confined to the 4th of July. One day should be enough.

Mr. Conn on Thursday received from Vermont a large invoice of dairy butter, of June make; also several lots of "gilt edged" butter, in small packages for family use, which he is selling at a very low figure, quality considered.

The post-office at South Newmarket was entered by thieves on the night of the 22d inst., and about $86 in cash and stamps stolen. An attempt was made to blow open the safe, but it did not succeed.

The hotel at Pocahontas point is open for the season, and already has a number of guests. The steamer James Sampson will commence her regular trips between this city and the point July 1st.

Mr. Wm. C. Raynes of Cutts' island, Kittery, on the 18th inst. drove into this city to a local provision dealer a pair of fine cattle raised by him, girthing seven feet two inches and weighing 3800 lbs.

Messrs. Frank L. Cook and J. D. Cook, with Swain, Fuller & Co., manufacturers of shoe machinery at No. 233 Union street, Lynn, and No. 61 Lincoln street, Boston, passed Bunker Hill day at the residence of their father, Mr. Leonard C. Cook, at Castle Hill, Kittery, returning to their occupations the first of the week following.

Timothy Dame, Esq., of Eliot, has been nominated by the governor of Maine to be a justice of the peace and quorum, and Simon J. Locke of Buxton to be a coroner for York county.

When the "stockholders" left Dover on the morning of the 22d inst. to attend the Eastern railroad meeting in Boston, the Democrat says a merchant of the city after looking them over remarked: "I don't see a business man among them. There's nobody but ladies on the train," to which a by-stander rejoined that the coming business man is to be a lady.

In South Berwick, June 17th, as workmen were clearing out a culvert on Academy street, one of them found the dead body of a two-weeks-old infant, wrapped in a cloth. On the following day a lady who was walking on the railroad near the village saw a bundle lying in the ditch, and on opening it she found another infant of about the same age as the one found the previous day. Both babes are believed to have been murdered, the one last found having a deep cut in its forehead. No clue to the guilty parties was found.

The graduation exercises of the Kennebunk high school took place at the school building on the 22d inst., and were of a very interesting nature. The members of the class are Jennie M. Littlefield, valedictorian, Florence Hill, Stella Fairfield, John Ferguson and W. O. Littlefield.

National League games June 22d: Boston 17, Indianapolis 8; New York 3, Pittsburg 2; Detroit 12, Washington 4; Chicago 11, Philadelphia 8.

The Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York paid, during the week ending June 17th, death claims amounting to $152,801.72, and endowments amounting to $26,997.-93. For each dollar paid in premiums on the above policies, the company returned $2.15.

Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, a demented woman of Dover, left her home June 20th, and her friends fear she has committed suicide. She was last seen on the bank of the river at Dover point.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

Cost of British Royalty.

If, as is generally asserted, people esteem any possession in proportion to what the thing has cost them, the British people may well jubilate over Queen Victoria and her family. The outlay of the government for the royal family last year is reported as follows:

The Queen,	£550,203
The Prince and Princess of Wales,	118,110
Prince Alfred,	28,302
Prince Arthur,	29,000
Princess Royal,	8,040
Princess Helena,	6,000
Princess Louise,	6,000
Duchess of Albany,	6,000
Duchess of Cambridge,	6,000
Princess Augusta,	3,030
Duke of Cambridge,	20,862
Princess Mary,	5,000
Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar,	4,384
Prince Leiningen,	593
Prince Victor of Hohenlohe,	1,860
Households of deceased sovereigns,	4,831
	£798,215

This amounts, in round numbers, to about $4,000,000. And there is no mention of about $175,000 a year which is expended in running four royal yachts, te say nothing about the original cost of the vessels. And there are numerous other expenses incurred on account of the royal family. Besides whenever one of the young scions of royalty is married a large dowry is furnished from the public treasury. Yes, John Bull has spent enough on his royal family to make him prize them very highly. The total for the fifty years of Queen Victoria's reign would make an enormous sum. But John Bull likes royalty, and will bear its expense till—such time as he tires of the expensive bauble.

The roof of Horace Chase's barn at Hopkinton was shattered by lightning, June 22d. The occupants of a team that had driven into the barn for shelter were talking with Mrs. Chase when the bolt struck, and all were prostrated and stunned, though none were fatally injured.

Despatches from London announce the serious illness of Mrs. Blaine, wife of Hon. James G. Blaine.

Those persons who do not need iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists, $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. 4y7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.g

Unlucky Strikers.

The Boston Post of June 24th says: "The brewers who struck some weeks ago are still out of work, and are beginning to feel the burden of idleness. Out of 150 who struck, 126 are still out of work. They say they have tried to get employment at other work, but that they have been blacklisted as strikers; in other words, they have been boycotted. They continue to meet every day in Vernon hall and talk their troubles over. One of their number said last evening that they are doing all they can to introduce union beer into the market, and that they are selling 200 barrels a day. They have recently issued a circular, in which they state their grievances, and conclude by appealing to the workingmen of Boston to abstain from drinking the beer made by their late employers. They now claim, in order to injure the business of those for whom they recently worked, that the beer made by them is not wholesome, and that poisonous drugs are used as ingredients. Said one of them yesterday to a reporter: 'I let a cat shmell a dipper vat contain dose drugs, und dot cat he die in two minutes!' The same man said that hereafter he would vote for 'no license,' and that he could influence 300 voters to cast their ballots in the same direction. Things are evidently getting desperate with the strikers. They claim that they are not getting the support from other labor organizations that they ought to get."

These unfortunate fellows struck, not against hard treatment or small pay, nor against their employers, but against the right of laboring men outside their union to have employment.

The silver chasers, who have been on a strike for nearly three months in New York, are forsaking the Knights of Labor and being taken back by their employers. The condition of re-employment is renunciation of allegiance to trades unions. All are expected to be at work in a few days.

The strike at Spencer, Mass., has totally collapsed, the lasters being unable to hold the bottomers, and lasters and bottomers making general application for work. There is general rejoicing that the end has come.

Catarrh is not a Blood Disease.

No matter what parts it may finally effect, catarrh always starts in the head, and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages.

—Mrs Waldo (of Boston)—"I have a letter from your Uncle James, Penelope, who wants us to spend the summer on his farm." Penelope (dubiously)—"Is there any society in the neighborhood?" Mrs. Waldo—"I've heard him speak of the Holsteins and Guernseys. I presume they are pleasant people."

No Woman

is beautiful with a bad skin, covered with pimples, freckles, moth or tan. I have been asked many times what will remove these unsightly blemishes. —Thomson—"Jones, my boy, I'm glad you came. I want to introduce you to the lion of the evening. He's a distinguished military man—a hero of the late war." Jones—"I will be pleased to meet him. What battles has he fought in?" Thomson—"Oh, I don't know that he ever fought in any battles, but he writes for the magazines, you know."

—"Industry must prosper," as the provision dealer said while whittling down his strawberry boxes during a lull in trade.

—Eminent Scientist—"The planetary indications give assurance that there will be no rain for the next three days." Man with a bunion (smiling with lofty superiority)—"There will be rain, sir, in less than twelve hours." And there was.

—A little girl who had not learned the table for wine measure was much puzzled by reading on the blackboard: "If a quart of wine costs $1, how much will three hogsheads cost?" Finally she asked: "Teacher, how many hogs will there be if there's three heads?"

—"Mornin', mum. I called ter see if you'd s'cribe to our sercisty, mum." "Its principles, sir?" "Well, mum, there ain't but two of 'em, so fur, Billy McGlochin and me. Billy does the talkin' an' I do the collectin'. It's a sort er anti-labor sercisty, mum, an' it wouldn't do ter have too many principals, you see, mum."

"I have kept your medicine, Athlophoros, and have sold quite a lot of it. I fine that it is a good thing for rheumatism and neuralgia, and that people get good results from it," reports George Mallard, a prominent druggist of Laconia, N. H.

Moses J. Speights, fifteen years old, an inmate of the house of refuge on Randall's island, New York harbor, killed Keeper William Edgar Cole by striking him on the head with a club on the 22d inst.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

Earthquake Experiences.

I wish to say a word or two more concerning that sense of something like personal ferocity in the power which laid hold of us, which I have confessed to receiving from the first and longest of the earthquake shocks! It afterwards appeared that everybody who was cool enough closely to observe his own sensations had experienced much the same thing. One Englishman, who arrived a few days later from stricken Mentone, and who seemed to cherish fresh and tender recollections of his school-days, compared his feelings to those of a boy whom the master seizes and shakes violently, by the way of prelude to a flogging. To another occurred the kindred image of the terrier and the rat. A third of more pastoral proclivities, thought of a slender tree, grasped by the mighty hand of one who would shake off all its fruit. One and all had the sensation of being laid hold of by some ruthless and monstrous individuality,—much like the feeling, I should say, which the insect must have which sees the giant foot descending that is to crush out its little spark of conscious life. Of this first unreasoning and excessively heathenish impression I never was quite able to rid myself. "Deliver us," I could have said, on the authority of the Revised Version, "from the Evil One who has done this thing!" All through the next three or four days,—days of the most serene and surpassing loveliness, when we used to go out upon the day hillside, and lie down for a little under the olives, in the hope of catching a few moments of thoroughly sweet and untormented slumber,—I had ever the notion that It was lying under me, with vast limbs gradually relaxing from their awful spasm, and I could have sworn at times that my mossy couch trembled a little, as with the long quiver of a subsiding sigh. It made no difference how high we climbed. Up even to the almost Alpine heights above the olive, where one could take in the whole sweep of that enchanting littoral, from the Esterel to far below Capo San Ampeglio, the same strange fancy pursued us,—that of an immense, unknowable, and malignant power which had made all those miles and miles of sweeping land to flutter like the fold of a banner. I remember the earthquake which visited Elijah in the desert, in which, it was distinctly asserted, the Lord was not, and I wondered if the next religious preached in the parlors of Boston would be Manichean, and if I should be its prophet. The rumor reached us a few days later that Etna was in active eruption, and the news was thought nearer home. It led us at all events, to speak of our monster henceforth by the name of Enceladus, and to feel a new sympathy with the pagan Greek.—Atlantic.

Hygiene for Housekeepers.

1, Every woman needs to take regular exercise in the open air every day; and that exercise should not be in the nature of work, but of recreation.

2. As a rule, housekeepers need to eat more, of simple food. If the food is simpler, less time will be needed in its preparation, and what it lacks in unwholesome richness and unnecessary variety, it will gain in nutriment and digestibility. The result will be an improvement in the health of all the family, and will injure no one but the doctor.

3. Less time ought to be given to the routine work of housekeeping and more to relaxation and recreation. All that "the best of wives" did not do, and for the lack of which she became an inmate of an insane asylum, the housekeeper ought to do. The woman who "always stays at home," who "never goes out of the house, even on Sundays," and who is "always doing something for her family," not only will have "no ideas outside of her home," but will soon come to have none even there.

The short of the matter is, that women if they desire good health must not be confined so closely to the cares of the household. I know that many women will look upon this advice as absurd, and will say, "It is all very easy for you to preach, but quite another thing for us to practice. A woman's duties involve a multitude of little things, the importance of which a man never realizes until they are omitted, and then he is the first to find fault. These things must be done. I cannot stop, I cannot find time to take out-of-door exercise and visit my neighbors."

Nevertheless, the fact remains, that when serious illness comes to the mistress of the house, the wheels of the treadmill cease to revolve, at least for her. Then the work either stops entirely, or goes on under other hands, and is cared for by other heads. The question is a pertinent one, would it not be better to do less work while in health, and thus avoid the sickness? And even hired help is less expensive than medical attendance. The old maxim, "A stitch in time saves nine," and "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," are worthy of consideration in this connection. — Good Housekeeping.

Minerals in China.

The coal beds of China are five times as large as those of all Europe, while gold, silver, lead, tin, copper, iron marble, and petroleum are all found in the greatest abundance. Owing to the prejudice of the people the mines have never been worked to any great extent, it being the popular belief in China that if these mines are opened thousands of demons and spirits imprisoned in the earth would come forth and fill the country with war and famine.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in combination with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an asphyxia clutching your throat and praying the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange aches! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

DIGESTYLIN

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 3,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler will deliver an address at Claremont at the celebration of the Fourth of July.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, Food for Consumptives.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, is a most wonderful food. It not only gives strength and increases the flesh but heals the irritation of the throat and lungs. Palatable as milk and in all wasting diseases, both for adults and children, is a marvellous food and medicine.

A Blue Friday.

There was almost a panic in the New York stock market on Friday; shortly before noon everybody began to sell, for no special reason apparently, and a general "slump" in prices resulted, Manhattan Elevated dropping 36 1-2 points in half an hour, New York & New England 8, Western Union 7 3-8, and other stocks in proportion. The greatest decline for the day was in Manhattan, 40 1-2. The excitement was intense, and all sorts of rumors were prevalent, but prices soon began to recover, and in a short time were well back to the opening quotations. There was a flurry in the Boston stock market in sympathy with that in New York, but the partial recovery was equally as rapid. No such break in stocks has occurred for months, and no reason is given for it, other than a combined bear onslaught.

Life in Kentucky.

The Martin-Tolliver feud, the bloodiest mountain vendetta ever known in Kentucky, culminated on the 22d inst. at Morehead in the killing of four men, and the wounding of several others. The victims to that date numbered twenty-one, and as many more have been maimed for life, while thousands of dollars worth of property have been destroyed and the whole of Rowan county has been terrorized.

The recent killing of the Logan boys led Governor Knott to take action. Sheriff Hogg was authorized to arrest the murderers, who were led by Craig Tolliver. Hogg gathered together a posse of over 200 resolute men, and armed them with Winchester rifles. Half of the posse were stationed in the brush at Morehead early in the morning on the 22d, and the sheriff at the head of the others entered the town. Craig Tolliver and his ten followers, who had got wind of the raid, retreated to the Cottage hotel, which they had barricaded and made into quite a formidable fortress. Sheriff Hogg called on the desperadoes to surrender, and they responded with musketry by which one of the posse was slightly wounded. The firing became general, and grew hotter as the attacking party drew their lines closer about the hotel. Finally Tolliver and his friends made a bold rush for liberty. They were met with a volley which instantly killed Craig Tolliver, Budd Tolliver, Jay Tolliver and Hiram Cooper, all being shot through the heart, while Craig was fairly riddled. The others got through the first line, but as they approached the brush they were met by a volley from the outside cordon, a line of men stationed ten or twelve feet apart. This volley wounded Cate Tolliver, a twelve-year-old boy, and three others, all of whom were captured except Cate Tolliver, who crawled into the brush and escaped.

The vendetta began in August, 1884, when, after a heated contest, Cook Humphreys, a republican, was elected sheriff of Rowan county by forty-seven majority over Sam Goodwin. During the canvass many animosities were engendered—the Martins allying themselves with Humphreys, and the Tollivers with Goodwin's cause. Craig Tolliver swore after the election that Humphreys should never ride Rowan county as sheriff. Since that date the following have been killed in the order named: Solomon Bradley, John Martin, Whit Paifry, B. Caudelle, Deputy Sheriff Baumgardner, Mason Keeton, John Marlow, John Davis, Wiley Tolliver, a railroad employe named Witcher, Willie Logan, Benjamin Rayburn, John Day, Floyd Tolliver, a man whose name is not remembered, John B. Logan, W. H. Logan, and the dead of June 22d.

A strange phase of this vendetta was that Craig Tolliver, an illiterate ruffian, unable to read, and the known murderer of many men, was elected county judge of Rowan county through the revolvers of his supporters. After this he made things livelier than ever for the other faction. He would on some tramped-up charge issue a writ for the arrest of an obnoxious person, who would be killed by the officers if he resisted arrest, and murdered by them after arrest, if he yielded. The assassination of John B. Logan, a consumptive boy of eighteen, and W. F. Logan, his brother, aged sixteen, was of this sort. "Judge Tolliver's" warrant for their arrest was placed in the hands of his sheriff, as it was necessary to prevent their appearing in court as witnesses in favor of Dr. Logan, their father, who was in Lexington jail awaiting trial on some charge. The younger boy, knowing that arrest meant murder, wounded one of the sheriff's posse with buckshot, but on pledge of safety was induced to yield, on which he and his brother were at once butchered. It was this last double murder which stirred Gov. Knott at last to action.

In the able baccalaureate sermon of Professor Peabody at Cambridge, there is a proposition which is indicative of that wider theology which is making itself manifest elsewhere than at Harvard. "Faith is not a system of opinion, it is a relation between persons, a relation of affection, remembrance and trust summed up into an absolute loyalty. Faith in a set of opinions has its power and place, but it is not what makes religion a practical and living force." The vital faith is outside of all mysteries as to the person or plans of Christ, and found in royal service to Him in the spirit of His teaching. This is the principle of the doctrine of the Andover trustees. Stress is laid, not so much upon a formulated creed as upon the belief in a constantly increasing knowledge of the truth, and a sincere desire to find and live up to it. The things to be sought are the receptive mind, the sincerity of expression and the life of love, obedience and trust. The need is, if not of less theology, at any rate of more religion. And this is the trend of the teaching in the pulpits of the land.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, so they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequalled.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, June 24th.

John Lynn, Frank King and John McDowell, for drunkenness, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs. Lynn paid his share, and departed; the other two will spend the season at Brentwood. All three are—or were—York railroad laborers.

RUNAWAY.

The pair of horses attached to the ice wagon of Mr. Charles E. Hodgdon became frightened on Friday forenoon in Daniel street, and ran away, passing through Mulberry and State streets, carrying away a lamp-post in the former street. They were captured soon afterward, however, by Inspector Caswell, near the post-office, not having done much damage.

A BOON TO TRAVELLERS.

The directors of the Boston & Maine railroad have voted to issue mileage tickets, "good for the bearer," for transportation at reduced rates, instead of confining the privilege to one specified passenger as heretofore. As these tickets will be available for families over the entire system of the Boston & Maine, it will be seen that the public will be greatly benefitted by this liberal and judicious policy. The advantage to travellers between the various points reached by the Boston & Maine and its numerous connections, will at once be apparent. Of course by reason of the extended mileage of the Boston & Maine, the company is able to afford this, and while benefitting the public will doubtless reap a merited harvest in this new departure.

The regular fares over the Manchester & Lawrence railroad will be reduced to three cents a mile between stations, and the fare between Boston and Manchester to $1.50 either way. The reduction on freight from Manchester over the Boston & Maine will be about forty cents a ton.

THAT FIVE DOLLAR BUSINESS.

The fling at the city marshal in this morning's Chronicle by "Grapnel" is entirely gratuitous, and not warranted by the facts as related by our Eliot correspondent relating to the alleged attempt at stealing of the boat of Mr. William Leach, at the north end a few nights ago. The marshal was not in his office and knew nothing of the affair until the next day; and if as we learn, Mr. Leach gave the young man his option of paying $5, or be locked up and tried for larceny the next morning, we can hardly see how any officer can be to blame in the matter. Mr. Leach may have been too severe on the young man; we think he was.—Penny Post.

There was no fling at the city marshal in "Grapnel's" article in the Chronicle. If any such fling was made, it was by the writer in the Penny Post, who in describing with great glee the manner in which an inoffensive, industrious young man was bullied out of some of his hard earnings, used language leading directly to the inference that the city marshal was a party to the affair. What "Grapnel" did say was, that he did not believe this charge against the marshal could be true; but if it should prove to be, either of the marshal or any other member of the police force, the sooner such officer was given a permanent vacation the better it would be for the honor of the city. The Penny Post now says the charge was not true, so far as the marshal is concerned; we think it a proper matter of enquiry on the part of the aldermanic committee on police, whether it is true concerning any other officer.

The Penny Post, after reading "Grapnel's" indignant but temperately worded comments on its account of the matter, thinks "Mr. Leach may have been too severe on the young man." So do we. And we also think that some of the parties to the affair, before they get through with it, will conclude that it was not half so funny as they thought it when they read about it in the columns of our contemporary.

A TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

Under the heading "A sad case," the Dover Democrat of the 23d inst. says: "Late yesterday afternoon a little girl came to the police station and stated that her little sister was dying, and that she wished very much to see her father before departing from this life. Her father is at present spending a term at the house of correction for drunkenness. The pitiable condition in which the little girl stated her errand caused tears to come to the eyes of those present. Marshal Fogerty at once procured a team and drove to the house of correction, and brought the man home. This should soften his heart somewhat, and teach a lesson that he should never forget."

NO BRIDGES, EH?

The editor of the Atlantic Monthly must have been a little off when he read Miss Guiney's paper in the July number, concerning the water ways of his native town.

"There are no populous warehouses, bridges nor piers," indites the fair Imogene.

The dickens there are no bridges! Did not the writer in her summer sojourn at Kittery sufficiently paddle about the water ways to find that there's no driving out of Portsmouth, save but to two suburban towns, except by crossing a bridge? Try to reach Kittery, Newcastle or Dover. Go to Rye, or anywhere but Greenland or Newington, and see if there are no bridges.

"No piers," forsooth. And yet we are supposed to believe that the railway cars which load at our wharves so many thousands of tons of coal every year, run out into the stream upon innumerable (to magazine writers) supports, and there receive their freight. Miss Guiney must have visited the railway piers at the time the 'longshoremen had gone for their "'arf an' 'arf," when there would be a momentary absence of stir; or perhaps called around upon some still Sabbath morning, when the air was ripe for her poetic, dreamy description of the North End.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Appledore, Callahan master, which left this port for New York on the 22d inst., put into Salem on the 23d for a harbor.

Elvin Newton's fishing crew on Lunging island it is said took 200 barrels of bait fish a day or two ago, off the Shoals, all of which were sold to fishermen.

In the Eastern yacht club's regatta off Marblehead on the 23d inst. the Mayflower beat the Galatea thirteen minutes and a half, corrected time; the sloop Stranger beat the cutter Huron one second actual time, but lost by a half minute on time allowance; the schooner Sachem beat the Iroquois, Gitana, Mohican and America; and the sloop Shadow beat the cutter Shona. A strong breeze and rough sea prevailed, and the race was a good test of the boats. In all three classes in which there were international contests, the American yachts won over the British.

THE TOY PISTOL.

Dr. John Homans, surgeon of the Massachusetts general hospital, writes the Boston Post as follows:

I have two cases of boys' hands injured by toy pistols now under my care in the Massachusetts general hospital. Four years ago I had, if I recollect aright, five cases, all of which died of lockjaw. It seems a high price to pay for a moment's enjoyment of noise, and pecuniary profit must be very enticing to induce the manufacture of such deadly instruments. I think the wound is generally produced by the cartridge exploding in the hand, either by coming back through the breech, or in some other way. If this little paragraph helps to stop the sale or use of these harmless looking but deadly toys, my object will have been attained.

We had supposed the murderous things were entirely banished, until we read the above. We believe they are not sold in this city, and do not think any dealer here would sell them after their frightful record of a few years ago.

Mrs. Charles R. Osgood of this city was elected guard by the Woman's Relief Corps of Maine at the convention held in that state a day or two since.

At an adjourned meeting of the Eastern railroad stockholders, in Boston on the 24th inst., it was announced that the lease of the Boston & Lowell road by the Boston & Maine had been approved by a vote of 46,765 to 5387, and the lease of the Manchester & Lawrence by 51,765 to 387.

Mr. James K. Kelley and wife of Boston visited on Friday with Representative Thomas J. Sheehan, of this city. Mr. Kelley is one of the firm of Kelley Bros. of Washington street, Boston, furniture dealers. The couple are just commencing their wedding tour, a portion of which they will spend at the summer resorts in Maine. Mrs. Kelley was Miss Lizzie Bartlett, formerly of this city.—Times.

Mrs. Julia Sullivan, wife of Patrick Sullivan of Dover, who strayed from her home on the 20th inst. and it was feared had committed suicide, was found in this city on the 23d at the residence of Mr. Edward O'Hare, an old acquaintance and friend of her husband. The unfortunate woman, whose mind is unsettled, was taken back to her home.

Another Sell.

Some enterprising newspaper correspondent in Boston, recently by telegraph to the Manchester Union sold the Daily Globe, stock, shank and fluke, without any foundation in fact for the statement. The Globe now sells the Advertiser and Record, its next door neighbors, to some unknown personage,—a safe purchaser,—while it is predicted sagely that "who the new editor is to be no fellow can find out."

The vivacious Barrett in the Record insists that the only sale of these papers consummated or contemplated is the daily supply to readers. The affair smacks strongly of a gentle attempt at advertising, which the Globe gratefully makes in return for the fraternal manner in which Barrett behaved as to the Col. Taylor dinner, in contrast with the shop over the way. The rumor proves to be a sell, instead of a sale.

There will be a lawn tennis tournament in Dover about the middle of July. Representatives from clubs in this city, Great Falls, Rochester and East Rochester will take part.

Current numbers of the "Golden Argosy," the eminently successful juvenile weekly, published by Frank A. Munsey, New York, are brimming over with a freight of good things in the shape of stirring stories, spirited pictures, and timely papers on the sports and recreations of the season. The serials now running are by such able authors as P. T. Barnum, Horatio Alger, Jr., Edward S. Ellis, Frank H. Converse, Arthur Lee Putnam, and a new one is to be begun immediately by the far-famed Oliver Optic. It is entitled "The Young Pilot of Lake Montoban," and it goes without saying that it will be sure to delight the boys. To be had of all newsdealers.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discarded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will renovate leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

New Hampshire Press Excursion, 1887.

The New Hampshire Press Association and their invited guests propose this year, in place of the usual long, somewhat expensive, and sometimes tiresome trip to some distant point, to visit a place of great interest in their own state,—Moosilauke mountain, — and spend a few days there in restful quiet and recreation. Instead of presenting the usual itinerary, which would require the party to travel at one particular time and on one particular train, it has been arranged that those provided with the requisite tickets can start either Friday, July 1st, or Saturday, July 2d, on any train convenient for them, returning either Monday, July 4th, or Tuesday, July 5th, at their option.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous, that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say, that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

The collapse of the Fidelity national bank of Cincinnati seems to be fatal. It is now stated that the creditors will get nothing. Two of the directors have been arrested.

Dr. Edwin Banche says: "I have prescribed 'Digestylin' in several cases, and find it excellent; and superior to any other digestive agent I have ever used."

The Republican Club of New York has sent a circular letter to the republican clubs of the country proposing a national convention of delegates from the clubs. Secretary Henry Gleason is daily receiving replies. All favor the convention.

These persons who do not need iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

The steel steamship for the new cruiser Charleston was successfully cast at San Francisco, Cal., June 23d. The post is 22 feet long on the keel, with an upright of twenty feet, and weighs upward of 15,000 pounds.

A Warning.

The high repute and extensive sales of Allcock's Porous Plasters has not only encouraged imitations but dangerous compounds to be offered for sale. Let the public bear in mind that Allcock's are the only genuine and reliable porous plasters, and that while they contain the indispensably necessary ingredients for a perfect plaster are purely vegetable and free from deleterious drugs.

The town of Westminster, Mass., celebrated the 150th anniversary of its settlement June 22d.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists; $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. dj7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. The Kentucky War.

A despatch of June 24th from Morehead, Ky., says: "Sheriff Hogg and his posse of 113 men continued to hold the town yesterday. They are looking now for Allie Young, county attorney, and Taylor Young, Jr., his brother. Both were engaged with Craig Tolliver in the murder of the Logans. The sheriff also has warrants for young Tolliver and John Rogers, and for others who escaped from Wednesday's fight. John Marvin, marshal of Morehead, was with Tolliver on Wednesday, but escaped to Ellicott county. It is said that he will organize a band of Tolliver avengers and return to Morehead and attack Hogg. The arms of the sheriff's posse were furnished by Boone Logan, a relative of the two boys recently murdered by the Tolliver gang."

The Yale crew defeated the Pennsylvania college crew in the four-mile boat race at New London, Conn., June 24th.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Why Should Old Men Suffer?

The pains of old age make the path to the grave one of thorns. Rheumatism and kidney troubles seem to be their companions, yet Allcock's Porous Plasters give certain relief. Mr. Terence Reilly, of No. 225 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, New York, says:

"I am nearly eighty-four years old, and have suffered from rheumatism and kidney troubles. I have tried numberless remedies, but none ever relieved me as did Allcock's Porous Plasters. I suffered from pain in the lower part of the back, which is constant torture unless I keep these plasters continully on. They are the only remedy my family and self ever use for pains or soreness in the chest and throat."

DIGESTYLIN

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquained with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "My little boy Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. P. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family; and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Graphic Account of a Most Wonderful Occurrence.

(Kingston Correspondence Boston Globe.)

An event has taken place in this city so remarkable in its nature that I venture to describe it in full. The principal in the affair is Mr. Jerr Smith, son of Mr. Cornelius B. Smith, of the State Insurance Department at Albany, who is well known, stands very high and is in every way reliable. I have had a long and most interesting interview with him, which I transcribed and send you in his own words, trusting it may prove valuable to your readers:

"During last year," he said, "I could not understand what was the trouble with me. I had always felt strong and hearty, but I gradually became aware that something was undermining me. I first began to feel drowsy and then in a day or two I would be unnaturally wide awake. Strange pains would come in different parts of my body. My head did not ache much but it usually felt heavy. I was sometimes hungry and sometimes I nauted food, while my sleep was very irregular. I could not understand what it meant but thought it might pass away after a time; but it did not. I don't see how I could have been so blind but I suppose I was like most people who are troubled in the same way, and thought it nothing dangerous. After awhile I noticed a peculiar color and odor about the fluids I was passing; that they were dark at times and very light at others. Finally I began to gain flesh, but I knew it was unnatural and that I was bloating. This frightened me, and I consulted physicians, who were very kind in their attentions, but did not help me in the least. My father then went with me to New York, and we consulted the eminent Dr. Keyes, who treated me for several weeks. At that time my condition was horrible. I was bloated from head to foot, it was almost impossible to breathe, and I could not sleep. In several places on my body the skin burst open, so great was the pressure from within. The agony I endured was indescribable. Then the doctor told me my case was hopeless, that I had Bright's disease in its worst form, and that I had only a few days to live."

PICTURE OF HEALTH.

PICTURE OF MISERY.

"Fortunately I had a friend who accompanied me and would not see me die without a struggle. He did not urge, he insisted on my making one more effort, and I did so. I noticed an improvement at once; in four days the swelling greatly decreased and the pain wholly ceased. I continued to improve and am a well man to-day, and owe my life to the marvelous effects of that wonderful preparation, Hunt's Remedy. I believe this is the greatest medicine that was ever discovered by man, and I only wish the whole world might know what it has done for me."

"I know there are thousands of people troubled as I was and in just as great danger, but they do not realize it. Bright's disease is the most deceptive, the most horrible malady the world has ever known. It has no settled symptoms, but assumes every imaginable form. I had no idea it was Bright's disease that was undermining me until I began to bloat, and now that I am well and enjoying life I feel like telling everybody about my miraculous escape. Is it any wonder this town is aroused over my resurrection?"

Such is the account of probably as narrow an escape from death as was ever known. The first symptoms which Mr. Smith felt were such as many others feel but do not consider worth noticing. It is plain, however, that the simple indications of a dangerous disease cannot be trifled with, but must be met promptly, and by such a remedy as has been proven to be indeed a friend in time of need.

Two Very Deep Wells.

Belding Brothers, of Rockville, Connecticut, silk manufacturers, have a branch at Northampton, Massachusetts, and about two years ago began sinking an artesian well there. It has now reached a depth of 3,440 feet. All but 200 feet of the boring has been through sandstone. The Northampton Herald says of the work: When the sandstone was first reached, it was thought that at a depth of 750 feet that would be the last of it, but when this depth had been attained, and the sandstone still continued, it was then predicted that by the time the drill had gone down 1,250 feet it would be through the stratum. But not so; and again another prediction was in order, and 1,500 feet was the depth named. But now the best geologists are at a loss what to say, for the question how far the sandstone does extend is a conundrum which they "give up." Professor Emerson, of Amherst College, and other eminent geologists declare that it is impossible to tell anything about it. Mr. Haskell, the solicitor of the North American Mining Company, which is sinking the well, has brought the matter before the geologists of the Boston School of Technology, and they do not attempt to give any theory which affords any encouragement as to how far it will probably be necessary to go down before getting through with the sandstone. The theory is that the sandstone is the deposit of a vast river current in the past ages, and therefore it is difficult to arrive at any conclusion as to what the depth of this deposit may be. The well is now the deepest in the country, and, with one or two exceptions, the deepest in the world. There is one in St. Louis 3,180 feet in depth, which flows seventy-five gallons of pure water per minute.

The Girl Who Laughs.

One of our newspaper bards, says a writer in the San Francisco Post, has sung the praises of the girl who laughs and doesn't care. And he is right. I do not mean the giggling girl, but the girl who can laugh heartily and merrily when there is anything to laugh at. I once heard a lecturer bid young men beware of marrying a girl whom they had never known to laugh. Such a one will seldom have the faculty of making the best of things. I some time since attended a theatre where the play was stupid and the actors poor. We were a badly sold and disappointed audience, and so I turned my attention to the latter for amusement. The couple at my left furnished me with a most painful specimen of the woman who cannot laugh, and my heart ached for her husband, a jolly-looking gentleman who strove by every means in his power to atone for his wife's disappointment by his own pleasantry and genial ways. Although many of his sotto voce remarks convulsed his immediate neighbors, his wife sat with never a smile on her horrified countenance—severity personified. I would have given much to shake her as soundly as she deserved. Herbert Spencer says: "Every power, bodily and mental, is increased by good spirits. There is no such tonic as happiness." Cheerfulness ought to be made one of the cardinal virtues, and its cultivation a duty. For a good, everyday household angel, commend me to the woman who can laugh, who can bear trifling disappointments with cheerfulness, and can even see a humorous side to a very disagreeable situation. Believe me, this faculty is of more value in a home than an overwhelming intellect or a knowledge of conic sections. The woman who can laugh heartily is not always the model housekeeper; she is more than likely to forget that there is bread in the oven, but if she does she will give you hot biscuits for supper in the place of the burned bread, and make them with the sweetest temper in the world. This trick of always seeing the bright side, or of shining up the dark one, is a faculty that can be cultivated, and if we are not born, as the Irish say, with the sunshine in our hearts we may have so much as a tallow dip that can be snuffed and trimmed and coaxed into a light that may help somebody by its brightness.

Call the world a battlefield if you like, but don't let your home life be a battlefield, or, at least, let your weapons be good humor and jollity, and you will win—and that right nobly—every time.

He Never Heard Of It.

A wagon loaded with wood and drawn by a poor old horse, driven by a negro, was standing on Montcalm street the other day when a pedestrian stopped and said:

"My colored friend, did you ever here of transmigration?"

"No, sah. Is it suthin' new?"

"Not very. It is the theory that man, after death, takes some other form."

"Might turn into a hoss, eh?"

"That's it. You might turn into a poor old horse like this and be overworked and ill-treated, as this one evidently is. Just back there a little way I saw you beat him with the butt of the whip."

"Yes, I did; but you look heah. I want to tell ye right yere and now dat if I turn into an ole hoss an' I doan' kick de dash-board in de fust time I'ze struck I won't hev nuffin' to say no moah. Dis ole hoss missed his opportunity thirty years ago, an' he hasn't got no remarks to make now."—Detroit Free Press.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

The Railroad Question.

The members of the legislature, having with commendable promptness accomplished their political work in the election of state officers and senator, are now engaged in the consideration of measures of a practical character. Whether we have annual or biennial sessions, there are just about the same number and kind of questions to be solved by the legislators. The railroad problem is one of economic and practical nature solely. In the rapid changes brought about by the settlement of the great west, and the carriage of the nation's product from the raiser to the consumer, the railways and the people of New England have of course much at stake. New York, as the west developed, hastened to consolidate her railway interests, that the shipment of grain might be sent to sea from her port. Experience has shown that a long line of railway under one management, capable of satisfactorily doing the business which comes to its line, is the only mode by which competition can be met in railway traffic.

For this and other conceded reasons the legislature of 1883, after careful consideration and mature deliberation passed what is known as the Colby act, which provides for the lease of one railway property to another. Under the sanction of this law the managers of the Northern leased to the Boston & Lowell railroad, the Northern railway. There is no prefence whatever that the people of New Hampshire and elsewhere did not gain by the procedure. There was no denying the fact that better service, lower rates of carriage and greater accommodations followed this lease. But certain interests assumed to enact the role of the under dog in the fight, and finally became the dog in the manger. The "minority interest," whatever might be its motive, had its day in court. Able lawyers, retained we know not by whom, furnished learned briefs to the court, and a minority in number of the judges (several members of the court being legally disqualified from adjudicating the question) decided that there could be no lease except by the unanimous consent of every shareholder. At least we suppose this to be the decision; we have never read the opinion of the court, and doubt if it has ever been put in type. At all events, the Northern railway, in obedience to a decree of the court, returns from the control of the Lowell into that of the Northern directors.

It will be seen at a glance, that as the present law is interpreted, a holder of a single share of stock is capable of causing irreparable injury to the railway investments of every other holder in the corporation of which he may be, even for hostile purposes to the property, a member. Instances of this might be cited to almost an unlimited extent. To remedy this evil, a bill has been introduced in the house of representatives providing a due and adequate remedy for the minority shareholder, giving him abundant opportunity to be heard upon the question of damages before the railway commissioners, and in case of his dissatisfaction with their award, an appeal to the supreme court and a trial by jury. This seems fair, equitable and judicious. The bill jealously guards the rights of the dissenting shareholder. There is opposition to this measure, which is a public enactment required in the proper development of our railway system. It comes from sources which contest the enactment, but whose rights doubtless will be properly protected. In the opinion of impartial lookers-on at the controversy, the bill will become a law.

An absurd suggestion has been made in some journals which fail to take a comprehensive view of the question, that this enactment may in some remote degree help or hinder the political fortunes of one set of men, or indeed of one or the other of the political parties in our state. The same cry was raised in the state of New York, when the New York Central road under the far seeing policy of the shippers and merchants of New York city, instituted the project of extending the Central road as one line between New York city and Buffalo. What is the result? This magnificent property with its four tracks of rail, with its immense freight business, pays the Vanderbilt family four per cent a year in dividends, and the public has the benefit of all the remainder. As well might it be claimed that because Mr. Cleveland lived at Buffalo he was chosen president by reason of the consolidation of the New York Central, as to predict that a law which if enacted, will in its effects develope the capacities of our railways extending toward the west, built originally for the purpose of connecting the growing portion of our country which gives us the balance of trade by means of its crops, would forsooth be used as a political agent to effect the weal or woe of any one man.

The suggestion is an insult to the intelligence of our law-makers. The strides of business, the changes in modes of transportation, the development of our great and growing country, call frequently for a liberal and comprehensive policy on the part of our railway system. While the legislature will in all enactments sought to be passed, carefully guard and preserve the rights of the people, whether stockholders to large or small extent in railways or otherwise, it will be the duty no less than the pleasure of every one of our law-makers to pass such public enactments as will tend to promote the greatest good, and permit the railway system of New Hampshire to enjoy equal facilities for business with railways in other states, where a liberal and far seeing policy has been the rule in such cases.

Kite Flying Financiers.

There is a certain similarity in the fortunes of the famed Pacific national bank of Boston and the Fidelity national bank of Cincinnati, which latter is just now attracting more attention than any other bank in the country. The Pacific bank was established to "vindicate" the methods of Abner I. Benyon, a Napoleon of Finance whose costly connection with another bank had been gladly terminated by the bank's conservative friends; and so well did he vindicate himself that when the new concern went down with a great crash after a few years of existence, it was found that with the assistance of Weeks and a few others, everything had been got away with except the safe and a half dozen office chairs.

Vice President E. L. Harper of the Fidelity bank, a Young Napoleon of Finance, some years ago was a director of the Third national bank (the "Widows' Bank") of Cincinnati, of which Ammi Baldwin was cashier and Ben. Hopkins assistant cashier; and all three were suddenly invited out one day, owing to the discovery of certain irregular proceedings on their part. The three at once proceeded to organize the Fidelity (most appropriate name) bank, put in "young blood," and by their financial showings soon placed the bank in the front ranks. Its reputation is now about all there is left of it.

A very large number of country teams were in town on Saturday, and business at the stores was correspondingly brisk.

It seems a little peculiar, but nevertheless it is a fact, that it is harder to purchase a nice scrod or mess of cunners, or a dish of shucked clams, in Portsmouth than in Boston. Why so, let the customer tell. Years ago, we had fine crackers of home manufacture from many bakeries; to-day, not one is made, and all we eat in this popular line comes from "furrin parts."

"That's a good idea of Boynton's," quoth the nautical farmer, as he stood at the corner of Lincoln and Miller avenues, "to put up that little shop so that the workmen on his new house shouldn't get dry." "You old fool," responded his mentor, "that is not for summer beverages; it is to keep the lime from getting wet."

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, June 25th.

Thomas Philbrook, drunk, was allowed to go on probation, he promising to rid the city of his presence for a full year if permitted to depart. It would not injure the city any to have him remain away two years.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The summer arrangement of the Boston & Maine railroad goes into effect this (Monday) morning. The time table of trains between Boston and this city, and this city and Portland, and over the Dover and Conway branches, can be found in another column.

The directors of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad were in session on Saturday. The resignation of E. H. Paine as treasurer was read and accepted. Mr. Wm. Byron Stearns of Manchester was chosen to fill the vacancy. Mr. Paine goes to Casselton, Dakota, where he will reside and has been chosen president of the Cass county bank.

The abutments for the new bridge of the Boston & Maine railroad over Creek street are finished, and ready to receive the bridge whenever the builders are ready to put it in position.

The midday train on the Concord & Portsmouth railroad commences running to-day.

An additional express train begins to run this week between Concord and Boston, leaving Concord at 8:10 A. M. and reaching Boston at 10:05; leaving Boston at 5:00 P. M., and arriving at Concord at 7:00 P. M.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., June 25th.

Hon. E. C. Moody returned on Thursday from a trip to the Aroostook district, in the prosecution of which he was obliged to pass through a portion of the Dominion of Canada, where they were celebrating Queen Victoria's jubilee anniversary. In some instances the American flag was raised, and in one case torn down by a mob.

C. F. Blaisdell is doing a fine business in furniture this summer, at York village.

The Garrison house, Sanborn & Preble landlords, will open on the first day of July. This house, not long constructed, has been repainted inside and out, and a plank walk of 590 feet or more in length is being laid to the bath houses on the beach. It is built on rising ground to the westward of Long sands, and commands a fine view of the neighborhood. Many applications have already been received for the season.

It was very pleasant on Friday to one looking from the door of Postmaster Fremont Varrell's store over York harbor. (Mr. Rufus Varrell, the proprietor of the store for a half century, is now in improved health, but unable to attend to business.) There were lying in the harbor on the 24th the schooners Karen Happuch, Philbrook master; Mystery, Baker, loaded with bricks from Norton's yard for Boston; and Nathan Clifford, from Belfast, loaded with lumber to J. P. Simpson.

The harbor dredger is daily expected.

The railroad bridge will be completed in about a fortnight.

The new yacht boat built by John E. Norwood has been placed in charge of Capt. Albert Lougell for two months. She was being tried on the 24th, and worked satisfactorily. The Lone Star, Capt. Edward Lowd, was bound on a fishing trip the same day.

The Harmon house had fifteen boarders, the Marshall house, fifteen, and the Goodwin house ten, on the 24th.

Lobsters have been brought in, and caught in the harbor, quite plentifully of late.

Elder J. Maben, who has been pastor of the Christian church at York Corner for the past two years, has resigned his pastorate, to take effect the first of July. He is to go to Augusta, Me.

Alvin Tuttle has sold his boat Osprey, now lying at York harbor, to Thomas Kelley of Gloucester. She is twenty-six feet keel, nine feet beam, and draws 3 1-2 feet of water. She is schooner rigged, carries mainsail, foresail, foretopsail and jib. She was a government built boat, and decked. Her present owner is waiting for a chance to sail her to Cape Ann.

Mr. Manson, of Sampson & Co. of Portsmouth, has been a resident of York for three months, where he has been regularly carrying on his business. He expects to remain until the hotels are fully occupied.

It is reported that Samuel Armstrong, well known in Portsmouth as the successful driver of the express team from York, has been offered a position as flagman at the railroad crossing of the road near York harbor. Anticipating that his business may be dull when the cars commence running, Mr. Armstrong is inclined to favorably consider the offer. A great many of the old drivers would be glad to accept, so that Mr. Armstrong may be considered very fortunate.

J. W. Bragdon has just built a commodious and well finished livery stable opposite Varell's store; also he has the Baker stable on Norwood farm, and deals in horses extensively. He is very enterprising.

John F. Todd, hostler for Wilson M. Walker, has bought a fine horse for his own family use.

A party of nondescripts, whom some thought to be Italian Gypsies, passed through York village on Thursday. They were dressed in outre suits, were of dark complexion, and of different sexes and all ages from old to young, the youngest being an infant borne on the back of an old woman. They led along with them two performing bears and several monkeys, and were accompanied by a number of dogs, the breed of which even Joe Bell would be unable to determine. Their habitation was built upon an old wagon covered with a dome-like roof, from which a stove-pipe protruded, and was drawn by a single horse led by a young woman. There were a dozen or more of them. Were it not that York has been deluged of late with people of all nations and tongues, the pure-blooded descendants of Gorges would have been more astonished. Not meeting with pecuniary success the party proceeded to a camping ground east of the village. A deputation consisting of a man and two children, a bear and a monkey, visited their brethren at their shanty at the railroad on Friday.

Ed. Blaisdell, carpenter and builder, is about completing his large house near the railroad station. It is after the Swiss style of architecture. VIATOR.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Wm. P. Jones has opened her residence on Court street for the summer.

At the 27th annual commencement exercises of Mt. Saint Mary's academy in Manchester, on the 23d inst., Miss Loulie Shaw Albee of Newcastle received a gold medal for punctuality; also the second prize for proficiency in daily recitations in astronomy, and the first prize in Latin.

Mr. James Cunningham, Miss Cora Cunningham and Miss Lou Tebbetts of this city, and Mrs. Nathaniel P. Simpson, Miss Ruth Simpson, Miss Mamie Simpson, Miss Harriet A. Pickering and Mr. Will Frink of Greenland, start for Hanover this morning to attend the commencement exercises of Dartmouth college. Messrs. Joseph T. Cunningham of this city and J. Clifford Simpson of Greenland are members of the graduating class.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Appledore, which put into Salem, Mass., on the 23d inst., on the passage from this port to New York, had burned out her grate bars; having repaired the damage, she continued her voyage on the evening of the 24th.

All the letting boats and most of the private yachts on the river were out on Sunday, fishing parties and down-river chowder parties being numerous. A number of boats came down from Durham, South Berwick and other towns up the river, with parties of pleasure seekers.

The cutter yacht Genesta was sighted off the Lizzard on the morning of June 24th; she was then nearly two days ahead of the other boats in the jubilee race, and was proceeding under close reefed sails. There was enough sea on, and a strong head wind blowing. The yacht Selene passed Clare island, off county Mayo, Ireland, on the 24th, leading the Gwendoline and Aline, which also passed the island later in the day.

All local letters now handled in the Portsmouth office are stamped; "Have your mail addressed to street and number," preparatory to the introduction of the postal delivery system, which goes into effect next Friday.

It is reported that the tenement on Congress street next westward of Wallis' bakery has recently changed hands, and will be remodelled and fitted up as an art store.

The Chase Home for Children has been presented with a piano by a lady whose name is withheld.

A horse attached to a wagon loaded with refuse wood, and belonging to Mr. William S. Moles, who resides on Elwyn road, took fright Friday afternoon on Middle street, through some of the wood falling off, and ran away. The animal turned into and proceeded through Richards avenue at a lively rate, but was stopped by bringing up against one of the trees. No great damage was done.

It is a great mistake to assume that the work of the legislature is represented by the number of hours it is in session; three-quarters of the necessary work, and some unnecessary, is done outside these hours.

A bakers' cart belonging to John C. Stevens was upset on Christian shore last Friday afternoon, through attempting too short a turn. The cart was slightly damaged, and the driver received a few hurts on one side and shoulder.

The house on Middle street owned by Chief Engineer Macomb, U. S. N., has recently been repainted—and very tastefully and handsomely repainted, too; it looks like a new house.

Sour oranges are past season. Purchasers generally "kick" if the fruit is not all sweet, yet the dealers tell us that many inquiries are made at this season for a fruit not to be obtained in this market. It is undoubtedly due to the lady of the house having read some tempting recipe in a paper or magazine.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

A wooden sign on the north mill this noon bore this inscription: "No bathing aloud."—Penny Post.

This sign was printed to inform the boys that when they bathed they must make no noise, so that the city officials in the under part of the city building should not be disturbed.

On Wednesday of last week Representative John J. Bell of Exeter gave notice in the legislature of the introduction of a bill to amend the city charter of Portsmouth. We have not been able to learn anything as to what point the charter needs tinkering on, or who wishes to have it tinkered. It is as mysterious a piece of business, so far, as the horse railroad notice given by the counsel for the defence.

The first number of the Seashore, second volume, was issued on Saturday by John D. Randall. It is a well printed paper of eight pages, contains a good number of advertisements, and has quite a large amount of reading matter of interest to the general public as well as to persons at the various summer-resorts in this vicinity.

Smith's academy, Congress street, closed for the summer at the end of the session last Friday.

The 625 men employed at the Atlantic oil refinery at Point Breeze, Philadelphia, struck June 24th against the employment of Hungarians at the works. Trouble has been brewing at the refinery for some time, because half a dozen Hungarians were employed in cleaning stills.

President Coit of the Reading (Pa.) iron works on the 24th inst. informed the company's employes that in consequence of their refusal to accept the proposed ten per cent reduction, all of the company's furnaces, tube works, and sheet mills will be closed on July 2d for an indefinite period. The company, he said, could not afford to operate the works at the present rate of wages and price of goods. This suspension will throw 2000 hands out of employment, the largest closing down in Reading for years.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous, that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say, that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

The Tilton village fire precinct has built a hose-carriage house, and on top put a large water tank from which the street sprinkler will obtain water.

Delegates from all of the Irish societies of Manchester, which number about a dozen, met recently and started arrangements for a celebration for the 4th of July.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

A census of the French Canadian population of Great Falls and Berwick has just been completed by Rev. Father Demers, of the French Catholic church of Great Falls. It appears that in the two villages there are 2200 French Canadians, and that in Great Falls alone there are 2104 of them. It would not be surprising if in another five years the English-speaking people of Great Falls should be in a minority.

The following is going the rounds of the Maine press: "It is stated by reliable parties that the management of the Boston & Maine railroad are becoming favorably impressed with the Sanford & Kennebunk railroad project, and may eventually construct the branch. That the road would pay well, there is no doubt, connecting, as it would, two important manufacturing towns, and opening up vast business resources all along the route, including a 5000-horse water power on the boundary of Kennebunk, besides infusing new life into one of Maine's oldest shipping ports and seaside resorts."

No. 42 went out from Portland in the morning, and running at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour scooped up 38,000 gallons of water from the big tank along the road bed in forty seconds. DIGESTYLIN

FOR

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

SHE TALKS ABOUT HER BOY.

Why He Lost Interest in His Play—Many Weeks of Anxiety—His Visit to Mt. Kisco. He Goes Brightly Back to School.

As there are so many letters in the papers about the new remedy I thought you might like to hear of a case in my family. I write because there are so many mothers who will be glad to know of a medicine that is safe to give their children in place of quinine, which often has such bad effects.

Some fifteen months ago my son Harry, then about eleven years old, was taken with malaria, of which there is always more or less in the part of Jersey City where we live. He first seemed out of sorts, didn't want to go to school, and dragged about the house in a dull, listless way altogether unnatural to him, until finally he came to be down sick in bed. Having had some experience of malaria I doctored him myself for two weeks, giving quinine in pretty large doses for the boys age—about ten grains a day. He had all the symptoms, such as languor, yawning and stretching, blue lips, ears and finger nails, goose-flesh all over his body, and a feeling of heaviness at the pit of the stomach, chattering of the teeth, trembling in his arms and legs and pain in the head, back and loins, and he complained of being so sore and tired. When the fever was on he would be burning up for several hours, and toss on his bed. The fever frightened me—the temperature got to be 103 degrees—and I sent for a physician.

The attack had now developed into a bad case of malarial intermittent fever. The doctor gave quinine but it seemed to have no better effect in his hands than it had in mine. Then arsenic was tried and at last belladonna. The latter drug by and by affected Harry's eyes so that he could see nothing clearly except when close at hand. This sickness lasted quite six weeks, and Harry got so reduced and emaciated that those who saw him when he was well would hardly know him now. He was so much run down, and was so low in flesh and strength that we thought he was surely going into a decline. His appetite failed so he could eat nothing. Indeed he could scarcely drink milk. Under the physician's treatment he now improved somewhat so the physician thought it unnecessary to continue his visits. Still, he did not gain strength or flesh, the improvement being only transient, and he suffered a relapse and was soon as bad as ever.

Thinking that a change might be beneficial we took him to Mt. Kisco and kept him there some weeks, and for a time the change seemed to help him, and he seemed improved. It was but temporary, however, for on our return he was soon as bad as ever. We were very much discouraged about him and called in a new doctor, and he treated him for some time—but his fever raged with increased force and seemed slowly sapping his life and strength. After some weeks of treatment he was practically abandoned by the physician, who said, "It is not of the slightest use for me to see him. You can doctor him as well as I can. Quinine is the only thing that can do him any good." So we went on with quinine; but it seemed to have no effect upon him whatever in abating the disease.

He was now very sick and weak and we hardly dared to think of what the result might be. When a friend called to see us—to whom we were telling Harry's sad condition—he said to us: "Why don't you give him Kaskine?" telling us that it was a new remedy for malaria, and how effectual it was in that complaint. Feeling that it was our duty to do anything we could we got some Kaskine and began using it. In about a week I saw a change for the better in my boy's condition. I first noticed it in his eyes, they had all through his sickness looked dull and bleared, and red as if inflamed and bloodshot. They soon began to lose this appearance and grew brilliant and clear as they used to be when he was in health. The medicine seemed to free his eyes from their dulled appearance and they grew bright and flashing again. His appetite began to improve, and soon he was real hungry and relished his food.

The fever left him and was permanently broken, his tired feeling disappeared and he got lively and playful once more. Soon the change was more decided, he regained his strength and cheerfulness and he was like our light, happy child again. Two bottles of Kaskine cured him. This was last November. He remained free from the fever, all the old, bad symptoms disappeared, never to come back, and since that time he has never had the least bit of the fever. He got well and strong and in four weeks he was back at school again as well as he ever was, and has remained so ever since.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

THE DRIVEN-WELL DECISION.

The Newmarket Advertiser has the following, which is of interest to many people in this county, where many wells have been put down by a Boston company:

The recent decision of the supreme court is on the old-fashioned driven wells, made with point and strainer; the earth was first bored to a water-bearing strata, then the pipe forced down several feet into the gravel.

The combination formed in Boston, which has been fighting the claim of the owners of the driven-well patent for several years, is not affected by this decision in the least, as all of the wells owned by the combination are what are known as the open-end wells, where the earth is removed upwards by boring, or washing it out, which is most common. Thousands of wells are made in this manner through thick beds of clay, where it would be impossible to drive a well by the process set forth by N. W. Green, in his patent dated January 14th, 1868. These wells are not made to evade the patent, but are absolutely necessary in many places to bore or wash out the earth. The patentee himself has learned this process within the last few years, and is obliged to adopt this plan of operation.

Green's patent dated Aug. 26th, 1879, for connecting a number of driven wells to one pump, was granted some fourteen years after they were in public use, and it seems useless for him to make a claim on that score.

MATTERS IN YORK.

York, Me., June 27th.

Ellis & Sons, of the Ocean house, Union Bluff, have purchased an extra fine lot of horses for use in their passenger coaches until the trains commence running on the new railroad.

Landlord Goodwin of the Kearsarge house, Portsmouth, proprietor of the Dover house at Long sands, has placed the house in full repair. Mr. Goodwin, who was making a sojourn there last week, returned to Portsmouth on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Manville, proprietor of the large cottage near the Sea Cottage hotel, has returned to her usual summer quarters from her winter home at St. Paul, Minn. Until her house is in readiness she remains at the Sea Cottage.

It was estimated that a thousand persons were on York beach on Sunday, and the hotels were kept busy all day.

Mr. Edward Blaisdell is about finishing a new house on the south side of the river road for Mrs. Sophie Putnam. It is of quaint design by Mr. Blaisdell, and tastefully painted by John Hatch, who has been constantly engaged in house painting during the past year.

Postmaster Plaisted, of the York Corner post-office, has succeeded in inducing the department to make that office a money-order office.

Mr. John A. Plaisted occupies a workshop opposite the post-office at York Corner. He is a son of George Plaisted, quite a young man, and is a natural mechanic. He is employed at both carpenter work and painting, of which he has at present a supply of two weeks ahead. Neat signs painted by him, directing to the beach and junction, have been placed at the turn of the road there.

About forty sail of mackerel seiners were off York beach on Sunday.

Large schools of alewives are making their way to the fresh water streams at the head of York river.

John C. Cornelius of Portsmouth is employed at the waterworks of the York Aqueduct Co., as a plumber.

Leach & Winn have a large hennery near the residence of Capt. Henry Donnell, York harbor. They have 400 hens and a large number of chickens and ducks. Fred, as he approaches the goal of his ambition every morning, hums "I am bound to win."

Boynton's team is seen here now quite frequently, and his beverages are very popular. He has introduced a new liquid made from oranges. A New Hampshire man blamed the driver lately for not bringing any lager, but he harmonized matters by saying that he was not to blame, and that complaint should be made to the proprietor of the establishment at Portsmouth.

Putnam Bros. drive into Portsmouth every day for the mails and passengers, with an express wagon. On Thursday they went in three times. After the first of July they will go twice a day regularly. They have just purchased a handsome nine-seated duplex wagon, capable of being covered with canvass. E. Herbert Banks, a well known, popular and experienced driver, is employed by them.

J. O. Barrett has removed from the Golden Cross block to Walker's, at the village. He is now engaged in making harnesses for Willis Moulton's store, Bragdon Bros., butchers at the village, and other parties about town. Mrs. Barrett is engaged in the millinery business.

Mrs. Lawrence of Philadelphia, who has passed the summers in York for a long period of years, returned on Wednesday. She occupies the Joseph Bragdon cottage. York people are glad to hear of her return.

Francis E. Webber, nineteen years old, will drive over York beach this season with fish, clams and vegetables, to supply the hotels and summer houses. He was well patronized last season on account of his promptness.

Wilson Walker's long-established store at the village now employs three clerks and a cashier, and a team and driver. He keeps four horses. The store has been recently repainted. Some of the buildings about here are painted green; but Mr. Walker, in view of the improvements going on, thinks the whole town ought to be painted red, and has proceeded accordingly.

The Methodist church held a picnic a week ago Wednesday, at Agamenticus. The Congregrationalist church had a picnic on Saturday, at Raitt's grove, Eliot; they had the Marshall house four-horse barge.

Rev. Mr. Holmes, the newly-appointed pastor of the Methodist church, has been occupying the parsonage house about two weeks.

Twenty new buildings are going up on the York beaches at present. Lumber is to be seen hauled over the beach continually.

Bragdon & Bros., provision dealers at Walker's block, are doing a good business. They are active and capable young men, and well merit the patronage they receive.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer hold until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. Mrs. A. H. Vesey.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. Dudley Gilman.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. Arthur & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather, to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work before, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

NOTICE---SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT.

A meeting of the subscribers to the fund for Soldiers' and Sailors' monument will be held in the Common Council Chamber, City Building, on Wednesday evening, June 29th, at eight o'clock, to hear the report of the special committee appointed to procure plans for the monument. M. ELDREDGE, Chairman.

COME ONE! COME ALL!
To Franklin Hall.

Franklin Hall will be opened on Wednesday, the 29th, afternoon and evening, for a sale of fancy articles and refreshments for the benefit of the Children's Home.

This sale, which originated with a few young misses of this city and the navy yard, is the result of many weeks of untiring industry and perseverance, and will enable those already interested in the Children's Home, as well as others, to make purchases of articles useful and ornamental at scarcely any advance in cost—an opportunity seldom offered, and which should not be allowed to pass.

The sale will be enlivened by many humorous features, which will be left as a surprise and will offer the most potent inducements for investment.

Refreshments, consisting of coffee, salads, ices, candies and cakes, will be served at all hours.

Fair opens at four o'clock, and supper will be especially served from six until nine. Admission fifteen cents; ten cents for children.

PERSONAL.

Col. John S. Jackson of Boston was in town on Sunday.

Mr. Charles S. Jordan of Cape Elizabeth, Me., has been visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Willard Lewis of Walpole, Mass., with two children, is visiting her parents, Hon. Moses H. Goodrich and wife.

Miss Mabel Manson and Miss Alice Brewster are at home in this city from Wellesley college for the summer vacation.

Mr. Ashton Towle, formerly of this city, and for a number of years an employe of this office, but now of South Newmarket, was in this city on Sunday.

Messrs. Minot Beacham, Harry Hutchinson, Clifton Humphreys, Chester Curtis and Frank Hoyt of this city, and Mr. Stimson of Kittery, have arrived home from Dartmouth college to spend the summer.

Ex-Mayor J. G. Crockett of Stewart, Iowa, formerly of this city, is spending a portion of his vacation here. He has not been east for nine years or more, and his many friends in Portsmouth are glad to see he is looking hale and hearty.

STEAMER OCEANIC.

The changes in the Boston & Maine railroad time-table have necessitated some slight changes in the running time of the Isles of Shoals steamer Oceanic, from what was first advertised, in order to assure connection with the trains. The steamer will leave the Shoals at 6:00 and 9:20 A. M., and 1:20 and 4:45 P. M., instead of 6:00 and 9:45 A. M. and 1:45 and 5:00 P. M., as originally announced. The difference is slight, but important to remember. The steamer will leave her wharf in this city at the hours first named, 8:00 and 11:15 A. M., and 3:25 and 6:20 P. M.

THE BRONCHOS IN DOVER.

About all the horse buyers in the surrounding country were in town on Friday to be present at the sale of broncho horses by McCafferty Bros., in Hale's field. A finer looking lot of horses are very rarely seen at once. They had great luck with them, and managed to dispose of all they had (fifty-three) at an average price of $68. They liked the manner in which they were treated in this city, and will call this way again soon. Those horses which were not taken Friday were lassoed Saturday and taken away by their owners.——Bringing the broncho horses to town, seemed to make business good for dealers in rope. Nearly every man who purchased a horse Friday bought from thirty to fifty feet of rope for halters.—Dover Democrat.

MARITIME NOTES.

A French war ship, reported to be an ironclad ram, arrived in the lower harbor on Monday afternoon, and came to anchor.

The work of rebuilding the draw pier on the down-river side of Portsmouth bridge is to be commenced immediately. The pier on the upper side of the bridge is in good condition, having been rebuilt within a year or two.

The cutter Thistle sailed a fifty-mile race with the Irex, previously the crack British yacht, on Saturday, and beat her twelve minutes. The Thistle is evidently a wonderful boat, and a more dangerous competitor for the America's cup than any of the other British yachts which tried to retake it. She has been the winner in eight races since she was launched a few months ago.

The cutter Genesta, which was defeated for the America's cup in 1885 by the Puritan, won the queen's jubilee race around the British islands, in 12 days, 16 hours and 55 minutes. The Thistle and Irex were not in the race.

The Thistle and Irex had a fifty-mile race at Glasgow on the 27th inst., the Thistle winning by one minute and three seconds, corrected time.

E. C. Blaisdell, D. M. D., successor to Dr. E. J. Bonney, can be found at the finely fitted dental rooms No. 1 1-2 Market street. The rooms are connected by telephone with the central station.

The gates of the north millpond were lashed open on Monday to give it a good draining, but no "nuisance" in the form of bad odor made itself manifest. The waters of the pond seemed alive with fish, principally eels and squid; the latter had been speared in large numbers for several days previously, for bait. Clam island, which ordinarily at low tide is but a ledge of small size, presented the appearance of a hay-field, displaying a rich growth of marine vegetation.

Mayor Eldredge has given $25 toward getting up one or more boat races on the river on the 4th of July. A sweepstakes race for six-oared boats, with two cups as prizes, is spoken of as likely to be one of the events.

A dance is to be given in Franklin hall this evening, by the three young men who conducted a course of assemblies there last winter; the Music hall orchestra will furnish music.

The Portsmouth Machine Co. has recently introduced steam heating apparatus into Col. J. Horace Kent's residence on Islington street.

Charles E. Tasker of Newmarket has been appointed a deputy sheriff for Rockingham county, or will be as soon as Capt. Coffin becomes sheriff.

Rockingham Lodge, I. O. G. T., with invited guests, went to Foss' beach, Rye, Monday evening, in half a dozen barges, the occasion being the 12th anniversary of the lodge.

Three young men in a buggy drove down State street at a rapid pace about eleven o'clock Sunday night, and turned into Fleet street without checking their speed. The result was that the buggy turned upside down against Dr. Hall's fence, but the driver held on to the reins, and the horse, which was perfectly sober, soon stopped. No serious damage was done to the vehicle or its occupants.

The graduation exercises of the high school will be held in Franklin hall on Thursday evening. Harlow's orchestra will be present. There will be no subsequent festivities.

A new platform was being laid at the Hampton station of the Boston & Maine railroad on Monday.

The electric light on South street, near the old "gun-house," is very prominently visible at Mr. George W. Peirce's on Odiorne's point, Rye. George hails the light with enthusiasm, as he used to play as a boy around, above and over the wall of the old state arsenal.

The Times of Saturday evening made the following very proper remarks: "There was a peddler on the Parade this forenoon with an immense number of highly colored toys on a pole, which he offered for sale, disposing of a large number. The display in such a prominent place in the business centre of the city, should not be tolerated by the city authorities. Any horse with the least amount of spirit might well be so frightened at it as to run away, doing much damage to life and property. That no accident did happen to-day, is a very fortunate circumstance."

The store and stable at Ogunquit, Wells, owned by Barak Maxwell, with their contents, were totally consumed by fire early Monday morning. The store was occupied by J. H. Littlefield as a general store, and as a dwelling overhead by George H. Littlefield. The fire is supposed to have caught from the matches, as the fire was in that vicinity when discovered. J. H. Littlefield's loss is $3000; Maxwell's loss on buildings, $2500 each; insured. George H. Littlefield's loss is $300; no insurance.

Gerrish Wormwood, a nine-year-old son of William Wormwood of Kennebunk, recently got into a scuffle with a schoolmate, and received injuries which terminated in lock-jaw, from the effects of which he died on the 18th inst.

Hon. E. C. Moody of York has growing, in one field, seven acres of potatoes.

There was a game of base ball played between the York Beach club and the Cape Neddicks at York beach on Saturday. The Cape Neddicks were beaten so badly that they have not slept ever since—so one of the other club says.

Mr. Cate, head waiter at the Bartlett house, York beach, this season, is a student in the Chandler Scientific department of Dartmouth college, class of '88.

Mr. John Glover of Kittery has gone to Star island, where he is to be engineer at the Oceanic for the summer. Charles Keen is to be one of the Oceanic bell boys this season.

Haying has been quite extensively commenced by the farmers in parts of Kittery, Eliot and South Berwick.

THE STRAFFORD COUNTY FARM.

One John Murphy, an inmate of the Strafford county almshouse, having made charges derogatory to Wm. T. Wentworth, the superintendent, a hearing was had on Saturday last, which the Democrat reports as follows:

The county commissioners met at their office in the city hall this afternoon to listen to the charges preferred by John Murphy against William T. Wentworth. Mr. Murphy's charges were principally cruelty, and that Wentworth squandered the county's money. He went on in a rambling way, not confining himself to any one subject. Mr. Wentworth in answer to him stated that he had never abused him. In one instance, when Murphy became very abusive, he took him by the collar and led him into a cell. He stated that he had nothing further to say, but in a few words denied the whole charges. Murphy then asked the commissioners to have an investigation, but whether or not they will, has not been decided. It looks thus far like a very foolish matter.

One of the standard jokes of centuries is the "two-door" (Tudor) mansion. A milkman in this city who delivers the lacteal at one of the best preserved of our many old houses thinks he can rake the pot on that. He says it is a "two-gate and Three-door mansion," as he has to pass through that number.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., June 27th.

Mrs. Linville S. Remick of Charlestown, Mass., is spending the summer with her brother, Mr. Wm. A. Lydston.

Charles B. Remick on Tuesday of last week went to Boston to take a position as brakeman on the Boston & Maine railroad, on a passenger train. For the past two years Mr. Remick has been employed by Mr. Henry Smith, grocer, in Portsmouth.

Ira S. Paul is building a two-story lodging house for the accommodation of summer boarders; it will be completed about the first of July.

Edward K. Paul has lot his house to Mrs. J. Dillingham of South Boston for the summer, and it will be opened July 5th for friends and relatives of Mrs. Dillingham.

Amos W. Wingate, agent of the New England Farmer, returned home on Saturday, June 18th, from a trip of ten weeks; he will spend the month of July at home.

Dr. C. H. Guptill and wife have been visiting their son, Dr. L. H. Guptill, in Charlestown, Mass.

Frank M. Dixon, the artist and photographer, will shortly open business in South Berwick, where he will be glad to see his friends and do them justice on most any kind of work.

Levi M. Brooks has a colt that was folded Thursday, June 23d, sired by Lightfoot, owned by Samuel Clark, Eliot Depot. Mr. Clark has three very fine stallions, and they have left some very fine colts in this town.

The Methodist church at South Eliot observed Sunday last as Children's Day. The exercises of the evening were very interesting, and consisted of music by the choir and school, and readings and declamations. There was a declamation given by Mrs. Nathaniel Knowlton of East Eliot, entitled "Daniel in the lions' den." Mrs. Knowlton has lived to the good old age of eighty-seven years. Every word was plain and distinct as that of a much younger person. We hope she will live to enjoy many more such occasions. Mrs. Knowlton is the oldest member living of the Methodist church that used to stand by the river, and its pastor was old Parson Chandler.

The Congregational church will observe Sunday next, July 3d, as Children's Day; the evening exercises will be given at 7:30 sharp. HARRY.

Daniel McFarland, who murdered Richardson, the noted newspaper man, in New York in 1869, applied for lodgings in a New York police station one night last week. He is utterly broken down.

Gen. James B. Speed, attorney-general in President Lincoln's cabinet, died at his home in Louisville, Ky., June 25th.

Three prisoners last Saturday morning killed the deputy sheriff and escaped from the jail at Mt. Vernon, Mo. One of the prisoners, C. B. Carter, was to have been hanged on Friday next for murder.

Always avoid harsh purgative pills. They first make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill.

The Grand Army post at Hanover has purchased a lot, and will build a Memorial hall.

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means.

Miss Edith G. Sanborn received a gold medal for being the best lady speaker at Gilmanton academy.

Accidents

and how to deal with them, and other valuable medical information, will be found in Dr. Kaufmann's great medical work; elegant colored plates. Send three 2 cent stamps to pay postage to A. F. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

Arthur B. Flanders, a pupil in the Pierce school at Dover, aged six years, has entered suit for $1000 through his father and next friend against Miss Laura A. Hayes for damages for injuries received, as alleged, by unnecessary corporal punishment. Miss Hayes' property has been attached. The writ is returnable at the September term of court.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists; $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. 3y7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.o

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous, that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say, that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

England has granted Turkey's request for an extension of the time for signing the Egyptian convention.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

Ex-Gov. Anson P. Morrill of Maine, aged eighty-four years, was stricken with paralysis while out riding at Augusta, Me., June 27th.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion, prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

The steamer Providence of the Old Colony line was still ashore on the 28th inst.

The many remarkable cures Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes are sufficient proof that it does possess peculiar curative powers.

The town of Marshfield, Wis., was burned June 27th; loss $1,000,000 or more.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

The house of Wm. W. Cushman in Dover was robbed of a gold watch and $75 last Saturday night.

The Clothes that Kill.

The advice to women to promote their health by out-door exercise is never wanting. But no amount of fresh-air exercise can save women from the evil effects of their present style of dress. It is their clothes that kill them.

Every step a woman takes, her foot contends with her skirt. She lifts it on the instep, and she lifts it on the heel. The weight may be ounces or pounds, but it is taken up at every step. The heavy skirts, with flounces, overskirt, bustle, braid, beads, and other trimmings, hang their many pounds and many yards, flapping around the feet and legs of the wearer. The corset does not allow space to take a full breath, and the tight sleeves cause the muscles to cry for room.

Dressed in this fashion, the wearer comes back from her walk for "fresh air and exercise" tired through and through, and is the worse for it, because she has lifted and carried hundreds of pounds.

Stand at any city street corner, and watch the women as they pass. How tired they look! How their dresses flap around them! Contrast them with the men. Men's steps contend with nothing. Every muscle has its natural exercise. Out-door air and exercise are good for them.

The advice women need is for shorter, lighter and looser dress. Mrs. Jenness-Miller has not come a day too soon with her better costume, if the health of women is to be improved. Mrs. Celia B. Whitehead has shown "What's the matter." Before her, Mrs. Amelia Bloomer, nearly forty years ago, set the example of short, loose dresses.

That style was adopted by many women, among them Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Miss Susan B. Anthony, and the present writer. How light and comfortable and neat it was! How easily we went up stairs without fear of being stepped on! A walk on a rainy day or in a muddy street had no terror, for there were no yards of draggled skirts to clean. We had room to breathe, and freedom for our feet. But this healthful dress was "despised and rejected" by the great public. On one occasion, Miss Anthony, in company with me, started to go to the post-office in New York, in the Bloomer costume. But we were surrounded and wedged in by a crowd which hooted and jeered. We escaped only by a carriage sent by a friend who saw our dilemma.

It was so difficult to wear this dress, with the odium that was cast upon it, that we returned sorrowfully to the bondage of our bodies for the sake of freedom unmolested. That was long ago. Now women might accept the light, sensible dress which Mrs. Jenness Miller wears and commends, without fear of unpleasant comment. In it they may take fresh air and exercise, and gain in health. Mrs. Miller's address for her magazine entitled "Dress" is the Gallison & Hobron Co. 697 Broadway, New York.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., June 27th.

The rain of last week was greatly needed, and did great good. The farmers are very busy with their hoeing just now.

Capt. Horace Seaward has moved from his former residence to the house he recently purchased. It is a very pretty location.

It is said that two horses belonging to David K. Manson died last week.

Hotel Park-Field opens next Friday, and the Oceanic, Star Island, next Thursday.

Mrs. Luther Foye, with her daughter and grand-daughter, is here on a visit.

Capt. John Hurst goes to Star island for the season to-day, and Mrs. Hurst goes Wednesday.

The pastor of the Freewill Baptist church is at his old home in North Andover. He has poor health at present.

The Union Bethel meeting was at the Christian chapel last night. Quite a congregation assembled.

The Sabbath schools of this place do not intend to have their picnics on the Fourth of July this season, as usual.

AUNT MOLLY.

I have been taking your medicine Athlophoros and it has helped me very much. I will recommend it to any one for rheumatism. I think another bottle, making three in all, will cure me. Mrs. M. A. Johnson, 12 Vine St., Lawrence, Mass.

Health in Old Age.

Queens, Queens Co., N. Y., March 31, 1886.—I commenced using Brandreth's Pills fifty-five years ago. I first bought them in London, and have continued using them since I came out to this country in 1836. I am now over seventy-five years old, hale and hearty, and attribute my wonderful health to the persistent use of Brandreth's Pills. Occasionally I have a bad cold or severe attack of rheumatism, indigestion or biliousness, but four or five doses of Brandreth's Pills always cure me. Whenever my children have been sick with scarlet fever, measles, mumps, acid stomach, disored digestion or costiveness, a few doses of Brandreth's Pills restore their health an once.

Salamanders.

Two giant salamanders, said to be the first that ever visited this country, have arrived at the Messrs. Reiche's from Japan. They came in a tub with an oblong bottom on the steamship Elbe, and the only information which accompanied them was that they were specimens of the crytobranchus maximus. Young Mr. Reiche drew on his knowledge of natural history and on all the libraries for facts concerning the newly arrived creatures, and if only a small part of what he found concerning them is true they will never be generally introduced as pets in this country.

This is the creature of which Pliny believed, or at least wrote, that it was so venomous that it was able to destroy whole nations unless they looked out, and that it was so cold that it put out fire by contact with the flame. Cuvier wrote that the salamander had the reputation of being able to "not only come safe and sound out of the flames but even extinguish them." Even in this age the prevalent notion as to salamanders is that they inhabit fireplaces, bonfires, and other places where pyrometers would have to be used instead of thermometers.

The two salamanders now in this country are kept in a tank of water and not in a fiery furnace. At a little distance they resemble the indolent three-foot catfish that live in the sluggish waters of the South, and from which the indolent darkies cut strips of bait as they need it and then turn them loose to grow more bait. Their thick, matted, warty, and slimy skins suggests a Smyrna rug of subdued pattern in brown and black. They have four legs, with five toes to the leg, but their legs don't amount to much for pedestrian purposes, and are used as a seal uses its flippers. The head is shaped like the toe of a medium round shoe, and the tail is thick and wedge shaped. The small, dull eyes. can be distinguished among the warts by looking closely. There are two rows of small, sharp teeth in each jaw.

The salamanders eat raw beef and seem to enjoy it. It is said that the giant salamader grows to the size of an alligator or crocodile, and Mr. Reiche will watch with considerable interest the development of these infants.—New York Sun.

Old Spanish Mines.

"I see they have rediscovered those old Spanish mines in Mexico again," said a mining man at the Palace last evening. "Those old abandoned mines of untold wealth are rediscovered about once in every three years—on paper. This seems to be a worse case than usual, however. There is more of it, and the wealth down those old shafts seems to be something fabulous. It may be, but I would suggest that those who will be asked to put their money into a scheme to clean out these old mines—which will come next—go down into Sonora and take a look at these old treasure-vaults for themselves. This is only a hint, you know, but sometimes a hint is as good as a kick.

"Certainly," he continued, in response to a query, "I mean to say that I do not believe a word of it. There may be old Spanish mines down there undiscovered, but not in such numbers, nor are they likely to be discovered in any such romantic manner as described, which has the aroma of yellow-backed literature.

"Indeed, it is my impression that the wealth of Mexico as to minerals is greatly exaggerated. Up to now nothing has been developed to warrant a belief in great and immensely-rich mines. In all Mexico there is no mine like the Granite Mountain or the Drum Lummon in Montana, the Ontario, the Yankee Boy in Colorado, or the Lake Wallace mines in New Mexico. The prospectors who have worked Mexico have almost invariably returned to this country, and for many years to come they will not find a better field than their own land. There is too much of the romantic about these Mexican mines."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Celebrated Russian Comedian.

Russia has just lost one of her most celebrated comedians, Vassili Samoiloff, who was as much admired for his ready wit as for his thorough knowledge of his art. The old actor was very fond of recounting his adventures, one of which bears a strong likeness to stories told of several other comedians. On one occasion the Emperor Nicholas sent for him, and then and there, without the slightest preparation or warning, told Samoiloff to imitate him. The comedian promptly seized a helmet, placed it on his own head, and then turning to the Minister on duty said with an air of authority, "You will grant Samoiloff two months' leave and give him 5,000 roubles out of the Imperial Treasury." The Czar laughed heartily and ordered his Minister to comply with the command. Another time Somoiloff, in a piece which he was playing, imitated to the life a certain Count, who happened to be among the audience, and who was noted for his eccentricities and extravagance. The Count went up to the actor behind the scenes and congratulated him upon his success, but added that the resemblance would be more striking if, instead of the gold shirt-studs which he was wearing, Samoiloff would put on diamond studs. Then, suiting the action to the word, the Count took off his own diamond studs and presented them to the comedian. Samoiloff was a general favorite, and his many sallies were applauded, even by those at whose expense he indulged his wit.—London Telegraph.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1879 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SALVE, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

A Good Appetite

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the presence or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Harvard Beats Columbia.

The boat race between the 'varsity crews of Harvard and Columbia colleges was pulled at New London, Conn., June 27th, and was won by Harvard in 20 min. 20 sec., beating by eleven seconds the best previous record for a four-mile college race, the 20:31 made by Yale in 1884. The Columbia crew pulled a magnificent race to the finish, although from the start they were not able to collar the crimson, and the gallant manner in which they contested up to the last stroke was never excelled in a boat race; although defeated, they beat the best previous record by two seconds.

The Harvard-Yale race takes place on Friday, July 1st, over the same course.

That Flag Business.

"Towle," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveller, vouches for the truth of the following as being the exact circumstances under which the order for the return of the rebel flags was issued:

The cabinet was assembled in the White House on Thursday, June 16th, and every member was present except Messrs. Whitney and Endicott. At the very close of the session the president said that he had given orders for the return of the confederate flags. The cabinet sat still, as if paralyzed. Mr. Bayard, as secretary of state, and occupying the seat next to the president, was the first to speak. He said: "Mr. President, I think you have made a mistake; the people of the south do not desire to have these flags returned to them." Then Mr. Lamar, who was very impatient, said quickly: "Rescind that order at once." This was re-echoed by Messrs. Vilas and Fairchild, and the president's face was flushed, for it was the first time that any member of his cabinet had dared to disagree with him. Then Mr. Garland said that there was no authority under the laws to send back the flags. The president saw at once that Mr. Garland's point was well taken, and after a short examination of the statutes he made up his mide to rescind the order. He conferred with the cabinet as to the language to be used, but it was voted to leave that to him. Mr. Cleveland wrote his take-back-water order, in which he recognized the confederacy the first time any federal official had taken any such position, and the remainder is a matter of record.

The loyal soldiers can understand from this despatch, which contains nothing but absolute fact, easily verified, whether or no President Cleveland can sneak behind the mask of General Drum's alleged responsibility, and lay the whole matter at the door of the adjutant-general of the army.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, Me., June 27th.

On Monday, 20th, Mr. Moses C. Hanson, one of our best citizens, by the breaking of a guy of a derrick at a culvert on the Y. H. & B. R. R. was thrown from where he was making mortar a distance of six feet to the edge of a bank, and then down the pit, a height of fourteen feet. It was thought at first that some of his ribs were snapped, but Dr. Hazen says no bones are broken, though Mr. Hanson is very badly shaken up.

Capt. Al. Kimball is again a happy papa. Female girl this time: June 22d. Dr. Stewart attended.

Elder Maben preached his farewell sermon yesterday. He goes to Augusta this week, and will commence preaching there at once. P.

A CELESTIAL BRILLIANT.

From the "Planets in July," by Miss Maria Mitchell in the Providence Journal, we clip the following in regard to the appearance of Venus next month:

"Venus is evening star. The earth's twin sister grows more brilliant as night after night she draws nearer to us, presenting during the month almost her brightest aspect as with bewitching grace she makes her shining way in her appointed course. During the first half of the month she is on the meridian about three o'clock in the afternoon. If the atmosphere be clear she may be found, at that time, near the meridian or point overhead, either with the naked eye or with an opera glass, looking like an intense white point. If a telescope be used, her appearance will be like that of the moon at the last quarter."

In its editorial columns the Journal says: "As an absolute authority on the movements of the planets the Journal has long been recognized. It is therefore amusing to have some other papers claim to have discovered a new and brilliant star somewhere in the northwest corner of the heavens, and identify it with the 'Star of Bethlehem.' Reportorial astronomy has not yet been reduced to the nature of a science, and this last effort will by no means increase respect for such. The announcements made in the Journal will continue to be founded on data as reliable as the planet Venus is brilliant."

Rev. Alfred Elwyn and wife, of Philadelphia, will arrive on Saturday at their summer residence on Elwyn road, where the other members of the family have been domiciled for some days.

The prospect for the crops in this section has hardly ever been better. Grass on rich lands, which was fair before the late rains, has since very much increased. On the low and poor lands, where it was thin, it has since come up very much. Potatoes were planted very largely, and are mostly in bloom; tubers are already large; the potato beetle has ceased being much troublesome. Most farmers will have green peas ready for the market on the 4th of July. Apples, except in certain localities, on grafted trees will be scarce; the native fruit is abundant.

In the prize speaking at Dartmouth on Monday evening last for the Rollins, Morse and Lockwood prizes, the third prize, $30, was awarded to S. G. Emerson of Kennebunkport, Me., whose subject was "Fanaticism," by Curtis; Fordyce P. Cleaves of Kennebunkport took the fourth prize, $20, subject "Joan of Arc," by De Quincy. Joseph T. Cunningham of this city was one of the contestants, his subject being "Fair play for women," by G. W. Curtis.

The following are among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Eliot—Burlington Paul of Kittery to George E. Ireland of Eliot, real estate in Eliot for $75: George E. Ireland to Solomon Staples, real estate for $75; Elizabeth Green of Eliot to Emma F. Prime of Boston, land and buildings in Eliot for $1. York—Ellen N. Ellis of York to Samuel Ramsdell of Dover, N. H., land and buildings in York for $2000. South Berwick—Amos E. Ball to Eugene W. Ball, land and buildings for $600. Wells—George H. Phillips to Carrie W. Phillips, real estate for $1000.

Dr. Herbert J. Patterson, a graduate of the Baltimore college of physicians and surgeons, is about to begin the practice of his profession at Sanford Corner, Me. He graduated from the Saco high school in 1880, and ranked high in that city both as a student and a gentleman. The doctor is a graduate of the "old school" of physicians.

Jasper Shapleigh of Eliot took into the Dover market on the 27th inst. a quantity of new potatoes of large size, said to have been the first native potatoes in that market this season. Green peas were taken in by him a week previous. A large number of the Eliot farmers do their marketing (both buying and selling) in Dover, on account of the tolls across the Dover & Eliot bridge being lower than over the Portsmouth bridge.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. If you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or any disease of the blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, or kidney and liver complaints, catarrh or rheumatism, do not fail to try

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather, to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather good as their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and linparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

NOTICE---SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT.

A meeting of the subscribers to the fund for Soldiers' and Sailors' monument will be held in the Common Council Chamber, City Building, on Wednesday evening, June 29th, at eight o'clock, to hear the report of the special committee appointed to procure plans for the monument.

M. ELDREDGE, Chairman.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

To Franklin Hall.

Franklin Hall will be opened on Wednesday, the 29th, afternoon and evening, for a sale of fancy articles and refreshments for the benefit of the Children's Home.

This sale, which originated with a few young misses of this city and the navy yard, is the result of many weeks of untiring industry and perseverance, and will enable those already interested in the Children's Home, as well as others, to make purchases of articles useful and ornamental at scarcely any advance in cost—an opportunity seldom offered, and which should not be allowed to pass.

The sale will be enlivened by many humorous features, which will be left as a surprise and will offer the most potent inducements for investment.

Refreshments, consisting of coffee, salads, ices, candies and cakes, will be served at all hours.

Fair opens at four o'clock, and supper will be especially served from six until nine. Admission fifteen cents; ten cents for children.

THE POSTAL DELIVERY ROUTES.

The following are the routes of the letter carriers, as nearly as can be determined in advance:

Route No. 1. Long delivery—Market Square and Congress street to Vaughan; Daniel and cross streets, north; Church hill, Market and cross streets, and Noble's Island, Green street, and Christian Shore to Prospect street; Dennett as far as Stark street.

Short delivery—Above, with the exception of Noble's Island and Christian Shore.

Route No. 2. Long delivery—Up Islington street from Vaughan to Israel Kimball's house, including all cross streets to State; Creek street to George Bilbruck's, Woodbury street to Stark, back through Clinton and cross streets from Islington to North pond, Bridge, Hanover and Vaughan streets, west side.

Short delivery—Above to Cass street and return, covering cross streets.

Route No. 3. Long delivery—Through State and Court streets from P. O. and cross streets southerly; up Middle to C. H. Mendum's; return through Cass and state streets.

Short delivery—Cover the above to Union street, from Lincoln Av. to Islington street.

Route No. 4. Long delivery—Down State from P. O., including cross streets to Daniel, and all east; through Water to Newcastle bridge; Newcastle Ave. to cemetery, South and cross streets: Pleasant and cross streets, except Court westerly.

Short delivery—Cover above to South mill bridge and return.

There will be two long and two short trips daily, thereby giving four deliveries to the business portion of the city.

All mail matter addressed to box holders will be placed in boxes as heretofore. The giving up of boxes will be equivalent to an order to deliver by carriers.

A PHENOMENON.

"It's a queer country where the pigs fly!" On Tuesday evening about 7:30 o'clock a large object, apparently the grandfather of all pigs, floated over the city from west to east at a high elevation, attracting considerable attention rom people who were out of doors at the time. Among those who saw it were several Good Templars, so there is no chance for mental hallucinations, etc. It was probably some kind of an eccentric balloon.

THE WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

HDQRS. DEPT. NEW HAMPSHIRE,
WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS,
MILFORD, N. H., June 13.

Lorenzo T. Burnham, commander Storer Post, No. 1, officers and members:

Allow me through this medium to say, I feel it a duty I owe you to state in brief that my only reason for revoking the charter of Corps No. 6 was lack of harmony and unanimity on the admission of "Loyal women" to membership in the corps; also direct violation of rules and regulations as laid down by National Convention for the government of all subordinate corps. Having taken upon myself a solemn obligation to abide by these our Laws, and to enforce the same throughout my jurisdiction, I have endeavored to act in a conscientious manner. Said act having been sanctioned by national president and department council. I forward this communication through Commander O. C. Wyatt.

Fraternally yours in F. C. & L.,
CELIA F. P. FOSTER, Dept. Pres.

Inasmuch as Mrs. C. F. P. Foster has been severely censured by some of the local press for her action in regard to the late Storer Relief Corps, No. 6, we the undersigned, members of late Corps No. 6, hereby endorse the action of Mrs. Foster in her unpleasant duty in connection with Storer Relief Corps, No. 6:

A YACHTING CHALLENGE.

It is quite posssible that the guests at the Isles of Shoals hotels will have a chance to witness a lively yacht race in the near future, as Captain Frank Brown of the yacht White Swan, twenty-eight feet long, of Squam, has issued a challenge to sail a sweepstake race open to all boats of thirty feet length and under, to take place July 9th from Squam light to Isles of Shoals and return, the race to be sailed inside of twenty-four hours; the entrance fee to be $15, to be deposited at the office of the Cape Ann Breeze; no restriction as to crew or sails; no allowance for difference of length. If less than five start there will be only one prize; if five and less than seven, two prizes,—two-thirds to first, one-third to second; if seven or more yachts start, sixty per cent to first, twenty-five per cent to second, fifteen per cent to third. The sailing rules of the Cape Ann yacht club to govern the race.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN.

A Concord despatch to the Boston Post says "it is stated on what seems to be good authority that in case the Boston & Maine management fail to secure legislation which will allow them to lease New Hampshire roads that they will build a line from Alton Bay along the shores of Lake Winnipesaukee to Lake Village, where they will tap the Boston, Concord & Montreal. A charter for this road, which is known as the Lake Shore line, was granted by the legislature of 1881, and it had been some time previous surveyed and found feasible. The distance between Alton Bay and Lake Village is about eighteen miles, and the route, which is the entire distance beside the beautiful lake Winnipesaukee, is one of the most romantic and picturesque in the state. The charter for this road will expire next year, unless the present legislature sees fit to extend it. By building this road the Boston & Maine would tap the Boston, Concord & Montreal, and undoubtedly divert a great deal of summer travel to the former line."

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Chilion, some weeks ago stranded at Rye, and subsequently floated off and repaired, was on Tuesday afternoon, the 28th inst., lying at Union wharf, ready for sea, and bound to Saco to load bricks for Boston.

The fishing schooner Rambler on the 28th inst. brought in 700 mackerel, taken off this harbor, and on the same date Elvin Newton brought in three barrels, taken at the Shoals.

The steamer Appledore, Callahan, from this port, arrived at New York on Monday, the 27th inst.

The French man-of-war which anchored in the lower harbor on Monday was the ram Bouvet. Her commander pulled up to the navy yard Tuesday forenoon, the ship remaining at anchor through the day.

Mr. John H. Slater is reported as being very seriously ill.

The Mystic cricket club of Malden, Mass., will play the Portsmouth club on the grounds of the latter near Frenchman's lane, July 4th.

The Young People's association of the North church will have their annual picnic on Wednesday, July 6th, at Stratham hill, starting from the chapel at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, in barges, and returning via Rye beach by moonlight.

We acknowledge the receipt of a bouquet of very beautiful roses from Mr. Fred T. Slater.

Inspector Caswell's team was standing on Market street near the corner of Ladd street, Tuesday forenoon, when the buggy was struck by a team coming out of Ladd street. The collision started Mr. Caswell's horse, which sprang forward on the sidewalk, knocking the top of the buggy off against an awning frame, and then ran across the street, where he slipped and fell. No great damage was done, beyond that specified.

Emil C. Pfeiffer of this city, Harvard '87, pulls oar No. 6 in the university eight which on Monday defeated the Columbia college crew at New London, Conn., and lowered the record eleven second; he pulls at 168 lbs., and is the heaviest man of the crew. The race with the Yale eight comes off next Friday.

Francais St. Lawrence of Newmarket, a French Canadian aged twenty-five years, was drowned in Great bay on the 26th inst. by stepping from the flats into the channel while bathing, he being unable to swim. He leaves a wife and child.

George Langsford and Daniel Caswell came in from Smuttynose island, Shoals, on Tuesday, with 350 lobsters, and Mr. Caswell expected to bring in 450 the next day, to George W. Randall & Son.

Strawberry Bank Lodge, I. O. G. T., went to Dover in barges on the evening of June 27th, to visit the Good Templar lodge there.

Blunt edges will often do what sharp ones cannot. Foye's lead pencil cut the prices on ribbons. See advertisement.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous, that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say, that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

—New servant: "I was two years in my last place, mum." Mistress: "Oh, that speaks well for you. Where was it?" New servant: "In the reformatory, mum."

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

—By an inveterate jury dodger: "Better that one guilty man should escape than that twelve innocent men should suffer."

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

—Young man (to messenger boy)—"What did the young lady say when you gave her the flowers?" Messenger boy—"She asked the young fellow who was setting on the porch with her if he didn't want some for a buttonhole bouquet."

The many remarkable cures Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes are sufficient proof that it does possess peculiar curative powers.

—It is said that Dennis Kearney now keeps an intelligence office, but where did he get his stock in trade?

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

High Cost of a College Education.

A German complains that a poor man's son can't go to college here because it costs so much. He wrote to the members of the graduating class of Yale, and, from the 109 answers received, found that the average cost for the four years' course was $960. He says that he knows the son of a German pastor here who passed a brilliant examination at Princeton, and yet can't go on with his course because it costs so much.—New York Sun.

Bank President—Sorry, but I can't accomodate you; your paper is not good. Indignant customer—I remember when you were a poor man, twenty years ago. I lent you a thousand dollars without security. Bank President (pleasantly)—I remember the circumstance, and I also remember how I wondered at your greenness. You probably have more sense now, and so have I. Good morning.—Philadelphia Call.

"I never came so near being paralyzed in my life as to-day," said Mr. Cephas Aurelius Winker, as he wiped the perspiration from his massive brow. "I nearly fainted on the spot." "The heat was too much for you?" "No. I dined with a friend and he asked if I would like a slice off of old Hercules." "Old Hercules!" "Yes; that's what they called the butter, because it was so strong."—Minneapolis Tribune.

Brevity produces some very remarkable specimens of what the philosophers call nominalism. One of our correspondents had occasion to go into a store to inquire for Dr. Abercrombie's works, "The Intellectual Faculties" and "The Philosophy of the Moral Feelings." When he asked for them the bookseller solemnly replied: "I know I haven't any moral feeling, and I doubt whether I have any intellectual faculties!"—Christian Advocate.

A clerical gentleman recently met a couple of legal friends looking on at the erection of the new court-house. The clergyman inquired, "Have you come, in accordance with the old invitation, to 'view the ground where you shall shortly lie?'" Immediately one of the lawyers replied, "Not 'shortly,' but continuously and at great length." The minister bowed and passed on.—Bridgeport Standard.

Clerical gent (to fellow passenger)—Have you ever thought that in the midst of life we are in death? Fellow-passenger—Often. "Have you reflected that at any moment we may be hurled into eternity, and that we ought to be prepared for that event?" "I've said so a million times." "Is it possible that I am speaking to a brother clergyman? I judged from your dress——" "I'm an insurance agent. Just let me show you a few figures——"—Philadelphia Record.

I cannot express my thanks for the benefits I have received from one bottle of your Athlophoros. I have tried many different remedies, but did not get any relief to speak of, but can say truly that your Athlophoros has helped me. Mrs. Chas. H. Gifford, Lincoln Centre, Me.

Elizabeth Gallagher, a domestic, twenty-three years of age, was instantly killed by a fall in the street at Providence, R. I. She was hastening to catch a harbor steamer and tripped, fracturing her skull on an iron window grating.

People lamed and crippled for twenty years have been cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

Edward Fisher and John Schaffer were drowned in the Delaware river, near Philadelphia, by the upsetting of their sailboat during a squall.

$20,000 spent by one man; then cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Price fifty cents.

Ex-Governor Gilpin, of Colorado, says his wife is living at a $5,000,000 rate. He wants a divorce.

A Household Necessity.

George L. Griffin, of Richmond Hill, Long Island, N. Y., recommends Allcock's Porous Plasters in the following frank language:

"We have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters for many years, and in fact they have become a household necessity in our family. In every case where they have been applied, they have proven themselves satisfactory and given immediate relief. We recommend them very highly, and trust our experience will be the means of inducing others to give them a trial."

Burying His Five Sons.

A Lycoming county farmer, blessed by the possession of broad acres and fat cattle, and fatter cash account, had given his five sons—more precious than all beside—that the union might be preserved. His name was Rankin. His wife was dead and his boys were his only solace, but when the war against his country was declared he felt as did Volumnia the mother of Coriolanus, when she said: "Had I a dozen sons, each in my love alike, I had rather have eleven die nobly for their country than one voluptuously surfeit out of action." So the Rankin boys went to confront grim visaged war. The life blood of two of them made more fertile the rank growth of the peninsula, and their bodies lay unclaimed amid the thousands who had gone down in the shock of battle. The bowed but not broken father came to the governor's office in Harrisburg with his tale of woe. Andrew Curtin never turned deaf ear to such as he. He said: You are too old a man to go after your sons' bodies. I will send a messenger for them, and you can rest assured that you will be enabled to give them burial."

And this was done.

After the second battle of Manassas the aged father again enter the executive chamber, and without saying a word, seated himself. The governor recognized him at once and he thought: "Can it be that this old man has been afflicted again? He bade him approach. The visitor's voice was broken, but his tears did not fall as he said: "Governor, another of them has gone." For a moment Mr. Curtin could not speak. He silently wrung the horny hand of the despoiled father. When he found voice he said:

"You must not go. I will send for him. You shall see him again."

And this was done.

When news of the battle of Gettysburg reached Harrisburg, Gov. Curtin traveled rapidly across the country and viewed that memorable conflict. After its conclusion he returned to Harrisburg and was seated late at night in his room when again Rankin entered without a word and silently seated himself upon a chair. "My God," thought Mr. Curtin "it can not be that the blow has fallen upon this old man again." He could not bring himself to ask the question, and for fully fifteen minutes the two men sat in the room, their heads upon their hands, and neither uttered a word. At last the old man said as he steadied his voice: "Governor, the other two are gone."

"The other two? This is terrible."

He wished a pass to enter the lines that he might take home his silent sons.

"You are too old," said the anguished governor. "I will send for them and they shall be taken home.

And this was done.

After Gov. Curtin had returned to this country at the close of his five years' residence at the court of Russia, he was in Philadelphia when it was intimated to him that Mr. Rankin, who was still alive, would be highly delighted if his benefactor would pay him a visit when the ex-minister was on his way to his home in Center county. Mr. Curtin said that he would comply with the wish, and when he reached the railroad station nearest to the Lycoming county farmer's home he found the old man waiting for him with a carriage. That evening the people of the surrounding country, at Mr. Rankin's bidding, flocked to do honor to the ex-governor. The next morning after partaking of a breakfast such as only a Pennsylvania farmhouse can produce, the aged agriculturist invited Mr. Curtin to join him in a walk. He led the way to a wooded knoll near the house, and atop which was a beautiful sodded inclosure, surrounded by an iron railing. Within it were five headstones. The old man pointed toward them and simply said: "Governor, there they lie." Both men bowed their heads, and neither uttered a word. In a few moments Rankin young cheeks flushed, as she cast down her eyes and extended her pretty hand to Jack.

And so it came to pass that the two who thought they had brought love with them, found it there, waiting for them, under the broad branches of the old chestnut-tree.

May makes a model farmer's wife—at least so Lionel asserts; and Inez, in her city home, is so sweet a hostess and so fair a fireside figure that Jack lazily advises his bachelor friends to go courting to the most quiet part of the country, and they vow they will do so.

Lady Butler's picture entitled "A Death in the Desert," was painted from sketches taken on the spot. The lady, during her stay at Wady Halfa, was present at the burial of a young English officer two hours after his death in the wilderness. The incident furnished a pathetic theme. The dark figures of the Arabs, the numerous camels, the fair-faced Englishmen paying the last homage to their comrade, lent varied picturesqueness to the subject. The picture was painted in Dinant, in Brittany, where General and Lady Butler intend to spend the summer.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with my dyspepsia, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

A Good Appetite

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Scheme Will Not Work.

The importation of liquor into Maine in "original packages" under the United States revenue laws has run against a big snag, Gov. Bodwell having directed every county attorney to have such packages seized under the laws of Maine. In accordance with these instructions fifty-six cases of rum and thirteen of whiskey were seized at a shop in Augusta on June 28th.

Big Lock-Out.

Three large cotton mills at Manville, R. I., have shut down indefinitely on account of a weavers' strike, and the mill officials have notified all former employes to quit the company's tenements. When business is resumed new help will be engaged irrespective of former service. No proposition of settlement will be entertained. The operatives, who number 2,000, are mostly French Canadians and are fast leaving the village. The strike was confined to the weavers, who complained of poor work and reduced pay. There is no organization among the strikers, the Knights of Labor not being involved.

MATTERS IN YORK.

AGAMENTICUS, YORK, June 28th.

School in Dist. 9 has closed, and has a vacation till Sept. 1st.

Mrs. Ida Johnson has moved to North Berwick, and Will Plaisted has moved into her house.

The job taken by Alvah Trafton on the road at Weare's hill is about done, and will be a great improvement on the hill. But it is like the man who put up his bars and left the fence down; the rest of the road is almost impassable.

The Methodist society had a picnic last week at Plaisted's grove, and enjoyed themselves much, having a table fifty feet long filled with all a hungry person could ask. Music was furnished by Master Ossian R. K. Plaisted.

Miss Laura A. Plaisted, who went to Lowell, Mass., last spring, to care for her sister, Mrs. Thomas F. Earle, who was sick, died last week after four days illness with diphtheria. We feel sad to part with Laura, but our loss is her gain. She joined the Christian Baptist church eleven years ago, and in her last moments could say "Weep not for me, friends; I am going home to dwell with Christ."

Howard W. Plaisted has gone to Portsmouth to work for Mr. George Perkins, on ice.

John Moulton has his new house nearly completed. Will Downs is putting on the finishing touches. F.

SUE ROSA.

The Earth and the Moon.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat writes: In a recent issue of your paper I noticed a special telegram from Vienna, headed, "Planetary Predictions," which speaks of Herr Falb having just published a work on planetary revolutions, the same putting forth the theory that our moon will ultimately drop into this earth and this earth into our sun, and so on, of course, through the entire solar systems.

The idea presented by Herr Falb is not a new one, as Argo, the French astronomer, advocated and put forth the theory of the spiral motions of the heavenly bodies. It is an acknowledged fact that if the force of gravity extends across the inconceivable spaces that separate the several stellar systems of the universe, those systems must rush together, unless they are held apart by revolutions around each other. Hence the question arises: What is the cause of this earth's revolution in a circuitous route round the sun? It is a well-known fact that the sun, which is the center of our solar system, exercises its influence over this earth, and would, were there no other power in existence to counteract and overcome its attractions, draw the earth to it; but from the fact of this earth revolving on its own axis it becomes possessed of a power to propel itself forward through space, and would, if no other power attracted it, go in a straight line. Here, then, we have two powers existing—the centripetal and the centrifugal forces—resulting in the earth's travel round the sun, which, therefore, is an effect produced by two different and distinct causes. This is acknowledged by all astronomers. Newton, the English astronomer, held to the theory that the revolutionary motions of the heavenly bodies would go on forever; but Argo put forth the theory that all the heavenly bodies would ultimately fall into one another, leaving but one great mass of matter in space. This brought out the question: Is light an emanation or a vibration through space? If an emanation, Newton is right; if a vibration, Argo is right. In the latter case it was argued that there was a subtle fluid pervading through all space, and that for the heavenly bodies to pass through this fluid must necessarily have their progress retarded, however slightly, which would gradually lessen their distance from each other and ultimately bring them together, the smallest falling first, and so on, taking in the whole of the various systems. This has been shown, however, to be a fallacy. Light travels in straight rays through space, and does not vibrate until it reaches our atmosphere. To demonstrate this we have only to notice the difference between light and darkness—day and night—and the cause thereof, with the intermediate twilight, which is very apparent to the thinking and observant student. When the sun goes down, as it is called, we have twilight, which is the result of the sun's rays vibrating through the atmosphere, and as the sun goes further down, so the twilight lessens until we have darkness, from the fact that the angle of our vision strikes above the angle of the sun's rays, or rather that part of the atmosphere through which the sun's rays are vibrating, and so we lose all light from the sun.

Now, it is evident that if space is filled by a subtle fluid, the sun's rays would vibrate through that fluid, as it does through our atmosphere, and we should never have entire darkness, but something of a twilight always existing. Therefore it is conceded that, as we have no twilight after the sun sinks beyond a certain angle, space must be void, and tends to uphold Newton's theory and that of the bible—that space is void.

It has been told by M. de St. Pierre that when the man-of-war Valiant returned from Havana in the year 1766, the rats increased to such an extent that they destroyed a hundred weight of biscuit daily. The ship was finally smoked between decks and six hampers were, for some time, filled every day with the rats that had been thus killed.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

A meeting of the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument committee was held in the city rooms on Wednesday evening, June 29th. Mayor Eldredge presided, and Major Urch was chosen secretary.

A large number of plans of monuments were presented by the committee appointed to procure the same, and the following report was submitted:

To the honorable mayor and subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument.

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of reporting plans for a monument respectfully submit the following: The committee at once proceeded with their duties, inviting some of the best known builders of monuments to submit plans, to which they responded with commendable zeal; their results are on the walls before you; all of them are made to come within the limit of your appropriation. These plans are of granite with one exception, which is of white bronze; thus was presented to the committee, to make choice of material, as well as a plan; the granite we knew about, the bronze required investigation; scientific reports, material and methods employed, and work already accomplished induced four of our committee to visit Salem, Mass., to inspect a bronze monument, erected there by the Sons of Veterans; we found it a very handsome structure, fine in outline, its lettering and the artistic details finely brought out. On examining plans presented we find the bronze monument much larger for the same money than the granite, and we believe admits of more and finer work. Upon an informal ballot your committee were divided, but after consideration voted to unanimously recommend the white bronze, with such changes as may seem best, and herewith submit the various plans for your consideratton.

J. H. HUTCHINSON,
J. W. PARSONS,
A. P. PRESTON,
E. S. FAY.

The report was accepted and adopted by unanimous vote; and the same committee, with the mayor added, were authorized to purchase and erect the monument.

The mayor reported the amount of money collected to be $5336, and that there are uncollected subscriptions sufficient to bring the total up to $5515.

Voted that the treasurer deposit the funds in some savings bank, and that he pay all bills to the order of the purchasing committee.

Adjourned to the call of the chairman.

BURGLARIES.

Nathaniel Hanscom's house on Dennett street was entered through a rear window on the night of June 27th, and a watch, $10, and other articles stolen.

Christ church was broken into on the night of the 28th, a padlock being forced. The church was ransacked and drawers and boxes pried open, but the thieves got only a few coppers.

HIGH SCHOOL CANDIDATES.

Candidates for admission to the high school are notified to appear at the high school building this (Thursday) morning at eight o'clock for examination.

DISGRACEFUL.

PORTSMOUTH, June 29th.

MR. EDITOR; Have we no remedy for such cases as the following; Between the hours of 11:45 Saturday night and 12:30 A. M. Sunday, five young men congregated under the electric light, corner of Middle and Austin streets, and as a pastime indulged in the most blasphemous language, regardless of what ears might he offended. After 12:30 they adjourned to a neighboring sidewalk on Middle street, and there (if possible) their language was even worse than their conduct vile. Their names are known. SUFFERER.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, of this port, was run into off Boston light about two o'clock in the morning on the 28th inst., by steamer City of Macon, and had her jibboom broken.

The French war ship Bouvet, which came into the lower harbor on Monday evening of this week, sailed eastward at 5:30 o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

The schooner yacht Fortuna, of Boston, arrived at Queenstown, Ireland, June 28th, from Marblehead. She will proceed to Greenock, and afterward to the west coast of England.

BASE BALL.

A game is to be played at the Plains on the afternoon of July 4th between the South Newmarket club and the Portsmouths. The game will probably be a good one, as the Newmarket team is said to be an excellent one, and the Portsmouth nine is composed of the best material in the old Red Stockings and Riversides.

THE HORSE FAIR.

The sale of broncbos in this city last week nor only attracted a crowd, but one that remained almost intact from nine in the morning to seven in the evening. Of the character of this assemblage it is only necessary to say that a curious gentleman took pains to number the vehicles there at one time, and counted one hundred and thirty-four on the avenue and South street.

The exhibition of work by the cowboys in attendance proved that some of them knew their business, whether from Lynn, Lawrence, Texas or Mexico; but the most exhilarating sport was in watching the antics of the beasts as their new owners endeavored to navigate them toward their new homes. For example:

Four or five men and boys, by a new cable, attempted to tow one of the animals (a colt of two or three years) down Sagamore road. The horse did not wish to go that way, and stood erect on his hind feet despite the "tug of war" on the harness. A lady's voice from a following carriage cried: "Oh! don't take him down that road." The tension ceased, the horse resumed his natural attitude, and then sagged back a little to avoid going in any other direction. One of the young emulators of the Texas-herders decided to fix him, dropped the rope, rushed to make an attack with his boot in the rear of the recalcitrant. The young man made a hasty exodus as the broncho poised himself on his hind legs, made a strike for the boy with his fore feet, and then calmly submitted to be led over Lincoln hill.

A more cautious purchaser fitted two guy ropes to his prize, and with a man to each essayed the passage of the South road. At the foot of Lincoln hill Sir Mustang braced his feet, and the few ounces of persuasion seemed far worse than a cure. Wheeling him around his conductors had the horse pointed backward up the hill, and in that position he travelled well, and soon disappeared above the height.

Before the auction was really ended a bright broncho rushed down Broad street with the long rope attached to the head stall trailing on the ground. Fast in his rear rode a horseback rider on a heavy horse. The mustang turned from Bread street to Sagamore road. Alas! there was coming that way a man with a jug. Now genuine Texas horses know nothing about a jug, or of men who use anything contained in a jug,—so this one was frightened, stopped, and turned to retrace his steps. The incipient cowboy dismounted from his big horse to catch the lariat on the broncho, who shot up over Lincoln hill as though the old gentlemen had kicked him on end. At this mishap the "rounder-up" began to explain to the man with the jug about how pleasant he had found the custody of the foreigner, but on looking around he saw his own horse tearing away over the hill in pursuit of the fugitive. Our columns do not admit of the language which followed.

These horses are hardy, of great strength for their size, economical in keeping, and if properly used and judiciously treated may prove quite an addition to our stock of domestic dependents.

The Oceanic at Star island opens for the season to-day, June 30th. Intending pleasure seekers should not forget that every Monday and Thursday excursion rates are made on the splendid connecting steamer, the fare for the round trip on those days being but fifty cents. As an excellent dinner can be had at the Oceanic for $1, and the steamer makes four trips each way daily, a long day can be enjoyed at the island at a trifling cost.

The first blueberries of the season—and very nice ones they were, too—were received on Wednesday, June 29th, by Atwell & Co. on Market street, next to Ayers & Locke. These berries will probably not be very plentiful this year, at least not the Agameuticus ones, many hundred acres of the best berry fields having been burned over by the great bush fire early in June; but Atwell & Co. will have on sale the best in the market, as is their custom with all fruits and berries in their season.

Mr. William A. Haven, formerly of this city but of late years connected with railroading in the west, and who was so seriously burned in the terrible hotel conflagration at Buffalo, N. Y., some months ago, that he has been in a hospital in that city ever since, has so far recovered that on Friday last he was able to be moved from the hospital, and accompanied by his wife and a nurse was taken to Medford, Mass., where he will reside for a time with his sister, in hope of further improvement in health.

We have received from Col. John B. Clark of Manchester a "Manual for the use of the General Court of New Hampshire," which is also a useful article for many who are not in the general court to have around, as it certains full lists of the executive and legislative departments of the government for 1887, the committee and rules of the senate and house, the constitutions of New Hampshire and the United States, and the vote for governor and congressmen in 1886 as officially declared. The little book is very handsomely printed, and neatly bound.

The pupils of the Jones school had a picnic at Stratham hill on Wednesday afternoon.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

A two-story frame building in Charlestown, Mass., fell with a crash June 27th, injuring three men, two of them very badly. The building was a new one, built for a storehouse and stable, but was of very faulty construction.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Best and Purest Medicine EVER MADE.

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why are some people always troubled with Humors? Because the blood is not clean and smooth. Those who are subject to Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Headaches? Why be so nervous? Why be so easily startled? Why have Rheumatism? Why have Dyspepsia? Why are you so costive? Why are you so bilious? Because you have allowed your blood to become impure, and your system to become clogged with poisonous matter. Take SULPHUR BITTERS and you will be astonished at the good results. Sheriff Coffin does not seem to have had his head turned by political preferment, or at least did not while he was sheriff-elect, for he was seen on Monday of this week perched high aloft on a swinging stage, painting the sign of the "Oceanic" on the end of the brick block at the approach to steamboat wharf.

Some five years ago, when Hon. John S. Treat took posession of his present beautiful suburban residence, we remarked that "many is the fine crop of potatoes John never raised, and never will." We stick to this statement yet, for we are not aware that the Honorable John has ever eaten a potato of his own raising; but he evidently does know something about farming, for we doubt if the field of grass he commenced to cut on Wednesday of this week can be equalled in Rockingham county.

Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which possesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fail" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

The Boston Journal of Health is the name of a new candidate for public favor published monthly in the city of its name. It is neatly printed, and contains twelve pages, including reading matter and advertisements. It is exceedingly well arranged, and its original articles are marked by strength, perspicuity, and fairness. It is not too technical, but all departments are within the comprehension of the ordinary reader.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

Thomas Ryan, seventy years old, died at Alton June 20th from the kick of a cow he was milking.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Facts About Rats.

The rat, though naturally a savage creature, is capable of being tamed and made obedient to the will of man. Some of the Japanese tame rats, and teach them to perform many tricks; then they exhibit them.

When the atmospheric pumps were in use at the terminus of the Corydon railway hundreds of rats lost their lives there in this way: At night they used to get into the large exhausting tubes to lick the grease off the leather valve. As soon as the pump was put in order to work for the early train, out these rats were sucked.

A gentleman's house was once infested with rats, and he got completely rid of them by catching one of them alive, and covering it with coal tar and allowing it to return to its hole. At another time a trap was set at night in a house where rats were numerous, and in the morning the trap was found sprung, with a long tail inside. Its owner had vanished, and, perhaps, after relating his narrow escape, and how he had lost his beautiful tail, took all his rat friends and left the house forever.

Rats have a fine scent for finding out where there is anything nice to eat, and it has often been a subject of wonder how they managed to get on board ships laden with sugar and other attractive cargoes, but the mystery has been solved, for they have been seen to come off shore to the ship by means of the rope which moored her to the wharf. By the same means they will leave the ship when she gets into port, particularly if they find their quarters filling with water.

Rats have two motions of the jaw in biting. The first is soft and delicate, and the teeth just scratch the object they have hold of. Then follows a quick, powerful action of the jaw, and the slender teeth sink up to the gums and stay there. The bite is dangerous. If the teeth have gone deeply into one's hand, it is well to suck the wound. This seems to keep the swelling down, but always a good deal of pain follows. There is no harm in the bite of a well-fed rat. A frightened rat will fight if cornered, and viciously, too. The way to grab rats so that they cannot bite is to seize them with a strong grip just back of the neck. They will howl like stuck pigs, but cannot get away, and are entirely under control.

The rat is finely equipped for the peculiar life he is ordained to lead. He has strong weapons in the shape of four long and very sharp teeth. These teeth have a fine edge, the upper working into the lower, so that they meet in the act of gnawing; while the soft part is being worn away, the hard part keeps its chisel-like edge all the time, and at the same time the teeth are constantly growing up from the bottom, so that as they wear away a fresh supply is ready. Should one of these teeth be removed, the opposite tooth will continue to grow, and there being nothing to wear it away, it will project from the mouth and be turned upon itself, and if it be an under tooth it will grow so long as to penetrate the skull.

There are curious facts connected with the habits of rats which warrant a close observation of them on the part of those who may have the opportunity. A lady at one time missed several eggs from her store, and naturally concluded that they had been stolen by the servant. She questioned the girl, who denied any knowledge of the eggs, which continued to disappear in the same mysterious manner, when one day the thief was unexpectedly discovered. The lady observed one morning, on entering her storeroom, a singular sight. A little rat was upon his back upon the floor and hugging an egg, while a larger rat was hauling him round by the tail. In this way, undoubtedly, all the missing eggs had been carried away.

Butter Substitutes.

In the Century Professor Atwater, of Wesleyan University, interviews with Dairymen, Legislators and others on the subject of butter substitutes. In other States, laws have been enacted to regulate their sale and to prevent fraud. An attempt was made in Congress to check the manufacture and sale by taxation of other food products, and to insure the sale of butter substitutes and, by obliging sellers to pay high license fees, may considerably interfere with their General use. It will not be easy to force the public to pay for what is really passed, however, the tax was very much reduced. In the law as it stands, from the quarter of a cent to three cents a pound, the dairy interests are protected. In a number of States the manufacture and sale of butter substitutes has been prohibited by legislative action

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. A Foreign Corporation.

We notice that some of the newspapers in referring to pending questions of legislation, designate the Boston & Maine railroad as a "foreign corporation." As well might we regard the savings banks in the eastern and western sections of our state, which receive deposits from their neighbors in Maine and Vermont, and loan their funds to customers in Dakota and Kansas, as foreign corporations. The immense increase of railway traffic has long since caused the imaginary state lines to become ignored. The genius who commended the wisdom of Providence "in causing the big rivers to run by large towns," was perhaps to some degree appreciated in his day and generation; but river as well as ocean transportation, in very many instances, has given way to rail carriage. The world moves, and business men—and law-makers too—must keep step in the strides of progress.

Let us look at this suggestion of the Boston & Maine being a "foreign" or alien corporation, instead of a local interest. There are 13,503 shares of its stock, representing $1,350,300, owned by persons in Exeter, Strathaur, Greenland, Dover, Durham, Portsmouth and other places in this section of the state. Its local directors are gentlemen whose business pursuits have given not only much traffic to the road, but have employed a large number of mechanics and workmen in places on the line of the road. The general manager, born in New Hampshire, and owning real estate within its borders, has never for a single moment lost sight of the interests of Rockingham and Strafford counties. He is a far-seeing, practical man, and he knows by intuition that the interests of the people on the line of his roads are identical with the prosperity of the corporation he serves.

So too it will be at Manchester. For years Manchester's freight has been controlled by the Concord road. The policy of that road has been proverbially narrow. These has been a lack of perception of the wants of the public. The Concord road has always refused to risk an experiment in railroad traffic. Unless demonstrated in advance that it would pay, it has invariably declined to open new avenues of business, or afford additional accommodations for its patrons; and yet there is a reference to "State pride" as to this corporation, rich and respectable we grant, but of that concentrated conservatism which prevents it from hazarding to increase its income, because it cannot legally pay its shareholders over ten per cent in dividends.

And this we are invited to consider with "local pride," and the legislature is asked to protect with sheltering arms, because of all its shares 23,078, representing a par value of $1,153,900, are owned in the state. But how is it owned? It is carried, and in a measure controlled by savings banks whose managers are made officers of the railroad, while its stock is held at such high market value that no ordinary man can afford either to purchase or retain it. It was a very simple process for the members of what was known in legislative reports years ago as the "Concord Railroad ring" to purchase large blocks of this stock, and borrow the money from savings banks with the stock as security. The dividends on the railway shares at ten per cent supplied the funds for interest on the stockholders' notes, while the officials of the savings banks were designated as officers of the railway, not because of any especial practical knowledge of their duties as directors, any more than of the wants, capacities or possibilities of the property they "managed," but to keep in place and do the bidding of other members of the board who should direct the directors! If there is any especial cause for inciting our state pride at this wheel within a wheel policy, we confess we are too far removed from the banks of the Merrimac to perceive it.

The Anglo Turkish convention has almost been given over at London.

Abuse Not Argument.

Some of the editors of journals in our state appear to regard it expedient, in discussing in their columns the railroad question now before the legislature, to lose sight of the proper sphere of journalism, and descend to a practice of misstating the purpose as well as the effect of proposed legislation, and indulging in personal flings. A newspaper whose conductors lose sight of the proprieties of their position in such discussions is always without influence, as much with the public as with the members of the legislature.

HORSE MORTALITY.

A valuable pacing horse belonging to a young farmer of Rye, named Trefethen, died at a stable on Warren street last Thursday afternoon. The horse started from Rye in the morning in apparent good condition, drawing a wagon containing three persons, and in about twenty minutes arrived at the pump on Miller avenue, where he was allowed to drink his fill of the cool water. Soon afterward Mr. Trefethen noticed that the animal appeared to be in great pain, and drove to the stable; a veterinary surgeon pronounced the case one of colic, and the horse died in the afternoon in spite of all efforts to relieve him.

It is reported that Beacham & Son lost two horses on Thursday through overdriving in the intense heat.

GUESS HE WAS RIGHT.

The old adage, "When the days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen," was improved upon by a perspiring newspaper poet some years ago, in "When the days begin to shorten the heat begins to hotten!" He is better entitled to fame as a weather prophet than as a poet. Monday of this week the day lost one minute in duration, and Wednesday was the hottest day of the season up to that time, Thursday being hotter still, 100 degrees above zero in the shade being the report from Christian Shore on the latter day. It has been popularly supposed that such a fervent heat as that was only to be found in a very different locality.

A Great Detective Story.

BOSTON, June 30th.—"Stolen Millions; or The Great Bank Robbery," is a novel that makes a new departure in story writing. This great detective story has been written by Inspector Byrnes, the famous chief of the New York detective service, and Julian Hawthorne, one of the best-known and most popular novelists of the day. The great story will be printed exclusively in New England in the Boston Daily Globe, and will begin next Tuesday, July 5th. A call at the office of the Globe to-day revealed the fact that advance orders for issues containing this great story are coming in hourly.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros. B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, June 30th, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Anderson & Junkins were granted leave to encumber Cabot street and Lincoln avenue, and John W. Broughton to encumber Wibird street, for building purposes.

Wm. H. Kenniston's request for relay of sidewalk at No. 138 State street, was referred to the committee on streets.

Wm. Downs was appointed special police at the Jones brewery.

Request for a light at the corner of Pickering and Mechanic streets was referred to the committee on street lights, to report. Same disposition was made of a request for a street light at the junction of Cass and State streets.

Request for fire alarm box at Kearsarge house was referred to the committee on fire department, to report.

Request for improvement of Merrimac street was referred to the committee on streets, to report.

In accordance with request of residents on Christian Shore, the mayor was authorized to provide special police protection there on the 4th of July.

Request for stationing of two policemen at Harmony Grove cemetery was referred to the committee on police, with power.

John S. Treat and others asked that the name of Creek road be changed to Woodbury avenue, and that North street be called Maplewood avenue. Referred to committee on streets, to report.

Sewer was granted to Mr. Alton on Creek street.

B. F. Webster was granted a sewer from Highland street to Miller avenue.

Bills amounting to $9899.71 were ordered paid.

An electric light was ordered to be placed at the junction of Newcastle avenue and Water street, in place of seven oil lamps.

Committee on city lands and buildings reported in favor of using the chief engineer's room as a sleeping place for the drivers of the fire engines. Adopted.

Two oil lamps were ordered to be placed between South street and Lafayette road.

The New Hampshire national bank's proposal to make loans to the city for current expenses at four per cent, and allow 2 3-4 per cent interest on deposits, was accepted.

Adjourned to the call of the mayor.

WHO SHALL BE MAYOR?

At present advices Mayor Eldredge does not wish to be re-elected, although some of his friends think he should be in office when the Monument Park is dedicated. Col. Sinclair has neither the time or inclination for the place. The democratic leaders will not have Dr. Potter, though the republicans would adopt him. Major Urch is not exactly acceptable to the powers that be. Howe Call has not been a returned son long enough to have the best robe put upon him. And consequently Alderman-Representative Hodgdon may be regarded as the coming man.

A NEW RECRUIT.

In the United States Circuit court on Wednesday, June 29th, in cases of Marcus P. Norton and others against Portsmouth, and of Ruel Philbrick, trustee, and others, against the cities of Manchester, Concord, Nashua and Dover, Bryam P. Richardson, one of the plaintiffs, moved that he be allowed to be represented by his attorneys, H. G. Wood and William Washbourn. Judge Colt allowed the motion on the conditions named in the application, that Richardson bear his proportion (he claiming to own seven-sixteenths of the recovery sought to be obtained in these actions) of the expenses incurred in the prosecution of the suit. The hearing on the question of release in the case against Portsmouth has been postponed on account of the engagement of the defendant's counsel, from the 29th inst. to early in September.

In the three years' course, Anna Marion Carpenter, Alice May Lord, Benjamin Cheever, Frank Clark Cosby, Jr., Charles Henry Stackpole, Bertram Moses Tilton.

The following is the Class Ode.

FANNIE M. BUTLER.

Hidden far below earth's surface,
Lying deep in ocean's bed,
There are jewels of more splendor
Than e'er decked a royal head.

Thus the mind has pearls of wisdom,
Gems more precious far than gold;
Fearless heart and strong endeavor
Will God's gifts to each unfold.

As the sculptor toils unceasing,
To his work each power doth give,
Till at last in wondrous beauty
Lifeless marble seems to live—

So each noble life is fashioned,
Step by step success attained;
Love of Right, persistent labor,
Thus Life's highest aims are gained.

In the world's great school of action
Each must daily take his part;
If the task be hard and heavy,
Do it, then, with might and heart.

And wherever duty lieth,
Dark or bright as is the way,
May no shadow change Life's purpose,
No false light our true course sway.

School days blest with happy memories,
Friends made dear by loving ties,
Fondest hopes and aspirations
In our joyful hearts arise.

May to each earth's choicest blessings
Follow till Life's sun goes down,
And the prize our work achieveth,
Be at last a heavenly crown.

The theatre was well filled with interested spectators, notwithstanding the oppressive heat, and the exercises passed off very pleasingly.

In the absence of the mayor, the award of the Haven medals was announced by Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., as follows:

Second Year. For diligent application, good deportment and excellence in general scholarship: Girls, first medal, Maria B. Jarvis; second, Ella M. Seavey. Boys, first medal, Frank D. Butler; second, Bertrand W. Sears.

Third Year. For diligent application, etc., Sadie Hill de Rochemont, Frank Clark Cosby, Jr. For excellence in science, including botany, chemistry and physics, Emily Isabel Hoyt, Ralph Hayes Sweetser. Best English composition, (only boys competing) Clinton Leach.

Fourth Year. For excellence in mathematics throughout the course, Edith Burbank, who also received the prize for the best English composition, (only girls competing.) For diligent application, etc., Annie Maria Locke. For maintaining the highest rank in Latin during the four years, Alice Morrissey. For excellence in Greek, Bertha Hodgdon.

PROPER.

Hereafter, by vote of the school committee, tuition will be charged non-resident pupils attending the schools of this city. The tuition fee will be ten dollars per annum for each pupil in the suburban schools, and fifteen dollars per annum in all other schools of the city, payable in advance.

TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS.

The board of instruction has decided to establish a training school in connection with the Cabot street school, for the developing of our home talent as teachers in the schools. Those wishing to become teachers will here have the opportunity to learn how to teach from an experienced training principal. The principal will have charge of the four rooms of the building, and the young women of the training class will receive instruction from her; will watch her teach; and will themselves teach under her direction; that is, the pupil teachers will really act as assistants to the principal, and at the same time receive instruction from her.

The course of study will include Theory and Practice of Teaching, History of Education, Logic, Psychology, School Laws of New Hampshire, and School Hygiene. The pupil teachers will have training in methods with the corresponding practice in teaching daily under the direction and criticism of the principal.

There will be two classes of pupil teachers, the elementary and the advanced, and the course of study will cover a year and a half. For the first half-year the only compensation will be the instruction received. Those who prove themselves fitted to continue will receive $10 a month, in addition to the instruction, for the second half year, and $15 a month for the third half-year. After successfully completing the course of study and showing good ability as teachers, the graduates of this school will be eligible to permanent positions. The classes are limited to four each. Only those who have had some experience in teaching will be admitted to the advanced class. Graduates of the high school and others properly qualified will be received into the elementary class. Those wishing to join either class should apply at once to the superintendent of schools.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.

Candidates for admission to the High school are notified to meet at the High school building on Tuesday morning, July 5th, at eight o'clock. The notification for them to appear on Thursday, June 30th, was an error.

Mr. Benjamin Fernald of Kittery was sunstruck on Thursday last, while at work on a bridge of the York railroad, and it was at first reported that there was no hope of his recovery; in the evening, however, it was announced that he was somewhat improved.

Musical Literature.

A fair knowledge of it is essential to the full enjoyment of music, and to a musical education. DITSON & CO. were the first to recognize this want, as witness their excellent Biographies of the Great Tone Masters. And they continue to issue valuable books of the kind.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HISTORY OF MUSIC, $1, by J. C. Macy. (Just out.) A very readable and useful history, with about a dozen biographies.

BITTER'S STUDENTS' HISTORY OF MUSIC, $2.50. A complete sketch of musical history for the last 2000 years.

Very interesting books are: THE SOPRANO, a novel, $1; CURIOSITIES OF MUSIC, $1, by Elson; EHLERT'S LETTERS, $1.25; GARDNER'S MUSIC OF NATURE, $2.00; POLKO'S MUSICAL SKETCHES, $1.25; RIES'S GOLD TRILOGY, 50 cents, by Heusel.

Most useful books to learners are: Siebe's Art of Singing, 50 cents; Davis' Voice as an Instrument, 40 cts.; Child's Voice, $1; Fetis's Music Explained, $1.50.

The Standard Encyclopedias are: Moore's Encyclopedia of Music, $5; Steiner's Dictionary of Musical Terms, $4; For a Manual, read Lowell Mason's Pestalozzian Music Teacher, $2.50.

BIOGRAPHIES.—Beethoven, $1.50; Chopin, $1.25; Handel, $2; Mendelssohn, $1.50; Rossini, $1.50; Von Weber, 2 vols., each $1.25; Schumann, $1.75; Letters of Beethoven, $1.50; of Mendelssohn, 2 vols., each $1.50; of Mozart, 2 vols., each, $1.25.

Another Great Fire.

A disastrous fire took place at West Stewartstown, June 28th, a furniture factory, woollen mill, machine shop and other establishments being burned; loss $50,000, with small insurance.

The State Pride Theory

Advanced by the opponents of the Hazen bill, before the legislature, received a decided set-back when it came out that the ingenuous directors of the Concord road were working the racket for all it was worth to cover a scheme for turning the surplus earnings of the Concord corporation, which would otherwise revert to the state treasury, into the hands of the syndicate who purchased the controlling interest of the Boston, Concord & Montreal stock, and a large part of which syndicate is composed of directors of the Concord road. These are the men who feared that both political parties would be hopelessly ruined should the bill pass, and if that calamity did not reach us, the state would be at the mercy of a railway corporation which has accomplished more in one year past then the Concord road ever has for the benefit of this state. The roof is being taken from the houses of these disinterested members of our community. But good gracious! what an exhibit is disclosed!

MARITIME NOTES.

Ship Granite State, of this port, Rossmaster, arr at Hong Kong, China, June 29th, from New York 109 days—an excellent passage.

The schooner Centennial, from Baltimore with 885 tons of coal, and the Maggie J. Smith, from Newport News with 1171 tons, arrived at this port on the 30th ult., both to J. Albert Walker.

A dredging machine from Boston arrived at York harbor on Wednesday, June 29th, to be used on the government improvements of that harbor.

The little Shoals steamer Pinafore was on the marine railway at Kittery on Wednesday of this week, for inspection and overhaul preparatory to engaging in her summer work of running between Appledore and Star islands.

A man who had been fooling too much with Portsmouth fluids fell overboard at Daniel street on Wednesday evening of this week, and was fished out by a good Samaritan with a boat hook. Pretty soon he fell overboard again, and was again fished out by the good Samaritan with a boat hook, who threatened to ram him under water and keep him there half an hour if he tumbled in again. Disapproving of this treatment he started off up street, and would probably have gotten along all right had the cellar over which the "Old House at Home" once stood kept out of his way; as it was, he tumbled off the sidewalk into the cellar, and as the good Samaritan refused to use his boathook any more, had to remain there until some of the police came with an express wagon and carted him to the police station. He was let out next morning with a big head, and without trial.

Always avoid harsh purgative pills. They first make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill.

The two-year-old daughter of Peter Lamore was scalded to death at Ballonville, Conn., by falling into a pail of hot water.

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means.

Rockland (Me.) and San Francisco parties have formed a company for the production of lime in Monterey county, California.

Ex-Governor Morrill's physician at Augusta, Me., gives slight hopes of his patient's recovery.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists, $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which possesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fail" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

Mrs. Langtry has taken a house in San Francisco with the expressed intention of making it her legal residence. Her attorney, General Barnes, is reported as saying that the actress will begin a suit for divorce after a lapse of six months, the period necessary to acquire a legal residence. She has renounced her allegiance to Great Britian, and taken out her first papers declaring her intention to become a citizen of the United States.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

Two days' fighting is reported from Afghanistan, between the Ghilzais and the ameer's troops. The first day the rebels were badly defeated; the second day they defeated the ameer's army.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Gen. Boulanger has been appointed to the command of the Thirteenth French army corps.

Impurities of the blood often cause great annoyance at this season; Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and cures all such affections.

Jay Gould is announced to have secured control of the Baltimore & Ohio telegraph.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

A violent shock of earthquake is reported to have occurred at Guayaquil, New Grenada, June 30th.

Best, Safest and Surest.—If you are troubled with Indigestion Dyspepsia, don't fail to try "Digestylin." Recommended by physicians as the best. A quick and sure cure in every case. $1 per bottle. Sold by all druggists, or Wm. F. Kidder & Co., Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John st., N. Y.

John T. Raymond's collection of old coins was sold in New York recently for less than $350. The fifty-dollar piece with which he was accustomed to do his "matching" went for $66.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists, $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.o

We have sold quite a lot of your Athlophoros, and in every case it has given perfect satisfaction. H. F. Wyatt, druggist, Plymouth, N. H. Testimonials to the same effect showing its cures in rheumatism and neuralgia are received by the hundreds.

The New Hampshire papers are discussing the attitude of Senator-elect W. E. Chandler during the Hayes administration, his criticism thereof being attributed to the failure of Hayes to properly recognize his services. This view is an unjust one. The senator's opposition to the Hayes policy was a matter of profound conviction, and took form from the moment of the consummation of the understanding with the democratic leaders which gave the loyalists of the south over to the tender mercies of the intolerant, fraud-loving, bulldozing democracy of that section. Prior to the consummation of this bargain, Mr. Chandler would have accepted a foreign mission, assurances of the tender of which had been conveyed to him, but after his indignant protest against this give-away policy went by unheeded and the era of gush was inaugurated, he would not have accepted any office within the gift of the Hayes administration, even if tendered without condition of any kind. We know whereof we affirm.—Portland Express.

Meals for the Many of Modern Means.

Young married couples living in the plainest way, students working their way through universities, people engaged in occupations filling nearly the entire working day—all handicapped by limited resources of money and materials, with scant working facilities and more scanty knowledge; how can they secure the comfort of well-cooked daily food when this is a rarity in many prosperous households? No question that such people need the most nutritious fare and sanitary surroundings; for to them we look for the future bone and sinew of our nation. Vigorous health, fine brains, and moral stamina can proceed only from that perfect physical condition that results from right living. So far as the published testimony of investigators shows, the habitual fare of the mass of unskilled workers in every line of manual labor is deficient in variety and quality. Bread and tea for the women and children, varied with beer and an occasional bit of meat for the man, seem to be the prevalent foods; and the bread is usually bought at the bakeshop, and lacks the strengthening properties of good, home-made bread, the general reason given for using baker's bread being lack of time or knowledge for making bread at home. In the poorest households, where fuel is scant, it is not easy to make good risen or leavened bread, because considerable heat is required to ferment the leaven in cold weather, as well as to bake the bread. Even under such circumstances, it would be better to take advantage of any burning of fuel for heating purposes to bake bread or biscuit made with baking-powder or soda, or to cook the old-fashioned bannock or griddle-cake over the fire when the quantity is sufficient to heat the oven. —Juliet Corson in Good Housekeeping.

Solomon's Judgment in Chinese.

Two women came before a Mandarin in China, each of them protesting that she was the mother of a little child they had brought with them. They were so eager and so positive that the Mandarin was sorely puzzled. He retired to consult with his wife, who was a wise and clever woman, whose opinion was held in great repute in the neighborhood.

She requested five minutes in which to deliberate. At the end of that time she spoke:

"Let the servants catch me a large fish in the river, and let it be brought me here alive."

This was done.

"Bring me now the infant," she said, "but leave the women in the outer chamber."

This was done, too. Then the Mandarin's wife caused the baby to be undressed and its clothes put on the fish.

"Carry the creature outside now and throw it into the river in the sight of the two women."

The servant obeyed her orders, flinging the fish into the water, where it rolled about and struggled, disgusted, no doubt, by the wrapping in which it was swaddled.

Without a moment's pause one of the mothers threw herself into the river with a shriek. She must save her drowning child.

"Without a doubt she is the true mother," she declared; and the Mandarin's wife commanded that she should be rescued and the child given to her.

"Without a doubt she is the true mother," she declared. And the Mandarin nodded his head and thought his wife the wisest woman in the Flowery Kingdom. Meantime the false mother crept away. She was found out in her imposture, and the Mandarin's wife forgot all about her in the occupation of dooming the little baby in the best silk she could find in her wardrobe.—London Academy.

A Profitable Boom.

Eleven years ago a woman bought forty-three acres of land in Pasadena, Los Angeles County, Cal., for $40 an acre. She has since sold off ten acres in small lots at prices ranging from $1,000 to $13,000 an acre, and has been offered $250,000 for the thirty-three acres which still remain in her possession.

Just Like a Woman.

A Boston fair one, or perhaps, considering the circumstances, I should say, "unfair" one, whose charms nearly 70 years have somewhat blighted, has been sojourning at a fashionable summer resort for several weeks for the good of her health and spirits. Her toilets have rivaled the late Mrs. Stewart's in extensiveness and expense, and her make-up has been all that blooming two and twenty might in safety swear to. Perpetual youth reigned on her toilet-table and reflected itself in the waviest tresses of ebon hue, peachy cheeks, and coral lips, skillful dentistry, and all those means of grace employed by women who hate to grow old. Coquettish laces on the head and about the throat and diamonds everywhere softened these painful facts, and the near-sighted world exclaimed: "What a well-preserved dowager!" The other morning, however, even the blindest vis-a-vis was forced to admit something was wrong in the construction. What had happened no one precisely knew until chance brought a keen-eyed young sinner to the breakfast-table. After saying grace—or something else—in her napkin, she leaned forward with a bland smile, and, holding something between her thumb and finger, said: "Good morning, Mrs. Racamere. I believe this is your eyebrow!"—Boston Herald.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Ladmer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Sixteen Sons in the Army.

A long, lank West Virginian, named Brown, presented himself at the pension bureau in Washington, June 27th, to furnish evidence in a claim pending before the office. It was learned upon inquiry that his mother had borne thirty-three children in all. Twenty of this number were boys, sixteen of whom served in the Union army. Two were killed. The other fourteen survive, and each of them draws a pension from the government for disabilities incurred while in the service. The death of the two boys entitles the mother to a pension also. General Black says the files of the office fail to show another record where sixteen sons of one father and mother served as soldiers in the late war.

Mr. Daniel Littlefield ordered his workmen on the Concord railroad wharf to knock off work Friday forenoon, on account of the intense heat.

The Riverside club's boat was hauled out on the slip at the Raynes shipyard on Friday, to be put in condition for the race on the 4th. The mystery of her leaking very badly was solved by finding three small anger holes in her bottom.

Yacht Belle, Capt. George J. Fernald, left on Friday morning at two o'clock on a fishing trip, taking out Mr. Morss, superintendent of schools, and Messrs. Ferguson of Newmarket took the second prize for mechanical drawing.

Hon. Frank Jones of this city is reported as saying that ground will be broken August 1st on the North Stratford and Colebrook division of the upper Coos railroad, and that 500 men will be at work by the middle of the month. It is expected that the iron of this road and that of the spur of the Megantic system will be joined on the Dominion border between Canaan, Vt., and Hereford, in the summer or early autumn of 1888. The two lines will have a total length of about forty miles.

John A. Cornelius has returned home from work at York harbor, where he assisted as plumber in putting the water works into the Marshall house. The water comes from a pure spring, bursting out from a granite ledge which was blasted to make way for the crossing of the road and bridge a mile and a half from the hotel. The water is conducted into the house by iron pipes, as Mr. Marshall insisted upon having none else.

Mrs. Mercy Junkins of Cider hill, York, is famous for raising poultry; when Thanksgiving and Christmas come, she has an abundant supply for the market. Around her castle she has flocks of ducks and geese—a good place for them, too, for they have free access to the upper York river. In raising geese she prefers the old-fashioned Canada breed.

A number of the dumpcarts and horses used by the contractors at the Kittery end of the York beach railroad, were on Thursday placed on the cars of the Boston & Maine railroad, and taken eastward for further railroad work in the upper part of the state of Maine.

What Her Former Teacher Did.

Some time ago a young lady, who had been teaching a class of half grown girls in a Brooklyn Sunday school, was called away from the city, rendering it necessary to fill her place. The superintendent, after looking over his available material for teachers, decided to request one of the young gentlemen of the congregation to take the class.

It so happened that the young man upon whom fell the superintendent's choice, was exceedingly bashful, so much so, in fact, that he insisted upon the superintendent going and presenting him to the class. Accordingly the two gentlemen appeared on the little platform, and the superintendendent began: "Young ladies, I wish to introduce you to Mr. C—, who will in future be your teacher. I would like to have you tell him what your former teacher did, so that he can go right on in the same way."

Immediately a demure miss of fourteen years arose and said: "The first thing our teacher always did was to kiss us all around."

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

"I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. Mrs. A. H. VERRY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros. B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEBLE, Salem, Mass.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious shoe dealers have often recommended their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely waterproof, its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

WHO SHALL BE MAYOR?

Mr. Editor: I notice that the Chronicle announces that Mayor Eldredge does not desire a re-election to the office of chief magistrate of our city. I regret to learn this. He is a capable and honest official, and notwithstanding the powers of the mayor are limited, he has made a good record for himself in the office. We are to have, thanks to the generous suggestion of the mayor, a soldiers' monument. What could be more appropriate than to have Mr. Eldredge in office at the dedication of this testimonial to our departed soldiers and sailors? I am not in sympathy with Mr. Eldredge's views concerning national politics, but the present opportunity occurs to show our appreciation of his liberality and regard for his adopted city by an invitation from men of all parties to be elected, not upon any political issue, but divorcing the affairs of our city from party politics, to be chosen by the votes of our citizens as a business man capable of giving character to the office, and thus we may secure sound management of our municipal affairs. It is time we looked upon our municipal offices as places not to be given solely for political reasons. It is not only possible but practical to inaugurate a reform in this respect by inviting to municipal service men who seek not positions in our city government, but who may—as they should—be selected solely for reason that the people have confidence in their integrity and ability. It may seem unpractical thus to take a new departure. Party men may object to this mode of selecting our rulers, but in its effects it will be salutary, and in the end result in our city's welfare.

A REPUBLICAN.

THE POLICE MAIL.

The police have mailed at the railroad station since Jan. 1st of this year 8048 letters left in the police station between the time of the closing of the last mail at the post-office and midnight, the record by months being as follows:

January, 1129; February, 1024; March, 1269; April, 1246; May, 1359; June, 2021.

This police mail route is a great convenience to many people, as the above figures plainly show.

CAPTAIN JAMES H. BURDICK.

From the New Orleans Picayune of June 24th we clip the following obituary of Capt. "Jim" Burdick, well known to very many in this city who had an interest in Portsmouth's mercantile welfare in ante-bellum days:

Living in hospitable seclusion, surrounded with mementoes of their calling and with the comforts and refinements that can be procured, with the front door always open, particularly to their comrades of the earlier times, are the retired sea captains who, after a stormy life of battling with the waves, settle down to simple and comfortable lives on shore.

Such was the latter part of the life of one of the best known and most popular men that ever trod the deck, a man who allowed his love for the sea to keep him "on deck" until he fell a victim to the treacheries of the sea.

James H. Burdick was born at Stonington, Conn., in March, 1825, and at an early age went to sea as a common sailor on a schooner. Working his way toward the top, he, along in the fifties, first came to New Orleans as mate on the Express. About this time he became captain and commanded the James Buchanan, and later the Sarah E. Pettigrew. The latter was at that time considered a mammoth vessel, and was crowded with visitors whenever she arrived in port. She carried more than 5000 bales of the loosely-pressed cotton of that period. The Pettigrew was in New Orleans when the port was blockaded in 1862, and to prevent her capture by the federals, she was burned in front of the present site of the Burdick property, below Algiers.

After the war Captain Burdick went into the towboat business, and was successively captain of the tugs Philip, Perry, Lone Star and Gladiator, of the Peter Marcy Towboat Line; at the same time he acted as senior captain or commodore of the line.

About six or seven years ago Captain Burdick became a bar pilot at Fort Eads, and was thus employed until six months ago, when he was injured by being thrown over the wheel of one of the pilot boats. To avoid giving anxiety to his family he concealed the true state of his injury, but six weeks ago he came up to New Orleans and was confined in his bed until Wednesday, June 22d, when surrounded by the loving ministrations of his family, he passed away. The body was shipped to his early home in Westerly, R. I. on the steamer El Monte, yesterday morning.

The sympathy of the entire community is with his widow, his sisters, Mrs. Captain G. W. Bliven and Mrs. John Perigo; his brother, Captain Benjamin F. Burdick, and his son James A. Burdick, for their great bereavement.

Captain Burdick was a whole-souled, generous man—a man who would do anything for his friends, of whom he had countless numbers. It is said of him that he had not an enemy in the world.

KITTERY HIGH SCHOOL.

The graduating exercises of the Kittery High school class of '87 were held in the 2d Methodist church at the Foreside on Friday afternoon, July 1st, and though the weather was sweltering hot the church was packed, and many persons were unable to gain admittance.

The graduation class numbered nine, of whom eight were young women; the following is the list of names:

Florence Emma Hayes, Helen Maude Hill, Mabel Florence Moore, Bertha Eleanor Stimson, Jennie May Hutchins, Georgie Adeline Bowden, Annie May Leach, Martha Maude Walker, James Emerson Rogers.

Excellent music, instrumental and vocal, was interspersed through the exercises, being furnished by the Music hall orchestra of this city, assisted by Mrs. D. E. Hill and Mrs. C. W. Swain, sopranos, Miss Florence E. Sanderson and Miss Annie M. Pettigrew, contraltos, and Miss Millie A. Damon, pianist. The essays by the graduates were as follows:

Salutatory, "Books," Florence E. Hayes; "Oases," Mabel F. Moore; "Broken columns," Jennie M. Hutchins; "Lessons from nature," Annie M. Leach; "Gems of history," Bertha E. Stimson; "Sibylline leaves," Helen M. Hill; "Air castles," Georgie A. Bowden; "The mysteries of science," J. Emerson Rogers; valedictory, "The end crowns the work," M. Maude Walker.

The essays were of more than ordinary merit, and the exercises throughout were followed with the closest attention by the large audience. Near the close, after the singing of the class ode and before the benediction, Mr. Horace Mitchell, Jr., of the superintending school committee, addressed the class and presented the graduates their diplomas. The exercises passed off smoothly and pleasingly, and reflected much credit on Mr. Frank E. Rowell, the excellent principal of the school, and his capable assistant, Miss A. A. Abrams.

In the evening the graduating class had a reception and dance in Trefethen hall, which was very largely attended and highly enjoyed, despite the intense heat. The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers, the class motto, "Finis Coronat Opus," being an exquisite piece of work. No more brilliant affair was ever held in the hall.

SUB ROSA.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

At a regular meeting of Strawberry Bank Lodge, No. 54, I. O. G. T., held Wednesday evening, June 22d, the following resolutions were adopted upon the death of the late Charles D. Hainer:

Whereas, It has pleased the Infinite and all-wise Father in his love and power to remove by death our beloved brother Rev. Charles D. Hainer from his earthly labors and trials, therefore

Resolved, That we recognize the deceased to have been a true and earnest worker in this order and of the cause of temperance reform generally, and one who made untiring efforts to promote the interests of Good Templary everywhere.

Resolved, That we tender to his bereaved ones our deepest sympathy in their hour of affliction, the hand of Him who doeth all things well; that in his clear foresight and calm judgment we are afforded an example worthy of imitation, and a faithful guide to be ever kept by us in cherished remembrance.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect due our late brother our charter be draped in mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, that these resolutions be entered upon our records and that a copy be sent to the bereaved family and to the daily press.

LEE H. FISHER, Chief Templar.
MRS. R. D. SMART, Sec. pro tem.

Col. John H. Jackson has been granted a pension as a Mexican war veteran. Col. Jackson was appointed first lieutenant in the 9th United States Infantry on March 10th, 1847. He was made brevet captain for gallant conduct in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco on the 20th of August, 1847, and commanded his company and was distinguished for his services in the battle of Chapultepec. He was made a full captain in December, 1847, and mustered out in August, 1848. He was colonel of the Third New Hampshire Volunteers from June 27, 1862, and served with distinction until his discharge on Nov. 24, 1864. Especial mention was made of his marked gallantry at the battle of Secessionville, (or James Island) S. C., June 16, 1862.

The custodian of the federal building in this city has received notice that the bid of the Portsmouth Electric Light Co. for lighting the building for the year ending July 1st, 1888, has been accepted, and the electric lights will be at once put in.

The French ram Bouvet, which sailed from Portsmouth lower harbor on the morning of June 29th, arrived in Portland harbor on the afternoon of that day.

The flag at Newcastle 2 engine house was displayed at half mast Thursday as a mark of respect to the late James T. Gammon, a former member of the company, whose funeral took place on that day.

The many friends of Mr. E. J. Goodwin, formerly in charge of our high school, from which position he resigned to accept a similar position in Nashua, will be pleased to learn that he was on June 28th elected principal of the Newton, Mass., high school, at a salary of $3000 per annum. Miss Emma F. Johnson, a graduate of our high school, formerly a teacher in the Haven school, and later a teacher in the Nashua high school, has been for the past year an assistant in the Newton high school at a salary of $800.

Mr. James M. Sheldon and wife, of Richards avenue, on the evening of June 29th celebrated in a quiet way the 25th anniversary of their marriage; only the immediate family connections were present.

Gilman B. Hoyt of Exeter was on the 1st inst. appointed register of deeds for Rockingham county, to fill the vacancy caused by the declination to serve of Henry Austin, Esq., late of Rye.

The mercury reached 100 in the shade on Friday in this city, and in the afternoon we were promised "higher temperature" for the next day. Old Probs. had better look at his thermometer before fooling with the weather that way.

An earthquake shock was felt in Concord, Contoocook, Hooksett, Manchester and adjacent places on the afternoon of June 30th. The legislators had better get home as quick as possible.

The children's fair in Franklin hall on Wednesday evening, June 29th, netted $225 for the Children's Home.

The Journal of July 2d appeared in a new dress and as an eight-page paper.

Gov. Sawyer and wife gave a brilliant reception at the Eagle hotel, Concord, on the evening of the 30th ult. Among the ladies who assisted Mrs. Sawyer in receiving were Mrs. John P. Hale, Mrs. E. H. Rollins, Mrs. William E. Chandler, the wives of Senator Blair and of Ex-Governors Stearns, Prescott and Currier, and Mrs. Frank Jones.

Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which posesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fall" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

The president has pardoned the noted forger, Thomas Ballard, who is now a broken-down old man.

Have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick headache, biliousness, constipation, pain in the side, and all liver troubles. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Try them.

Wrenched His Back.

LYNDONVILLE, ORLEANS CO., N. Y., April 2d, 1885. About a year ago, I imprudently stepped off the Hudson river cars while they were in motion. In trying to save myself from a fearful fall I wrenched my back terribly. The next day I could not walk, and I suffered pain from my neck to my heels. Various applications were made, but nothing which was done abated my suffering. Being anxious to get up and attend to business, I determined to place three Allcock's Porous Plasters, one above the other, on my back. In about an hour and a half they caused considerable itching. The pain and soreness sensibly decreased, and I rested pretty well that night. The next morning the itching began to be quite severe under the plasters. To get some relief, I had my back well rubbed crossways over the plasters. I was surprised within two hours afterwards to find the pain and soreness almost gone. I stayed in bed that day; and the morning afterwards I got up and attended to business.

Many people died from the effects of the heat throughout the country the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Mrs. Maria Halpin, whose name was so mixed up with that of Mr. Grover Cleveland during the electoral campaign which resulted in his elevation to the presidency, was recently married to Albert Secord of New Rochelle, N. Y., an uncle of her first husband. Mr. Secord is a carpenter about sixty-five years old, in comfortable circumstances. His wife, who is thirty years his junior, is a handsome woman in the prime of life, with a very pleasant expression. Her hair is black, and her eyes large and sparkling. Their neighbors speak highly of both of them.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists; $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. An Empty Nest.

A grave old man and a maiden fair
Walked together at early morn;
The thrushes up in the cedar cool sir
Sang to the farmer planting his corn.
And O! how sweet was the fresh turned mould!
And O! how fair were the budding trees!
For daisy silver and daffodil's gold
Were full of the happy honey bees.

"Ah, look! there's an empty nest," she said;
"And I wonder where sing the last year's birds?"
Then the old man quickly raised his head,
Though scarcely he noted her musing words;
He tore the nest from the swaying tree,
He flung to the winds its moss and hay,
And said: "When an empty nest you see,
Be sure that you throw it far away."

"But, why?" she asked with a sorrowing face—
"Why may not the pretty home abide?"
"Because" he answered, 'twill be a place
In which the worm and the sling will hide.
Last year 'twas fair enough in its way,
It was full of love and merry with song;
But days that are gone must not spoil to-day,
Nor dead joys do the living joys wrong."

The maiden heard with a thoughtful face—
Her first false love had gone far away—
And she thought: Is my heart become a place
For anger, and grief, and hate to stay?
Down, heart, with thy sad, forsaken nest!
Fling far the selfish and idle pain.
The love that is cure is always the best;
And she went with a smile to her work again.

FAITHFUL TILL DEATH.

"Clara—Clara!"

A call, but given in a very subdued voice. The lady addressed—a pretty blonde of thirty or thereabouts, with a winsome matronly dignity of manner—looked up from her sewing. At the window her sister was beckoning to her.

"New arrivals?" she asked, tossing aside the small garment she was repairing. "I did not hear the cab."

"Carriage," said the younger lady, still in the low voice; "and—and—I was sure I was not mistaken—Mr. Sargeant."

"That handsome Ellis Sargeant we met in London last winter? So it is!"

The carriage, which had been approaching slowly as the sisters spoke, had reached now the top of the hill upon which the hotel was situated, and, screened by their closed blinds, they watched Ellis Sargeant as he sprang from the seat beside the driver, and opened the door of the closed carriage.

An elderly lady was the first to alight; then an old servant; and then—

The two ladies at the window drew back with a shudder of horror and pity as the next traveller, carefully assisted by the others, came cautiously from the carriage.

A slight figure, held with the uncertain drooping attitude of the blind, tiny hands outstretched, but a face whose scars, lines, and disfigurement were beyond description; vivid scarlet lines and puckers telling of some fiery ordeal, while the tightly-closed lids spoke eloquently of the sightless eyes they covered.

Under the close-fitting bonnet short curling hair could be seen; but the veil, that had been drawn over the face, had caught in the carriage-top, and been torn from the disfigured countenance.

"Oh, Clara!" Amy Fauling gasped, her pretty face actually pale with horror. "Did you ever see anything so terrible?"

Mrs. Moore shuddered, and her voice was full of womanly pity as she replied:

"Poor girl! Oh, Amy, think what she must have suffered! And blind, too!"

"That is a mercy, not a misfortune," said Amy quickly. "She may forget the dreadful face if she never sees it. Who can she be?"

The same question was asked by more than one inmate of the Mountain House before the day was over. Evidently she was an invalid, for she was tenderly assisted to her room, and left it only for a daily drive.

The names registered upon the hotel books were Mrs. William Sargeant, Ellis Sargeant, Miss Restyne, and maid. And Mr. Sargeant, finding some friends in the hotel, introduced the sweet-faced old lady as his mother.

But neither spoke of Miss Restyne excepting as a friend, and never mentioned her unless some direct question was asked.

But in that winter in London, where Amy Pauling had met Ellis Sargeant constantly in society, she had found his handsome face and gentle manner attractive beyond those of any other gentleman in her large circle of acquaintances.

Her brother-in-law, a man of wealth and position, took an active interest in politics, and Amy, pretty, accomplished, and most daintily high-bred, was very much admired in Mrs. Moore's "set."

But her heart, at twenty-two, was as untouched as it had been at six, until Ellis Sargeant had made his first courteous greeting, and paid her later the attentions of a friend.

Never, by word or look, had he gone further, and more than one fair damsel had sighed over his grave reticence, and yet Amy had fancied sometimes that he found some attraction at Mrs. Moore's beyond her brother-in-law's political discussions, or Clara's well-ordered dinners.

There had been three weeks of the pleasant intercourse that is so easy between inmates of the same hotel at a summer resort, when one afternoon Amy, seated upon the porch of a wing of the hotel she had not before visited, was in earnest conversation with a new arrival, a school-friend she had not seen for four years.

And this friend, after an interchange of confidences, was telling Amy a story, the absorbing interest of which she little guessed.

Behind the closely-shut blinds against which she, Belle Creighton, leaned her pretty head, another listener lay upon an invalid-chair, resting from her drive.

"Just to think," Belle said "of Ellis Sargeant being here! And Fanny Restyne! Have you seen her?"

"Yes—only once. She is generally heavily veiled when she goes out to drive, but I saw her the day she came."

"They say she does not know what a horror she is. No one else sees her but Margaret, and Margaret was Ellis's old nurse, and, of course, worships Fanny. You would not believe that Fanny Restyne, three years ago, was a beauty."

Here the little hands of the listener behind the closed blinds went softly to her face, covering it, though she was alone in a darkened room.

"Not a mere pretty girl, like ourselves," said Belle, "but a downright beauty. Her father had lost all his property and died, and Mrs. Sargeant, a faraway cousin, took Fanny for a companion, whereupon Ellis promptly fell in love with her and she with him."

Here the scarlet wool Amy was working in became a hopeless tangle.

"Mrs. Sargeant, strange to say, was delighted, although Ellis is an only child, and Fanny had not a penny, and everything was charming, the engagement announced, the trousseau in preparation, when Ellis was taken ill with malarious fever—dreadfully ill, delirious and all that. While he was still very low, the house took fire in the night.

"There was a woman from the hospital, sitting up at night with Ellis, and it was afterwards found she drank, and the supposition was that she dropped a spark in one of the lower rooms. At any rate, she promptly ran when she awoke to find the flames around her, leaving her patient to take care of himself.

"Mrs. Sargeant was carried out bodily, and Fanny, waking with the confusion, partly dressed herself, and rushed to the room where Ellis lay in a heavy stupor, partially suffocated, they said afterwards.

"She threw the contents of the water-pitcher over him, dragged him—think of it, Amy—actually dragged him across the room to the window, where some men had just raised a ladder. Fanny lifted him partly, and the man at the top got a firm hold of him, just as the floor gave way, and Fanny fell through.

"Ellis was unhurt, though very ill for a long time, but when Fanny was taken out, her face was horribly burned, her eyes entirely destroyed, and she had some internal injuries that are slowly draining her life away. But Ellis never seems to see the mask that replaces Fanny's beauty. He is as devoted to her as when he first loved her, and he would marry her tomorrow if she would consent."

"And she?" Amy asked.

"She will not marry him. I cannot tell you much about it, Amy, for the Sargeants do not talk of their affairs. Mother is very intimate with Mrs. Sargeant, and has helped Fanny in some of her bad attacks, so I know more than most folks about them. The gong! What are you going to wear at dinner?"

She flitted away, and Amy, believing herself alone, let the sob she had been strangling have its way, and wept bitterly for some moments. Then she, too, went to her room.

Presently the door of the darkened room opened softly, and a low voice asked:

"Asleep, Fanny?" Followed instantly by: "Crying, Fanny? What troubles you?" And gentle hands lifted the girl's head to a resting-place on Ellis Sargeant's bosom, while strong arms cradled the slight trembling figure. "What is it, darling?" he asked tenderly. "Is the pain worse?"

"No. I—— Ellis, why has no one ever told me my blindness was not the only injury that fell upon my face? You have been so true to me, my love—my dear love—but I did not know I was an object of horror and disgust."

"You! Who has dared to tell you that?"

"No one has told me. I might have guessed—I might have known—what all these scars and seams looked like; but I did not think of that. Ellis, do not kiss me. Do not hold me in your arms. You are free from all vows to me. I told you I would not burden your life with a blind wife, but—but—I did not think there might be other girls as pretty as I was once, who——"

"Hush!" he interrupted, his voice stern in the effort he made to keep it steady. "Hush! You insult me! You are my promised wife. I can no more be unfaithful to you than if we had exchanged the vows we once hoped to speak at God's altar. You are mine, Fanny!"

"But you are not mine. It must not, shall not be, Ellis. Your life shall not be wasted an hour longer in this mockery of an engagement. You have been my dear brother only, Ellis, since I lost my eyes; give me a sister's love, too, give your mother a daughter."

"She has one," was the quiet reply. "Do not speak of this again, Fanny. It pains me more than I can tell you; and he put her back gently as his mother entered the room, dressed for dinner.

But he missed Amy's bright face at the table, and wondered, when he saw her late in the afternoon, at the pallor of her cheeks, and a wistful tenderness in her eyes.

What did she guess, he wondered, and how had Fanny learned the struggle he was enduring? Not for one instant had his loyalty wavered, not one thought of deserting the woman who had saved his life at such a fearful price had ever crossed his mind; but there was a strange pain in meeting Amy, and a fierce jealousy would seize him when other men paid her attentions.

She was surprised that evening by a request from Mrs. Sargeant to spend an hour in Fanny's room. What questions Margaret had been brought to answer Fanny alone knew, but her heart told her during the evening, when Ellis and Amy devoted themselves to her service, the secret those two were sure was securely hidden.

They did not guess why she called so often on Amy to sit with her, to read with her, to sing to her, nor why she tried so hard to win the love of the girl who was only too ready to meet any advance, her heart full of womanly compassion and tenderness.

Very rapidly she faded away, the mountain air they had hoped would aid her seeming only to hasten the course of her illness.

Yet she would not consent to be taken home, and she clung to Amy, who was her willing attendant at all hours.

She little guessed how the blind girl probed her heart, how fully she learned its carefully-treasured secret. If Ellis was wiser, he was silent, too.

It was early in the autumn, and Mrs. Moore was fretting to take her babies back to town, but yielding to Amy's plea of "one week more," when Fanny Restyne died.

All she loved was beside her when the end came. Her head pillowed on Mrs. Sargeant's breast, Ellis holding her hand, Margaret sobbing at the foot of the bed, she whispered words of love and farewell.

"Ellis," she said, as the failing breath came fainter and fainter, "I know you will always love me, but the grave loosens all ties, and you have been faithful till death."

And when, a year later, Ellis Sargeant asked Amy to be his wife, there was no disloyalty to the dead girl in his heart, nor did Amy feel jealous that his first love, his life-long gratitude, were given to the blind disfigured girl lying quietly at rest beneath the violets.

At the doors of the national capital of Mexico soldiers with fixed bayonets stand, and soldiers are distributed throughout the corridors.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

Synopsis of a Remarkable Lecture Delivered by Dr. H. E. Hammond Before the National Scientists' Convention.

"We call this an 'age of progress,' and so in very many respects it is, but I do not hesitate to declare most emphatically, that in many things that constitute TRUE happiness we are simply children. Let us see: We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. Occasionally his appetite was poor, but then in a few days afterward it was ravenous. He felt strange pains shooting through his body, but as they did not remain he forgot them. His head pained him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common, and was unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

THE SUDDEN DEATH

Dr. Hammond then instanced a number of cases of persons well-known to him who had died in great agony although they had experienced few symptoms and little pain, and continued:

"Why is it that so many little children are to-day stunted, and apparently blighted for life? Because those early and inevitable diseases, measels, scarlatina, etc., have so weakened certain organs that nature cannot do her work, and the child languishes perhaps dies. Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of all diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful sudden strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is that men and women drag along, die and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of these things, and was Bright's disease of the kidneys. That was the inward cause; these are the outward manifestations. Every disease must have a root, just as certainly as every plant. Kidney disease is the great root from which most modern diseases, no matter what their name may be, develop. After long and careful research Dr. Bright discovered the connection between morbid outward symptoms and internal decay, physicians, scientists and chemists have sought for a pure and powerful relief. It has been a difficult, often a fruitless search. Many remedies are now before the public, but so far as I have been able to learn by chemical analysis and actual test, only one possesses absolute merit and power. I have seen a number of cases, and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation Hunt's Remedy has been almost remarkable in its results. One case in particular was that of a prominent banker residing in New York, whose family physicians, assisted by the best counsel that city could produce, declared his case to be hopeless, and who was afterward restored to perfect health by the means I have named. I have not hesitated to use it freely among my patients, and from the results I have secured, I shall continue to do so."

THAT PUNY CHILD.

The doctor explained how men and women should live in order to meet this terrible malady, and instanced several additional cures which had followed the use of the remedy before referred to. In concluding he said:

"If men and women could only be aroused to a realization of their actual danger; to a sense of what is before them unless they take prompt and proper action, and then by a correct course of life and the use of just the right means seek to prolong their lives, most of the present suffering and untimely deaths might and would be avoided."

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

A Legislative Incident.

"Mr Speaker" was heard from Mr. Sampage, one of the town members from Wayback on a sultry afternoon of last week, in the quiet hall of the house of representatives. There had been for some minutes no voice or sound save the gentle rustle from the sheets of the Mirror which contained a lively leader from the pen of the Commissioner's substitute upon the bearings of the railroad question, which was being perused. At once everything betokened revived animation. Fans ceased their slow and almost idle action. General Marston awoke from a nap in the "judiciary room," and biting off an uncommonly large piece of niggerhead, marched down the aisle as if he had just marched out. The chairman of the committee on railways stopped right in the midst of a description of a very fine horse he happens to own, and gave attention. Members hastened back from the balconies, the lobbies, the senate reception room, and from all places where they had sought for cooling air but found it not, and the house was all on the qui vive of attention. The speaker recognized the gentleman from Wayback. In short, he had the floor. "Mr. Speaker," preceeded the orator who has so ably represented so many towns and wards upon the floor he had secured, "If there is no further business lying upon the speaker's table, I move the house do now adjourn." The members examined their copies of the rules. The motion would have to be decided without debate. The heat was intense. It was just the weather for earthquakes. The question was put and carried nem. con. The members filed out, many going to Main street for a soda fizz, while the more sedate congratulated themselves that they were a day's march nearer home.

A Boston Button-hole Machine Co. announces the payment of a meagre dividend of one and a half per cent. Let the corporation, now the Massachusetts legislature has adjourned, move its machine to Concord. That's the place where button-holing is done to the greatest extent just at this time. It looks as if that was a field ripe for the harvest.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statements of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." "I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts gratefully, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often discarded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

Open Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 9:00 P. M., and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Southerly winds, local rains, higher temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 68 degrees above zero.

Sky Clear.

FOURTH OF JULY.

To-day being a legal holiday, no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow morning.

There will be a game of cricket at the grounds near Frenchman's lane to-day between the Mystic club of Malden, Mass., and the Portsmouth club. The American Cornet band of this city, Mr. J. D. Medcalf, leader, will furnish music during the day; and other athletic entertainments will be provided for.

The annual meeting of the reunion committee of '78 will be held at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon, in the office of the president, Col. Wm. H. Sise.

There will be a boat race on the river at 11:15 o'clock A. M., for six-oared boats, the prizes being two handsome silver cups which were on exhibition in the window of Hutchinson's jewelry store Saturday evening. There are a number of entries, and a closely-contested and interesting race will no doubt be had.

The South Newmarket base ball club and the Portsmouth club will play a game at the Plains in the afternoon. Some good ball will be played, the South Newmarket club being a strong one, and the Portsmouths including the pick of the Riverside club and of the old Granite States.

The bells of the city will be rung, morning, noon and evening; a salute will be fired at the navy yard, at noon; and the small boy will enthuse with crackers and firearms, and anything else with which he can make a noise, until about eleven o'clock to-night. There will be concerts by the Sawyer Cornet band of Dover on the Parade, afternoon and evening.

WARM WEATHER.

There was little comfort in sleeping, or vainly attempting to sleep, on Friday and Saturday nights, the heat being so great as to make rest out of the question. Saturday was the most oppressive day for years, the thermometer indicating from 102 to 106 degrees above zero in the shade, in different localities. Sunday was very nearly as bad, although the mercury did not attain such high figures, and the Whale's-back foghorn early in the morning was sending forth its monotonous announcement of the location of the harbor's entrance; the wind came around to the eastward about noon, and though it was only a pitiful imitation of the genuine old east wind which makes a man enquire where his spring overcoat and felt hat have gone, yet it was a very grateful change, and made the afternoon much more endurable.

PUT A BOX THERE.

A request for a fire-alarm box to be placed at the Kearsarge house was received by the board of aldermen at their meeting last week, and referred to the committee on fire department, to report. We think the report should be in favor of placing the box as asked for. There is a large amount of property in that immediate vicinity—the hotel itself, Music hall, the huge Franklin building, and several large stables; and in case of fire being discovered in the neighborhood, a delay of even a few minutes in calling out the fire department might result in a great loss. At the Kearsarge house the box would be accessible at all hours of the day and night, and we think one should be placed there.

"NO BATHING ALOUD."

The boys and young men pay a great deal of respect to the mayor's proclamation in regard to bathing in public places. During the hot days of the latter part of last week there were to be seen at almost any time a dozen or two enjoying themselves in the cold waters adjacent to the north millbridge. A few rods from where they were in swimming was a board on which the official notice had been posted, but which had been replaced by a volunteer notice "No Bathing Aloud," and as they obeyed the last order and did not make any unusual clamor, they were not molested by the police. Their bathing suits were a trifle scant; in fact, the entire wardrobe of fifteen who were in bathing at one time on Friday afternoon consisted of a rag which one of their number was wearing on a presumably sore toe.

A QUEER ACCIDENT.

On Saturday evening Mr. Robert E. Fleming, agent in this city for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., left his team for a short time near Granville P. Spinney's blacksmith shop at Kittery depot, while he attended to some business. Shortly afterward a boy going through a window of the shop startled the horse, which ran toward the bridge at a high rate of speed, and overtaking Capt. Bradford's heavy double-team from the navy yard, a collision ensued, and the runaway team was piled up in the road, the horse turning a somersault and the wagon landing squarely on top of him. It was found that the horse's left fore leg was badly broken, and the animal was subsequently shot. It is said Mr. Fleming had refused an offer of $500 for the horse, which was a very fine one.

The county officials elected to serve from July 1, 1887, to July 1, 1889, were sworn in at Exeter last Friday. The retiring officials were present and gave all information and assistance they could. The new board of county commissioners, (John F. Magraw of Portsmouth, Walter J. Dudley of Raymond, and George W. Sanborn of East Kingston) met and organized with Mr. Sanborn as chairman, and Mr. Magraw as clerk. Sheriff Coffin, Treasurer Call, Solicitor Emery and the commissioners dined together, and after discussing county business for a short time, took the trains for home.

The Hotel Wentworth at Newcastle opened for the season on Saturday. Band concert this evening from seven to ten o'clock.

There are four entries for the boat race to-day,—the Athletic, Nonpareil and Riverside club boats, and a seine boat. The race will be pulled at high water slack, from the buoy off Concord railroad wharf around the south beacon and return. Mr. Arther W. Walker is to be starter and referee.

Mr. Charles R. Green, whose death was announced on Friday, was for some years baggage master and yard master in this city for the Concord railroad. Last fall he received injuries while performing his duties, being crushed between an engine and car. He was confined to his house but a short time on that occasion, but it is thought that the accident may have been the indirect cause of his death. He was able to do his work until a few weeks ago, since which time he has been rapidly failing. Mr. Green was a most obliging and genial man, being respected by his employers and a favorite with his many acquantances. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

The marriage of Edward Glover Niles, the artist, son of Stephen R. Niles, Esq., of Boston, and Miss Emily Mary Wilks, daughter of William Wilks, took place on Tuesday afternoon, June 28th, at the Isle of Wight, England. A reception followed the ceremony at Mr. Wilks' estate, Ettenheim, in Shanklin.

Miss Maud Banks, who has been visiting Mrs. Grace A. Oliver at "Red Gables," Swampscott, Mass., is at present with friends at York harbor.

The Laighton Bros. are fitting up a new waiting room on Appledore wharf, for the accommodation of passengers who arrive in the city too late for the boat. The room will prove a convenient and comfortable place to rest until the next trip of the steamer.

C. E. Boynton's bottling establishment on Bow street has of late been running day and night, to supply the hotels about here. His store is to-day filled with workmen, all the available force at his command being employed.

Railroad avenue was filled all day Saturday with coaches bound to the York beaches. They were running backward and forward all the day. The visitors evidently have come to remain during the heated term, for they brought immense quantities of baggage, most of which was in big Saratoga trunks. The hay carts of York were put in requisition to convey the extra baggage.

The young men who went from this city to Williamsport, Mass., to be engaged in the hotel business, have commenced returning, two of them having returned home on Saturday. They became homesick, and would rather be down by the sea. Some say they walked back, but that is hardly probable this hot weather.

Fare between this city and the Isles of Shoals to-day, fifty cents for the round trip. Dinner at the Oceanic, one dollar. The time table of the steamer Oceanic can be found in another column.

The hot weather of last week sent many people from the large cities to the seashore resorts on Saturday. The streets of this city were filled during a good part of the day with rapidly-driven hacks, heavily-loaded beach conveyances, and scurrying express wagons carrying cargoes of huge trunks; and scores of ladies and gentlemen carrying grip-sacks, sun umbrellas and wraps, moved along the sidewalks as though on just sure of where they wanted to go, or whether they would get there.

Mr. Charles Augustus Watkins, now of Malden, Mass., is at his former home in this city, spending the Fourth among his schoolmates and friends.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

Among the parties who arrived at their former homes in this city on Saturday to spend the 4th were Messrs. Edward S. Smart of Charlestown and Fred J. Dennett of Salem, Mass., with their wives, John A. Broderick, John McCarthy, William P. Young and Henry T. Moulton of Boston, and Edward L. Berry and Oliver P. Haines of Dover.

Mr. Frank W. Sweet, principal of the Walker school, and thirty-five of the pupils of the school, went to Jenness' beach, Rye, on Saturday, on a picnic, going and returning in Stoddard's barge Cleopatra.

The eastward bound trains for seashore and other resorts from Boston on Saturday were heavily laden. One gentleman from Boston who arrived in this city by the nine o'clock P. M. train, stated that he did not procure a seat until the train passed Hampton.

An Anarchist Bomb.

A dynamite bomb fully charged, and with the fuse burned to within a quarter of an inch of the shell, was found under Judge Baker's desk in the criminal court at Chicago on Tuesday evening of last week. Judge Baker presides in the room where the anarchists were tried and condemned, but whether the bomb came from the miscreants that Judge Gary feared is not known. Neither can it be divined what influence led to its being put there. It is the same kind of missle that was used at the Haymarket, except that the shell is of a composite material, and much lighter.

She Was On The Wrong Side.

The commander of the Union forces which besieged Richmond never forgot the services rendered to the Union cause by Miss Van Lew, a woman of wealth and position in Richmond in those days, who, although living in the rebel capital throughout the war, never faltered in her allegiance. It became known soon after the war that the Union armies were greatly indebted to her for accurate information as to the movements of the Confederate army, and as to the plans of the rebel government, and that she was, in fact, one of the principal sources of information to the Union army from within the rebel lines. The manner in which she was able to communicate with Gen. Grant will probably never be known. He never forgot it, and when he became president he appointed her postmaster at Richmond, which office she retained for eight years. Being somewhat broken in health, at a later period she was appointed to a $1200 clerkship in the postoffice department, an office which she has held continuously until nearly up to this day. She is an educated Virginia lady, belonging, in the phrase of the Old Dominion, to "one of the first families," and suffered, as most of the Union people did, and in fact now do, practical ostracism, from the old Confederate element which is again in the saddle in Virginia. It appears now that Miss Van Lew has been deprived of her $1200 position, and has been put on the "laborers' roll," below the classified service, the pay of which is $720, and the place she held has been filled by the promotion of a subordinate clerk. The Virginia Bourbons never forgave Miss Van Lew for her devotion to the Union cause, and they seem to have taken this way of making their revenge felt, and the Cleveland administration is willing to oblige them. Well, what did Miss Van Lew oppose the righteous cause of secession for, then!

Time and labor saved by the use of Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but be sure you are not imposed on by the vile imitations in the market.

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Secretary Lamar has, it is said, a habit of visiting the interior department building at unseasonable hours of the night, and getting lost in the corriders. Then the watchman has to guide him out.

If there ever is a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventative if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

The customs receipts at Montreal the past fiscal year exceed those of the previous year by $1,500,000.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. Small price. Small dose. Small pill.

Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which posesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fail" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

The short time movement among the English cotton spinners is spreading in all directions. The Lancashire spinners say that if the demand for cotton can be kept low until August the whole trade will be permanently benefitted.

Concentrate Your Vitality.

One of the secrets of health is the concentration of vitality. The recruiting of the vital principle is done effectually by Brandreth's Pills. "Health finds happiness in the mere sense of existence." Brandreth's Pills help nature to reassert her own when she has been forced to vacate her stronghold in the body. When an enemy attacks a fort all the forces are concentrated at the point of attack to resist the onslaught. So with the body. Brandreth's Pills concentrate all one's vitality to throw off the encroaching disease. Get Brandreth's Pills. Be sure to take no other.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action, reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years obliges us to admit that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms quickly yield to it.

SELMA, N. C., Feb. 11, 1887.

Gentlemen—yours inquiring whether or not I had been benefitted by Kaskine, and if so to what extent, &c., to hand. In reply will say that my health has not been as good in twenty years as now. I suffered with chills from malarial poison contracted while serving in the Confederate army on the Peninsular Campaigns in Virginia. Did not miss having a chill at least once in twenty-one days, and more frequently once in seven days, for more than fifteen years. The result was very poor health and a general letting down of the system which only those similarly affected can appreciate.

In this condition I visited New York in November, 1885, on business. While there I stopped with Mr. E. D. Barker of the University Publishing Company. I told Mr. Barker of my condition. He called my attention to your Kaskine and procured for me a bottle After my return home I took the pellets as directed and found much relief afforded thereby. Of this change I wrote Mr. Barker, who sent two or three bottles during the past year. My health greatly improved. I increased in weight from 165 pounds to 200 pounds, my present weight. I believe the Kaskine did it. Quinine had failed, as had other remedies usually administered in such cases.

Now, unless in case of exposure to extra bad weather, I do not have chills, and my general health is quite good. I turned over half a bottle to a young lady friend a few weeks since. I learn from her mother that she was much benefitted by it while it lasted.

I trust you may be able to introduce Kaskine generally in this country, in which many suffer from diseases consequent upon malarial poison in the system. From my own experience I can emphasize the excellence for such diseases. If I can serve you call on me.

I am very truly yours,

JOHN C. SCARBOROUGH,
Ex-Superintendent of Public Schools, North Carolina.

Horrors of Indian Warfare.

"Did I ever tell you of a little incident that happened during the Indian war of 1862?" said Lieut. Morgan, of the police force, yesterday. "Well, I was a member of company A, 6th Minnesota volunteers. When we were up in a county which had been devastated by the Sioux there was a detail from our company sent out under the command of Capt. Grant, of my company, to bury the dead. Above Birch coulee we found a man who told us that he, with his wife, two daughters, and a little son, were in the garden when he heard the crack of guns. His wife and daughters dropped dead. He grabbed the boy and started to run down the road. He was followed by the Indians, yelling savagely and firing rapidly. He could not carry the boy and get away, so he dropped him and ran on. The little fellow followed him, shouting 'Papa, papa!' but was soon overtaken by the Indians, and he heard him shriek and knew that he had been killed. After burying the dead around Redwood we came back by the way of where the man lived and found the bodies of his wife and daughters as he had said. Down the road we found the body of the little boy thrown into the hazel brush. The bodies were all mutilated in a horrible manner. At the fight at Birch coulee the man was killed. If he told his name I can not now remember. That was one family entirely wiped out. In all the reports of those dark days this circumstance has never been published."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

New Guinea Weddings.

M. Reclus says the islanders of New Guinea are married, not according to their own inclinations, but those of their parents, remarks All the Year Round. They are most frequently affianced at a very tender age, but are afterward forbidden to associate with each other, indeed this is carried so far that the girl may not even look at her future husband. Both must avoid all contact with the members of masculine and feminine, of the family into which they are about to enter. Their wedding ceremonies are characterized by a reserve and a modesty very remarkable in a savage people of the tropics. Adorned with the most beautiful ornaments, the bride is conducted at night in a torchlight procession through the village. One woman carries her on her back, while another binds her arms as though she were a captive, and leads her by the rope to the house of her betrothed. This is a symbol of slavery, a souvenir of the ancient servitude which the aristocratic class has preserved. There is nothing of this in the processions of the poor. On reaching their destination the bridegroom is presented to the bride's relatives, who lead him into her chamber. She awaits him with her back turned, indicating that she does not dare to meet his conquering gaze. The young man approaches till within two feet of her, turns on his heel, and then they are back to back, in the midst of a numerous assembly, the men on one side, the women on the other. After the entertainment the bride is led into her own room, still not daring to meet the terrible glance of her husband, and keeping her back turned to the door; seeing this, the husband also turns his back on her. The whole night is spent in this manner, they sit there motionless, having some one to brush away the flies, and without speaking a word. If they grow sleepy some one of the assistants, who take turns in doing this service, nudges him with his elbow. If they keep awake they are assured of a long life and green old age. In the morning they separate, still without looking at each other in order to refresh themselves after the fatigues of the previous night. This performance is continued for four nights, and on the fifth morning, with the first rays of the sun, the young people may look each other full in the face. That suffices. The marriage is considered accomplished and the newly wedded pair receive the customary congratulations.

In a Perilous Position.

Gen. Lilley, who fought under Gen. Jubal Early on the Confederate side, has been visiting friends in this city. The General lost an arm at the battle of Carter's Farm in 1862. He says that when he was struck by the bullet he fell among some rocks. While lying on his back in a perfectly helpless and weak condition a huge rattlesnake crawled on his breast, and, when half-way across, stopped. Then his snakeship stretched his head on a flat stone and curled his rattles on the other side of the General. Several wounded men on their way to the rear came along, and he did not know what to do to attract their attention. If he shouted it would arouse the reptile to pernicious activity. There he was, wounded by a Northern bullet and held a prisoner by a snake. He finally mustered sufficient strength to raise his unwounded arm, and one of the soldiers saw the signal. He approached, and on getting near the prostrate officer saw the horrible situation of affairs at a glance. He walked a short distance back, picked up a sword from the side of a dead Lieutenant, and, creeping up slowly behind, cut the rattler in two. "I suppose," said Gen. Lilley, "the rattlesnake was across my breast for fully half an hour. I was too weak from the loss of blood to move a limb, and what breath was left in me was kept at a very low ebb, so as not to disturb the reptile."—New York World.

For cleansing the skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.
Reference, G. W. Ladmer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.
E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Kintz, who had utter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.
C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face so which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.
MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore to be regretted that those afflicted with a fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies and concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become pedaled to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The tonsils and cartilages of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

Vigor and Vitality

Are quickly given to every part of the body by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The blood is purified, enriched, and vitalized, and carries health instead of disease to every organ. The stomach is toned and strengthened, the appetite restored. The kidneys and liver are roused and invigorated. The brain is refreshed, the mind made clear and ready for work. Try it.

Rummey Bros., shoe manufacturers of Lynn, Mass., announce that they will run a "free shop" hereafter—that is, that if a man wants work and they have work they want him to do, they will hire him even if he is not a member of some trades union. All the union men have left work.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. Cohen of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength, and increases the appetite."

A Senatorial Succession.

Hon. Lycurgus Pitman of Conway, senator from District No. 2, represents a district extending from Conway to the Connecticut river and from Coos to Campton. The selection of senator has been made but three times on the part of the district where the senator resides. Once in 1851, when his grandfather, the late Joseph Pitman of Bartlett, was chosen; again in 1870 and 1871, when his father, Hon. Geo. W. M. Pitman of Bartlett, was senator, and president of the senate in 1876; and at the present session of the legislature. The present incumbent has a name suggestive of sound legislation. The Pitmans have always been famed for their Spartan democracy. Senator Pitman is a leading business man of Carroll county, and ably represents his district.

The Canadian Fisheries Dispute.

The open letter of Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury to Senator Morgan upon the subject of the dispute concerning our rights to deep-sea fishing, which appeared recently in the "American Law Magazine," has been reprinted as a pamphlet. Of course every one upon our coast knows that Judge Woodbury is entirely familiar with every phase of this question; that he knows the rights of our fishermen in the premises, and knowing, dares maintain them. The important information which Judge Woodbury thus rehearses to the senator from Alabama, it would be well for the administration at Washington to consider. The question is discussed in an exhaustive manner by the writer, who is as learned in the bearing upon the subject as he is adept in catching rock cod off the Isles of Shoals.

ELIOT ITEMS.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., July 5th.

The fourth was a day of much pleasure to old and young in this town. It was a day on which families were at home together, and no doubt many met with those that they had not seen for years, and may never meet with again.

Mr. Clifford Paul and wife of Brooklyn, N. Y., are spending a few weeks with Mr. Paul's uncle, Mr. Ira S. Paul of this town

Miss Mabel Adams left town on Saturday, the 2d inst., for Magnolia, Mass., which she is to be a table girl in the Hesperus house during the summer.

Major A. White and family and Mr. Albert Hanscom and family, of New York, are spending a vacation at the Eliot residence of Mr. Hanscom, the old Hanscom homestead, known as Clover farm.

Mr. Albert Libby and family have arrived for the summer at Mr. Libby's farm near the Congregational church. Mr. Libby had a fine barn built on the place last fall, and intends to erect a correspondingly fine house next autumn.

Children's day was observed in the Congregational church last Sunday, and in the evening a concert was given. The church was beautifully dressed with flowers; the exercises commenced at 7:45 o'clock, and included singing by the choir, prayer by Bro. J. W. Nowell, a short address by Dr. C. H. Guptill, and a solo by Mrs. F. J. Paul. Everything passed off very pleasantly.

Mrs. J. Billingham of Boston arrived to-day to occupy the house of Edward K. Paul for the summer.

A large number of the young people of this town employed in Boston were home on the 4th to spend the day.

HARRY.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, ME., July 5th.

On Saturday, June 25th, Dr. Hazen's horse stepped through Sewall's bridge while passing over it. The horse is considerably injured,—another little bill for the town to pay. This bridge is fast getting notoriety for accidents. "The fathers, where are they?"

On Sunday, Mr. N. B. Freeman, blacksmith at the corner, in getting into a hammock in some unaccountable way fell over it, striking on the ground, causing a fracture of the ligaments that join the collar bone to the shoulder. He is attended by Dr. Hazen, who says it will keep him from his labor for probably a month.

Any time is a bad time to meet with an accident, but this is more especially so in this case, for Mr. Freeman is just now much needed on repairing mowing machines, being an expert at that branch of business. It also leaves his partner, Mr. Mitchell, to run the whole business alone. P.

At a meeting of the Manchester school board last week the board were informed that a vacancy existed in the principalship of the North-Main street school, as Mr. J. Edward Pickering had not accepted his election at $900; and it was moved that he be elected at a salary of $1,050. One member of the board thought $1,200 was little enough to pay Mr. Pickering; he was doing good work, and was giving excellent satisfaction. Another member inquired if Mr. Pickering had ever been examined by the Manchester school committee; the rules required that he, and every other new teacher, should be, and he saw no reason why an exception should be made in his case. Stephen W. Clarke stated that Mr. Pickering was ready for an examination last fall, and expected one, but was not called upon; he was well fitted for his position, and the committee were satisfied with him. A vote was then taken, and Mr. Pickering was declared elected at $1,050 salary.

James H. McIntire's fine farm buildings at Brixham four corners, York, were burned on Monday afternoon; loss $3500; insurance $1500.

Mr. Anson Straw of Brixham district, York, was thrown from a mowing machine July 5th, and had his right hand nearly severed by the cutter.

In St. Louis, Mo., the citizens solicited $100 each to furnish funds to run the United States courts that frauds in the ballot boxes might be punished. It is easy enough to see why Randall pared down the appropriations for court expenditures. He did not wish to see his political friends punished.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

LENGTH OF DAY	15:28		12 P. M.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

The fourth was celebrated rather quietly in this city, although there was some volunteer ringing of bells, besides that paid for by the city, and crackers were exploded in liberal quantity. Some young men fired thirty-eight guns at midnight, and thirteen at sunrise and sunset, near the north millbridge, and the navy yard fired a salute at noon. The boys had the usual bonfires. There was an alarm of fire in the afternoon, caused by a slight blaze on one of the wharves at the Raynes shipyard. A game of cricket between the Mystic and Portsmouth clubs was won by the latter, 106 to 52. A race was pulled at noon on the river between the Nonpareil, Athletic and Riverside club boats, and a seine boat, each pulling six oars; the seine boat was first over the course, but her claim as winner was disputed. In the evening there was a band concert on the Parade, the band being hired by Mr. John E. Rider. There were some fine displays of fireworks by individuals.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The Board of Instruction had a meeting in the city rooms on the evening of the 5th inst. Absent the mayor, Messrs. Hodgdon, Sinclair and Gooding.

Hon. Calvin Page was called to the chair.

Report of the committee on text books recommending Swinton's geography instead of Guyot's, was accepted and adopted.

Committee on examination of teachers reported. Four candidates presented themselves, of whom two were approved.

Report of committee on training school for teachers was accepted. Three applications for entrance to the school, two in the upper class and one in the lower, were reported.

Bills to amount of $155.13 were ordered to be paid.

Charles H. Morss was unanimously re-elected superintendent of schools, at a salary of $1800.

Prof. Boyd announced that he was not a candidate for re-election as teacher of music in the schools. A committee were directed to report a candidate for the position at next meeting.

Mr. John S. Montgomery was re-elected teacher of penmanship in the schools.

Miss Janet G. Hutchins, of Lawrence, Mass., was elected principal of the training school.

Miss Carrie L. Drake and Miss Abby N. Frink resigned as teachers.

The superintendent reported that whereas there were thirty-three teachers employed, twenty-six were a sufficiency, and the following were elected:

Primary grade—Florence A. Ham, Alice J. Newton, Abbie L. Haven, Maude A. Woodward, Mabel L. Woodward, Abbie W. Hickey, Ellen A. Newton, Mabel A. Bennett, Annie L. Lamprey, Alice M. Marston, Sarah R. Beane, Annie P. Gilbert.

Intermediate grade—Nellie C. Mooers, Ida L. Marston, Nellie E. Rand, Josephine F. Prescott, Annie S. Hanscom, Ida E. Shackley, Matilda F. Rothwell, Nellie G. Ham.

Grammar grade—Frank W. Sweet, Wilbur J. Rockwood, Annie E. Smart, Irene O. Clark, Olive A. Akerman, Lura H. Pickering.

Voted that the fall term of school commence the first Monday in September.

Question of closing the Plains school was referred to a committee, to report at the next meeting.

THE BOAT-RACE DECISION.

To those concerned or interested in the Fourth of July regatta we respectfully submit the following report and decision:

The first prize is awarded the "Nonpareils."

The second prize is awarded the "Mascots."

Since the course was constantly blocked by uncontesting boats, and as but one turning point was used, apparently unintentional fouls occurred. Under such circumstances we feel justified in declaring all wagers void. The award is made on technicalities which have been carefully inquired into, and we trust all will accept our decision with kindly consideration of our very unpleasant position. We do not recommend a new race for the cups, as each crew decline to again contest for the prizes.

THE RETIREMENT OF JUDGE TREAT.

The proceedings of the St. Louis bar on the retirement of Hon. Samuel Treat, United States district judge for the Eastern district of Missouri, and the induction into office of his successor, Hon. Amos M. Thayer, at St. Louis on the fifth of March last, have been printed and bound in substantial form.

Judge Treat was born in this city, Dec. 17, 1815. At the age of sixteen he completed his education at our High school, and for one year thereafter was employed as assistant teacher. In 1833 he entered Harvard college, and was graduated in 1837. He was the first example in New England of a student who entered Harvard university directly from a public school, without having passed through an intermediate training school. In 1838 he commenced the study of law in the offices of Jeremiah Mason and Charles B. Goodrich. While studying his profession he taught school at Jamaica Plain. While teaching school at Jamaica Plain he was elected to take charge of the Temple Hill academy in the Genessee Valley, New York. While at this place he continued his studies with Governor John Young. He resigned as teacher in 1840, and in 1841 went to St. Louis and was admitted to the bar. He spent some years in editorial work. In 1848 he spent the winter in Cuba for his health. Returning to St. Louis, he laid aside his editorial pen, and was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He was in office as judge for several years. In 1857 Congress passed an act creating the District of Court for the Eastern District of St. Louis. Judge Treat was appointed its first judge by Franklin Pierce, then president of the United States, on the 3d day of March, the day before the expiration of his office as president. He was confirmed by the senate on the same day. He resigned the office to take effect March 5th, 1887, after being commissioned as judge for thirty years, and attaining the age of seventy-one years.

Judge Treat passed thirty years of his life in constant judicial labor. The admiralty and bankruptcy business of the court gave the judge but little time for rest or recreation. His career as a judge has been noted for his ability in dealing with intricate questions, his devoted energy, his unflinching courage and stern impartiality.

The bar of St. Louis invited him to be present at a banquet to be given in his honor on the occurrence of his retirement, but the judge has a decided distaste for such occasions, and declined it. After much solicitation he consented to sit for his portrait, which hangs in the court room.

The occasion of the retirement of Judge Treat was marked by the attendance of prominent lawyers and laymen of St. Louis. A touching address was made by Col. J. O. Brodhead, which was responded to by Judge Thayer, the successor of Judge Treat. Other addresses followed, all filled with evidence of the appreciation and high estimation in which the St. Louis people for eight and thirty years had held our former townsman.

We are glad to note the enviable record thus shown by a native of our old town and a scholar in our public schools. It must have been peculiarly gratifying for a president of the United States who had studied law in the same offices on Portsmouth Parade, to be able to designate for this important office a man from his own state whose promise of future ability in the responsible position to which he was called was at the time so apparent to the appointing power. A photographic copy of the judge's portrait adorns the volume. H.

The flagship Richmond of the North Atlantic squadron arrived in the lower harbor on Tuesday afternoon, 5th inst., and exchanged salutes with the navy yard.

A slight fire occurred in the boiler shop at the navy yard shortly before six o'clock Saturday afternoon, but the only harm done was the destruction of the lagging on a boiler.

The Warner mansion on Daniel street, the summer home of Mrs. John N. Sherburne and family, has been opened for the season.

Mr. Percy Rowe of this city will have charge of the refreshment cafe at Cutler's Sea View house, Hampton beach, for the remainder of the season. Cutler's has become noted as a place where one of the best dinners on the coast is served at a moderate charge, and Mr. Rowe's engagement will detract nothing from its popularity—he has a host of friends.

Mr. R. I. Walden of this city sailed on Tuesday, the 5th inst., in the schooner Agnes E. Downs, Capt. Levi Downs, on a mackerel trip to the British provincial waters, for pleasure.

Mr. Stewart and family, of Kansas City, Mo., have arrived at their summer home, the Sheafe Coffin place at Little Harbor, for the season.

Messrs. Charles Amazeen of Washington, D. C., and Daniel S. Broderick of New York, were among the former residents of Portsmouth who came home on the 4th for a brief stay.

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury of Boston, and Hon. Christopher E. Rymes of Somerville, Mass., on Monday made their usual annual 4th of July pilgrimage to the Isles of Shoals, returning on Tuesday.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

A Noble Patriot's Services Recalled.

The church of Rev. T. Starr King in San Francisco is about to be torn down in the march of modern improvements, and the event suggests to the Chronicle of that city something of its history. The Unitarian church in San Francisco held its first service in 1850, with a membership of 25 men and no women. Mr. King was installed in this church in 1860. "Under his ministration," says the Chronicle, "the young church grew in power and might. The building could not contain the multitude that flocked to hear his eloquence. It was the beginning of the civil war. Public sentiment in California was largely with the seeding states, California being in the balance almost as much as were Maryland and Kentucky. King threw himself into the contest. He entered the political arena. His sermon breathed Union, and the state throughout its length and breadth rang with his appeals for the cause of the north."

Among the last words of Mr. King was the request that the church, free from debt, should be his monument. His body was burried in the churchyard, and the question is now raised as to whether it shall lie in the yard of the new edifice. The present pastor, Rev. Dr. Stebbins, will use his strongest influence that the sarcophagus shall be removed to the new grounds.

Time and labor saved by the use of Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but be sure you are not imposed on by the vile imitations in the market.

W. K. Vanderbilt and his family sailed last week from New York in their steam yacht Alva, for a voyage around the world.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

The immigration at Castle Garden from Jan. 1st to July 1st was 212,955, an increase of 63,948 over the number for the same period in 1886.

If there ever is a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventative if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

Nathaniel A. Fuller has been sentenced by Judge Knowlton at New Bedford, Mass., to three years in the house of correction for polygamy.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. Small price. Small dose. Small pill.

The number of applicants for admission to the freshman class at Yale this year is 545, the largest ever known in the history of the college.

How a Colored Boy Became Rich.

The holder of one-tenth of ticket 23,289—the second capital prize in the April drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery of $50,000—has received his $5,000, and our readers would perhaps like to know that Clifford J. Tweedy is a likely colored boy, twenty-two years of age, raised by Mr. Henry T. Peay, and getting $6 per month. He deposited $4,000 in the Georgia Railroad Bank, and divided a portion of the rest amongst his poor relations. He did not forget Mr. Peay, to whom he gave fifty dollars. He said that he had a ticket pointed out to him fifteen months ago, and it was the fifteenth dollar that did the work.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, April 30th.

For a time my life was despaired of. My trouble was with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists; $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. tfy7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The Glorious 4th at Halifax.

The United States war ship Galena and the New York schooner yacht Ruth arrived in port at Halifax, N. S., on the morning of the 4th inst., and the result of their presence in the harbor was the first noteworthy observance of the Fourth of July ever known in Halifax. The Galena, which was decorated with bunting, exchanged salutes with the British flagship Bellerophon at noon. The Galena and yacht Ruth fired salutes in honor of the day. The citadel and the British war ships Bellerophon and Pylades made displays of flags, including the stars and stripes.

The U. S. S. Ossipee is hourly expected in Halifax. She, with the Galena, is making a tour of the Canadian fishing grounds.

Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which possesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fail" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

England has refused to grant Turkey any further time for signing the Egyptian convention. And Turkey refuses to sign.

The Channing Memorial church, at Newport, has elected two women on its board of trustees. This is an example which many churches might profitably follow.

Richard Cronan of Boston has lost his life in attempting to swim across Niagara river.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action, reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years obliges us to admit that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms quickly yield to it.

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering testimonials of Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago, and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest, is the only true middle link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown, in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted, its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron, its rolling stock is perfection, human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The security of its passenger accommodation is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

All Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of Comfortable Day Coaches, magnificent Pullman Palace Parlor and Sleeping Cars, elegant Dining Cars providing excellent meals, and—between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of Southern Minnesota and Dakota are reached via "Albert Lea." A short, desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior accommodations to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points. All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly treatment.

The Wood-Chopper of Corea.

Was the legend of Rip Van Winkle wholly the creation of Washington Irving, or did he put into such pleasing shape some story he had unearthed in his antiquarian researches? asks the New York Post. In Perceval Lowell's book, "A Sketch of Corea," I find this legend, under the head of "Demon Worship":

There lived once upon a time a certain well-to-do countryman whose business took him into the woods. He was a feller of timber, and in the pursuit of his work he often went far into the mountains. All the Coreans are fond of nature, and this man was no exception to the rule; so, with his business as excuse and love as an incentive, he would ramble on in the virgin forest. One day he wandered farther than usual and found himself at last some distance up the side of the mountain. Before him lay the peak, seemingly close, and under the impulse of that species of folly which urges men to go to the top of anything lofty, in spite of their better judgment and repeated experience that the end never justifies the means, he climbed it. When at last he reached the summit he found there four old men busily engaged on a game of go. They were seated, squatted in a circle, the go-board in their midst, while around them on the grass lay flagons of sul, and a page sat hard by to replenish the cups as they were emptied. The four looked up as he approached, bowed with great civility, and, observing that he was tired, ordered the page to pour him out some sul. He sat down, sipped the sul, and looked on at the game. After tarrying what seemed but a very short time in such agreeable company he arose to take his leave. They bade him good-by with as much courtesy as they had welcomed him and he started down the mountain. He descended without accident, and reached the bottom in much less time than it had taken him to go up. Mindful of his wife and children he struck out for home and arrived there in safety before supper. On entering his cottage he was somewhat surprised to find the place occupied by people he had never seen. What was worse, they ordered him off the premises as an intruder. He remonstrated at thus being turned out of his own house and in the altercation that ensued the master of the place came out from an inner room to see what was going on. He was a man well on in life, and yet the woodman never remembered to have laid eyes on him before. Appealing to him, however, for redress, the woodman was asked his name, and on giving it, the man replied that such was his first name too. (In Corea the first name is equivalent to our last name.) On further questioning it turned out that the present incumbent was the woodman's own grandson. The wanderer had come back to another world. His wife had long since died; his children all were buried; most of their children, too, had passed away, and his great-grandchildren had grown up to manhood. He had been gone 100 years.

Cannibals in America.

Prof J. Jacobsen, who has been in the province for some years collecting Indian curios for the Hamburgh museum and writing up the habits, customs, and traditions of the aborigines, arrived down on the Boscowitz from Bella Coola. The professor spent last winter at Tucalo, the head of the southernmost of the Bentinck. Here he found the Indian in his primitive state, a wild, untutored savage, with but a scant knowledge of the arts or customs of civilization. The inlet, running far inland and being every way out of the course of traders or prospectors, is never visited, and the Indians say no white man ever went up to the head of it before. They live there as they do in most places around the coast, by hunting and fishing, deer and fur-bearing animals abounding in large numbers. They are without missionaries and cannibalism is rampant. The professor tells of some sickening sights which he witnessed there during the past winter, which at this day one could scarcely believe capable of being witnessed so near home, did the information not come from a reliable person. The custom is still out there of men ambitious for the honors of chieftain betaking themselves to the woods, and after remaining there for some time, coming back possessed of the spirit and biting pieces of flesh from the bodies of those whom they first meet. One who wished to graduate last winter went out and remained from sight for several weeks, though he came near the camp occasionally and made night hideous with his yells. When he returned to the tribe he came naked, notwithstanding that it was in the middle of the winter, with two or three feet of snow on the ground. The first man he met he seized, knocked down, and bit a piece out of his arm, which he chewed ravenously. This was repeated many times over, his face becoming besmeared with blood and presenting a fiendish appearance. The victims of the would be chieftain's bites received in return for their pains a pecuniary compensation, and it is an honor to carry the scar. The more scars of this kind decorate an Indian's body the more numerous are his honors, and when he comes to have a great many he becomes chieftain himself in a little way. The biter on one occasion made a break for the professor, who soon gave him to understand that he was going to experience something pretty tough if he touched him. He was not molested.—Victoria Colonist.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and unfortunately leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders in medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilages of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Peculiar

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

Another Presidential Pardon.

The president to-day granted a pardon in the case of Reuben Trotsky, who was convicted in the United States court for the southern district of New York of violating internal revenue laws, and sentenced May 16, 1887, to six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1,000. The president says that this convict's offence appears to be merely a technical violation of the statute with no intention to commit a crime, and he thinks the convict did not even know he was doing a forbidden act.—New York Tribune.

This is a good illustration of Cleveland's hypocrisy. The case was a simple one of violating the law. But the influential wholesale dealers in liquors, who are relied on to carry New York for Cleveland, only had to hint that they desired a let up on these prosecutions, and the administration succumbed. It is an unwritten order that the "trade" shall not be molested by collectors of internal revenue. If dealers see fit to take out a license, that will be well enough. But the treasury is full; the law will soon be repealed, and the punishment of democratic liquor dealers must cease. The good of the party demands a new line of action in this respect.

Brewster Academy.

The trustees of the Brewster Free Academy of Wolfeboro met in Dover on Tuesday, July 5th, and organized under the charter granted by the legislature, William Brewster of Cambridge, Mass., John L. Brewster of Lawrence, Mass., and Arthur F. Esterbrook of Boston are trustees ex-officio as executors of the will of the late John Brewster, who bequeathed a large sum of money to found the academy. They serve for life. Other members of the board drew lots for their term of office, resulting as follows: Seven years, Albert Wiggin of Wolfeboro; six years, Charles H. Parker of Wolfeboro; five years, John L. Avery of Wolfeboro; four years, Judge Jeremiah Smith of Dover; three years, Charles A. Bell of Lawrence, Mass.; two years, John K. Lord of Hanover; one year, B. F. Parker of Wolfeboro. It was voted to permanently organize Sept. 2d, and open the academy the first week in September. Money was appropriated for repairs of the present academy building. Edward H. Lord of Bowdoin, class '71, was elected master; Miss Lydia F. Reusick, a graduate of New Hampton, was elected instructor in Latin and English. The trustees voted to buy thirty-seven and one-half acres of land of Charles Rollins of Wolfeboro for a site for the new academy buildings. The old academy will be devoted to town purposes when the new academy is built.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, July 4th.

Before ten o'clock last evening salutes were fired and horns were blowing, all eager to greet the glorious fourth. People were hurrying along to the beaches. This morning at five o'clock the "horribles" made their appearance as usual, accompanied with good music. The barges are full, and all are enjoying the 4th with its cool refreshing breeze, and Hampton's clean roads and beautiful views on land and sea.

Twelve boarders arrived at the De Lancey house Saturday evening; every room is engaged, and many more people would like to engage board could they be accommodated.

On Saturday, as the quarter-past two train was nearing the crossing, a lady drove along in a carriage, and in ten seconds more would have been killed but for her presence of mind and control of the horse. The flagman, it is alleged, was back out of sight to get out of the rain, and gave no warning, but the lady saw the train and reined in the horse, breaking the harness by the sudden shock. The lady was greatly frightened, but the flagman did not offer to help after seeing what had been done.

Frank Riley took to Portsmouth on Friday last the first new native potatoes of the season; they were of the Early Maine variety, of good size, and were purchased by Christopher Smart for $1.50 per bushel. Last year Mr. Riley had potatoes in the Portsmouth market on June 28th. Mr. Riley is soon to start a milk route at Kittery Point; he has three fine Jersey cows, and will purchase more; he has engaged to supply the Parkfield hotel and several large boarding houses, for the season.

Mrs. Carroline Norton, widow of Samuel Norton, although eighty-two years old is yet quite smart and active; this spring, besides performing her household duties, she has planted and hoed a large vegetable garden, doing all the work alone, and it is said that it is the finest one in that section.

A valuable Smuggler colt belonging to Geo. W. Damon was chased about the pasture until exhausted, and then mangled by dogs, one night last week, and it is thought to be ruined. This dog business is getting to be altogether too frequent an occurence in this town, and it is time that something was done to stop their depredations. Many farmers have given up raising sheep, years ago, on account of the wholesale slaughter of them by worthless curs.

More improvements are being made in the Kittery railroad station, it being necessary to have a telegraph operator since the junction of the new railroad is here, and artisans are now at work partitioning off a room between the two waiting rooms, to be used as a telegraph and ticket office.

Miss Fannie F. Eaton, of Kennebunk, formerly of Kittery, is visiting friends at the foreside. SUB ROSA.

Mr. Cleveland, "vowing he'll ne'er consent, has consented" to be a candidate for re-election. Of course every one in this country and in every English-speaking region knew that when the president stated that he should under no circumstances try for a second term, he was shamming. But there are some of his party who think Grover is like Queen Victoria in this respect—he can't have a second term.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The following are the grammar school pupils entitled to enter the Portsmouth high school at the fall term:

From the Walker school—Charles E. Locke, William M. Paul, Lewis Gilbert, Alice M. Gerrish, Grace M. Sampson, Gertrude G. Wheaton, Charles W. Green, Georgie E. Odiorne.

From the Jones school—Alice Anderson, William Cotton, Mattie Cutts, Arthur Green, Alice Jenkins, John Morrison, Martha Simpson, Emily Tilton, Fred Tucker, Harry Watts, Lillie Hobb.

From the Haven school--Henry Broderick, Christopher Conlon, Edward Hannaford, Charles Martin, Agnes Murphy, Walter James, Mary Rand, Carrie Ridge.

An examination was held at the high school building on Tuesday, the 5th inst., at which pupils from any school were allowed to present themselves, and the following-named applicants for admission successfully passed:

Josiah Stover, (of Kittery,) Henry Marshall, William Morrissey, Nettie Cartwright, Lulu Sheehan.

A POOR THING.

At a fire on the afternoon of the 4th in the Raynes shipyard, steamer No. 3 was placed at the salt-water reservoir, or whatever it is called, on Vaughan street, and after a few moments work it was found she was pumping mud, the tide being very low at the time. No. 2, which had been held in reserve, was sent to the millbridge and drew water from the pond, which was full, the gates being closed; and the fire was soon extinguished. The affair demonstrated that the salt-water contrivance is valueless to depend on in case of fire, as fires cannot be depended on to always occur at high tide.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, July 6th.

Michael J. Ryan, for assault on Christopher Kilbeabeck, was fined $5, costs $8.04, which he paid.

CHANGING OLD NAMES.

The Manchester Mirror says: "Mrs. C. E. Huse of Lawrence has bought the Ex-Governor Straw property at Straw's point, Rye beach, and it is reported by the cottagers there that she intends to erect a hotel upon the site, which is one of the finest along the shore. If this proves to be a fact, then the point will no longer be a place of seclusion from the public."

The Mirror, commenting on an earnest remonstrance from a former resident of Piscataquog against the change of its name to West Manchester, says:

There are thousands of people, including many who are still residents of Manchester, who will heartily second this protest of the colonel against the vandalism which has driven away a name that is woven into the recollections of their childhood, their love for their native city and their reverence for their ancestors. West Manchester may be more metropolitan, more modern and more descriptive than Piscataquog, but to those who knew this section when it was young it is a harsh and repulsive intruder that has no right to a place in a record of Manchester happenings, especially when it crowds out a name enshrined in our history and in the hearts of our people. And what is true of this case applies to scores of others in which time-honored names that were firmly set in the tradition and story and song of the citizens of the Granite State have been violently wrenched out and thrown aside to make room for those that tickle the fancy, feed the pride or testify to the grossness of the generations of to-day. Be they ever so homely, there is a charm about the names which the early settlers gave to the lakes and mountains and rivers, the towns and districts and villages, and they are far dearer to the natives of the state than any new ones can possibly be.

The changing of the name of "Locke's neck," Rye, to "Straw's point," was just such a change as the Mirror so warmly—and with such justifiable warmth—denounces. It was on that point that the Lockes settled in the infant days of the Piscataqua river colony. It was on that point that the first rude attempt at plowing in Rye was made, by a Locke; and it was on that point that the last colonist killed in Rye by an Indian lost his life—and he was a Locke, shot down while at work in his field one summer afternoon. Gov. Straw was a man of prominence in the manufacturing and financial circles of the state in his day, and was elevated to the governorship of New Hampshire; but the discarding of the historic name of Locke's neck, which the point had borne for over two centuries, a name so interwoven with the history and tradition of the early settlers, for an appellation which signifies nothing more than that a wealthy man bought the land and built a house on it for a residence a few months in the year, was a piece of silliness which should be atoned for at once by restoring the ancient name.

A similar piece of folly was the changing by vote of the city councils of Portsmouth, somewhere about forty-five years ago, of the name of "The Parade" to "Market square." It is not a square, never was, and probably never will be. The Parade was distinctively a New England appellation. It was on the Parade, in this town and others, that the militia, the men who fought the battles of the revolution and of 1812, had their occasional drills; the name meant something, and referred directly to the early manners and customs of the colonists, and as such it should have been retained. And we are not wholly without hope that we may yet live to read of a city government sensible enough to discard the absurd "Market square," and restore the good old name "Parade" to the spot which was called that so long.

The barbers' picnic at Wallis' sands, Rye, comes off on Thursday of next week. Arrangements for a grand time have been made. A limited number of tickets are still to be had, on application to any of the barbers.

A reception in honor of Rear Admiral Luce and the officers of the flagship Richmond was given at the navy yard on Wednesday afternoon, the 6th inst., by Commandant Bradford and the officers of the yard. Many ladies and prominent citizens of Portsmouth attended.

Twenty-two of the crew of the United States sloop-of-war Ossipee, now lying in Boston harbor, have deserted. The Ossipee was to have sailed with the flagship Richmond for this port on the 5th inst., but the desertions among the crew made that impossible.

The farm house of Mr. Solomon Staples of Eliot was burned about eleven o'clock at night on the 5th inst., with its contents; supposed cause, a defect in the chimney. Loss about $2000, with small insurance. The barn, which is nearly new, having been built to replace one burned several years ago, was saved.

Among the patents granted July 5th was one to Henry A. Chase of Stoneham, Mass., assignor to the Municipal Signal Co., of this city, for a signal box.

The postmaster-general on the 5th inst. established the post-offices at Limerick and York Corner, Me., and Franconia, Hancock, Jackson and South Newmarket, in this state, as money-order offices.

A big excursion from Manchester to the Isles of Shoals has been arranged for, to take place next Wednesday, leaving Manchester by special train early in the morning, and returning in the evening, allowing seven hours or more at the islands. Eastman's full military band will accompany the excursion.

The county commissioners have awarded the contract for furnishing coal for the county farm and Portsmouth jail to C. E. Walker & Co., the lowest bidder. The contract for Exeter jail was awarded to J. Albert Walker, he being the lowest bidder on that contract.

Capt. Fred Frisbee, of the yacht Starlight, took a party from Union Bluff to Boon island on the 4th, and on returning brought in the mail. On the 5th he brought a party from York to this port. He has a fine boat, is a careful and competent skipper, and has about all the patronage he can attend to.

Hon. Ezra A. Stevens and wife of Malden, Mass., who have been "doing" the White mountain region in their own carriage, passed through this city on the 2d inst. on their way home.

Mrs. George F. Evans and children of Louisville, Ky., have arrived in this city to pass the season.

Mr. John W. Stott has hired the cottage on the Dow farm at Rye, and his family will pass the warm season there.

MATTERS IN YORK.

AGAMENTICUS, YORK, July 5th.

The berry crop in this district will fall far short of the average this season, many of the bushes on and around the hill having been burned by the great fire of a month ago.

The locality once known as the "Welch neighborhood," also sometimes called Steep Gully, where a few years ago five or six families lived and had farms and houses, is now entirely abandoned, and not a rod of the land is fenced or a house left standing.

The oldest persons living in this district are Emily Plaisted, aged eighty-two years; Jeremiah Norman, aged eighty-three; Deborah Norman, aged eighty-four; Mrs. Betsey Trafton, aged ninety-two.

The oldest house now standing in this district is the one owed by Oren Fitzgerald. Its exact age is not known, even by tradition, but the old stone chimney is in it yet. F.

The Biddeford Journal remarks: "Six judges and clerks of election have been sentenced to two years imprisonment for conspiring to commit election frauds in Baltimore. The promptness with which this class of rascals gets justice meted out to them in democratic Maryland should teach a wholesome lesson to the legal tribunals of York county, Maine."

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the City Clerk, until Monday, July 11, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for supplying the city with 25 cords of good merchantable hard wood, 25 cords of good merchantable pine wood; to be delivered on the cars or wharf before August 15th, 1887. Also, 100 tons (gross weight) stove coal; 75 tons (gross weight) egg coal; 12 tons (gross weight) English cannel coal; to be delivered on the wharf at such time and in such quantities as may be required by the city authorities.

The right to reject any and all bids reserved.

MERCER GOODRICH, City Clerk.

Although not a very distant neighbor, the republic of Venezuela is little known to Northern Americans. A land of perpetual summer, it presents many and varied attractions to the tourist, which are to be pleasantly set forth by Dr. W. F. Hutchinson in "The American Magazine" for August, with a portrait of the renowned Venezuelan president, General Guzman Blanco.

At Fitchburg, Mass., on the 5th, a panic arose in a horse-car that was on its way to a ball game, and a number of persons were injured by jumping off. One, Marion O'Brien, was killed.

The total number of pensions allowed for the year ending June 30th was 55,577, or exactly 5,000 more than the largest number ever before granted in a half year. The number of Mexican pensions was 18,711, much the larger part to residents in the southern states, as it was known must be the case when the bill was passed, a fact which no doubt had much to do with President Cleveland's signing it.

"A Few English Wayside Birds," as seen by American eyes, will be sketched by Theodore H. Mead, in "The American Magazine" for August. The article will, it is hoped, show that most of the common birds of England are cheery little fellows, with none of the vices of the detested sparrow.

Time and labor saved by the use of Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but be sure you are not imposed on by the vile imitations in the market.

There was a big celebration of the 4th at the Weirs, over 10,000 people being present. The Laconia Knights of Labor had a celebration on Long Island, in the lake, which was attended by over 1000 persons.

Rev. C. F. Brooks says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Peter J. Finnegan of Providence, R. I., on the afternoon of the 4th in a drunken quarrel shot Bridget Finnegan, his wife, through the head.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler made a 4th of July address at Claremont.

If there ever is a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventative if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

Safety from Malaria.

The most vigorous constitution, and the strongest physique, are not proof against a disease, the germs of which impregnate the air we breath and the water we drink. The true preparative, the surest defense, is to fortify the system with a medicine which possesses specific virtues as a safeguard and remedy. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this article—proved by conclusive tests to be so. Not only on this continent, wherever miasma gives birth to the malarial infection, but in the tropics, where fever and ague assumes its most malignant types, this incomparable, popular and deserving medicine has, for over a third of a century, shown its efficacy. Chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious remittent alike yield to its influence and are prevented by it. The word "fail" has no place in the lexicon of possibilities when this peerless article is used. It tones the stomach, arouses the liver when sluggish, and promotes healthful activity of the kidneys and bladder.

James E. Nowlin, the murderer of Mr. Codman, the milkman, in East Cambridge, Mass., has been sentenced to be hung Jan. 20th, 1888.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action, reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years obliges us to admit that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms quickly yield to it.

— FOR —

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

WHAT HE HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT.

An Easy and a Pleasant Thing to Take —It Gave me Sleep and a Restful Life.

I wish to sincerely thank you for the knowledge which you gave me of a remedy for nervous disorders and for neuralgia.

I have been afflicted all my life with attacks of neuralgia affecting principally my face and head, giving me at times excruciating pain, disturbing my sleep and appetite and general health, and often rendering me unfit for business. You will see that this affection has been of long standing. These attacks were not continuous, but of an intermittent character, coming and going, making their appearance often like a flash of lightning, without any previous warning, tormenting me for a few days then passing off with a few lingering twinges, only to reappear later on. Besides being hereditary it was no doubt aggravated by nervous and mental irritation and exhaustion, helped on by a faulty digestion and bad nutrition. No doubt the prevailing cause of neuralgia is impoverished or poisoned blood. The seat and lines of attack are the nerves. A great city is not half so full of telegraph wires as the human body is of nerves, and neuralgia pains are the most exquisitly afflicting series of sensations from head to hand, and to the most distant portions of the body, a human being is capable of experiencing.

You may be very sure that I was eager to get rid of this infliction, and to this end have tried almost every form of nerve medication; oftentimes it is true with great temporary relief, but never, until I met with Kaskine, with what bore any resemblance to a cure.

When Kaskine (the new quinine) was brought to my notice by a friend it was at a time when one of my attacks was on me in full force. My friend told me that Kaskine (the new quinine) not only acted directly on the blood, disinfecting it of poison, but that it also acted on the digestive and assimilative functions, furnishing new and vivifying blood to the attenuated and throbbing nerves.

I without hesitation began to use it freely and steadily according to the directions, and found that it was not only an easy and a pleasant medicine to take, but also a very effective one. When I began taking Kaskine I was nearly wild with the spasms of pain in my head and face; they were almost unbearable. After a few doses had been taken I was greatly relieved of the paroxysms. I could sleep restfully and eat my food with relish, and I said to myself, "I think that this Kaskine will do the business for me."

I continued its use and was soon a different man; the pains were all gone, the nervous twitches and lightning-like twinges of darting agony had disappeared; my depressed spirits rose, and whatever the cause or however it may have wrought, I believe that Kaskine (the new quinine) has proved itself to be the true remedy for neuralgia.

Some months have now elapsed since my neuralgic attacks ceased and they have not returned.

I again thank you for making known to me this remedy, and if my "say so" is of any use to you or to others who may be suffering from this dreaded infliction, I am entirely willing that you should use my name in its behalf, as personally I believe in it.

P. S.—I will very willingly reply to any letters of inquiry addressed to me at my residence, 131 North Pearl street, Albany, N. Y.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine (the new quinine) as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

The Composition of Wigs.

"Is not some preparation needed before the hair is placed on the market for sale?"

"O yes, of course. In Paris, where there are several large hair-dealers to whom the peddlers sell their collections, the sorting, cleaning, and preparation of hair form an important industry. You see, hair from all parts of the world and of all shades, complexions, lengths, and previous condition of servitude are brought to these hair marts and laid out. The women, whose powers of distinguishing colors are exceptionally acute, go over them matching all the different colors of the same texture, no matter where they may have come from. These strands are also matched as to length, until finally the hair is divided up into lots of precisely the same kind. Now, see here," he said, taking down a tress from the window, "you might perhaps suppose that all this was grown on one head. That is nonsense. I would not be surprised, if every hair could tell the story of its origin, that we would find representatives from every race on the globe. I see some Chinese representatives here. You see Chinese hair has been used to some extent. It is, of course, very coarse and straight, but in Paris it is split to a fine quality and subjected to a preparation to make it glossy. Then, again, hair is dyed to a certain specified shade. A great portion of all the white hair, to tell you a professional secret, is manufactured by bleaching. But all these preparations are virtual failures, and nothing is so good as the genuine article free from preparation, although it is more costly."—San Francisco Call.

Florida Fruit.

In this region, also, cocoanuts and pineapples are grown, and the cocoanut industry is being largely cultivated in south Florida. Pineapples and cocoanuts pay very well. Ten thousand pineapples can be raised, it is said, to the acre, and an acre of ground will support fifty cocoanut trees. The cocoanut trees require little cultivation. They begin to bear at from nine to twelve years of age, and they produce from 80 to 150 nuts to the tree. Cocoanuts bring about 5 cents apiece to the grower, and supposing, a ten acre grove will yield twenty thousand nuts it will bring in an income of $1,000 a year. There have been many cocoanut groves planted within the last two or three years in south Florida. Mr. Field, of Middletown, N. J., has about 330,000 trees. They are planted twenty feet apart each way on a strip of land in Dade county, near the Atlantic ocean. Mr. Field thinks that the ground along the ocean is the best for the cocoanut.

In Orange county there are also some groves, at Charlotte harbor on the Gulf of Mexico, there are trees which produce three hundred nuts apiece annually. There are 325,000 trees now in Monroe county, of which fifty thousand were set out last year. Florida grew about one hundred thousand dozen pineapples last year, and the day may come when it will supply to the United States the most of tropical fruits. Gen. Grant said that Florida was capable of supplying the tropical fruits now used in the United States and all of the $100,000,000 worth of sugar now imported, and in his opinion it afforded the best opening in the world for young men of small means and great industry. I think this is true to a certain extent. But the pioneer needs more capital to begin his life here than in the western states. Orange-growing and cocoanut-growing require time before they begin to yield a profit, but when the profit does come it amply compensates the few years of waiting.—Cor. Cleveland Leader.

A very remarkable operation has just been performed by Mr. Keetley, at the West London hospital. A child was brought in having a large mole covering nearly the whole of its cheek. He transplanted the mole by exchange. That is, he removed the mole from the cheek to the arm and planted flesh from the arm on the cheek. Everything succeeded perfectly.

Several years ago a few deer were let loose on the mountains east of Bennington, and since that an effort has been made to enforce the law forbidding anyone to kill deer in Vermont. The result is that here and there throughout the State deer are seen, and as the law has three years yet to run it is quite likely that the Green mountains may in time be well stocked.

A young man who had been hanging around Washington trying to get a $1,200 clerkship till his money was all gone, recently received an offer of $40 a month to go to Birmingham, Ala., as tally clerk. A friend loaned him $100 to pay his board bill and get out of town with, and he went. In a few days his "boss" at Birmingham loaned him money to buy a lot of land with, and a week later he sold it for upward of $1,000 advance.

According to an observing New York reporter the red-eared craze among the chorus girls in burlesque and comic operas is over. Taking the idea from Bernhardt, the small ones of the stage painted their ears a bright pink. Their new affectation is the baby stare. It takes the place of the roguish glance and the shy droop. The operator of a pair of eyes opens them to their widest, fixes them directly upon a man in the front row, and calmly keeps them there as long as circumstances will permit. Neither ogle or wink is recognised by the cool orbs thus employed in the infantile act. They seem aware of nothing beyond the ocular manifestation.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofulia, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

On the 2d inst. Charles Champney, a laborer, in a fit of jealousy, shot his wife at State Line. He fired at her three times, and two balls entered her head. Then he shot himself once in the head, and put another ball between his fourth and fifth ribs. At last account both were alive but in a critical condition.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. Cohen of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength, and increases the appetite."

Frightful Disaster.

A portion of the land bordering on the lake at Zug, the capital of the Swiss canton of that name, subsided on Tuesday night, the 5th inst., and a large number of new quays were submerged in the lake. Forty houses, a crowded inn and the Hotel Zurich, a four-story structure, full of visitors, vanished entirely. The occupants of the building were engulfed while they slept, and at least 200 persons perished, including M. Collin, president of the canton. An infant was found alive in a floating cradle the next morning. The cause of the disaster was supposed to be either a local earthquake, or the sliding into the lake of a vast amount of matter from the Zugberg, a lofty mountain on its border.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., July 6th.

The fourth was duly observed in a patriotic way by many of our citizens besides those who attended the exercises at the village. Many went down river to enjoy a genuine fish chowder or cunner fry; others took to the woods with lunch baskets well filled with goodies for themselves, and themselves supplied food for hungry mosquitos; and some stayed at home and with palm-leaf fan and lemonade tried in vain to keep cool and celebrate in a quiet and restful manner.

"We," with a party of about twenty others from Kittery, were very comfortably located at the Sea Cottage, York beach, where we found sitting on the broad piazzas and inhaling the cool sea breeze quite refreshing, and in marked contrast to the dry, dusty atmosphere of the city with the mercury high up in the nineties and still rising. Landlord Grant, genial gentleman that he always is, had one of his extra good days, and we were royally entertained with a "seat at the first table" and the liberty of the house and grounds, which we well improved, and we tender our thanks with others to Mr. Grant for his hospitality. We regret that we could not remain in the evening to witness the grand display of fireworks.

The class of '87 of the Free High school were photographed this week. We would like one!

Mrs. George W. Tuckerman (formerly Miss Lizzie Varney) died at her home in Dorchester, Mass., last week, after a short illness with consumption. A lovely girl, she left her home and many friends here but a few short months ago, in the bloom of youth and apparent good health; to-day she is with the silent throng, and we have left but kindly recollections of her pleasant face and cheery disposition. She left one child to comfort her sorrowing husband.

There is quite an active interest being taken just now in the First Methodist society of North Kittery, to build up a flourishing and useful Sunday school by getting in new members. Even a newspaper man has been induced, through the earnest solicitations of a little lady who is much interested in the school, to make a formal agreement to join; but since the advent of the hot weather his good resolutions have weakened to a most lamentable degree.

Mr. Fred A. Fernald, who was graduated from Dartmouth college last week, has just returned from a tour in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and will this summer be employed as chief clerk at the hotel Wentworth, having commenced his duties there this week.

SUB ROSA.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Dr. Peabody and family will occupy the young ladies' seminary building during the summer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morehouse, who died in Marblehead, Mass., on the 5th inst., was daughter of the late Theodore Harvey of this city, and her remains were brought here for interment.

Mr. James Borthwick and his daughter, Miss Ora Borthwick, started on Thursday last for Los Angeles, Cal., having been called there by the serious and it is feared fatal illness of Mr. Borthwick's son Burt, who has resided there for some ten years past.

Mrs. T. W. Priest and son Ollie, accompanied by Mrs. Wheldon and son of Providence, R. I., who have been visiting at Mr. Priest's, left on Thursday morning for Nottingham to pass a week or two. Miss Gertrude Priest started the same day for Rhode Island, where she will spend several weeks in visiting friends in Pawtucket and Providence.

A SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

Lang syne, more than thirty years ago, when Gen. Hadley's good old Piscataqua house faced the office, on the site now occupied by the government building, a young man employed in the Chronicle office looked from an upper window on an election day to see if he could discern the cause for a violent outbreak in the street. The general had an imposing flagstaff, on which was flung to the breeze on all proper occasions a fine banner of the red, white and blue. The city was of not long existence then, and the old "town meeting" rules for political guidance still retained a certain amount of sway. The trouble on the street was simply an over-ardent democratic voter, who was making so much noise that the guardians of the peace came out to "take him in." Then arose a second Patrick Henry, not to the manor born, but imbued with the same fervent spirit as the party of the first part. As the officers approached to grasp the innocuous offender Steve Brackett's voice filled all the square: "Let the man alone! let the man alone! He's looking at the flag!" Steve saved his protege from arrest. What in the course of war's stern arbitrament became of either of them the (now old) boy don't know; but the quick appeal to the love of one's native land in the few words so hastily spoken touched the heart of the thoughtless crowd gathered to enjoy the discomfiture of the poor voter.

The stately staff, on the demolition of the hotel to make way for our present post-office, was purchased by Mr. Miller and placed in front of the Chronicle office, where it proudly flaunted the flag of freedom in days that were ofttimes dark to those that laid their hopes thereon. It's final destiny was in front of the new Piscataqua house, at the corner now occupied by Christopher Smart.

This same boy, (a little discolored by age,) sat in the same window in our office, on the morning succeeding the Fourth, and watched the flags on the stately Rockingham house. In less than half an hour the flags varied to every point of the compass. Is this a hint that we pay less attention to our rights as American citizens, to the preservation of our rights of free schools, and free religion, than we ought to?

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

Rheumatism
It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.
It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.
A Positive Cure.
"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.
For Twenty Years
I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.
"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

GLYCEROLE!
A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.
After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.
Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.
It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.
We do not present that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

WHAT WE HAVE TO SAY.

The Times copies our comments on the president's pardon of a man convicted in New York of violating the internal revenue laws, and says:

If our neighbor is so severe upon the president for this single pardon, what has it to say of the republican party and its executive officers in its own state, where it appears to be for "the good of the party" to make no effort at all to execute the laws regarding liquor selling?

This is by no means the first time that we have seen it intimated that it is the special duty of the republican party and republican executive officers to enforce the liquor laws. This is a stock argument of the ultra prohibitionists in states where republican legislatures have passed prohibitory laws, but where liquor continues to be sold to a greater or less extent. "You have passed these laws," they say; "now why do you not enforce them?" They overlook the fact that it is no more the special duty of the republican party to enforce a prohibitory liquor law, than it is for the prohibition party to enforce the law against theft, or of the democratic party to enforce the law against murder. Laws are made for the whole people, and not for the members of any one party, to enforce and obey.

Now will the Times tell us "what it has to say of the democratic party and its executive officers in its own city, where it appears to be for 'the good of the party' to make no effort at all to execute the laws regarding liquor selling?"

THURSDAY, July 7th.

Edward Stanton, drunk, $3 fine, $6.90 costs; paid.

James Gilchrist, vagrant, ninety days at Brentwood, costs $6.90.

LET'S HAVE SOME RACES.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 7th.

We, the undersigned, wish to settle all disputes at the earliest opportunity, as to which is the best crew, the fishermen or the Nonpareils. To save further talk and trouble in this matter we hereby challenge the same fishermen crew to row over the same course and under the same rules that governed the last race for ($100) one hundred dollars. Money ready as soon as challenge is accepted and articles signed. Yours resp'y,

NONPAREIL BOAT CREW.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 7th.

The Riverside Boat Club hereby challenge the Athletic Boat Club to a boat race from the buoy to the beacon and return for twenty-five dollars ($25,) race to be rowed two weeks from signing articles. WILLIAM DOW, for the Club.

KEEP THE OLD NAMES.

Mr. Editor: I am glad to note that you advocate the retention of early and historic names, and deprecate the substitution of new and meaningless designations for old places. Our ancestors appropriately named three leading streets of the town "North," "Middle" and "South." There was a meaning in these names. Now I notice by the papers that some are thinking that the century-old name of "North" had better be changed for some longer and more fashionable appellation! Every one knows that when the names of some of our streets were changed forty years ago, it required no little study when a boundary in a deed was descibed as being upon some street whose name had been changed. Fortunately we have upon the board of aldermen a lawyer and a historian in the person of a man who will easily comprehend the situation, and will not consent to these changes to suit a passing whim. Stability in names of streets is one of the charms of London. Portsmouth is, or ought to be, proud of her antiquity. Let us keep our names as of yore. They become of greater interest with increasing age.

THE DEATH OF BYRON

Was supposed to have occurred at some Greek place many years ago. In fact his death occurred in this very harbor since American enthusiasm expended its joyousness in Chinese firecrackers at 3 1-2 cents a bunch only a few days ago. Ancient history informing us that "Dido et dux;" so also did Byron, hence "the deep damnation of his sudden taking off." Byron was to the manor born a free-booter; he hugged the shore, he did not disdain a ride in a dory, he dearly loved a sail in a good boat, and he often swam the Hellespont, making frequent trips between Salter's and Leach's islands. About once in three months he would return home and be received like a probable son. Alas! he came on our nation's natal day—there were young ducks near the house. Byron was left in the dining room, with his uniform of black fur changed to a light brown by the action of salt water, sun, and the various paths of pleasure and music he had pursued. Next morning a hole through the dining room screen showed the place of Byron's exit, while four little leaf-like feet marked the place of two young ducks' exit. Hence, Byron has departed, and the back-yard fence shall know him no more. Requiescat in pace. M.

MARITIME NOTES.

The U. S. S. Richmond sailed from the lower harbor on the 7th inst., for Portland, from whence she will proceed to Canadian waters.

The ship Granite State, of this port, Capt. Ross, from New York for China, celebrated the 4th by arriving at her port of destination, Shanghai.

The British yachts Thistle and Irex had another race on the 6th inst. at Larges, Scotland, with the regular result, the America's cup seeker beating the former champion of the British yacht fleet. The wind was very light throughout.

On Thursday, somewhere near the centre of the city, Mr. Charles F. Richards lost from his watch-chain, on which he was wearing it as a charm, a Haven medal won by him at the high school in 1883, and of course highly prized. The medal is of gold, and engraved with the name of the owner and the school, the year of its award, etc. The finder is requested to return it to the post office.

Mr. Michael E. Long has renovated the house formerly occupied by Capt. Daniel C. Rich on Market street as a private boarding house, and will succeed the captain in a similar capacity.

About every second day Old Prob sends out a notice of "Fair weather, higher temperature." How long does he suppose the thermometers are, down this way?

Complaint having been made that passengers riding on top of the stage coaches were much incommoded by the low-hanging branches of trees on Richards avenue, men employed by the city were on Thursday at work lopping off the obstructions.

The Dover Democrat says "the cricket club of Portsmouth were aided very much in the game July 4th with the Medfords, by the addition of three of the Dover club's best players."

The Sunday school of the Middle street Baptist church had a picnic at Jenness' beach, Rye, on the 7th inst., about seventy-five persons participating. Beacham's barges furnished transportation.

In the house of representatives, on the 6th inst., the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth was referred to the delegation from Rockingham county, Mr. Hodgdon's motion that it be referred to the delegation from Portsmouth being negatived.

The Appledore house had upward of a hundred more guests on the 4th of July this year than were at the island a year ago that day.

Frederick Beesley, a young man living on Scott road, who lost one hand by an accident about a year ago, was on Thursday, the 7th inst., reported to have left his home early the previous Tuesday evening, and failed to return. He was seen near the Creek about ten o'clock Tuesday night, and extended enquiry having failed to yield any tidings of his subsequent whereabouts, his friends were fearful that some serious accident had befallen him.

A Raymond excursion party of forty persons arrived at the Oceanic, Star island, on Wednesday of this week. The orchestra of the hotel went out on Thursday, for the season. A large excursion party from Philadelphia will arrive there next week.

Many persons do not understand that the postal law requires a two-cent stamp to be affixed upon all local or "drop" letters deposited in a post-office in a town or city where the carrier system is adopted, and one cent where there are no carriers. That is, our neighbors in the country towns can have their drop letters delivered at the post-offices in their towns for one cent, but in Portsmouth, if one desires to send through the office, even to a box renter, he must place a two-cent stamp thereon. It costs just as much to have a letter carried across the street from the post-office to the Chronicle office as it does to transport it from Portsmouth to San Francisco. There is no difference therefore between the long and the short haul in letters.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

Will be issued from the press of the Globe Printing House, Philadelphia, in a few days, a highly amusing little book of observations on characters met with at sea shore and mountain resorts, entitled, "Summer Folks," by Two Macs. A leading feature of the work is the popular topical song, "That's All! That's All!" Price twenty-five cents, in paper.

A man named Peter Barlow, who recently died in Demarara at a great age, is said to have fought under General Washington, and to have been 130 years old at his decease.

Jacob Sharp, who was knocked flat by a recent verdict in New York, is reported to have improved in physical health. His legal prospects are however no better.

A cargo of tea has reached London, going across the American continent, in 31 1-2 days from Japan, or in ten days less time than can be done by way of Suez. Old C. C. when he dropped over this way in search of a short passage to the Indies, was only a little ahead of the times.

The Boston Advertiser it is again stated has been sold, this time to Hon. Chas. E. Whitney, representing a syndicate of capitalists. What a successful metropolitan newspaper needs behind it is, not a syndicate of wealthy owners, but a man of pluck who knows something about the business.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the City Clerk, until Monday, July 11, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for supplying the city with 25 cords of good merchantable hard wood, 25 cords of good merchantable pine wood; to be delivered on the cars or wharf before August 15th, 1887. Also, 100 tons (gross weight) stove coal; 75 tons (gross weight) egg coal; 12 tons (gross weight) English cannel coal; to be delivered on the wharf at such time and in such quantities as may be required by the city authorities.

A Brave Act.

The north-bound express passenger train from Boston on the morning of July 5th narrowly escaped a catastrophe between Reed's Ferry and Goff's Falls on the Concord railroad.

Locomotive Engineer Gordon of the south-bound freight discovered at the place mentioned that the side stakes on a carload of timber in his train had been broken, and that heavy timbers and plank had fallen upon the opposite track and were also projecting from the car in many angles. At that moment the whistle of the incoming passenger train sounded. Instantly he reversed his locomotive, whistled for brakes, seized a flag and leaped to the ground. He was badly shaken up, but he ran ahead and flagged the passenger train so that it was stopped, but not until it was within twenty feet of the lumber wreck. It is spoken of as an instance of wonderful presence of mind, nerve and courage. The engineer was so used up by the shock of his jump that he is temporarily off duty.

They Will Not Again Rebel.

Advices from China state that a rebellion took place recently at Chang Chow, near Shanghai. The uprising was suppressed by the authorities, and ninety of the conspirators were executed. A number of secret societies also rebelled in the province of Kiang-Si. A military officer and eleven soldiers who were implicated in the rebellion were captured and beheaded.

Fire in the Fortress.

Fire broke out in the stables of the citadel at Quebec about midnight on the 6th inst., and burned several hours before being got under control. Intense alarm was caused in the city, it being feared that the magazine, with its vast stores of explosives, would be reached. The loss was about $150,000.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

At Quincy, Ill., Professor Thomas S. Baldwin jumped from a balloon at an altitude of a mile, and landed safely by means of a parachute. He says he won't try it again.

If there ever is a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventative if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bowels in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

President Cleveland has written a letter to the mayor of St. Louis declining the invitation to be present during the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Burns, cuts, bruises, sprains and scalds yield to the supreme power of St. Jacobs Oil.

Breaking Down and Building Up.

When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting medicinal means to recuperate it. A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous, has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague, and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most useful and comprehensive household remedy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective.

Two attendants at the Ward's island insane asylum, New York, have been indicted for manslaughter in kicking a patient to death.

Neuralgia in any form cured by St. Jacobs Oil; excruciating pains subdued.

Reports have been received of a terrible famine that prevails at Skagefjord, Iceland, and that many peasants and thousands of cattle have died from the want of food. The distress of the people is increasing.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

While sheriff of Callaway county, Kentucky, in 1873, J. H. Smith became $3000 short in his accounts, and suffered disgrace. He could not trace the money. His wife, who is subject to insane fits, recently in her ravings revealed the fact that the money had been secreted by her. It has been found in a smoke house, and Smith's reputation is restored.

Accidents

and how to deal with them, and other valuable medical information, will be found in Dr. Kaufmann's great medical work; elegant colored plates. Send three 2 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

George M. Robinson, aged twenty-two years, shot himself in the temple by the roadside in North Smithfield, R. I., July 7th, and died five hours after. He was in ill-health, and despondent over a love affair. Mary G. Robinson, his sister, lives in Laconia, N. H.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action, reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years obliges us to admit that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms quickly yield to it.

It is reported that Ex-Senator Jones, of Florida, has finally left Detroit. He is said to be on his way to Europe, whither Miss Palms has gone before him.

"I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla half enough," says a mother whose son, almost blind with scrofula, was cured by this medicine.

We have no hesitation in saying that this week was the most quiet market of the season. It being the day after the Fourth, scarcely any New Englander would start live stock on the glorious Fourth of July. They must celebrate, to the setting aside of regular business. Then, too, they knew the market would be dull the day after the Fourth.

Milch Cows and Springers—But little doing and few buyers.

Sheep and Lamb Call—The business confined to a few parcles; not a sufficient number to make any change in the valuation from the north.

Fat Hogs—Western arrive in good supply, and prices remain steady at 5¼ @ 6. The northern also remain as last quoted.

Veal Calves—The very top 6c; only a few at that rate; mostly from 5¼ @ 5¾c ⅋ lb.

Live Poultry—500 lbs would cover all arrivals. Prices on hens, 10 @ 11c; chickens, 18 @ 20c ⅋ lb.

Having been for years a great sufferer from rheumatism and neuralgia, I tried a bottle of Athlophoros and have taken nearly all of it. I must have more of it and some for my husband and mother. Mrs. I. Nelson Jordan, Ellsworth, Me.

John Augustus, marquis di Medici, and the last of that illustrious family, is now running a cheap wine cabaret opposite the palace of his ancestors in Florence, Italy.

Faceache is cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Its powers are marvellous. Price fifty cents.

KIDDER'S

FOR

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago, and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest, is the only trunk middle link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, LaSalle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Marion, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown, in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect and human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and unexceptional—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodation is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

All Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of Comfortable Day Coaches, magnificent Pullman Palace Parlor and Sleeping Cars, elegant Dining Cars providing excellent meals, and—between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route the Pacific Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of Interior Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short, desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points. All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly treatment.

DIABOLICAL INGENUITY.

The Horrible Tortures of the Inquisition.

Oh, the awful, diabolical ingenuity of these tortures! The thumbscrews, the spanish boot, the bed of ease, which is a long, narrow plank, about ten feet long, studded thickly with wooden spikes, not sharp enough to kill outright the flesh, but only to bruise, pierce, and mangle it. Above this is a big roller also studded with spikes, and moveable, so that when the victim was placed naked upon the bed and drawn up and down it by ropes attached to his hands and feet the roller at the same time moved over his body. Then there were masks that crushed in the face; ladles from which molten lead poured into the ears and the palms of the hands; the easy chair, like the bed, only the victim sat and was rolled; the Spanish donkey, something like a saw horse, with a very narrow plank upward, upon which the naked victim was seated, his (or her) arms bound backward, and with very heavy iron weights atttached to the feet. There was the cradle, its bed and pillow studded with spikes, upon which the victim, always nude was laid, and the cradle rocked violently. Pictures of all these tortures used to hang in the Rath house as a warning to transgressors; truely, their, ways here were hard. There were knives for delicately removing the ears, hatchets for cutting off the hands, the wheel, upon which the poor wretch's bones were broken one by one, till at last the coup de grace was given by his skull being crushed. Now we were shown a chain made by a count, who loved and was beloved by a sister of Frederick the Great, and was sentenced to life-long imprisonment. The chain was carved from a single stick of wood; it was very long, each link ending in a sort of a spoon. It suggested to N. that he intended to show to the world that though in chains he was still spoons upon his lady love. Here was also an arrangement by which the prisoner was held up and burned under the arms, by means of wisps of straw, until he confessed. That was done as late 1853, and yet people talk of the blue laws of Connecticut. Why, they were rose-colored in comparison with those of this civilized land in the present century.

In the Old tower, which is said to have been built by Romans (old towers at least partly built by the Romans are as common here as our houses in which Washington has slept are at home,) the "Iron Virgin" has a place. You are shown the spot where the prisoner sentenced to her embrace had to lie without food and water two days before his death that he might meditate upon his sins. Near him was "the poor sinner's bell," which the guide struck for us to hear; it was a hollow solemn sound, this was tolled every few minutes to prevent any sleep coming to ease the poor wretch. This is different from our treatment of murderers. Ours have a good time of it, all the delicacies of the season to eat and drink and crowds of nice young Sunday-school teachers and pretty, sentimental, admiring young women who flock to them with flowers, pseudo religion, and the charms of their society. Here in Nuremburg if he even tried to speak and tell his woes he was "jabbed" with a spike. On the third day, as by that time he was supposed to be properly penitent and to thoroughly realize his position, he was taken to the "Iron Virgin." This is a huge figure of a woman. It was made in 1450, and wears a costume of that period. She wears a mantle over big iron hoops; Her iron hood almost covers her smiling, welcoming face. The body was opened to show us; it is very heavy, lined with wood, in which are put long, sharp pointed knives—long, long ones to enter the eyes and pierce the brain, and hundreds for the naked body of the poor victim, who has waited for her embrace, in the same room with her, for two days and nights. How endless they must have seemed! He is taken to her arms, and the heavy doors, with their cruel, awful knives, are closed upon him.

No words can describe it. After a few hours the doors were opened and the body fell through a trap door into a quicklime grave below. This instrument was only used to punish double murderers. The last witch, or rather wizard, publicly burned was a man in 1994. The last death on the wheel was in 1800. The last man burned under the arms to extort confession was (as above said) in 1853. The last who endured the tortures of the rack and thumbscrew, the Spanish donkey, and the cradle, were a man and his wife, servants at the castle who were accused of theft. They were thus tortured, the woman dying in two days; the man lived a hopeless, suffering cripple for more than two years. —Cor. Hartford Times.

Type-Setting Machines.

Type-composing machines are in use in half-a-dozen large offices in New York. While it is a fast compositor who can set 10,000 ems a day, a team of three machine operators can average 60,000 ems a day if working on reprint copy and not required to change the length of the lines. The first cost of the composing machine and its liability to get out of repair stand in the way of its general adoption, but the compositors generally take it for granted that a machine or a process may at any time be invented which will take the place of the hand compositor in plain type-setting—New York Standard.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is a disease so obnoxious that those afflicted with fearful disease should not make it the object their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving inflammation in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRH SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

The President Rebukes the G. A. R.

Contrasted with the manner in which some of his predecessors would have written such a letter, President Cleveland's lengthy communication to the mayor of St. Louis is a weak production. It lacks the directness of Jackson or the concise style of Grant. If the president had simply written "I see by the most unmistakable evidence that I am not wanted at St. Louis, and my presence is likely to cause the affair to be a failure," he would have hit the nail on the head. So much space occupied in the endeavor to convince the G. A. R. that he is awfully good and patriotic, while he stands in the fear of his oath of office so much that he has to veto pension bills, renders the letter decidedly puerile. Rose Elizabeth could have done better. There is not much doubt that Mr. Cleveland wrote this letter himself, and it was not carefully examined by Frances.

AN EXPLANATION.

Manchester gets the Boston papers at 5:53 A. M., Portsmouth gets them at 10:30. Why is it thus?—Penny Post.

The reason is perfectly obvious. Under the winter arrangement the Boston & Lowell railroad, one of those "foreign corporations" owned somewhere about Boston, and which like the stockholders in the mills at Manchester, Dover, Nashua and other places in our state persist in the wicked plan of developing our state instead of allowing it to remain a quiet region of deserted farms and unimproved streams, ran over the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, which was leased by the Lowell, a train leaving Concord at 6:30 in the morning, reaching Wells River at 10:00 A. M., and Fabyan's at 1:30 P. M. This was run as an accommodation to those who desired to go north of Concord at an earlier hour than eleven o'clock in the morning, at which time trains having arrived from Boston commonly left over the Northern and B. C. & M. R. R. lines. The Boston & Lowell managers concluded that as the train was run from Concord it might as well be run from Boston, and thus it was extended to the southerly end of the Boston & Lowell railroad.

Inasmuch as that road had an interest as lessee in the road above Concord, this train now runs from Boston, and it is quite convenient to send the newspapers by it. In consequence, the people of Wells River, Vermont, receive their Boston newspapers at ten o'clock A. M., the same time they reach Portsmouth. Of course, if the lease of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad to the Lowell, like that of the Northern, should be held invalid, there would no longer be seen these kind of accommodations.

The Disaster at Zug.

The following details are given concerning the recent sinking into the lake of a portion of the town of Zug, Switzerland:

For several days crevices had been observed in a new quay, which cost $40,000. At 2:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, 5th inst., the lake in front of the stone-work began to bubble. The quay then cracked, and eight feet of it fell into the lake. A dozen persons who rushed from an adjoining cafe were precipitated into the water and drowned.

After a short interval another slip dragged several houses into the water. The landing stage followed, and a steamer which had just arrived was hurled a hundred yards forward. At four o'clock two boats which were going to the rescue were engulfed, only one boatman rising again to the surface. At the same moment a boatman's hut, in which were three children, fell into the water.

Furniture was hurriedly removed from the threatened quarter. At seven o'clock the landslips began again, and several carts which were removing property sank into the lake. Fifteen houses and ten huts disappeared within a few moments, including Hotel Zurich, the roof of which is still visible above the water.

Getting Angry.

A Dover despatch of the 7th inst. says: "An editorial published in the Daily Times tonight has caused a sensation here. The Times was started ten weeks ago, and there have been bitter controversies between it and Foster's Daily Democrat on various local topics. Last night's Democrat charged the Times with being dishonest and depraved in its utterances, deceiving and misleading the public mind in the interests of the Concord railroad as against the Boston & Maine, whose champion the Democrat is. The Times' reply tonight directly charged the editor of the Democrat with blackmail some years ago in receiving money from certain citizens to refrain from coupling their names with an alleged disreputable woman. It was a long and vituperous editorial, and it is possible that a suit for libel will result."

Gov. Hill of New York sees, with much regret, that the pension vetoes of the president, and the flag business, have made it impossible for the democracy to run Mr. Cleveland as their candidate in the next heat. If the democracy should still regard New York as the pivotal state, and desire a strong candidate, applications can be made as before, at Albany.

Four Grand Army posts of Utica, N. Y., on the evening of the 7th inst. resolved not to parade in a body, as they had intended, at the Clinton centennial on the 13th, if President Cleveland was to be present. This does not look as though the president's offer to return the captured flags, which was a bid for the support of the solid south in the next democratic national convention, has yet been smoothed over with the union veterans.

Chief Engineer Church of New York city has reported in favor of taking the Jerome Park race grounds as the site of a reservoir for the new Croton aqueduct, and it is understood that the commissioners approve his report. About seventy acres of land will be inclosed. The reservoir will hold 2,000,000,000 gallons of water. George S. Rice of Boston, a Harvard graduate, has been appointed by the aqueduct commissioners as deputy chief engineer of the new aqueduct, at a salary of $3000 per year.

At Peru, Ind., July 6th, James Christian, a dissolute German, 40 years of age, after severely choking and beating his sixteen-year-old daughter, because she would not give him money she earned, locked himself up in a woodshed, and discharged a revolver, and feigned suicide. Dr. E. B. North, chief surgeon of the Wabash railway hospital, entered the shed for the purpose of attending the man, when the latter shot him. Early next forenoon a party of railroad men went to the jail, seized the assassin and hanged him to a bridge.

The title of Sidney Luska's new romance, which is the leading attraction of "Lippincott's Magazine" for August, is "A Land of Love." It deals with Bohemian life among the Americans in the Latin Quarter in Paris.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

Frank E. Putney, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. Jordan.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequalled.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. If you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or any disease of the blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, or kidney and liver complaints, catarrh or rheumatism, do not fail to try

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends as the best blood purifier on earth." Wm. Gaff, druggist, Hamilton, O.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofulous humor, and done me worlds of good otherwise." C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me.

A book containing many additional statements of cures will be sent to all who desire.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Thomas Moore, an old and respected citizen of North Hampton, was killed on the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad near Kittery station on Thursday afternoon by the White Mountain express. He came into Portsmouth in the morning to draw interest on a deposit of $900 in the Portsmouth savings bank, and took his dinner in this city. It is supposed that by mistake he took the wrong train in the afternoon, and finding out his mistake got off the Portland train at the Kittery station and walked out upon the track, and was there overtaken by the mountain express. A brakeman saw him, jumped off, attended him, and had him brought to the station in this city. Here he was attended by Dr. Parsons, and for an hour seemed to be comfortable, and even at one time stood erect, but soon sank into a stupor, and died in about two hours from the time he was struck. He showed no serious bruises, and his injuries must have been all internal, death perhaps resulting entirely from the shock. He was about seventy years of age, and leaves a son, Mr. Edward Moore, of North Hampton, and a daughter, married and living in Greenland.

The Portsmouth Journal looks well in its new type; and its quarto form, with edges cut and back pasted, is certainly more convenient than the old blanket sheet. The issue for July 9th was the second under the new dispensation, and the improved appearance over the first issue shows that things are getting in good working order. We congratulate our neighbor on the prosperity of which these changes are an indication.

Sir Knight Miles, of Providence, R. I., was in this city on Friday to make arrangements for the visit here of Calvary Commandery of Knights Templar of Providence in the near future.

Mr. Barnabas Yeaton had one foot painfully hurt on Thursday last at the navy yard, by the falling upon it of a piece of machinery.

The Portsmouth Electric Light Co., under their contract to light the government building, introduced their lights into the first floor of the building on Thursday evening. The vestibule and post-office were brilliantly illuminated. The offices in the second story, and the court rooms, will continue to be lighted by gas furnished by the Gas Co. to the Electric Light Co., who find it far more economical to supply the small amount of light required above the first story from gas, than to introduce their wires above stairs.

In the New Hampshire senate on the 7th inst., on motion of Senator Jenness of Rye the vote whereby the report on house bill No. 99, (postponed from the session of 1885,) an act regulating the assessment of taxes upon mortgaged real estate, was accepted and the resolution adopted, was reconsidered, and on motion of Senator Stearns the bill was laid on the table and made a special assignment for Wednesday afternoon, the 13th.

Rev. Charles E. Andrews, pastor of the Congregational church at Biddeford, has accepted a call to the Third Congregational church of Torrington, Conn., to take effect Sept. 1st.

Edison, the inventor, says he has discovered a method of electric communication under water by vessels at sea. It consists of a sounding apparatus, to which vibrations will be imparted by a steam whistle. The vibrations will be transmitted through the water about seven miles, and can be heard by any vessel provided with a corresponding apparatus which happens to be within that distance.

The Scotch cutter Thistle arrived in Greenock bay, Scotland, July 7th, flying thirteen winning flags. Before sailing, in about three weeks, for this side of the Atlantic to contest for the America's cup, the Thistle will sail a series of races off the south of England with the American yacht Fortuna, formerly a schooner, but rigged as a cutter since her arrival in England.

Members of the New Hampshire club, with ladies, to the number of nearly a hundred, dined at the Wentworth, Newcastle, on Friday.

Internal Revenue Collector Page has appointed Mr. Charles F. Richards clerk in the collector's office in this city.

Representative Sheehan of this city has been excused from attendance on the sessions of the legislature on account of sickness.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

The Dakota Loan & Trust Co. offer a safe investment for those who are satisfied with a sound six per cent security in the shape of a Debenture Bond. This bond runs from five to ten years, with interest payable semi-annually. The bond is a direct obligation of the company, which has a paid-up capital of $250,000. Col. Mark W. Sheafe, formerly of this city, is the vice president of the company, and many of our best known financial citizens, including several bank officials, are stockholders. The bonds are issued in sums of $300, $500 and $1000, and are secured by 105 per cent of first mortgage loans on improved real estate held in trust by the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co., trustee. They are for sale by JOHN LAIGHTON, No. 1 Market square.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

"George Washington's Boyhood" is a notable and timely article in the July "Wide Awake," by Wm. F. Carne, giving hitherto unpublished facts and new anecdotes, and telling more fully than has been told before what kind of a boy the young Washington was. Howard Pyle accompanies the paper with a superb frontispiece picture. The famous statue of Queen Victoria, by Boehm, in Windsor castle, is the subject of a full-page engraving in the same number, which also contains an installment of Charles Egbert Craddock's new serial "The Story of Keedon Bluffs," which is the most interesting contribution of the year to juvenile literature. "How One 'Annex Maid' Began Her Career" is a valuable illustrated description of the famous "Harvard Annex," for girls, in the July "Wide Awake."

The Deluge Repeated.

The Wenchow river in China has overflowed its banks, submerging miles of territory. Thousands of persons are believed to have been drowned. The sufferings of the survivors are described as fearful. Churchow city is submerged, and the inhabitants have taken to boats.

The town of Nagy Karolyi in Hungary was destroyed by a hurricane and water spout on Wednesday night, July 6th. The site of the town and the adjoining district are converted into a vast lake. Many persons lost their lives. The people of the town believed the day of judgement had come.

If there ever is a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventative if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

A despatch from Clarendon, Pa., says that Mahone, the propietor of the Weaver hotel, who is accused of starting the big fire, was nearly lynched upon returning to town on ball, but succeeded in escaping from the crowd. The number of buildings destroyed was 218, leaving but sixteen remaining.

Burns, cuts, bruises, sprains and scalds yield to the supreme power of St. Jacobs Oil.

Whitney, secretary of the harbor board of Montreal, is a defaulter, and has also stolen $10,000 or more from his mother's estate.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

says that his little girl is trembled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

The grain committee of the New York produce exchange have adopted an important amendment to the rules, which is expected to make it very difficult to "corner" wheat.

The Hot Weather

Of mid-summer has a weakening effect, both upon body and mind. You feel absolutely incapable of doing any arduous work, and even light duties are performed languidly and unwillingly. This low state of the system causes even greater infirmity, and gives opportunity for serious disease to gain a foothold. In this condition the system is quick to respond to the reviving, quickening, and strengthening effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, regulates the digestive organs, and infuses fresh life and vigor into every portion of the body. People who have taken it write us, saying: "It puts new life right into me." "It makes me young again." Reader, if you suffer from summer weakness, try Hood's Sarsaparilla. 100 Doses $1.00.

It is reported from Idaho that a number of Chinese mining camps along the Snake river have been raided by Indians or whites, and numerous mutilated bodies of Chinamen have been seen going down the stream, four or five being found together a few days since. It is thought to be the work of white men who robbed the Chinese of their gold dust.

Threw Aside Her Stick.

132 1-2 Christopher and 497 Hudson Streets, New York, Feb. 12, 1884.—Allcock's Porous Plasters have been a great comfort to me in winter. I use them as chest protectors; they break up a cold in a few hours if placed one on the chest and two under the shoulder blades.

Last winter I was much crippled with rheumatism in my knee; I had tried different remedies without avail; then I covered the whole knee-joint with two Allcock's Porous Plasters and kept them on for four days, when I changed them. I got better all the time, and in two weeks I was entirely well, and threw aside my stick. MRS. S. FINKE.

Mrs. Henry Taylor of Williamsburg, N. Y., and her daughter, Mrs. Henderson, were attacked by foot pads and beaten and robbed, July 5th, while visiting a grave in Cypress Hill cemetery.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. Small price. Small dose. Small pill.

Several bridges were carried away and roads badly washed by a heavy rain at Chelsea, Vt., July 7th.

For a time my life was despaired of. My troubles were with the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder—also Constipation. Finally I used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in my opinion it saved my life. I make this statement to save those who suffer as I did.—A. J. Gifford, Lowell, Mass. Druggists, $1. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for his book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper. 1y7

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. An Insult to the Mississippi.

In the United States circuit court in San Francisco, the other day, when Chinese, who were suspected of landing illegally, were up for examination to ascertain whether they had really been in America before, and thus become entitled to land, Judge Sawyer discharged thirty from custody, and remanded one. This unfortunate claimed to have acquired a residence in New Orleans, but when he described the Mississippi as "about ten feet wide," the judge gasped and the fellow's attorney surrendered the case, saying that no patriotic American could defend a man who would talk like that about our mighty river.

Breaking Down and Building Up.

When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting medicinal means to recuperate it. A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous, has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague, and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most useful and comprehensive household remedy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective.

WATERTOWN AND BRIGHTON LIVE STOCK MARKET.

For week ending Tuesday, July 5th.

Amount of Live Stock at Market: Cattle, 903; Sheep and Lambs, 687; Calves, 556; Horses, 476; Swine, 14,625.

Prices of Market Beef—Extra, $6 50 @ $6 75; first quality, $6 00 @ $6 25; second quality, $5 00 @ $5 50; third quality, $4 00 @ $4 50.

Prices of Store Cattle—Working oxen ⅋ pair, from $100 @ $175; farrow cows, $15 @ $32; fancy cows, $50 @ $80; milch cows and calves, $25 @ $48; yearlings, $8 00 @ $18; two years old, $14 @ $28; three years old, $24 @ $40.

Swine—Western fat, live, 5¾ @ 6c ⅌ lb; northern dressed hogs, 6¾ @ 6¾c ⅌ lb.

Prices of Sheep and Lambs—In lots, $3 50, $3 50 @ $4 50 each; extra, $4 75 @ $5 50, or from 2½ @ 5½c ⅌ lb; spring lambs, 6¾ @ 8c ⅌ lb.

Veal Calves, 3½ @ 5½c ⅌ lb.

Prices of Hides, Tallow and Skins—Brighton hides, 7c ⅌ lb; Brighton tallow, 2½ @ 3c ⅌ lb; country hides, 6 @ 6½c ⅌ lb; country tallow, 1½ @ 2c ⅌ lb; calf skins, 7c ⅌ lb; pelts, 12 @ 25c ⅌ lb; dairy skins, 13 @ 25c each; lamb skins, 50 @ 60c each.

We have no hesitation in saying that this week was the most quiet market of the season. It being the day after the Fourth, scarcely any New Englander would start live stock on the glorious Fourth of July. They must celebrate, to the acting aside of regular business. Then, too, they knew the market would be dull the day after the Fourth.

Milch Cows and Springers—But little doing and few buyers.

Sheep and Lamb Call—The business confined to a few parties; not a sufficient number to make any change in the valuation from the north.

Fat Hogs—Western arrive in good supply, and prices remain steady at 5¾ @ 6. The northern also remain as last quoted.

Veal Calves—The very top 6c; only a few at that rate; mostly from 5¾ @ 5¾c ⅌ lb.

Live Poultry—500 lbs would cover all arrivals. Prices on hens, 10 @ 11c; chickens, 18 @ 20c ⅌ lb.

The New England League now includes but six clubs, the Boston Blues and the Haverhills having been consolidated under one franchise, and the Lawrence club disbanded. The Bostons stood second in the percentage of games won, and the Haverhills were but one remove from the bottom of the list; and as the consolidated clubs are to hereafter be the Haverhills, the Bostons will endeavor to carry their record with them, which the other clubs of the league will probably dispute, insisting that the Haverhill record shall be the one taken by the new Haverhills.

The Dover club went to Rochester on Saturday, and defeated the Rochester club, 7 to 4.

AN AROUSED COMMUNITY.

The Unusual Stir Caused in Kingston, New York.

[Special Correspondence Boston Globe.]

The letter I recently wrote the Globe describing a remarkable occurrence which took place here, has had the effect of thoroughly awakening this community. The facts, as described, were that Mr. Jere Smith, son of Cornelius B. Smith, left the State Insurance Department, after passing through an agonizing ordeal, and having been abandoned by his friends had been most wonderfully rescued. His experience was, in its beginning at least, almost the same as that of hundreds of other men and women in every city and town. He had gone along thoughtlessly, noticing occasional inconveniences, and had suddenly been awakened to the fact that death was staring him in the face. He had overlooked little passing troubles without realizing that they are often "the beginning of the end." He had neglected interests that concerned his very life, just as thousands of others do, simply because they come in a quiet and often unnoticed way. And it is a cause for gratitude that his experience is having so good and arousing an effect on others who were drifting in the same dangerous direction.

BEGINNING OF THE END.

I was in the office of the Kingston Freeman, one of the best interior papers of the state, the other day, and had a talk with Mr. W. H. Winton, its popular manager. Quite naturally the conversation drifted to Mr. Smith's case, and the stimulating effect it was having on the people. Mr. Winton said:

"I can specially sympathize with Mr. Smith for I have been through a much similar experience in my own family. My wife became troubled and weakened, as so many women do, and from small symptoms and beginnings grew worse until she, finally, began to bloat terribly. She had been attended by physicians, sometimes with temporary success, usually without. We finally determined to try the same means which Mr. Smith employed so successfully and my wife is not in her grave, but in the enjoyment of health wholly because Hunt's Remedy rescued her. This is a grand medicine and a large suffering world, too often ignorant or skeptical of its life-saving, health giving qualities, needs it."

PRESCRIBING

"It is certainly receiving wonderful endorsements," I remarked. Do you think it merits them."

"Every one of them. Why, when my wife began using the remedy she discovered the same medicine had been given her by a physician some time ago without her knowing the name of the medicine given at the time. I can also prove that bushel basketful of empty bottles of Hunt's Remedy were taken out of a doctor's office after his death. No one supposes for a moment that the bottles were used for desk ornaments or bric-a-brac, but the contents had undoubtedly been given to patients in small quantities at high prices. The medical profession evidently knows no better or more valuable remedy."

Mr. Cornelius B. Smith, the father of Jere Smith, confirmed all his son had said, and added: "I have not words strong enough to give Hunt's Remedy the praise it merits and there are hundreds of others in this city who feel the same way."

"TOWN TALK."

Mr. Edwin H. Fasset said that the facts above given had been the "town talk" of Kingston, and his assertion was confirmed by Mr. Wm. D. Brenner. Messrs. Cooper and Winchell, who are popular druggists, declare that not only are all the facts above stated true, but the demand for the remedy is something remarkable. It has become a household necessity here, as it undoubtedly deserves to be everywhere.

WINTHROP.

A HAPPY EXCHANGE.

"Jack, let us go over the stile; they look so picturesquely happy there, under that big chestnut tree. Will you come?"

"Haven't sufficient audacity," drawled Jack Hammond lazily. "Don't know who they are, and never could endure to intrude on strangers. I don't think they want us, do you?"

"You think them lovers," said Miss May Carrol, with a curl of her pretty lip; "well, if they are, no doubt they see enough of each other to be bored half to death. You may go back if you like, but I'm going to scrape acquaintance with that pretty girl."

"Awfully bad form," Jack answered, in his indolent but musical voice, as he lounged to the stile to help May over. "But if you'll present me, I'll follow beside her rapidly as the law of my being will allow."

And he did follow; for May's light foot scarcely seemed to touch the grass over which it sped, as she went through the glad golden sunlight of an October day, toward the fate which had been sent to meet her in the serene dullness of the country, to which her physician had banished her in July.

Under the wide-spreading branches of a massive chestnut tree, were seated the two whom she had seen as she sauntered slowly through the neighboring field with her fiance, who had come to board at a farm-house near, as in duty bound, when freed from his desk in the city for a few weeks; and who had yawned more, in the fortnight he spent there, than in the whole of his previous existence.

Through an opening in the boughs above, a broad lance of sunlight fell on the upturned olive face of a young man, who lay in the grass, supremely at ease, his hands clasped under his head, his long limbs stretched out, a soft felt hat lying near, filled with a mass of yellow, crimson, and brown-flecked leaves, which, evidently, his companion had gathered, for her own lap was full of similar beauty, and she was reading aloud from a book of poems.

"Isn't she pretty?" May thought, as she looked at the dainty delicate outlines of the sweet downbent face, as flower-fair as any her eyes had rested on, with the dew of life's early morning on its beauty.

Then May's light step paused, for it did seem too bad to interrupt the clear soft voice that read such tender words:

"That sacred hour can I forget?
Can I forget the hallow'd grove,
Where by the winding Ayr we met,
To live one day of parting love?"

Then a pair of frank, childish, starlike eyes lifted suddenly, and May, meeting their glance, advanced with a smile, her languid affianced beside her.

"Forgive us for interrupting you in this manner," she said; "but we were so tired of each other's society, and we saw you from the stile. May I tell you who we are? I am Mary Carrol—staying at the Fairfax Farm; and this is Mr. Jack Hammond, on whom a fortnight's rustication has had the melancholy effect you see," with a laughing glance at Jack, who made his choicest bow, and bared a well-set head, on which grew a wealth of shining silken hair, that perfectly matched with his heavy blonde moustache.

The girl sprang impulsively to her feet, scattering her gatherings.

"I am so glad you came," she said in a clear fresh voice, as full of music as a bird's. "Lionel and I were wishing we knew somebody here; it is so quiet. Brother," turning to the young giant with olive face and dusky head, who had lifted himself from the grass, "let me introduce you—oh, I forgot! I am Inez Brabos, and Lionel is my brother."

Something in the dark laughing eyes bent on her face, as Lionel Brabos bowed lowly before her, made May's cheeks bloom for a moment like twin roses.

But she forgot it very soon, as, sitting down beside her new acquaintances, she watched Jack gather and arrange the autumn leaves for Inez.

An hour was spent under the chestnut tree; a ramble along the highway and through the cool shady lanes that led thither in the vicinity, arranged for the morrow.

And when May and Jack walked the wide verands of the farmhouse that evening, and the tiny moon was fading, the girl turned enthusiastically toward her companion.

"Did you ever see so lovely a face as Inez Barbos?" she exclaimed. "Were I a man, I'd fall in love with her straightway."

"What! Whether you were free to do so or not, May?"

She looked gravely off to where a few stars gemmed the azure of the tranquil sky.

"One who is unwed is always free, Jack," she said, softly; "remember that. Man or woman who is bound only by a spoken promise, should not hesitate should a new love—a stronger and a greater one—come. I wonder if you could not love some other woman more than you love me? I think you could, Jack."

"May, what nonsense you are talking!"

But as he spoke, the vision of a fair flower-sweet face, with perfect dewy lips, and star-like eyes, came to him, and lingered, while the nightingales trilled in the hedges, and the night air grew strangely chill.

From that day, which saw the beginning of an acquaintance between the four young people, there were no more siglings on the part of May for the town and its galeties, no more yawning on the part of Jack; for a merrier fortnight never sped than that which followed, and it was with sincere regret that May learned at last that her brother would come for her in a few days, to bear her back, plump and healthy, to her city home.

"And my holiday ends the day after to-morrow," Jack said to her ruefully, when she told him. "Haven't ever been so happy in my life. We must all meet here next summer, May. Let's arrange it."

He did not see the shiver that shot over his affianced at these words.

"I'll arrange nothing of the sort," she said, impatiently. "Now let us go over and get Inez to ramble with us for an hour or two."

"And her brother," Jack put in with his usual alacrity. "Uncommonly nice fellow, isn't he?"

But May gave no reply. She walked beside her betrothed in grave and unbroken silence, a strange new shadow in her blue eyes.

They generally found Inez and Lionel under the branches of that great chestnut at this hour; but to-day they found silence and shade there—nothing else. The handsome young gentleman and his pretty sister were not idling under the broad branches, as usual.

"Wonder what's up?" Jack asked.

But just then a merry hail from a distant clump of trees made May's face dimple roguishly.

"See! There is Inez standing under that big oak, and her brother is in the tree away near the top. He is waving his hand to us."

So he was. Far up among the leaves, where he had climbed, Lionel was swaying with the slight branches, and leaning forward to attract their attention; the sunlight lying warm and soft on his laughing powerful face, which was as rich an olive as though Spain claimed him for her son.

"How handsome he is! How prince-ly!" May thought, with a sharp pang at her heart. "In this whole world there is nobody like him!"

Then there was the crashing sound of breaking branches—a rustling, rushing noise, the dull thud of a body striking on the earth, and from the lips of two girls who saw Lionel Brabos fall with stunning force, rang the wild cries of anguished affright, of fierce, overmastering terror.

A moment later and Inez—who had flung herself on her knees beside the strangely-still figure of her idolized brother—was pushed aside by hands that were too strong and untender to her, through the frantic emotion of their owner, and May Carrol, the promised wife of Jack Hammond, the belle of a hundred ball-rooms, was kneeling over Lionel Brabos, a blanched agony on her young face, which comes only on the faces of women when what is more dear to them than life is in peril.

"Oh, he is not dead! Jack, tell me he is not dead!" she cried, never removing her eyes from the still unconscious face that lay upturned before her.

And Jack, with brotherly kindness laid his hand on her shoulder.

"I trust not, for your sake, dear," he said; and there was only a tender sympathy in his voice—none of the lover's resentment or sorrow.

At that moment the dark eyes of Lionel unclosed with slow and languid weariness, and fixed themselves on the face of the girl who knelt beside him.

A strange new light stole into them as he looked, then tenderness and love untold met the blue eyes above.

"My dearest, have I alarmed you? I was stunned. It is nothing," he whispered, then, softly, as his hand stole up and pressed hers. "You care enough for me to pale like that? My darling—darling!"

Jack, who had heard every word, turned to Inez, and took her trembling hand in his.

"Your brother is not injured by his fall," he said gently. "They do not want us. Will you come with me to the spot where I first saw you—the shadow of the big chestnut—and let me tell you something? I have much to say to you, Miss Brabos."

"But," said Inez, with a startled glance toward the others, who had forgotten all things save themselves and the love which had found voice at last—"but I thought Miss Carrol was to be your wife; I thought she loved you."

"And that I loved her? So did I; but now both May and I know otherwise. She knew, the very first time she saw your brother; I knew—oh, Inez, I knew later!—when I had heard your voice—and it had seemed the sweetest music in the world to me. Nay; they do not want us, and I want you, my beautiful child. Come with me, and let me tell you of my love, so passionate and strong—my deep and lasting love for you."

She looked to where May knelt, still under the maple, with Lionel seated beside her, pale it is true, but with love-light glorifying his handsome face, the hands of the city belle held fast in both of his; and her dainty young cheeks flushed, as she cast down her eyes and extended her pretty hand to Jack.

And so it came to pass that the two who thought they had brought love with them, found it there, waiting for them, under the broad branches of the old chestnut-tree.

May makes a model farmer's wife—at least so Lionel asserts; and Inez, in her city home, is so sweet a hostess and so fair a fireside figure that Jack lazily advises his bachelor friends to go courting to the most quiet part of the country, and they vow they will do so.

ELASTIC STARCH

The First and Only Starch put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and lines from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which everybody knows keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BROS., New Haven, Conn., is on every package. SOLD BY ALL GROCERS.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

A Good Appetite

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The governor of Massachusetts has pardoned Nathan P. Pratt, who was sentenced to the state prison in 1884 for embezzling funds of the Reading savings bank.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. Cohen of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength, and increases the appetite."

A Measure of Public Utility.

In the newspaper discussion of the Hazen bill now pending before the railroad committee, one might be led to suppose that the issue involved was confined to a mere question of special legislation affecting favorably or otherwise, one or two corporations. In its effect this may be one view of the case. But the bill in its general terms is important, and in its effect must prove, if enacted, salutary.

Take for example the case of the Cheshire railroad. There are 21,133 shares of capital stock held by 452 stockholders, of which forty-four only reside in this state. These shareholders own $387,300 in the road. The Cheshire is simply part of a system of roads leading from the Connecticut valley to Boston. It fact it has a joint use with the Fitchburg between Ashburnham Junction and Fitchburg. It might be regarded as a "foreign" corporation, inasmuch as its president resides in Massachusetts, and five of its seven directors reside in that state. Now let us suppose that the leading shareholders conclude that it is for the interest of the Cheshire road to be leased to the Fitchburg. The directors so consider it, and the stockholders regard it as a proper disposition of their interest to receive a guaranteed fixed income instead of the uncertain return which the net earnings might allow.

This project for a lease might not meet the approval of some railway manager of a connecting or competing line. What is the result? This magnate goes to Concord, clad in the panoply of state pride, and says to the Supreme court, "I own one share. I have a hundred dollars of the $2,153,300 of the capital stock of the road. True, I own none of the $800,000 of bonds. But for the purpose of this suit I have one share of stock, and want my rights. I object to this lease." There can be no enquiry as to the propriety of the measure. No study of the rights of the owners of the 21,132 shares. There would simply be the short, sententious opinion of Doe, C. J.: "Lease invalid if not unanimous," and the rival or other interest would simply smile at the attempt of the majority interest to improve and perpetuate the value of the corporate property.

Thus it will be seen the bill before the legislative committee is a measure not limited to one or two corporate interests, but it provides a remedy the need of which was perhaps overlooked by the legislature of 1885. Will any one seriously claim that this is other than a public measure demanded by the interests of the state, and without which it is possible that excessive extortion might follow an attempt of the stockholders in some of our railroads to largely increase the capacity of their property and benefit the people of New Hampshire? There is no estimating correctly the wrong which in some instances might result from the omission to pass this bill.

Dr. McGlynn Excommunicated.

Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn has been formally excommunicated, an official letter of Archbishop Augustine of New York to that effect having been read in the Catholic churches on Sunday.

"Ourselves and Our Neighbors: short chats on social topics," by Louise Chandler Moulton, author of Bed-Time Stories, Some Women's Hearts, Random Rambles, etc. Boston, Roberts Brothers; Portsmouth, sold by M. Goodrich.

Mrs. Moulton's last-published book gives us seventeen interestingly treated topics upon social subjects, including motives for marriage; after marriage; married people in society; courting at home; friendly visiting; the small coin of the social exchange; caprices of fashion; watering place society; and what will be of interest to persons of both sexes, "The gospel of gowns," a very sensible and straightforward paper, and similar selections.

Mrs. Moulton, from her observations in both hemispheres, and her social position, has had abundant opportunity to observe whereof she treats. The book is readable and enjoyable throughout, because it is in good tone, and while it chides, quarrels not. It is a book to be read with much profit by the "rosebuds in society"—the girls of to-day who are soon to become the ladies of our best society.

The book has 213 pages, filled with sensible, practical and valuable suggestions. While it is to be especially commended to young people, it will be read with interest by persons of either sex of maturer years. It deserves an extended sale. It is excellently printed, attractively bound, and for a companion in the summer sachel nothing more appropriate or inviting has been issued this season.

How Sea Captains Get Rich.

It is often a source of wonder how so many ship captains amass large fortunes, build palatial residences, and settle down, after a life of hardship and exposure, as the seers and prophets of their native villages. To be sure, says the Boston Advertiser, since the days of high freights and vast profits of the East India trade, when a vessel frequently paid for herself in one voyage, fewer opportunities are afforded to owners and captains to accumulate fortunes with the rapidity of former days.

Still there are methods by which the crafty commander of the ship is enabled to pick up a few stray dollars. The law provides that the captain of every ship shall provide a "slop chest" containing boots, oilskin, socks, underclothing, etc., to be sold to the sailors, including a goodly supply of tobacco. The law also provides that the profits of the captain from this sale shall be limited to 10 per cent. This, however, is rarely enforced, and the captain disposes of tobacco that cost 50 cents a pound for 57 cents, $1, and often $1.50. The other contents of the slop chest are also doled out to the sailors, with whom it is a case of Hobson's choice, with enormous profits to the captain's pocket.

Captains also have a peculiar fondness for commissions, and when lying at port the butcher, the ship chandler, and the bum-boatman all willingly agree to pay over a certain percentage of the money received from the ship for the sake of obtaining the trade. Money has to be hired to meet the bills, and here, too, the inevitable commission jingles in the pockets of the master of the ship, at sea an autocrat, on shore an object of adulation. Vessels in distress are often obliged to hire large sums of money to meet the expenses of repairing, and part of the interest paid and the large bonuses of the advances find their way into the ever-open pocket of the crafty mariner.

As an illustration, the writer was on board a ship the second mate of which was to be discharged at a foreign port. The captain, in making up the accounts ready to be submitted to the consul, found that he had been charging the mate 70 cents a pound for tobacco. "Those fellows on shore will get all his money, anyhow," said he, "and I reckon I might as well have part of it." Accordingly, tobacco was entered in the bill $1 per pound, and the other items in the bill were increased in like proportion.

From this short account it will be seen that the captains still have opportunities to make a little money "on the outside." The amounts made by some by smuggling soon enable them to retire from the sea and live a life of ease.

Every new acquaintance is worth a dollar to a newspaper reporter. He may not be able to find anyone who would give him a dollar for some of the men he meets, but some day something happens, and then the reporter realizes that it is worth a good deal more than a dollar to him to have some acquaintance with the man who knows all about it.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Liver and Kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of the stomach, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

A PILGRIMAGE.

Calvary Commandery of Knights Templar, of Providence, R. I., have made the following arrangements for a pilgrimage next September, subject to change in details if found desirable:

The commandery, accompanied by a band, will leave Providence on Wednesday, Sept. 7th, arriving in this city at three o'clock P. M., and after a march through the city will take barges for the Wentworth, where the party will remain for the night, returning to this city on Thursday, and taking the five o'clock train for Manchester, where Thursday night will be spent. On Friday the excursionists will go to Nashua, where they will remain until time to take the train for home on Saturday, the 10th.

"DOWN EAST LATCH STRINGS."

The passenger department of the Boston & Maine railroad has issued as its annual descriptive book of the tourist region of New England reached by means of its railway, a book of 256 pages edited by Ernest Ingersoll and illustrated by Messrs. Colby and Taylor. There are numerous maps and views of noted places, a fac simile of an autograph poem by John G. Whittier, and twenty-three chapters descriptive and historic of the points of interest between Boston and the far off localities of New Hampshire and Maine, of the mountain region, and of the sea-side resorts. There appears to have been a liberal draft from Mr. Albee's book on New-Castle, which the compiler refers to as "a rambling history full of antiquarian enthusiasm," a designation which doubtless disgusts the poet of New Castle. The book is full of interest. Its illustrations are suggestive and its maps authentic. It is printed by the Rand Avery Co., and as it is supplied for ten cents to any one who will send for it, it will be widely read. The Boston & Maine with its sea coast resorts, its mountain and lake regions and its many places of attractive character reached by its line, can afford a book of almost unlimited interest. Traversing a region so famous in history, so attractive in its natural advantages and so appreciated by visitors from nearly every state, the compiler finds himself, in deciding what to print and what to omit, amid that embarrassment of riches for which few sections of the country are noted.

CHRIST AND THE ETERNAL LIFE.

The text in the Universalist church yesterday was I Cor., 6,2: "Now is the acceptable time, now is the day of salvation." What does the author mean? The text has been used to practice upon the illogical, and to urge upon them some man's interest or theory.

The apostle invites the Corinthians to grasp now the Eternal Life. The soul of man is not understood. Many things that it contains are supposed to be outside of it, or in waiting for it. Not knowing the content and extent of the soul, we allow ourselves to be led outside of it, and into some far future, for the fulfillment of Christ.

Jesus said much of eternal life, eternal death, eternal punishment, — certainly, from the nature of the word, not something to begin by-and-by. Whatever it is, it must be in process now. Truly it is so, and it is the process of the soul shown out in action, which in turn is reflective upon the soul. Here we have, then, Jesus' idea of eternal life. It has nothing to do with matter, nor with time. It is sempiternal, as active now as it will ever be. There is no word that comes nearer to awakening the same thought in the correct American mind, that the word "eternal" awakened in the mind of Christ, than the word "Spiritual." If this is tried through the four Gospels it will awaken new ideas of the magnificence and the comprehensiveness and the susceptibility of the human mind. This perusal will place the whole Gospel of Matthew and its present fulfillment right in the human soul.

Jesus rarely spoke of a future existence. He understood the sensitive soul, and painted its present abuse and present education vividly. In our narrow idea of the mind we refuse to admit heaven and hell through its portals. Now is the acceptable time. People who do not understand the teaching of the church today are looking forward to some great crisis in a future world. The eternal world is now. Study the soul and the four Gospels; for all religious cause and effect is now.

The Eternal is the Spiritual.

PLEASANT PROSPECT.

The Times of last Friday evening said:

A Waltham man has leased Preble's island in the lower harbor, and will soon set up a fertilizer manufactory there. This concern is a branch of the Bradley Fertilizer company of Boston. Fish offal, etc., will here be transformed into fertilizer, and afterwards shipped to Boston. The schooner Golden Gate will bring the necessary plant from Boston on her next trip.

This will probably give much satisfaction to the proprietors of summer hotels and boarding houses situated near the harbor, more especially if the establishment is to be kept running through the summer. If fish offal is depended on, however, it will probably be operated only in the winter and early spring.

PERSONAL.

T. B. Aldrich and wife, and their twin sons, are at the Appledore for a few weeks.

Mrs. Fred F. Moses and daughter started on Saturday for the mountains of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Loring Jones and family, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are at their summer home on Richards avenue for the season.

Mrs. John Salter and family, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Salter's, sisters, the Misses Shores of Richards avenue.

Miss Blanche Barrett of Concord, daughter of General-Freight-Agent Barrett of the Concord railroad, is visiting Miss Mollie Montgomery of Middle street.

Mrs. Grant of Rochester, N. Y., wife of Dr. Rolla C. Grant, formerly of this city, is with her daughter visiting her grandparents, Mr. Silas Philbrick and wife of this city.

Chief Justice Doe of the New Hampshire supreme court, who has been in ill health some time, sails for Europe from Boston on the 20th. He will be abroad two months or more.

Numbers of the old patrons of the Oceanic arrived at that hotel on Friday, among the number being the Eckstein family of Cincinnati, George Milmine and family of New York, Mrs. L. R. Reed of Boston, Dr. Carney and family of New York, and Mr. George Young of Young's hotel, Boston.

John Harvey, Benjamin M. Parker and Michael J. Leary of this city, William Hall of Newcastle and William Spinney of Kittery, employed in various capacities under the general storekeeper at the navy yard, were discharged on Saturday, owing it is said to lack of funds.

Rev. John A. Goss, formerly pastor of the Court street Christian church, officiated on Sunday in that church at the funeral services of the late Mrs. John Morrison, whose six sons acted as pall bearers.

The Whale's-back foghorn was sounding throughout Sunday, and as the fog extended over the city the people had a chance to be comfortable, and store up a little energy in readiness for the next hot spell.

The house of Mr. Daniel S. Philbrook on Hanover street was entered by some person on Friday night, and about $12 stolen; also some silver ware and jewelry.

Mr. Thomas Moore of North Hampton, who was fatally injured on the railroad at Kittery last Thursday afternoon, was an uncle of Police Officer Hobbs of this city, and aged seventy-nine years.

There were sixty boarders at the Pepperell house, Kittery Point, on Saturday.

The schooner Wingaersheek arrived on Saturday from Plum island with a cargo of building sand to J. Albert Walker.

The prizes, four in number, to be given the winners in the athletic sports at the barbers' picnic next Thursday at Wallis' sands, were put on exhibition last Friday evening in the window of Grace's store on Market square, and have attracted much attention, one of them in particular, a solid silver shaving-mug, gold lined, being especially handsome. There will be four "events," as follows: 1st, three standing jumps; 2d, running race, 100-yards dash; 3d, sack race; 4th, putting the shot. Persons wishing to compete for the prizes are requested to leave their names with P. D. Corcoran, chairman of committee on sports.

Jere. Long, a resident on Charles street, aged about seventy years, on Friday night about nine o'clock was removed from the Riverside house, near the Spring market, in an intoxicated condition, and was placed in a cellar next door, which opens upon the wharf and on a level with it. Saturday morning at four o'clock he was visited, and found to be dead. He was a well known figure to many hundreds of our citizens of both sexes, was formerly employed for many years by the city as a laborer, and also by individuals, and we never heard that he was any one's enemy but his own. He leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter.

Mr. J. Clifford Simpson of Greenland, a graduate of Dartmouth, class of '87, at the beginning of the fall term will commence teaching in the academy at Woodstock, Conn., at a salary of $1200.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Adrianna C. Curtis, widow of Dr. Benjamin W. Curtis, were held on Sunday afternoon at her late residence on State street.

Naval Intelligence.

Assistant Engineer E. T. Warburton has been ordered to examination for promotion.

Lieut. Theodoric Porter has been detached from the naval academy, and ordered to the Ossipee.

Lieut. George A. Calhoun has been detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to the Atlanta.

The cruiser Chicago has been taken out of dock at the Erie basin, and sent up to the Brooklyn navy yard. No official report has yet reached the department concerning the accident by which two blades of the vessel's propeller were broken while being docked.

The Atlanta has arrived at Newport from New York.

Mr. Conn has just received a lot of western sugar-cured pig hams, which are as nice as anything of the kind ever offered in this market.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

—Traveller—"One day, only once, I saw the Mikado. It was at Tokio, and a sight it was." Boston Lady—"Excuse me, cousin. But here in Boston we hear operas."

—A new carving knife works on the scissors principle. This looks as if the ladies had got tired of seeing their husbands bungle, and taken the matter into their own fair hands.

—A six-year-old boy whose father is a musician, was very restless the other night, and couldn't go to sleep. Finally as a last resort, he called out: "Papa, please play your cornet; that always make me tired!"

Prof. Loisette's Memory Discovery.

No doubt can be entertained about the value and genuineness of Prof. Loisette's Memory System as it is so strongly recommended by Mark Twain, Mr. Proctor, Hons. W. W. Astor, Judah P. Benjamin, Dr. Buckley, and others. For full details we advise our readers to send for Prof. Loisette's prospectus, at 237 Fifth Avenue, New York. From it we learn that the System is taught by correspondence quite as well as by personal instruction. Still we note that colleges near New York have secured his lectures. He has had 100 Columbia Law students, two classes of 200 each at Yale, 200 at Meriden, 250 at Norwich, 400 at Wellesley College, and 400 at University of Penn. We cannot conceive how a system could receive any higher endorsement.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. At Calais, Me., July 9th, two sons of Captain Dudley Cogswell, aged ten and twelve, and a son of Captain Joshua Thomas, aged twelve, were drowned while bathing.

Barzillai F. Ellis, the oldest member of Justin Dimick Post, G. A. R., of East Bridgewater, Mass., was found drowned in a ditch last Saturday evening. It is supposed that he missed his footing and fell into the water and mud, and was suffocated. He was seventy-eight years old.

Breaking Down and Building Up.

When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting medicinal measures to recuperate it. A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous, has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague, and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most useful and comprehensive household remedy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective.

Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg Gotha having been elected ruler of Bulgaria by the sobranje, the semi-official Colburg Zeitung remarks that he cannot accept without permission of the head of the house of which he is a member, and also of Emperor William. Russia disapproves of him, while Austria is indifferent.

The Father of Many Ills.

Constipation leads to a multitude of physical troubles. It is generally the result of carelessness or indifference to the simplest rules of health. Eugene McKay, of Brantford, Ont., writes:

I had for several years been a sufferer from constipation, had taken a great many different remedies, some of which did me good for a time, but only for a time, then my trouble came back worse than ever. I was induced by a friend, whom Brandreth's Pills had benefitted, to try them. I did so, taking two each night for a week, then one every night for about six weeks. Since that time I have not experienced the slightest difficulty whatever, and my bowels move regularly every day. I believe firmly that for sluggishness of the bowels and biliousness Brandreth's Pills are far superior to any other.

The contest between the master masons and the bricklayers at Chicago is concluded, the end being reached by a compromise.

FOR

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

IS CHEMISTRY A SCIENCE.

Learned Professors Attempt a Difficult Analysis—Three Results—No Two of Them Alike.

Some time ago a new drug called Kaskine was discovered. It was said to have all the properties of quinine except its deleterious ones. This claim was startling. But the men who understood the nature of Kaskine were sure of the facts and did not hesitate to style it The New Quinine. Many physicians said it was equal to quinine and some admitted its superiority. Among the latter was one who writes:

54 East 25th St., N. Y., Nov. 11, 1885.

After five months use of "Kaskine" I cheerfully state that I have found it superior to quinine in its specific power and entirely free from causing any disturbance to the hearing.

WM. FREDERICK HOLCOMBE, M. D.
Late Prof. in N. Y. Opth. Hospital and in N. Y. Ional College.

A wide demand for Kaskine, the new quinine, immediately sprang up. Millions of persons who were dissatisfied and disgusted with quinine turned to Kaskine as the garrison of a besieged city turns to a rescuing army. Rivals were alarmed. Their business was in danger. Something must be done to "Kill Kaskine." A "chemist" (?) was employed and instructed to analyze a sample. He brought out his retorts, crucibles, acids, alkalies, litmus paper and his alcohol lamp. Nauseous fumes arose. An entire bottle of Kaskine was administered to a professional "taster." It did not kill him. The chemist now saw his way to a verdict; Kaskine was "nothing but sugar." This finding was printed in the periodical owned by the chemist, and a copy sent to every druggist in the land. "Now," said the rivals, "Kaskine is killed."

But the people like sugar and declared that this Kaskine "sugar" had a wonderful way of curing malaria and dyspepsia, and of reducing fevers. The sales increased, and people praised it to their friends. The rivals were appalled. They had not "killed Kaskine;" they had boomed it. The "chemist" was again called upon, with two other "Professors" to help him—one from Wisconsin, one from Boston. These three wise men put their heads together. They brought out all their apparatus as before. The nauseous fumes ascended. The trembling taster swallowed more Kaskine. This time he said it had a slightly bitter taste. Science saw its way to the second verdict; Kaskine was sugar flavored with quinine; and this "analysis" was trumpeted through the land.

Once more "Kaskine was killed."

But the demand increased. Mr. C. N. Crittenton, a leading New York jobber, bought 200 gross, and other dealers in all the great business centres of the country, sent in proportionately large orders. Never before in the history of medicines had any remedy attained so wide and well-founded celebrity in so short a time. Meanwhile letters poured in, from which the following are merely extracts:

"No man ever suffered from malaria worse than I did. In 1883 I ran down from 175 pounds to 97. My doctor gave me up. He said, "I might pour pounds of quinine down your throat and it wouldn't help you. I then gave up quinine and concluded to take the chances. I heard of Kaskine, and without the least faith began using it. In one week I was better, began to sleep, have appetite and gain strength. In a month I was back at my work. Never had a days sickness since. Malaria was killed in my system. I am an astonishment to myself and friends."—F. A. Miller, 630 East 157th street, New York.

"For six years I took quinine in large doses for malaria. Last year I saw a published letter about Kaskine, the new quinine, as a remedy for that tedious trouble. I began to use it, and after a few weeks I was well, and never had a touch of malaria since."—William Teed, 133 East 124th Street, New York.

"Seven years ago I had an attack of bilious remittent fever which ran into intermittent malarial. I tried arsenic, mercury and quinine—the latter in heavy and continued doses. Malaria brought on nervous prostration and dyspepsia. Last winter I began using Kaskine the new quinine, and on a few bottles cured me. Malaria and dyspepsia both disappeared."—Mrs. J Lawson, 141 Bergen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I contracted malaria in the Michigan Lake District, and for eight years suffered from a chronic type of intermittent malarial fever with all its distressing symptoms. Used all the leading remedies, including quinine, under the best medical advice, but received no radical benefit. In the summer of 1886 I first tried Kaskine, the new quinine, and it cured me. It was a true scientific healing, and results so real cannot be disputed.

DAVID J. NORTON, State St., Albany, N. Y.

"In its power to eradicate malaria from the system Kaskine is a medicinal revelation. Mine was about as bad a case of this order as could be, and yet Kaskine thoroughly cured me after I had been dosed to no purpose with almost every drug in the Pharmacopœa."

J. D. HIRD, B. A.,
Assistant Chemist Maryland Agricultural College.

Bankruptcy now stared the rivals in the face. The people laughed at the "sugar" dodge and the "quinine" dodge. Kaskine was sweeping the continent like a prairie fire. Again the chemists brought out their apparatus. Seeing the dreadful preparations the "taster" fled in terror from the laboratory. The nauseous fumes once more ascended, and "Science" pronounced the third verdict:

"Kaskine is made of mercury, arsenic and other deadly poisons."

But the people laughed at this dodge also and the sales increased.

Now, what does all this mean? Here have been three distinct "analyses" with three contradictory results The public may well ask: "Is chemistry merely a pretended science, or are these learned Professors fools and humbugs? One or the other must be true. Does it not show rather that our advertising cartoon represents the truth and Kaskine is "Science Emerging from Darkness?"

Meanwhile the "little joker" that is so potent to cure is not yet found.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application.

An Important Element

Of the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the fact that every purchaser receives a fair equivalent for his money. The familiar headline "100 Doses One Dollar," stolen by imitators, is original with and true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. This can easily be proven by any one who desires to test the matter. For real economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Another Theatre Fire.

At Hurley, Wis., at eight o'clock Saturday evening, fire broke out on the stage of the Alcazar theatre, a low place of amusement frequented mainly by miners. Only a small audience had gathered at the time, and most of them escaped, but a number of the attaches of the theatre, mostly women, lost their lives. The theatre was in the heart of the city, and the flames spread among the wooden buildings in all directions until there was little left to burn, the total losss being over $500,000. Seventeen persons lost their lives in the theatre, and it is believed that others perished elsewhere.

A Yachting Horror.

The sloop yacht Mystery, with a large party on board, principally women and children, was capsized near Barren island at the entrance to Jamaica bay, L. I., on Sunday afternoon, and instantly filled. The yacht was towing a boat, into which eight men climbed and pulled for Barren island. A colored man pulled out from Barren island in a boat, and when the tugboat Dean, which saw the accident and put on all steam for the rescue, arrived at the spot, it was found that the gallant fellow had got fourteen women and children into his boat, and was holding fast to several others in the water. The tug took on board the people from the boat, and the three men the colored man was supporting in the water, and then picked up two dead bodies, both of women, the brave colored man also picking up three other women, insensible but still alive. Eleven persons, mostly women and children, were drowned. The name of the colored man who did such noble service was not given in the first despatches.

A later account says there were at least forty persons, mostly German women and children, on the yacht, whose only crew consisted of the captain, Hendrickson, and his nine-year-old son. Beer had been free during the day, and the captain was drunk. There was no boatload of men escaped, and the brave colored man saved but seven lives, only thirteen persons being rescued, all told. More than half the lost were children, from six years old down to infants in arms. The drunken skipper was drowned, as was also his son.

A Zealous Reformer.

Oscar J. Harvey of Pennsylvania, a man of high intellectual attainments and fine address, was by President Cleveland about two years ago appointed chief of a division in the treasury department. Ex-Gov. Curtin opposed the appointment on the ground that Harvey was a scoundrel as well as an able man, but he got the place, being made chief of the division having charge of the settling of claims arising from the loss of horses during the war. Mr. Cleveland's reform appointee has addressed himself with such zeal to the settlement of dead-horse claims that he has invented hundreds of horses that never existed, created claimants, lawyers, evidence of whatever kind was required, committed forgery and purjury in all directions, and pocketed about $90,000 as the proceeds of his two years' devotion to democratic reform. Only another case in which the president was deceived by his friends, that's all. "Turn the rascals out."

The Brooklyn Standard-Union, commenting on Secretary Whitney's easy declarations in regard to removing the navy yards from partisan politics, uses the following language in speaking of the Brooklyn yard: "In point of fact the policy of Secretary Whitney in regard to the patronage is that of a low-minded political trickster. His reformatory professions, made early in the administration, have turned out to be the worthless pledges of a partisan manipulator intent solely on manufacturing party capital. To the boss politicians of these two cities he has turned over the navy yard to dispose of as though it were their own. With his co-workers he has thought to deceive the public. But they have done nothing of the sort, and it is they who eventually will have to bear the consequences of their already apparent betrayal of a high public trust."

A citizens' meeting in St. Louis has appointed a committee to invite the president and Mrs. Cleveland to visit that city on the week beginning Oct. 2d.

Schooner Mopang, which arrived at Millbridge, Me., July 9th, carried in Gilbert Atwood and John Murphy of the Gloucester fishing schooner Clyde, who were taken from a dory off Matinicus on the 7th. Owing to a dense fog they had been unable to find their vessel, and when found were nearly exhausted, having been twenty-four hours without food or water.

The steamship Merrimack sailed from Halifax for Boston on Saturday afternoon, and shortly after midnight the same night struck on Little Hope island, and became a total wreck. Crew and passengers saved, but nothing else. Captain and several seamen badly but not fatally hurt. The Merrimack was an iron steamship of about 2000 tons, built in Boston in 1862, and owned there. She was on her first trip for the season between Boston and Halifax.

The cars that run on the Boston & Maine's new train, the Bar Harbor limited express, are somewhat wider than ordinary Pullman's, but otherwise are not peculiar except in the platforms, which are so inclosed as to form perfect vestibules, which fit to one another so closely that the train appears to be made up of a single long car. At the front end of the train the dining and compartment cars are located. The compartment car contains a barber's shop, which is in charge of an experienced barber; a writing desk, where one can attend to correspondence, and a smoking room. In fact the train is perfect in all its appointments—so far as perfection in railway carriages has yet been attained—and it is well patronized, which proves that it is appreciated by the public.

The weavers in the York mills at Saco struck on Friday, owing to the discharge of Cyril Sicard for putting on his outer garments before the bell rung. At a meeting of the strikers on the 9th it was voted to return to work if the overseer would take Sicard back with the rest, which the overseer agreed to on condition that Sicard would promise to obey the rules of the corporation. Sicard said he would, and the strikers voted to return to work on the 11th.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of the stomach, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEELE, Salem, Mass.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

"WHAT NEXT?"

Mr. Editor: The question "What next?" is frequently asked now at the north end. A new edifice of not very fine architectural merits has been erected on Market street, on city land adjoining the Noble's island bridge, but which is claimed probably by the Concord railroad wharf, which to suit the corporation has recently been extended and enlarged into the navigable waters of the Piscataqua, without any authority whatever. The building of this shanty shuts off the sight of danger at the crossing of the trains from any one entering into or going out of Portsmouth, and causes considerable discussion. The street commissioner has never been up to look at it; but what could he do if he were to come, when an alderman is in charge there, and the harbor master professes incompetence to do anything? Let us see now: One street has been shut off a few years since; Vaughan street has been extended at a considerable expense to the city; the bay inside the Dover bridge has been shut off by the filling in between and outside the piles; and the Noble's island bridge draw is so curtailed that none but just such vessels as the railroad corporations say may go there, can go through,—etc., etc. As a north end alderman in the employment of the corporation says, "What are you going to do about it?" What can you do about it, when the city government is controlled by these same corporations? But what next? Next comes the making of the upper part of Market street a mere lane, and the further extension of Vaughan street and building a bridge across to Noble's island and Freeman's point, and thence across the Piscataqua to Kittery, at a big expense to the city of Portsmouth. But who cares? improvements must go on, no matter for whose benefit. Portsmouth is a wealthy city, and hopes to be more so; let her pay, as she likes it for the good of her favorites. Whose business is it? CITIZEN.

THE CRICKET MATCH.

For reasons known to themselves the Portsmouth cricket club are desirous of having published the detailed score of the game played in this city on the 4th of July between the Mystic club of Medford, Mass., and the Portsmouth club:

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, July 11th.

Nettie Clark, drunk, promised to leave the city at once if allowed, so she was permitted to go on probation.

A live green turtle arrived at Appledore last Saturday, and will soon be registered on the bill of fare.

Messrs. Crewley, Corey and Boynton are named as the candidates of the democratic machine for ward one. The machine will win; it is a magnificent piece of mechanism, is run by an experienced and fearless engineer, and whoever gets in its way will get hurt.

Over 200 guests spent Sunday at the Appledore house. Rev. J. Walter Wood held divine service in the Music hall, the singing being led by Mrs. J. P. White of Buffalo, N. Y.

A young man with but one leg, skillfully riding a bicycle and carrying a crutch secured to his back, attracted considerable attention on Congress street, Monday evening. He managed the machine with apparent ease, dismounted without difficulty, and using the wheel instead of a crutch walked along as well as anybody.

Tickets for the steamer Oceanic are now on sale at Preston's drug store, Congress block. This will be a convenience for residents of the city bound to the islands.

The top-dressing of "gravel" which was spread over the good road-bed of Vaughan street some weeks ago, was turned into a sort of sloppy soup by the rain of Sunday and Monday. It had better be balled up and poured overboard.

The work of laying the brick partition walls of the new Jones brewery was commenced last week, by Mr. A. Brackett Trefethen.

The shower of Sunday afternoon was a brisk one, and the rain was very welcome, but it must have come from a warm climate, for the air was hotter after the shower had passed than at any time previous during the day. There was considerable thunder, and during the shower the fire-alarm gong on the Portsmouth brewery gave forth one dismal boo-o-o, though the North church bell did not sound. Considerable rain fell on Monday also, but like that of Sunday it appeared to have no cooling effect on the atmosphere, and the ground was wet only to the depth of a few inches.

A gentleman who was at the Appledore house last Sunday informs us that many of the guests, after ordering their midday meal from the splendid bill of fare served that day, said that a better dinner was never served at the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York. Mr. R. F. Ford, the steward, understands his business perfectly, having had seventeen years' experience at Young's hotel, Boston, and the head cook, who also was for a long time at Young's as chef, is of course master of his profession; the fish dishes he sends to the tables are worthy of Taft's famous fish and game house at Point Shirley. The Laighton Bros. themselves say that not in all the time they have conducted the Appledore have they been so successful in their corps of assistants as this year.

The schooner L. C. Ballard, Bearse master, arrived from Philadelphia on the 11th inst. with 988 tons coal to J. Albert Walker.

The challenge issued by Captain Frank E. Brown of the yacht White Swan, to sail a race from Annisquam light around Isles of Shoals and return, is expected to be sailed on Wednesday, the 15th inst., and to be of much interest. The entries are the Wona, owned by Captain Cunningham and designed by Burgess; the Trudette, the Viola, the Atalanta of Boston, the Black Cloud and the Petrel of the Sandy Bay club. A steamer is expected to accompany them over the course.

Fish are very abundant in the waters near the Isles of Shoals at present. Mr. Bradlee of Boston on Saturday caught seventy fine cod and haddock off Appledore island.

You cannot get shaved in this city on July 14th, for it is against the law made by the barbers that that day shall be a holiday. All the barbers in this city will attend the Portsmouth barbers' picnic at Wallis' sands. The barbers will also play ball on that day for the barbers' championship of the New England coast, which has been talked about so much of late. The Dover battery will be Hughes and Printy. They are good 'uns.—Dover Democrat.

Just received, a lot of fine Baptiste dress goods, figured indigo blue, at 12 1-2 cts. The nicest wash dress fabric in the market. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

During the shower of Sunday afternoon the house of Samuel Cole, Jr., of Eliot, was struck by lightning, which knocked two holes in the roof, injured the chimney, bursted a window and made a general average among the crockery ware, but injured no person, there being nobody in the house, Mrs. Cole and her little boy having just gone to a neighbor's.

Field strawberries of quite good size, and pleasant to the taste, have been plentifully gathered by the children throughout York of late. But such old ladies as used to gather them for the old Spring market years ago, at "twenpence" a quart, are not there now, and if they were would hardly bring them in when cultivated berries are so abundantly purchased at the fruit stores of Portsmouth at ten cents per box.

The post-office was lighted with gas and electricity both on Monday evening. Uncle Sam must be trying to reduce the surplus in the treasury.

Defiant Talk.

The Anti-Poverty meeting in New York on Sunday evening last was the largest ever held, the excommunication of Rev. Dr. McGlynn having intensified the interest. The Academy of Music was so crowded that Irving hall had to be engaged, and that, too, was soon packed, hundreds being turned away.

James F. Gaban of the Catholic Herald presided over the Academy meeting, and in his introductory remarks said:

We are here to-night to let Rome know that in matters political not one jot of our allegiance is rendered to any power or potentate, but in its entirety is given the laws and constitution of the United States. [Cheers.] All of you went to your several churches this morning. In not one church did anyone dare to stand up and read the decree of Michael Augustine Corrigan. [Hisses and catcalls.]

Dr. Mc Glynn was received with tumultuous applause by the 4000 people in the Academy, and in the course of his speech said:

Our God is a merciful as well as a wise one. He will never condemn any being who follows the dictates of his conscience, even be that conscience an erring one. In obeying it he is forever obeying the will of God, as is a dogma of the Catholic faith, and accords to all Christian philosophy and teaching. The man who goes against his conscience sins against the Holy Ghost, and despite the power of any authority, even the Pope, if a man does or says anything in obedience to that power, if in so doing he goes against his conscience, he sins. Even if a high Roman tribunal summons a man before it for teaching the truth which he knows to exist, and if that tribunal should condemn his doctrines without giving them a trial, and command him to retract them, it is his duty before God to refuse to do so. [Cheers prolonged.] And if it was in its power, as it one time was, but, thank God, no longer is, to imprison and martyr the truth in the persons of those who have read God's word in nature before they have been able to see it—should it summons him and command him to retract under the penalty of imprisonment or martyrdom, it is his duty to resist and even to be burned alive at the stake rather than commit the unpardonable sin against the Holy Ghost of declaring true what his conscience believes to be false.

High Handed Ruffianism.

At Park Ridge, N. J., Sunday night, an evangelist named Manson was taken by a mob from a house where he was living, beaten with a switch, taken to the railway station, and his long hair and beard cut off, after which he was locked in a barn under guard until train time, when he was put on board the cars for New York.

Naval Intelligence.

Medical Inspector A. Hudson has been detached from the Trenton, and placed on waiting orders.

Medical Inspector W. K. Scofield is ordered to the Trenton.

A standard article, universally recommended, is James Pyle's Pearline, which is claimed to be the best thing ever invented for making washing easy, in hard or soft water, without harm to fabric or hands. No soap is required and the work is done thoroughly without it. The genuine is sold by all grocers, and purchasers should beware of imitation.

Frank Rollins of Dover, aged thirteen years, went from his home last Friday afternoon, and his body was found next evening in Bellamy river, floating. The boy's parents suspect foul play, but the coroner decided to hold no inquest.

The well known strengthening properties of Iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

The buildings of Mrs. Moses Noyes at Lisbon were struck by lightning on the 2d inst., and burned. A few household goods and most of the farming tools were saved, as was also the stock with the exception of two hogs. Insurance on buildings about $1500.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

The town of Plaistow raised $200 to celebrate the Fourth.

How Unpleasant

It is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulphur Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

Breaking Down and Building Up.

When a man breaks down in the matter of physical strength, the question of its recovery depends in great measure upon the length of time he allows to elapse before adopting medicinal means to recuperate it. A tonic, which gives a speedy and powerful impulse to the processes of digestion and assimilation, is the best auxiliary he can employ, and he should resort to it promptly. The most reliable dependence of the feeble, the aged and the nervous, has ever proved to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant of national reputation and proven worth, commended by medical men of distinction, not only for building up a broken-down system, but as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, fever and ague, and kidney trouble. While not claimed to be a panacea, it is a most useful and comprehensive household remedy. It is, moreover, eminently safe as well as effective.

The Hedding campmeeting grove at East Epping was never more lively than now. The thinning process of the past winter, in the removal of wood and timber, lets in the sun. Some dozen or fifteen cottages are open, and more will follow soon. The assembly hall is rapidly nearing its completion. It is located on the level ground just outside the grove on the east side, and will accommodate about 1500 people; it is intended for service on stormy days. Three principal meetings are to be held here in the month of August next, the Sunday school assembly, 15th to the 20th; the regular Hedding campmeeting, 22d to the 27th; and the National Holiness campmeeting, 27th to Sept. 3d.

Prepared by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

The San Francisco Chronicle prints the papers upon which the late Deputy United States Collector Blake, of Port Townsend, Washington territory, based his accusations of irregularity on the part of H. F. Beecher, formerly collector and now treasury agent at that port. The documents show that one Rouse, who was entitled to $16,000 as an informer, having brought about a seizure, was cheated out of the money by Beecher. They also contain charges that the collector overcharged the government for certain supplies. Blake, who was removed by Beecher, started for Washington to file the charges, but was taken sick and died at Chicago. Rouse writes to the Chronicle that he believes a man named Bill Minty, one of the collector's friends, met Blake in Chicago and that foul play ensued, resulting in Blake's death.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. Prof. Loisette's Memory Discovery.

No doubt can be entertained about the value and genuineness of Prof. Loisette's Memory system as it is so strongly recommended by Mark Twain, Mr. Proctor, Hons. W. W. Astor, Judah P. Benjamin, Dr. Buckley, and others. For full details we advise our readers to send for Prof. L's prospectus, at 237 Fifth Avenue, New York. From it we learn that the System is taught by correspondence quite as well as by personal instruction. Still we note that colleges near New York have secured his lectures. He has had 100 Columbia Law students, two classes of 200 each at Yale, 200 at Meriden, 250 at Norwich, 400 at Wellesley College, and 400 at University of Penn. We cannot conceive how a system could receive any higher endorsement.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,sat.G

A Canadian Enterprise.

An extensive lottery swindle has just been unearthed in Montreal. The chief of police has received inquiries from persons in the United States asking for information about a financial firm named H. Reade & Co., of Montreal. These letters were accompanied with a prospectus of a grand legal lottery in aid of the parish of St. Marc, Quebec. A first prize of $400,000 was promised, with 10,000 prizes of different values. Persons desiring to buy tickets were asked to address their communications to Box 1436, Montreal postoffice. It appears that tickets have been sold by agents all over the United States. The St. Marc church authorities know nothing of such a lottery.

What Became of a Million of Dollars.

The Extraordinary Grand Drawing (the 207th monthly) of the Louisiana State Lottery took place at New Orleans, La., on Tuesday—always Tuesday—June 14th, 1887. The occasion had an unusual interest from the magnitude of the prizes in value. $300,000 was the First Capital Prize, sold in twentieths at $5 each, and the lucky winner of the ticket, No. 52,749, was Mr. Flugmacher and Wm. Wendel, and one to Wm. Kempler, all of New York City, paid through Adams Express Co.; two to Mrs. F. Y. Wasserman of Omaha, Neb., paid through Pacific Express Co.; one to Annie Chandler of Cliftonville, Miss., one to L. M. Reinack, through Klaus & Bro., both were paid through First National Bank of Meridian, Miss.; one to Jas. H. Raymond & Co., of Austin, Tex.; one to City National Bank and one to National Exchange Bank, both at Dallas, Texas; one to A. J. Trotts, N. W. cor. 6th and "L" Sts., San Francisco, Cal.; one was paid in person to P. J. Mooney, No. 420 Ursuline St., and one to Chas. E. Deanis, Exposition Boulevard and Preston sts., both of New Orleans, La. The Second Prize was $100,000, won by No. 21,638 also sold in twentieths at $5 each, one to S. Levy, No. 140 E. 16th St., Chicago, Ill.; one to John Kyle of Buffalo, N. Y., paid through Adams Express; one paid to Casco National Bank of Portland, Me., through Maverick National Bank of Boston, Mass.; one to Frank Armstrong, through R. Truman, Afton Band, Afton, Iowa; one to John G. Liebel of 1910 Peach St., Erie, Pa.; one to Snyder, Wells & Co., Gates, Tenn.; one to J. C. Curry, Prop. of Tivoli Garden, Main St., Memphis, Tenn.; one to a depositor in the Louisiana National Bank of New Orleans, La.; one to J. B. Boyd, San Diego, Cal., paid through Wells, Fargo & Co.; one to Geo. Biller, No. 1924 Howth St., San Francisco, Cal., through Anglo-Californian Bank, Limited; one to Wells, Fargo & Co., of San Francisco, Cal. Third Capital was won by No. 16,186; it was not sold. No. 34,018 drew the Fourth Capital Prize of $25,000; it was also sold in twentieths at $1 each. One to A. B. Clark, Boston, paid through International Trust Co. of Boston, Mass.; one to R. J. Tuffin, also of Boston, Mass., paid through Adams Express Co.; one to John McDiarmond and John McKenna of Stamford, Conn.; one to First National Bank of San Jose, Cal.; one to John L. Steelman, No. 63 South St., New York City; one to R. G. Heffernan, Louisville, paid through Third National Bank of Louisville, Ky.; one to a depositor in the New Orleans National Bank, at New Orleans, La.; one to G. R. Goldbeck, Manor, Texas, etc., etc. The scheme embraced 3,136 prizes, amounting to $1,055,000, and while the further details are interesting to many investors, any information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. The next occurrence of a similar nature will be on Tuesday, August 9th, 1887.

The Gila Monster.

Recently there has been added to the garden an animal that is as dangerous as it is ugly. It comes from Arizona. Is found in Montana, and is different from almost every other animal known to scientists save the eyeless fish of the Mammoth cave. It can not live in the sunlight. It is found in dark, deep, out-of-the-way caves and canons, and its breath is said to be deadly. Now comes the question. How is this poisonous breath emitted? The Gila monster is a species of lizard, and when disturbed simply thrusts out a needle-like fang, or, more properly, feeler, the end of which expands and spreads out like a fan. Some claim that the poison is emitted from this fan-like appendage; others think that the poisonous exhalation comes from the animal's mouth, and is simply blown out like the breath of any animal endowed with sufficient lung power. At any rate the Gila monster is a fighter. When he first arrived he was put in a cage with two rattlesnakes. They were large, powerful animals, and all being reptiles together no apprehensions were entertained that any differences would arise between the cold-blooded creatures. Not so, however. The snakes went fooling around the lizard, which is only about fifteen inches long, and filled his little ugly body full of their poisonous venom. It took no effect whatever, but in the morning when the keeper came two dead rattlesnakes lay stretched in the sand, while the little monster was as lively as a cricket.

When the animal came on by express it was packed in a box, and by some means got out. The messenger, with more nerve than discretion, grabbed it by the tail and thrust it back. When Stevens told him what a risk he had run and how deadly the animal he had handled was he turned pale and exclaimed: "I wouldn't do it again for the world."

Its color is a sort of dark maroon, with yellow spots, which brighten after shedding. Its food consists of insects, which of course can not be supplied in winter, so instead the Gila monster gets one raw egg a day. It makes a hole about a quarter of an inch in size, and soon sucks out the contents. The animal is confined in an iron cage, with glass one-half an inch in thickness, and through a small, round hole in the top the eggs are let down in the sand bottom by means of a wire noose. The cage is kept in a dark place, where no ray of sunlight ever comes, and beneath runs a coil of steam-pipes, as the animal can not endure the cold. Its head is not unlike that of an alligator, while its tail is of considerable thickness, short and fat.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

With an Artificial Skin.

A curious story comes from England through a private source, that the Baroness Burdette Coutts has something that no other woman in the world possesses—three skins. All other women have two; but what is the use of a great fortune if you can't afford yourself a little unusual luxury now and then? The third skin is made of silk, and is so exquisitely fine and close fitting that few people have detected its presence. It is said to cover her whole body, from her ankles to her chin, and they—for she has a set of them—are woven specially for her. They are flesh-colored, of course, and hide all wrinkles and ravages of time, with the natural discolorations of the skin that are the result of age. Where this artificial skin ends at the throat the Baroness wears a splendid collar of jewels or a velvet band, and she never takes off her gloves while in evening dress, not even to eat her dinner.

A Story of Bishop Wilberforce.

A few days ago I heard a good story of Bishop Wilberforce, which I have never seen in print, and which is certainly not to be found in his "Life." The bishop was traveling on the Great Western railway, in one of the old-fashioned broad gauge carriages, and was seated at one end of it, when he heard a truculent voice at the other exclaim: "I would dearly like to meet that bishop of Oxford. I will be bound I would puzzle him." "Very well," replied the bishop to the speaker, who had not perceived him; "now is your time, for I am that person." The man was rather taken aback, but, quickly recovering, said: "Well, my lord, can you tell a plain man a plain way to get to heaven?" "Certainly," said the bishop; "nothing is more easy. You have only to turn at once to the right, and go straight forward."—London Truth.

Gordon's Bible.

In one of the great picture galleries at Windsor Castle are several precious caskets, among other exquisite objects de vertu. The Queen entered one day with a small book in her hand and asked the keeper of these treasures which was the most rare and valuable of all the caskets. He showed her one made of pure rock crystal, ornamented with gold and enamel. In this casket the Queen placed the small book—General Gordon's pocket Bible, annoted and marked by his own hand, and in this precious casket will remain this most precious relic of one of England's greatest heroes.

The communion table from which George Washington received the sacrament on the Sunday before his death has just been restored to Christ Church, Alexandria, by Miss Sally Stuart, who received it from a near relative by bequest.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.
E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Klotz, who had tetter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.
C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humor on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.
MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore plain that those afflicted with fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones are cariious, the sight of the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting affected as to be useless, the nails so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Another Railroad Bill.

A bill was introduced in the legislature on the 11th inst. by Mr. Fay of Claremont, entitled "an act to incorporate the Vermont & New Hampshire railroad," and providing that J. Gregory Smith, Benjamin P. Cheney, Harry C. Fay, Martin L. Richardson, Edward C. Smith and James M. Foss, and their associates, may locate and construct a railway from any point on the west bank of the Connecticut, in the counties of Sullivan and Cheshire, though any towns in the counties of Sullivan, Cheshire and Hillsboro, to any point or points in the last named two counties on the south line of this state, or to connect with any railroads in said counties.

Section three provides that the capital stock may consist of from 3000 to 30,000 shares, of $100 each. The government of affairs shall be vested in seven directors, to be chosen by the stockholders.

Section four says that when the net receipts for the use of said railroad exceed the average of ten per cent per annum from the commencement of their operation, the excess shall be paid into the state treasury.

Section five provides that stockholders shall not be liable to assessment beyond the value of their stock.

Section eight authorizes the corporation to lease its road to the Central Vermont, or to any railroad corporation established under the laws of this state and connecting with the same.

The preamble sets forth the importance to this state of the large and increasing traffic of the Central Vermont railroad, and the need of the proposed new road to prevent any unjust discrimination against that traffic.

The Wreck of the Merrimac.

Later reports from the wreck of the steamer Merrimac indicate that the disaster was the result of carelessness, and that the rescue of all on board was little short of miraculous. The passengers complain that their baggage was rifled and valuables stolen, by the crew as they think, the men having got drunk immediately after the grounding of the steamer on the reefs surrounding Little Hope island. The night was clear and starlit, and the light on Little Hope island in plain sight quarter of a mile away, when the steamer struck at full speed.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., July 12th.

A beautiful death-bed scene (if it can be so described) took place at the home of Mr. John D. Fernald of West Kittery. His youngest daughter, Mrs. S. H. Sterling, a beautiful young woman about thirty years of age, loved by all who knew her, after a sickness of nearly two years passed away early Monday morning. A short time before she died she asked to see all those who were near and dear to her. This being granted (with the exception of a few absent ones) she spoke of her approaching end and of the happiness she felt sure of among those dear ones gone before, bid them all to live that they might meet her when called away, made such arrangements as she wished to take place after she was gone, with Christian fortitude seldom witnessed in one so young; the smiles that lighted her countenance and the beautiful words as she bid all goodbye proved that she could see something beyond this world, and thus she closed her eyes on earth and friends to open them again on loved ones who had passed on before, and on the glories of a better land. Her funeral takes place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon from her late residence at West Kittery, Rev. Francis Grovenor officiating.

The scholars of Dist. 1 presented their teacher, Miss Florence E. Sanderson, with an elegant gold pen and pencil at the close of the spring term of school last week.

Wm. B. Keen of Malden, Mass., is on his annual summer vacation among friends at the lower village.

David Stimpson and family of Concord, N. H., are visiting friends and relatives here. SUB ROSA.

KITTERY PORT, ME., July 11th.

Kittery Point is quite lively now. There are about sixty guests at the Pepperell, beside those at the other hotels and private houses. The proprietor of the Pepperell has had applications for more rooms than the house contains.

The rain was much needed. The fields and gardens are now looking fresh and clean once more.

The Angel of Death has visited two homes in our vicinity within a week. The funeral of Miss Fannie Bellamy took place at the Freewill Baptist church yesterday. To-day the funeral of Mr. Henry Paul took place at the residence of his son, Geo. W. Paul. Mr. Paul has been helpless from paralysis since last October. His son has not had a full night's rest since that time. He has watched over and cared for his father with all possible tenderness and patience.

The schooner Golden Gate will take the spile-driver used on the railroad bridge to Boston. The engines, barrows, drills, etc., will also be shipped on the same vessel.

Mrs. George Carter has in her possession a pitcher that once belonged to Molly Miles. Molly gave the pitcher to Mrs. Carter's grandmother eighty years ago, and it is probably more than one hundred years old. She has, also, a pitcher, snuff-box and pair of spectacles that were once the property of Betty Potter. Mrs. Carter has delightful closets full of old-fashioned crockery and foreign curiosities.

The pond lilies are in full bloom. There are two ponds on the Creek road where they grow. Although their home is in mud and slime, they bravely rise above it, and nothing on earth is more pure than the white blooms that open in the sunlight.

Edward Parker is at the Pocahontas for the season.

The schools at the point are closed. The terms in Districts No. 4, North and South, continue through this month.

Mr. William C. Williams has been in from Boon island with a load of fish. He says there is good fishing around the island now, and mackerel are plenty there. AUNT MOLLY.

YORK CORNER, ME., July 12th.

Admiral Taylor arrived at the Harmon house on Saturday.

The bright roses have returned to the cheeks of Miss May Trafton, who came home two weeks ago, rather unwell, and she returns to-day, plump and happy, to Massachusetts, where she is employed in the family of Judge Fossett.

Will H. Gowen is again the "happy parient" of ten and thirteen-sixteenths pounds of girl baby. John H. Roberts and wife are highly pleased over a like result. Altogether, Cider hill is a locality in which the residents very fairly obey the injunction to "multiply and replenish the earth." P.

A Remedy for Cancer.

Dr. Arthur Stradling writes to the London Lancet that he has apparently discovered a simple remedy for arresting cancerous growth. It is dried carbonate of lime to which is added 2 1-2 per cent of the phosphate, to imitate the product of oyster shells as much as possible. Of this the patient takes as much as can be heaped up on a sixpence (about the size of a ten-cent piece,) three times a day, in a dessert-spoonful of milk. After nineteen months, in the case of his patient, the growth of the tumor was undoubtedly arrested.

It is hardly to be wondered at that New York's discovery that drinking liquors in a hotel is not liquor drinking, should be speedily followed by the discovery that a restaurant is a hotel. By next Sunday it probably will have been learned that a plate of crackers and a ham sandwich constitute a restaurant.

Benjamin Bragdon, an insane citizen of Kennebunk, shot himself in the head on the 9th inst., inflicting a wound which it was supposed would prove fatal.

The family of Daniel Bragdon, overseer of the Saco Water Power machine shop, were poisoned on the 8th inst., supposed at first by eating halibut at dinner, but later it was thought by Paris green from potatoes where the poison had been used on the vines. They were taken with violent vomiting, and all were for a time in a critical condition. On the night following, Mr. Bragdon, wife and son showed signs of recovery, but it was feared the youngest child might not recover.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver, therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness nervous debility, diseases of the organs, constipation, headache, impure blood, Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." "I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

GLYCEROLE!

A PRESERVATIVE OF LEATHER.

Ever since the now indispensable article of Shoe Dressing came into existence, it has been the source of constant trouble to parties using it, because it hardened and cracked the leather; to the dealer, because of the complaints of his customers. Conscientious Shoe Dealers have often dissuaded their patrons from using any Shoe Dressing whatever and advised the application of oil which will nourish and preserve leather.

After years of patient work however, we have succeeded in solving the problem of producing an oil, which in addition to its softening and preserving qualities will restore leather goods to their original lustre.

Glycerole is a veritable oil and the only one in existence, which answers the purpose of oiling, and at the same time, dressing leather.

It is absolutely perfect in its composition, does not rub off or soil dresses or skirts and imparts to worn goods a soft, oily lustre which positively preserves the leather and increases its durability.

We do not pretend that a single application of Glycerole will improve a shoe already dried and hardened by numerous coats of shoe dressing, but we do warrant that all shoes oiled and dressed only with Glycerole will be positively improved in wearing quality as this oil by penetrating into the pores of the leather will make it more supple and add to its durability.

HEARING ON A DESIRED WHARF EXTENSION.

The public hearing before the Portsmouth delegation of the legislature took place at the common council room last evening. The matter in hearing was a bill authorizing the extension of Fernald's wharf, so called, 50 feet into the river. Mr. J. Albert Walker, owner of the wharf, with Calvin Page, Esq., as counsel, appeared in support of the bill, and Col. Wm. H. Sise with C. E. Batchelder, Esq., as counsel, appeared in opposition to the measure. There were quite a number of citizens in attendance to hear the arguments pro and con. Mr. Walker in response to questions asked stated that it was necessary to accommodate his increasing business that his wharf should be extended because there was not water enough at the head of his wharf for such deep draught vessels as he is accustomed to charter to lay in safety. This could be remedied by extending the wharf further into the river. Testimony was also introduced by Messrs. John E. Locke, J. E. Demick and Thomas E. Call, Jr., showing the depth of water in the vicinity and the effect of extension of wharf on other wharf property in the neighborhood.

The arguments introduced by the opposition were intended to show that wharves adjoining the Fernald wharf owned by E. F. Sise & Co. would be damaged by the extension and the owners compelled to spend money which they do not now care to do to extend their wharf into the river so that it will be on a line with the Fernald wharf. There was also some testimony as to the depth of water at the head of Sise's wharf and a remonstrance signed by E. F. Sise & Co. and two or three others was presented to the delegation and the hearing adjourned until next Saturday evening.—Times, 12th.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Clarence Parmenter, formerly of Portsmouth but now of Boston, was in this city on Sunday.

Miss Ida L. Marston has resigned as principal of the Cabot street school, to which position she was elected at the recent meeting of the board of instruction.

Mr. Charles M. Greene, formerly of this city, who for some time past has been the room clerk at the Tremont house, Boston, has accepted a similar position at the Parker house.

Mr. Frank S. Preston left this city on Monday for New York, from which port he sails on Wednesday by the International Line steamship Egypt for Queenstown, intending to be absent two months or more on a tour of the British isles.

Miss Outerbridge of Flats, Bermuda, who for the past two years has been a pupil at the Massachusetts normal school at Salem, from which institution she graduated this year, is visiting her former schoolmate, Miss Mabel Dennett, on State street. Miss Outerbridge returns to her home in Bermuda this fall.

AN ABASHED MARAUDER.

At the southern portion of the city resides a cat named Jacob Sharp. Like most felines and many humans he has a decided weakness for small birds as an article of diet, and like his great New York prototype has a means for attaining his ends. Many a sparrow, robin and blackbird has he transmigrated to the realms of the cat-bird, but an evening or two since his Nemesis pursued him. Your correspondent, seated upon the back steps, was reading an absorbing editorial that the Irish should not only have America but Ireland also; Jake was in his drawing-room, a pile of brush; when an unearthly chatter disturbed the man of letters, which he found proceeded from a full-grown black-throated sparrow on the high fence, directed at the cat in the brush heap. I did not care for the feelings of Jake—who didn't seem to care much himself—but could not stand the vehement outcries. Three times I drove the bird from the fence, but the fourth time he came straight to the brush pile, lighted within two feet of the cat's head, and abused him as shamefully as ever a fond wife did a husband who was late home "from the lodge." Jake's conscience was probably touched, as he did not offer to touch the bird (whose partner he had probably eaten that day,) but slunk away under the brush and became invisible. It was the most daring exhibition from injured weakness toward lawless strength that I have ever witnessed. Ex.

HARD LUCK.

Frank A. Robins' circus, which gave such an excellent entertainment in this city a short time ago, was very roughly treated by the elements in New Brunswick last week.

At Caribou there was a terrific thunder storm, and during the hurricane that followed the circus tent was blown down, and a panic ensued. During the excitement scores of animals attached to the menagerie escaped, and making a rush for liberty, trampled down dozens of the employes. Many people were injured by the falling tent and many were also seriously injured by the animals, and one man was killed outright by lightning.

At Grand Falls on the following day the circus was struck by a second and equally severe storm, which again blew down the tent and did considerable damage among the men and beasts. During this latter storm over thirty barns were blown down and immense damage was done the crops by hail and wind.

'RETAIN THE HISTORIC NAMES."

The Chronicle very properly takes up the cudgel against the changing of the names of historic locations in this vicinity. We cannot help thinking, however, that a deal of this zeal is new born, for it is hardly ten years since the Chronicle and its attaches almost in a twinkling of an eye obliterated the name of the most beautiful point in our harbor, and substituted that of Pocahontas point. Yet we are told by a hotel proprietor in his circulars that John Smith named this point after the famous Indian maiden who saved his life—long before he had ever heard of the Indian princess.—Penny Post.

Points all well taken, and allowed by the court. But our contemporary should consider that the name "Gerrish island point," by which the place was formerly known to many, was an absurdity, there being half a dozen or more points to the island besides that one, and some of them much more prominent; while "Little Bar point," as it was called by the fishermen, had a meaning for the fishermen only—and neither of these clumsy appellations carried any historic meaning. If Capt. John Smith, long before he ever heard of the Indian princess, gave to the point the name which the Chronicle attaches subsequently, and without having ever heard of his action in the premises, so successfully revived, it is only another instance of how prone great minds are, though separated by seas and centuries, to move on similar lines of thought.

THE BARBERS' PICNIC.

The arrangements for athletic sports at the barbers' picnic on the 14th inst. were completed on the 12th, and the order of events will be as follows:

1:00 P. M., tug of war between Dover and Portsmouth barbers, for silver cup.

1:30, putting the shot, for siver vase.

2:00, three standing jumps, for silver cup.

2:30, sack race, for gold-lined silver cup.

3:00, hundred-yards dash, for gold-lined silver shaving mug.

Entries to be made at the grounds, with the chairman of the committee on sports, P. D. Corcoran; entrance fee for each event, 25 cts.

Picnic tickets for sale Thursday morning, 14th, at Grace's drug store, and at the grounds during the day.

To-day, July 13th, is a term day for sea-breeze observations.

Mr. Will. C. Randall, secretary of the Portsmouth Barbers' Association, on Tuesday received the following from Dover: "Fifty Dover people, including twenty-five barbers, will attend your second annual picnic on Thursday, July 14th."

Numerous complaints have been made by citizens in regard to bicycle riding on the sidewalks, and the city marshal announces that he will prosecute any person riding these machines on the sidewalks of the city. They are daily proving dangerous obstructions to public travel on the sidewalks.

At a meeting of the Athletic Club held on Monday evening it was voted to loan the tug of war apparatus belonging to the club to the Barbers' Association of this city for use on the day of their picnic next Thursday. Several honorary members were voted in and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the proper celebration of the second anniversary of the club's organization.

The latest news from Stanley, the African explorer, shows he has had to overcome serious obstacles on the journey from Leopoldville to Leowkolela. One of the gravest difficulties was to replenish his commissary. A threatened scarcity of provisions greatly excited a number of his men. Stanley himself was ill from intense heat.

A hospital for animals will soon be erected in London, and at the same time free dispensaries will be opened where horses, donkeys, cats, dogs and birds of the poor can be treated when ill.

Princess Eugenie of Sweden, who takes a great interest in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the other day invited the cab drivers of Stockholm to "afternoon coffee" in the large hall of the Exchange, where a lecture about the horse and its proper treatment was afterward delivered. One of the princess' ladies in waiting officiated as hostess.

A slight shock of earthquake, sufficient to cause loose windows and tin pans to rattle, was felt at Rollinsford about half past five o'clock Monday morning. That's near enough—needn't come any nearer.

There will be a game of base ball at the Plains this (Wednesday) afternoon between the Electrics of this city and the South Berwick nine.

The Newcastle upper bridges are receiving some repairs.

Dozens of beach turnouts and many country teams were in town on Thursday.

The fishing schooner Storm King, while coming up the river Monday afternoon, was carried by the tide against the schooner Yankee, at Gangway rock, and had her rail smashed in the waist and her main rigging carried away, on one side; damage about $100.

Portsmouth's proportion of the county tax for this year will be the same as last, $15,442.34.
